

Information Offered For Gifted and Talented Centers

Next summer the Maryland Summer Centers will offer programs for approximately 2,300 gifted talented students, grades 5-12. Program offerings will include economics, humanities, leadership, liberal arts, science, visual and performing arts, creative writing, mathematics, and foreign languages. Each of the 13 centers will offer programs to enrich the regular school curriculum by using unique instructional approaches such as participating in intensive field study and research, working with specialized researchers and practitioners, interacting with other advanced level students, and exploring career alternatives.

New centers planned for this summer will include a mathematics and computer center for 200 students, grade 7-12 at Western Maryland College, a program for 80, 9-10 graders at the National Aquarium in Baltimore, and a program sponsored by the Chesapeake Bay Foundation for 40, 7-11 graders entitled Living Off the Land. Students who "live off the land" will learn about natural resources, folklore, plants, and animals under the experienced direction of Dr. Emmett Wright.

All centers are residential except the Maryland Academy of Science, the National Aquarium Center, and the American University Research Science Interns. A $175.00 room and board fee is required for all 2 week residential centers. Scholarships are available for qualified students in need of financial assistance. Students in need of financial assistance should contact their home school center contact person or school principal.

The summer center contact persons in Garrett County are as follows: Rosetta Rodeheaver - Dennett Road; Marianne Green - Broad Ford; Red House, and Crellin; Connie Huggins - Grantsville; Bloomington, Friendsville, Yoder; Sheila Russell - Accident; Loch Lynn, Kitzmiller, and Swan Meadow; Cherie Rettel - Northern Middle, and Route 40; Wes Lovelace - Southern Middle; Pam Peddicord - Southern High School; and James Thomas - Northern High.

RED DELICIOUS SANTAS — Instead of giving apples to their teachers, the fourth and fifth grade students at the Broad Ford Elementary School decided to peel them and carve them into apple-head Santa Clauses, which will be placed on sale at the PTA Christmas Bazaar, scheduled for December 12 from 4 to 9 p.m. at the school. Above, art teacher Barry Dominick demonstrates the art to two curious students. Below, one student, under the approving eye of school principal Wayne Johnson, proudly displays his completed project. Proceeds from the bazaar will be used for the funding of PTA projects, including the purchase of new playground equipment.

Garrett Forestry Board Adds Two New Members

The Garrett Forestry Board met on November 17, for a dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m., at the Penn Alps Restaurant near Grantsville, to welcome two new members to the Board and to discuss future Forestry Board activities.

The two new members of the Garrett Board are Hugh Trimble, Instructor at Garrett Community College, and George C. Edwards, employed by Delta Mining, Inc. These new members raise the Board's membership to its full complement of seven. The Garrett Forestry Board acts as an advisory group to the Maryland Forest Service, striving to promote good forestry practices within the county.

Donald E. MacLauchlan, Director of the Maryland Forest Service, and Mike Gregory, Naturalist for the Maryland Forest Service, attended the meeting also. MacLauchlan met with the Garrett County Commissioners on Tuesday, November 18, to discuss issues facing the Forest Service, such as snowmobiling on State Forest, the Forest Reserve Fund, etc.

Gregory advised the Forestry Board members he is currently working with the Hutton-Crellin Community Services organization to develop compartments 43 and 44 of Garrett State Forest for use by these communities. The development activities being discussed include nature trails, parking facilities, and a monument recognizing one of these tracts as part of the original grant donated to the State of Maryland by the Garrett brothers in 1906. Gregory asked the Forestry Board to support this development and the Board unanimously approved this effort and offered assistance with the program.

In addition to assisting with the Hutton-Crellin project, the Forestry Board plans to sponsor a "Conservation Teacher of the Year" program in the elementary schools in the county. A committee consisting of Charles Strauss, Sr., Hugh Trimble, Cindy Stacy, George Edwards and Paul Mateer was established to determine the criteria for the selection and the grades which would be involved.

Energy Tip: Dripping faucets use lots of water and lots of energy if the drip is hot water. One drip per second wastes 192 gallons of water per month—enough hot water for 13 showers! Drips should be repaired promptly, usually a simple washer replacement is all that is needed. In addition to wasting water, a drip that goes on for a very long time will wear away the sink enamel where it hits.

THINK TOY SAFETY
Christmas is the time of year when children receive their favorite toys and it is often the parents' responsibility for choosing these toys. There are several factors which should be considered when making these purchases, although the overriding one should be safety. Here are some suggestions that might help you make your 1980 toy choices.

*Keep in mind the child's age, interests and skill level.

*Look for quality design and construction in all toys for all ages.

*Make sure that all directions are clear, both to you and the child. Discard all plastic wrappings on toys immediately so they will not become deadly playthings.

*Read the labels on toys. Look for age recommendations, and safety labels (non-toxic, flame retardant, washable).

*Check toys for sharp edges or toys that could break and cause dangerously sharp edges.

*Do not buy toys with small removable parts which could be swallowed or become lodged in a child's windpipe, ears, or nose. Also make sure seams of stuffed animals or dolls are secure in order to avoid the release of the stuffing.

*Avoid toys that make very loud noises which could damage hearing.

*Make sure that toys do not have any sharp points which could cut or stab.

*Projects such as guided missiles and other flying toys can be turned into weapons which could injure children's eyes. Arrows or darts used by children should have soft cork tips, rubber suction cups or other protective tips which will help prevent injury.

*Choose the right toy for the right age because toys that may be safe for older children may be extremely dangerous in the hands of little ones.

*When choosing electric toys, check for good construction. Electric toys must meet mandatory requirements for maximum surface temperatures, electrical construction, and prominent warning labels. Electric toys with heating elements are not recommended for children under eight years of age. Teach your children how to use electric toys cautiously and under adult supervision.

Choose your children's toys carefully and supervise children at play. If you do this you will have taken the two most important steps to protecting your children from toy-related injuries.

there are always some leftovers. Most of the leftovers are easy to use, but have you ever wondered what to do with the leftover bones with those small pieces of meat on them. Here is a good suggestion that will help you use every bit of that delicious turkey.

TURKEY SOUP
1 turkey carcass
3 stalks celery with tops, coarsely chopped
1 onion, sliced

1 tablespoon salt
1 bay leaf
12 cups water
1½ ounce package dry chicken noodle soup mix

Simmer turkey carcass, celery, onion, salt and bay leaf in water about 2 hours. Turn turkey if necessary during cooking. Remove carcass. Strip meat from bones and add to broth. Bring soup to a boil and add soup mix. Simmer about 10

min. This soup is even better if made the day before it is served.

NOTE: Small amounts of cooked vegetables such as peas, corn or carrots may be added with the soup mix.

Yield: 13 cups.

Deputy Involved In Scandal Turns In Resignation

Garrett County Sheriff John Evans announced this morning that the deputy who was allegedly involved in sexual activity with an employee of the Traylor Cleaning Service at the courthouse earlier this year has resigned.

Evans said he gave the option to Deputy Steve Bowman to either resign or be dismissed. He plans to meet with Debra Warrick, the department dispatcher who was also allegedly involved in the incident, and give him the same option.

The pair has been on suspension since November 10 as disciplinary action for their alleged involvement.

Evans stated that he realized he had made "a big mistake in not sticking to my original plan of firing the individuals the moment I found out about the incident."

He said he allowed too many other persons talk him out of that decision. "That will never happen again," he stated. "The first concern must be the public, and secondly, the rest of my men. If I could only have the chance to do it all over again, I would have dismissed them immediately."

County commissioner Lester Hunter also responded to the article which appeared in last week's edition of The Republican about the incident, wherein Sheriff Evans stated that Hunter had helped talk him out of firing the men by saying that the county had a lot of money tied up in the training of the officers. Hunter said Monday that he did not attempt to "talk the sheriff or anyone else out of anything."

He said that he recommended that the sheriff not make a hasty decision and he stated that the topic of the cost of training police officers was discussed.

"The department is his responsibility," he said. "I don't want to make decisions on such matters that fall under his department."

Weather
Snow showers and windy this morning and cloudy with diminishing winds and continued cold this afternoon. Highs in the 30s. Clear and cold tonight with lows 15 to 20. Mostly sunny and not quite so cold Thursday with highs 40 to 45. The chance of rain is 20 percent today, near zero tonight and Thursday.

Fair weather with a slight warming trend Friday through Sunday. Highs in the upper 40s to low 50s Friday and in the 50s Saturday and Sunday. Lows in the 20s.

NATURAL BEAUTY — Perhaps one of the finest bucks in Garrett County was shot this week by The Republican's staff photographer, Craig Phillips, not with a gun, but a camera. Phillips spotted this deer yesterday swimming across a section of Deep Creek Lake and snapped the photo just after the gallant animal reached the shoreline. A near record first-day kill was recorded in Garrett County Saturday. The regular season ends Friday.

Southern Highlander Marching Band Brings Honor To Garrett County

By Carol Kapel

Marching Bands of America, a group formed to create, support, and serve the experience of student band participation welcomed the Southern Highlander Marching Band to Jacksonville, Florida during the week of November 23.

A total of 41 band members, eight chaperones, six staff members, and a number of interested persons made the trip from Oakland via three commercial buses. The group left November 18 and returned Monday after winning two trophies and two cash awards for their efforts.

The annual championship contest represents the spirit of some of the nation's very best high school bands, which compete each year for trophies, plaques, and cash awards. Judges make their selections based on music execution and effect.

Much of the time spent in Jacksonville was dedicated to practice, however, band members and accompanying adults spent a day at Disneyworld and enjoyed the benefits of the swimming pool while relaxing at the motel. Thanksgiving dinner was served Thursday evening, followed by Friday and Saturday competitions and an appearance in the Jacksonville Christmas parade. A second place trophy and a $400 cash award was presented to the band for placing second in Class A parade marching competition. (Classes in competition are determined by school enrollment figures).

In the field championship competition, the Highlander band, the smallest in number to compete, entered a field on Friday of 22 participating bands from various parts of the country to be considered for the finals. A total of 12 bands were selected to participate in the final competition Saturday evening, including the Southern Highlander band.

Saturday's competition named the top high school bands in the nation, with Southern's members taking 11th place, adding another trophy and an additional $300 in cash awards.

Tate High School, from Gonzales, Florida, dubbed the "Show Band of the South" won first prize honors, which included a trophy and $1000 cash prize.

A spokesman for the band parents association reported excellent behavior and representation by the Garrett County students, who raised nearly $20,000 over the past two months to finance the trip. Plans are being discussed to enter the nationwide competition again in 1981.

Fire has once again played havoc on the mountaintop, as one home was destroyed and another severely damaged during the past few days.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Savage, located just off the White Rock road near Friendsville, was destroyed by fire Monday morning.

Firefighters from Friendsville, Deep Creek and Oakland were dispatched at 10:39 a.m. after Garrett Central Alarm received the call from a neighboring home. When Friendsville firefighters arrived on the scene, they found the central portion of the home fully involved in flames, according to Friendsville chief, James Lininger. He said firemen were unable to gain entrance to the house because a section of floor had burned away.

According to Robert Shimer, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, the fire was discovered in the basement, not long after Mrs. Norma Savage had left the area, leaving her three-year-old grandson, Eric, behind. She said she had been upstairs only a short time when she noticed smoke coming from under the door leading to the basement. At that moment, another grandchild, Richard Connor, apparently opened the cellar door and found Eric standing on the steps.

Due to the heavy smoke, Mrs. Savage was unable to get to the telephone to call for help. She and the two grandchildren left the residence and went to a neighbor's house.

The Savages stated they had no insurance on the single-story brick house, nor on their possessions.

The exact cause of the fire has not yet been determined by Shimer, however it is believed to have started around the flue of a wood stove in the basement.

Friendsville responded to the call with two pumpers, while Oakland responded with a pumper and tanker and Deep Creek sent a pumper/tanker vehicle. The Southern Rescue Squad and Air Cascade 3 were also summoned. There were no injuries.

Friendsville remained on the scene until 2:33 p.m. They also had to return to the scene at 3:15 p.m. after the fire rekindled.

Oakland firefighters were called at 3:16 a.m. yesterday when a furnace motor burned up at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Catbelle, located along the Oakland-Swallow Falls Road just outside of Oakland. Fire personnel remained on the scene for about one half hour and there was only minor smoke damage. The Catbells were apparently awakened by a smoke alarm.

Deer Park and Oakland firefighters were summoned yesterday evening at 8:18 when fire broke out in the kitchen of a one-story frame residence along the Oakland-Deer Park Road near Paulsville.

Residents of the home are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weeks, while Troy Smith is the owner. Mr. Weeks stated he was beginning to prepare some dinner when his wife called from the laundromat and asked that he come pick her up. Weeks left the house and failed to turn off the heat under a skillet of grease. When the couple returned, they found the kitchen in flames and called Garrett Central Alarm from a neighbor's home.

Commission Reviews Rt. 560 Relocation

The Garrett County Planning Commission met recently to discuss proposed development projects throughout the county. During the meeting the group reviewed the public reaction expressed at a November Design Public Hearing regarding the relocation of a portion of Maryland Route 560 at Loch Lynn Heights. The proposed engineering design involves the construction of a bridge over the existing railroad tracks, to bypass the business district of Loch Lynn Heights and connect with Route 560.

Wallace T. Boudreau, State Highway Administration District Engineer, stated that the project was initiated as a result of a train collision with a Garrett County school bus at the existing railroad crossing. The primary consideration of the State Highway Administration is safety, and the design as presented at the hearing requires the closing of the existing passage into Loch Lynn, which crosses a lengthy stretch of railroad.

Opposition to this closing was expressed at the hearing. Loch Lynn residents and businessmen indicated that this action would have a severe impact on businesses in Loch Lynn, and the town's tax base. Mention was made that travel time for emergency vehicles would be increased, and pedestrian traffic to the post office and local grocery store would be eliminated by this closing.

Tim Dugan, Garrett County Planning Director, spoke on behalf of those present at the hearing when he said that the closing "will be an inconvenience and hardship on the people of Loch Lynn."

Planning Commission members speculated that nearly 90 percent of traffic through Loch Lynn heads out Route 560, and the group agreed that this traffic and truck traffic would be eliminated, along with a high percentage of traffic hazards, with the construction of the bridge. The group agreed, however, that existing crossing should remain open to local traffic, with a one-half ton weight limit for vehicles using the crossing.

Boudreau stated that the request for the crossing to remain open will be weighed along with other considerations in determining a final design for the project.

In other business, the Planning Commission re-stated its affirmative position regarding the proposed Oakland Bypass.

POS Annual Program Projects Municipal Recreation Plans

John Nelson, liaison officer for Program Open Space, presented the P. O. S. Annual Program for Acquisition and Development to the Garrett County Commissioners last week. This program includes all projects throughout the county which will be considered for allocation of P. O. S. funds during the next fiscal year, 1982. This tentative schedule was developed by the Garrett County Parks and Recreation Committee to alert the State Department of Planning and the Department of Natural Resources of anticipated projects.

Program Open Space is a state-sponsored program which makes funding available in Garrett County for the purchase and development of land for recreational use.

One proposal listed under this program is for an amphitheater in Oakland-Friendsville, Oakland, is the initiator of the project, through the Garrett County Arts Council. Mrs. Riley said she has supported the prospect of an amphitheater since 1943, the year of Oakland's Centennial celebration.

The arts Council is looking at eight and one-half acres of land located near the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The property is owned by the Woodmen of the World, who are, at this time, willing to lease the property for the project. As P. O. S. requires town or county ownership of recreational property, the group is continuing to negotiate with the present owners and the town of Oakland, and is exploring alternate funding sources.

The town of Friendsville is requesting a park, and is hoping to purchase 20 acres of land adjacent to the Army Corps of Engineers property at the Youngs Bayou Flood Control Dam and Reservoir. No plans have been set for development at this time.

Loch Lynn Heights is looking to purchase six acres of land for a town park and recreation area to include an athletic field. The town of Deer Park is proposing a Deer Park Recreation Area, which would require the purchase of five acres of land. This proposed project would include the development of a pavilion and three tennis courts.

Deer Season Opens With Near Record Kill Saturday

Deer season in Garrett County got off to a good start on Saturday, with a first-day "near record kill," according to Al Bourgeois, District Wildlife Manager. Bourgeois reported an unofficial count of 804 deer checked in the county as of last night, over a period of three days. He said that the "harvest" is up this year, and it appears that Garrett County will have a real good buck kill.

There are six deer checking stations throughout the county. Johnny's Bait House, Deep Creek Lake, reported three twelve-point bucks checked as of yesterday afternoon. The largest of these is 143 pounds, shot by Juanita Savage, Maybrow Inn Road. The others are 128 pounds, shot by Stanley Wodarczyk, Baltimore and 120 pounds, shot by Michael Risold, Oakland.

The largest deer checked at Johnny's Bait House is a 161-pound, 10-point buck, shot by Fred Kahl of Accident, in the Town Hill area.

The largest deer checked at A. D. Naylor's Hardware, Oakland, as of yesterday afternoon, is a 163-pound, seven-point buck, shot by Robert Reynolds. The deer with the largest number of points at that checking station is a 146-pound, 11-point buck shot by Dan Elliott of Oakland.

Walt's General Store, McHenry, reported a 144-pound, five-point buck, shot by Mark Millick of Accident, in the Bear Creek area. The deer with the largest number of points at that checking station is a 135-pound, nine-point buck, shot by Todd Glover, Friendsville, in the Sang Run area.

The largest deer checked at Buckle's Market, Grantsville, reported the largest buck checked at that station, a 168-pound, 10-point deer. The name of the hunter who shot the deer was not available.

Spokespersons at the various stations have commented that there seems to be a great many deer in the county this year. A total unofficial count will be available in next week's edition.

HOUSE DESTROYED — Firefighters from Friendsville, Deep Creek and Oakland battled a blaze Monday morning just off the White Rock Road. However, the flames had gained too much of a headstart before their arrival and the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Savage was destroyed. The couple also lost nearly all of their possessions and had no insurance. See story.

CHRISTMAS THROUGH THE EYES OF A CHILD — The season is upon us and a visit from St. Nick himself is positive proof. These little ones had an early chance to whisper secrets to Santa when he visited downtown Oakland Saturday morning. The snow, the sleigh, and the twinkles in his eye lent excitement to the air, and wishes for a happy holiday.

Commissioners Review Tannery Road Maintenance Decision

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners yesterday reviewed a letter from Senator Edward Mason (R-Allegany-Garrett), to Sara Marc, regarding the Tannery Road, located near Hutton.

The Attorney General's office, Department of Transportation, Baltimore, has reviewed documentation in view of the opinion of Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer, relative to the title of the road involved. Judge Thayer issued an opinion in July of this year which stated that the Tannery Road is not a county road, but a private road. This opinion ceased county maintenance to the road.

At yesterday's meeting it was noted, that, under the current law, the Assistant Attorney General found no authority for the State Highway Administration to assume responsibility for the maintenance of the Tannery Road.

The Garrett County Commissioners stated that their position remains the same, whereby the road will be considered for adoption into the county system only if a 40-foot right-of-way is obtained. The existing right-of-way for property owners along that road is 18 feet, as recorded in the deeds.

A problem arose with that road when the roadway was moved at one point, no longer in compliance with the charted right-of-way. The property of Ronald Stewart, which is surrounded by a fence, now juts out into the existing roadway. Stewart recently had his property surveyed according to the original deed. Judge Thayer issued an opinion that the fenced-in portion of Stewart's property which enters the existing roadway may remain standing. The barricade, however, narrows the roadway in that area.

It was announced at yesterday's meeting that the Garrett County Roads Department will insure access through that part of the roadway during emergency situations.

In other business, the board authorized the Garrett County Sheriff's Department to proceed with a frequency change in 11 Sheriff's Department vehicle radios, to accommodate the recent change of the Maryland State Police to a different channel frequency. The estimated cost to make the changeover is approximately $136 per vehicle, the lowest of bid alternatives.

A representative from Piper and Mulberry presented various documents for signing by officials of the county commissioners' office, and the Board of Directors of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, in relation to the issuance and sale of the hospital bonds. Bonding closing is scheduled to be completed tomorrow in Baltimore.

In other business, Wendell Keaton, Municipal Coordinator, addressed the board yesterday regarding the disposition of the old Grantsville elementary school. Keaton stated that the Grantsville Town Council voted not to maintain ownership of that building.

The board reportedly agreed to put the building up for bids, to be advertised at a later date.

Yesterday the board proclaimed the month of December as Christmas Seal Month in Garrett County, urging all citizens to support the valuable programs of the American Lung Association in its fight against lung disease. Present for the signing was Sara Fredlock Donley, of the Garrett County Health Department.

FUNNY LOOKING DOE — Robert Rexrode, of Ohio, was pleased when he shot this buck in West Virginia last week—at least it looked like a buck. In reality, the animal Rexrode shot, and the one pictured above, was a doe with antlers. District Wildlife manager, Al Bourgeois, stated that this phenomenon is extremely rare and occurs due to a hormonal imbalance in the animal. He compared it to a hen turkey with a beard. Harold Harman, also with the DNR, said he has known of only one other such deer in the past 15 years in the area.

Children Stricken At Friendsville School

ACCIDENT

Illness struck more than a dozen children in a mysterious manner last Friday morning at the Friendsville Elementary School.

Dr. George Stoltzfus, a local physician, was called to the school to examine the children who displayed symptoms of nausea and dizziness, combined with a low grade fever.

Dr. Stoltzfus diagnosed the problem as a viral infection, and felt a recent period of physical exertion in the gymnasium, coupled with the proximity of the affected children, contributed to the issue.

According to Jane Fox, school principal, approximately 12 students were sent home as a precautionary measure.

The Firemen's meeting will be held this Friday evening, December 6, 7:30 p.m. at the Accident Fire Hall.

Trouble For The Reds . . .

As the anti-socialist movements of Poland's labor movement escalate and Soviet troops begin to surround the border of that nation, we witness once again the human dissatisfaction and attempted rejection of the system called communism. While the philosophy behind communism may, in fact, point to a desirable way of life, it is at the same time an idealistic philosophy, one which is and always will be incompatible with human nature.

Some believe that the present situation in Poland is just one more step towards the collapse of the communist party. When the party is threatened in a nation of over 35 million persons, one would have to assume that the entire communist movement is in jeopardy.

The Soviet military build-up along the Polish border creates an air of uneasiness and discomfort for all western nations. We see this as merely another push by the Soviets in their apparent quest to someday rule the world.

However, upon closer examination, we see that the situation in Poland is quite different than it was with Korea, Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, for in those nations, communism did not previously have control. The communists invaded in order to expand their party, while an invasion of Poland would be in order to maintain their party, which is already in power.

The Polish situation places the Soviets between the proverbial rock and hard place. If they invade, they will suffer serious consequences from the trade embargo, which the entire western world has vowed will result. They may also find powerful resistance from the Polish army. The Soviets have received far more resistance than they ever dreamed they would in Afghanistan, and the Polish army is ten times as sophisticated as the Afghani rebels.

On the other hand, if the Soviets do not invade, their position and power in Poland, which is obviously now treading on thin ice, may crumble altogether.

It's high time the Soviet Union pays for its many years of aggression.

Keepers Of The Trust . . .

By Carol Kapel

From the beginnings of recorded history, the people of the world we share have been subject to some form of government or leadership. In our country, we entrust our freely chosen leaders with the awesome responsibility of protecting the vulnerable masses. Many have carried this nation through periods of trial and error to its present day position as a world power.

The people of Garrett County have also chosen leaders; those who, supposedly, enhance the feeling of security and reliability we all desire.

It appears as though poor judgment has been exercised on several levels of our ruling and protective system.

It's difficult to judge failure—to exercise responsible judgment—but harder still to accept the fact that those chosen to be worthy of our respect may have, somehow, violated that sacred trust.

The question lingering on the lips of Garrett Countians at the moment seems evident. What may we, as concerned citizens, expect from our chosen leaders? What transient damage may have been done as a result of weak, indecisive determinations? Can we close our doors at night, secure in the knowledge that our system of trust is, indeed, just?

In a violation of unspoken trust, who really loses???

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

We the members of the Southern Garrett Marching Band would like to thank the people of Garrett County for supporting us in our efforts throughout the year, especially our trip to Florida. Without your support we would have never been able to compete nationally.

It is hard to express the feeling that we experienced when we realized that we had made the finals. This ranked us with 12 of the top bands in the United States, and placed us 3rd in our class among all Class A bands in the country.

Once again, thank you for your cooperation and support. Again we could have never done it without you.

The Band

Dear Sir:

After reading last week's shocking news article titled "Sheriff's Deputy and Dispatcher Suspended", I am of the opinion that the only fair approach to this matter would be to call in the Grand Jury to undertake a full investigation of the Sheriff's Office to determine whether or not other persons were involved and whether or not additional crimes were committed. The situation as it has been handled to date only proves that there is indeed a double standard that exists in the County's legal system. If the Deputy and the Dispatcher have committed a felony, in a public building on County time, they should be dealt with accordingly.

The argument by Commissioner Hunter that the County had invested a fairly substantial amount of money in training these men is a weak one. Why should the taxpayers throw good money after bad? It is exactly this type of thinking that is partially responsible for the county being in the financial condition it is today.

It will also be difficult to expect the general public to have much respect for the law when the officers themselves do not. The County is presently experiencing the problem of many citizens rapidly losing their respect for the law. Five and ten dollar fines are not much of a deterrent for criminals. Crime has been made affordable for everyone, except the victims.

We have many serious problems in Garrett County that we have been aware of all along, but have chosen to ignore for one reason or another. This is only one that has finally come to a head. Others will surely have to be reckoned with, unless we act upon them now.

I think the 1982 election will give us three new commissioners and a new sheriff, as well as a new state attorney.

Disgusted

Dear Editor:

I've had a dim view of the Sheriff's office for several years. It started when our house was robbed. It took a deputy an hour to respond to our call. We live five to ten minutes from town. After we told him everything we could the investigation started. . . I suppose we haven't heard from them since.

Now that I am a business owner there is more for me to worry about. It is difficult to imagine the service would be any better now, especially since the fringe benefits include friendly fornication while on duty. That's a new one on me. I have nothing against sex between consenting adults, but there are times and places for everything.

Usually, a government employee fills out a questionnaire application to get a job. One question I'm sure is included is "have you ever committed a felony." It's interesting to find that after the job is acquired, you are allowed to commit a felony with only time off for bad behavior.

As a businessman I will remember this when the good Sheriff's department calls for ads and financial backing. Perhaps the Sheriff's Department calendar will show the deputies with their pants down as they were recently found. It's a shame one or two people can run a whole organization's reputation. But to keep the bid applies long enough usually ruins the whole basket.

If I'm ever in need of the law, I'll call the State Police first. Their number is 387-5511 in case your readers would like to jot it down next to their phones.

Name Withheld
Editor's Note: According to James Sherbin, State's Attorney, the individuals were not on duty when the alleged incident occurred.

Dear Sir:

It continues to amaze us the double standard of laws we have in Garrett County.

We read last week how the Garrett Co. deputy and dispatcher were suspended from work as a result of "conduct unbecoming of law officers." It also stated in the same article, "a person engaging in a sex act with a person who is mentally deficient, incapacitated or physically helpless is guilty of a second degree sex offense, which is a felony and punishable by up to 20 years in prison." It also stated that the woman involved in this matter was classified as "mentally retarded"; but the state's attorney believed she fell into the "grey area" between normality and abnormality.

Our questions are the following:
(1) How can the state's attorney decide she falls into the so-called "grey area" when she has been classified as mentally retarded?
(2) If it had been two other men who had jobs other than deputy and dispatcher would the punishment have been the same or would it have been considered a felony?
(3) How can we teach our young people to respect the law when those that are paid to uphold the law break it in such a shameful way?
(4) Because the county has invested a lot of money in training these men, does that give these men the right to allegedly break the law and get away with only five weeks suspension?

We don't understand this and we believe the people of Garrett County need answers to these questions.

Sincerely,
Concerned Citizens

Dear Mr. Sincell:
As the supervisor of the young woman involved in the mess in the Sheriff's Department, I would like to say, I think it's a shame when the County Commissioners, the sheriff and now our state's attorney stand behind men like these and let a girl who, because of a mental handicap, is unable to find work most places, have a job she both loved and was good at doing.

They sounded real concerned that the men only received "a slap on the fingers," but where was all that concern six months ago?

The Sheriff said he wanted to fire them, but let himself be talked out of it. Yet, when some of his deputies (a few who were concerned) tried to discuss it, they were told the matter was closed.

I wonder, Mr. Evans, did either of these men come to you crying, wondering what it was all about and why they had to lose out on work?

This is how the girl came to me, unable to understand why she had to lose her job because "all she did was what they," "a couple of so-called law officers" wanted her to.

I hope that I have a chance to vote against the law who is either one to take the law into their own hands? Who is Mr. Sherbin to say the woman is not mentally retarded enough in his "grey area" eyes? So far the only real suffering has been by the woman and her parents and family. She has lost her job permanently. She was the victim!

Recently the same police department arrested a mentally deficient person for a few dollars theft. How will you feel when it comes up in court? Double standard?? Hypocrisy??

It's past time someone woke up in Garrett County to the needs of the handicapped, like the one born too short but with an excellent mind and ability, or the one who has darker skin with an excellent mind and education, but neither can get a job in Garrett County. Why?

Thank God for Dave Kooz and the AAA Center.

Sincerely,
A Concerned Taxpayer

"FINALLY PAID OFF THE MORTGAGE, EH, BURT?"

Second Impression

The Right Way?

by Harry Fox

Word has come from the nation's capital that the vast resources of the federal treasury will now be utilized in conquering another heretofore insoluble problem. Yes, fellow citizens, if you ever wondered why some of our neighbors seem to harbor larcenous instincts, now your tax dollars, ($452,974 of them, to be exact) will be invested with the School of Criminal Justice at Rutgers University in the pursuit of—now get this—why crooks steal.

Now we can relax. I don't know about you, but I will feel much better with this knowledge in hand. Our society has labored under the delusion that criminal wrongdoing is a moral, psychological, theological dilemma, or a socially acquired behavior. But our ability to deal with the problem has been hampered by a lack of statistical information. Good parameters, you know. Now, in the words of Dr. Richard Sparks, director of the Rutgers project, the study will try to answer "how and why professional crooks steal; how they are recruited; how they acquire their education and skills and what motivates them." Nice of him to tack on that last item. Motivation.

I don't wish to ridicule the merits of this study, Dr. Sparks, the government grantsmen who conceived the project, or anyone concerned about the problem of crime. We all would like to see some answers to this baffling human misbehavior. But the idea does seem, at least, short-sighted.

We have tried in vain to regulate anti-social behavior since the time of Hammurabi and Moses. We are trying, with varied success, to remold the behavior of young offenders into more socially acceptable patterns. Most of these efforts stem from the basic conviction that the people involved are worth something. That understanding may come from the theology of a humanity molded in the image of the creator, or from the fundamental insight that our common welfare is harmed by the waste of individual life.

The efforts of our government are caused instead by a desire to cut "the cost," in dollars, of criminal behavior. That is peculiarly selfish reasoning. Like the employer who subjects his employees to lie detector tests and then conducts his business affairs dishonestly, it seeks a good end for the wrong reason.

If we are not part of the solution, are we part of the problem?

Dear Sir:

We read with dismay the article on page 2 of last week's edition of The Republican. About the sexual involvement of the Sheriff's deputy dispatcher with the retarded cleaning lady. Do we have here in our backyards yet another Watergate-style coverup of the worst moral depravity? I somehow naively thought that our local officials were of higher moral quality.

We find it outrageous that the Sheriff's employees still have their jobs, but moreover I can't believe that the States Attorney, Mr. Sherbin has decided to press no charges. The States Attorney's duty is not to represent the interests of local elected officials. We challenge Mr. Sherbin to reconcile the differences between his sworn duty to uphold and maintain the law of the state with his failure to press charges against the two men allegedly involved.

Lets turn the facts around a little bit. If this situation would have involved a homosexual rape or the molestation of a minor female, surely the results would have been different. Are the citizens of Garrett County going to sit idly by and let the public servants get away with what may be a second degree sex offense?

Personally we think the individuals involved should be held accountable and not merely dismissed for five weeks leave over the Christmas Holidays.

Interest on Checking

WHAT IS A NOW* ACCOUNT?

A NOW Account is a service that allows you to earn interest on checking deposits. A NOW Account operates just like a checking account. Except that you also earn interest.

If you now have a checking account with First National, there's no need to open a new account or order new checks. Simply sign up and you'll automatically start earning interest.

WHO MAY HAVE A NOW ACCOUNT?

Any individual, non-profit organization or sole proprietorship may legally have a NOW Account. Federal regulations prohibit other types of businesses from opening NOW Accounts. If you're unsure about your eligibility, please ask us.

SHOULD YOU COMBINE YOUR SAVINGS AND CHECKING DEPOSITS INTO A NOW ACCOUNT?

It really isn't necessary. Many people don't like to get their "savings funds" mixed up with their "spending funds." So we offer you a choice. Look over the "TWO WAYS to Qualify" and pick the option that best suits your situation. Either way, you'll earn interest on all your money.

There are lots of advantages to the NOW Account. But you must determine whether it's right for you. We'd like to help you make your decision.

TWO WAYS to Qualify

1. With Checking . . .

You may qualify for a FREE NOW Account by agreeing to maintain a daily balance of $1,000 or more in your First National checking account.

If your checking balance should fall below $1,000 anytime during the month you would continue to earn 5 1/4% interest, however, service fees would be assessed according to this schedule:

| Balance Level | Monthly Service Fee |
|--------------------|---------------------|
| $1,000 and above | No Charge |
| $ 500 to $999.99 | $4.00 |
| $ 0 to $499.99 | $5.00 |

This new service is specifically designed for customers who keep fairly large checking balances.

The NOW Account might be a very good way for you to increase your income. Let one of our professionals help you determine whether this new service is for you.

2. With Savings . . .

You may use your First National Passbook savings account balance to qualify for a FREE NOW Account. By agreeing to keep $2,000 or more in your Passbook savings account, you can avoid all monthly service fees, regardless of your NOW checking balance.

This unique feature is designed for those who prefer to keep most of their money in a savings account, while maintaining only a minimal amount in their checking account.

There's no need to move funds from one account to another. Just tell us which Passbook account you wish to use as a qualifier for your FREE NOW Account. It's that simple!

In this option your NOW Account combines the convenience of your checking account with the earning power of your savings account, without the mixing of funds. You continue to maintain two separate accounts.

There are lots of advantages to our NOW Account with this unique savings option. We'd like to help you evaluate your situation. May we serve you today?

*The term NOW stands for "negotiable order of withdrawal" . . . the legal term for a money instrument that's like a check. NOW Accounts are legally effective after December 31, 1980. Interest at the rate of 5 1/4% per annum is computed on the minimum balance of the statement cycle, and is paid on each statement date.

Sprinkle one half cup of slivered almonds or pecans into a greased seven cup ring mold and pour brown sugar over the nuts.

Chocolate Ice Cream Pie
1-1/2 cups cold milk
1 cup (1/2 pt.) chocolate ice cream, softened
1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled

*Or use vanilla, coffee or peppermint ice cream.

Thoroughly blend milk and ice cream in a bowl. Add pie filling mix. Beat slowly with rotary beater or at low speed of electric mixer until blended, about 1 minute. Pour immediately into pie shell. Chill until set, about 3 hours. Garnish with Coffee Whipped Topping and chocolate curls, if desired.

Coffee Whipped Topping Combine 1/2 cup cold milk, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon instant quality coffee, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and 1 envelope whipped topping mix in deep narrow-bottom bowl. Whip with rotary beater or at high speed of electric mixer until topping peaks. Continue whipping until topping is light, fluffy and fully whipped, about 2 minutes longer. Makes about 2 cups.

Sprinkle one half cup of slivered almonds or pecans into a greased seven cup ring mold and pour brown sugar over the nuts.

Mix package of date bread mix according to directions, spoon this over the pecan mixtures and bake in a moderate oven at 350 degrees for about forty minutes.

"A Floor without a Rug is like a Kiss without a Hug."

IF YOU ASK ME . . .
Before I choose my new carpet, I'd like to know the advantages and disadvantages of high and low pile? Which do you recommend?

Which do you prefer? Some people like the look and feel of a high pile carpeting, while some are partial to low pile. Which one would you like to see in your home? High pile, of course, is softer underfoot and looks warmer and more luxurious. Low pile, on the other hand, gives the continuity of a neat, well-arranged look that many people like in their homes. Both carpet heights can give years of long wear if you choose a quality constructed carpet. High pile, however, will hide surface dirt better than low pile carpeting.

A slick plan for a rainy day.

Some people manage to go through life without ever having a rainy day. But most people run into a storm now and then.

So it pays to plan for a storm and then hope it never happens.

The Payroll Savings Plan is one sure, safe, easy way to force yourself to start saving. And savings are a must to keep any financial plan from going on the skids.

Unknown Thieves Enter Churches In Accident

Thieves broke into St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, The Cove, Accident, sometime between November 23 and November 26, stealing two brass candle holders valued at $250. Entry was made through an unlocked side door, according to Maryland State Police.

A second church, St. John's English Lutheran, located across the road, was also entered, and two brass flower vases, valued at $300, were removed.

An investigation is continuing by state police.

Christmas Tree Use, Ruling Noted By Fire Marshal

The following statement has been released by J. C. Roberts, Maryland State Fire Marshal, in regard to Christmas trees in schools and other public buildings.

"Due to the inherent, highly flammable characteristics of Christmas trees, only living trees in a baled condition, and artificial trees that are certified or otherwise identified as flame resistant shall be permitted in schools and places of assembly such as stores, banks, etc., as well as hospitals and nursing homes.

Natural Christmas trees that are cut, regardless of any preservatives or fire-retardant treatment prescribed are hereby prohibited in schools and places of assembly unless specifically approved otherwise by the State Fire Marshal or local fire-prevention bureau. Such approval shall be granted only under extenuating circumstances and shall be subject to certified fire safety precautions. This requirement is based on the present life-safety code."

STOCKING CUSTOM

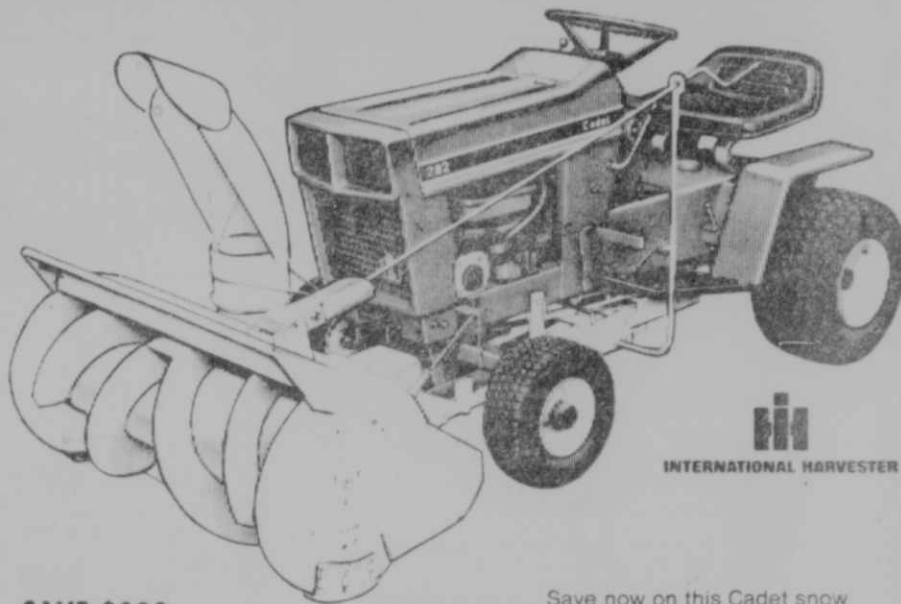

The custom of hanging stockings by the chimney supposedly began when St. Nicholas, the first Santa Claus, threw three bags of gold through a window. St. Nicholas wished to give dowries anonymously, to the daughters of a bankrupt merchant. He tossed them through the window and one landed in a stocking hung up to dry on the mantelpiece.

THE FIRST NOEL

No one knows who wrote "The First Noel", which first appeared in print in 1863 in a book called "Christmas Carols Ancient and Modern." It is thought to be very ancient.

Also unknown is the author of "God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen," but it is known that he lived before Shakespeare.

County High School Basketball To Open Friday; Rams Will Host Beall, Huskies To Entertain Valley

Bosley Optimistic

Southern High basketball coach Tom Bosley is viewing the upcoming season with optimism, as he has seven lettermen returning from last year's 16-8 squad. The Rams will open their season this Friday evening when they host the Beall Mountaineers.

Leading the returning starters for the Rams is 6-5 senior Jeff Ryscavage, who broke the school's sophomore and junior scoring records while shooting over 60% from the floor the past two seasons.

Also returning are starters Dave Harsh and Brian Selders. Harsh was one of the team's outstanding defensive players last year, while averaging five points and five rebounds per game. Selders averaged 11.7 points and will be called upon again this year for long-distance shooting.

Other returning lettermen include Ron Bosley, Charlie Graham, Mark Powles and Matt Pritts. Bosley led the team last season in charges drawn and was a strong force inside. Graham and Powles each gained experience last season in reserve roles and, according to Bosley, figure to be contenders for the starting point guard position. Pritts' size should be an added factor up front.

Newcomers include Gary Heginbotham and Mike McLaughlin. Heginbotham, who played outstanding ball for the Rams' junior varsity last year, has a good chance of earning a starting position. Bosley said, "McLaughlin also has the potential to start either at point guard or shooting guard," he said.

Other newcomers include Todd Lewis, Tim Skiles and Rusty Beckman, all of whom will add considerable depth, Bosley said.

"The strength of this year's team should be the defense, the inside play of Harsh and Ryscavage, and the team depth," Bosley stated. Defense has become a Southern trademark under Bosley, as the Rams held opponents to an average of only 55 points last season.

Valley and Bishop Walsh are expected to be the two most difficult opponents of the Rams this season. Two teams which are new on the schedule are Morgantown High and East Preston.

A highlight of the season will be the annual Snowball Classic (January 2 and 3), which will include Bedford, Charleston Catholic, St. Maria Goretti and the defending champion Rams.

Bosley has posted a 40-26 record in his three years as head coach. He will again be assisted by Oren Yoder, who brings with him two years of coaching at the college level.

"Our primary goal is to defeat Beall in the opener. Our long-range goal is a trip to College Park," Bosley concluded.

Shootout, Raffle To Be Held At GCC Home Games

During the 1980-81 basketball season, Garrett Community College athletics will again feature a halftime shooting contest and raffle as a fund-raising measure for the college's athletic scholarship program.

Gift certificates, merchandise, and cash prizes have been donated to the college by various county businessmen and businesswomen. During each home game, one of these prizes will be awarded to a ticket holder. The drawing for the gift certificate will take place during the first timeout of the second half.

Also, Wynlyn's Edge Restaurant (Route 219) will sponsor a basketball shooting contest for a ticket holder, with prizes ranging from a small cheese pizza to a $10 credit on food and drink. Walt's Tips Up Ski Shop, McHenry will give a $25 gift certificate to the winning ticket holder who can make a basket from the top of the foul key. Additional prizes will be given away in a similar fashion.

Everyone with a season ticket will receive a free raffle ticket. Additional tickets may be purchased by anyone attending the game. Winning ticket holders must be present at the time of the drawing to be eligible for prizes. Shooting distances for Wynlyn's and Walt's have been determined by the respective donors, subject to the discretion of the Director of Athletics.

Contributors to the raffle include: Proudfoot's Pharmacy, Heck's, Bowman's Equipment, Green Acres Garden Center, Rob Michael for State Farm Insurance, Lake View Exxon, Frantz Red & White, Englan-

Speicher Stresses

Defense

"Defense" is what Northern Husky coach Harv Speicher has been stressing during pre-season practice and the Huskies will need a lot of it this Friday evening as they host possibly the area's toughest team, the Valley Black Knights of Lonaconing.

Five returning lettermen will compose the nucleus of the Husky squad, which is seeking to improve on its 10-13 record of last season.

With one of the area's leading scorers last season in Bill Bender now graduated, Speicher is hoping to build a balanced offense and a strong defense, utilizing as many as ten or 11 players in every contest. "While we have no one who is a particularly strong scoring threat, we hope to wear some teams down by using our depth and playing a lot of people."

Speicher said he is turning to senior point guard, Dick Bender, last season's leader in assists, to pace the offensive attack. The Yoder brothers, Weldon and Lowell, senior and junior, respectively, will also play guard.

Taking the center position will be sophomore Bradley Yoder, while forwards will be senior Greg Carr and juniors Mike Robinson, Stan Eggleston and George Dailey. Other guards will be Steve Fratz, Mark Holtschneider, Tim Yunker and Fred Fox.

"By utilizing several players, it will give us a chance to find out who will be able to contribute the most, both offensively and defensively. Last year we had a terrible lack of depth and, at one point, we were down to just seven players, due to injury."

The Huskies will play again at home on Monday evening against Salisbury and then be on the road for eight straight contests.

The Husky schedule and roster will appear in next week's edition of The Republican.

Many of our favorite Christmas carols are centuries old. "The First Noel" was originally a medieval shepherd song. "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" dates to the 16th century and "Joy To The World" was published in 1719.

Grammarphone Service Is Growing At Frostburg State

"Grammarphone," a public service hotline for writers manned by the Frostburg State College English Department and sponsored by the Frostburg State College Foundation, is beginning its second year of operation. To maintain this growing service, "Grammarphone" has received a $1,000 grant from the C&P Telephone Company of Maryland and a matching grant from the Maryland Committee for the Humanities.

Begin in September of 1979 under the direction of Dr. Frank Parks, "Grammarphone" has answered hundreds of calls from writers in the Western Maryland region and other areas of the East Coast. "Quite often we counsel heads of state," muses Dr. Parks.

Indeed the volunteers do field questions about language and usage posed by callers from governmental agencies in Washington. Just as often, however, inquiries from private citizens, lawyers, politicians, publishers, secretaries, state politicians, and graduate students are channeled to "Grammarphone."

Questions range from the correct word choice to footnoting and bibliographic procedures, from the proper salutation for a business letter to the use of hyphens and adjectives and nouns. "We've had callers from as far away as New Jersey and New York phone us to ask," recalls Parks, "whether the adjective form of gynecology is gynecological or gynecologic, and for a local caller who CHRISTMAS SEAL MONTH was proclaimed in Garrett County yesterday, through a proclamation signing at the office of the Garrett County Commissioners, urging all citizens to support the valuable programs of the American Lung Association. In addition to community health education, the American Lung Association supports programs of medical assistance in fighting tuberculosis, asthma, emphysema and the dangers of cigarette smoking and air pollution. In supporting respiratory health, the American Lung Association of Maryland will continue to seek community financial support through Christmas seal donations over the next few months. Pictured above, left to right, are Commissioner Ernest Gregg, Sara Fredlock Donley of the Garrett County Health Department, and Commissioner H. Lester Hunter.

The town of Mt. Lake Park is proposing the acquisition of two acres of land, to be used as a neighborhood playground area. The property considered is located on "L" Street, and has existing playground equipment.

Other proposals included in the acquisition portion of the program for FY1982 are for two acres of land for an Oakland Downtown Park; and five acres of land for a Kitzmiller Community Park.

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners is sponsoring a proposal for the purchase of 20 acres of land for a Bloomington Community Park. Nelson stated that the town of Bloomington is hoping that something will develop in a recreation area, with the conclusion of the Bloomington Dam.

Five other proposals included in the development portion of the program are for land which has already been purchased under Program Open Space. Acquisition of land under this program is 100 percent state-funded, while the development portion is split 25-75 between local and state funding.

The county commissioners are sponsoring a proposal for the development of the Eastern Garrett County Parks and Recreation Area, located near Finzel. This development proposal includes a softball field, a pavilion, a picnic area and a parking area. Excavating and preliminary grading for the Finzel Community Park was started this year, at which time the Eastern Garrett County Parks and Recreation Association ran into a large cost overrun. Their part for funding was originally $10,000, and now approximately $16,000 is needed. The proposal made in the FY 1982 development program is for $25,000 to alleviate the local burden of the cost overrun.

The town of Accident purchased approximately 12.5 acres of land in March, 1979, through the funds allocated for P. O. S. The park site is located off Deakin Street on the west side of town.

Accident is proposing the development of a picnic area, two tennis courts and a pavilion in the FY 1982 annual program. Long-term plans for the park include a softball field and a nature trail.

The county commissioners sponsored a proposal for the development of an athletic field for the Crellin Recreation Area. The athletic field will be located on a plot land at the confluence of Snowy Creek and the Youghiogheny River, purchased through P. O. S.

The county is also sponsoring a proposal for the development of a Little League field and a hiking-nature trail at the McHenry Regional Park. Jack Lear, president of the Deep Creek Lion's Club, initiators of the project, stated that the club has purchased 32 and one-half acres of land for this park, through a P. O. S. grant. He added that the club is looking at a five-year development plan for the area, which would include at least one pavilion. The club hopes to begin development by next spring.

The Garrett County Commissioners are sponsoring a proposal for the preparation of a County Recreation Plan. Nelson explained that this plan is required by P. O. S., to be completed by January, 1982. The purpose of the plan is to set forth goals for acres of land to be purchased under P. O. S., and to specify development of land in the county. The plan will analyze the types of recreational facilities which the county lacks, and will be geared toward more varied uses of allocated P. O. S. funds. The county will assume one-half of the funding for this plan, and once completed, P. O. S. funds will be distributed according to the plan, no longer on a first come, first serve basis.

Nelson emphasized that this program is a tentative schedule of anticipated projects, and can be changed at any time.

THICK, BLACK SMOKE blanketed the area as area firefighters endeavored to stop a fire which broke out in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Savage Monday morning. The house, which was located just off the White Rock Road near Friendsville was destroyed. See story on front page.

Fireplace Adds To Holiday Atmosphere

For many families, the holidays would be incomplete without a fire in the fireplace. However, a small fire is just as cheerful as a roaring one — and much safer.

If a fire is not out before you retire, push the logs in to the rear of the fireplace or stand them securely into either corner. Be sure the fireplace screen is securely in place. At Christmas time, DO NOT burn wrappings from presents in the fireplace. Flames may flare into the room.

Polish Leadership Shifts
WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Poland's Communist Party has ousted the last four prominent supporters of former leader Edward Gierek and brought back to power the nation's former police chief with a reputation for ruthlessness.

In a further humiliation in the purge that took place amid reports of heightened Soviet military pressure on the borders, Gierek was ousted from the Central Committee, depriving him of his last power base in the party.

Cabinet Post Speculation
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ronald Reagan is not ready to reveal his top Cabinet choices, but widespread reports indicate he has pegged Caspar Weinberger as secretary of defense and possibly Gen. Alexander Haig as secretary of state.

Others who may win spots in the Reagan Cabinet are former Wyoming Sen. Clifford Hansen as secretary of interior and William Brock, chairman of the Republican National Committee, as commerce secretary.

Firefighters' Plane Crashes
SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI) — Two air tankers used to bombard flames during the Southern California brushfires collided on their way home, killing two men.

The planes hit each other Tuesday afternoon over Indio, Calif., on their way back to Arizona.

IRA Bomb Kills Five
LONDON (UPI) — A double bomb blast injured five people outside an army barracks in what Scotland Yard anti-terrorist specialists fear may be a grim prelude to a violent Christmas offensive in Britain by the IRA.

The explosions Tuesday coincided with a mounting propaganda drive by the Irish Republican Army to publicize a 5-week-old hunger strike "until death" by seven IRA prisoners in Northern Ireland.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Howard Baker of Tennessee, the first Republican majority leader of the Senate in a quarter of a century, promises "coordination and cooperation" to President-elect Ronald Reagan and his administration.

That would be in sharp contrast to the relationship during the past four years between President Carter and Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, who frequently quarreled in public and private over policy and legislation.

Snowstorm Strikes Michigan, Rains Flood Pacific Northwest

By MICHELLE MUNDTH
United Press International
A quick-moving snowstorm that raked the Midwest from the Dakotas to Michigan, leaving more than a foot of snow, lost most of its punch early today. A soggy storm gathering in the Pacific Northwest flooded streets and swelled rivers.

The snowstorm moved today over the Great Lakes and into southern Canada, although its lower fringes dusted snow over eastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and western New York. Winds along New York's lake shore raced up to 50 mph.

At least five deaths were blamed on the storm, which originated Monday in the Rockies — two in Nebraska, and one each in Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Three people were killed Tuesday in the crash of a prop jet airplane on fog-shrouded Poplar Mountain near Albany, Ky.

The Midwest snowstorm swept into Michigan Tuesday with more than a foot of snow and hit the Detroit area with snow, freezing rain and winds gusting to more than 40 mph just when commuters were trying to get home.

The icy precipitation clung to utility lines, knocking out power to several thousand Michigan residents.

Houghton Lake, Mich., was the hardest hit area in the state, buried in up to 13 inches of snow. Clare recorded about a foot of snow and Alpena was swamped under at least 9 inches.

Children at dozens of schools were given the day off, and some businesses shut down for the day.

At least one traffic death was blamed on the weather, and police reported dozens of minor accidents. Police said an elderly Lapeer County woman was killed when the car in which she was riding skidded across a slippery road and slammed into another vehicle.

In the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, snowshowers and gusty winds dropped the wind-chill factor to 25 below zero.

Illinois was spared the brunt of the storm, but high winds made the wind-chill factor 15 below zero and delayed flights at O'Hare International Airport in Chicago up to 40 minutes.

The storm in the Northwest gained intensity as it moved eastward Tuesday, dumping snow over much of western Montana and western Wyoming.

In Montana, the National Weather Service said near-blizzard conditions were reported at Glacier National Park. Kalispell received 5 inches of snow and Great Falls recorded 3 inches.

Northwest California was soaked with more than 5 inches of rain Tuesday, flooding streets and threatening to send streams and rivers over their banks.

A 24-hour downpour of 5.5 inches was recorded at Honeydew and Elk Valley, Calif. Some streets were under more than a foot of water in Eureka, Calif., hit with nearly 2 1/2 inches of rain in eight hours.

A flood warning was issued for the Smith River near Crescent City, Calif. Officials said the river was near flood stage and would block U.S. Highway 101 if it went higher.

Residents along Northern California streams were warned to be ready to leave their homes.

U. S. Clarifies Hostage Release Proposals Today

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — The United States offered additional clarification today to its latest proposals for freeing the 52 hostages, with hints Iran should accept them because President-elect Reagan might offer tougher terms.

Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher delivered the latest proposals to Algerian Foreign Minister Mohammed Benyahia Monday during a meeting at the Foreign Ministry. Diplomats said the Algerians, Iran's intermediaries, may deliver it to Tehran as early as Thursday.

The U.S. and Algerian officials decided to hold another closed working session today in order to insure the maximum chances of achieving a compromise for the release of the captives, diplomatic sources said.

Algerian sources said the meeting was called "so that Algerian diplomats, serving as go-betweens, will fully absorb official thinking of the U.S. administration" to present to the Iranian government.

Christopher was expected to decide later today whether to stay longer in Algiers or return to Washington aboard his special Air Force jet, the sources said, explaining he would presumably stay only if he had reason to believe an Iranian answer to the American clarifications would be returned swiftly.

The document delivered Tuesday contained the clarifications Iran requested after receiving the first formal U.S. reply to its four demands for freeing the American hostages held captive for 395 days.

Diplomats familiar with the contents of the document said it did not contain the clear yes-or-no answers sought by Iran.

The sources said the document tried again to explain to the Iranians that the United States was prohibited by its own laws from meeting all of the Iranian demands to the letter.

The demands are a pledge of non-interference in Iranian affairs, the return of the late shah's wealth, the release of Iran's frozen assets and the cancellation of all legal claims against Iran in U.S. courts.

Make Your Own WREATH

You will need heavy gauge wire for forming a circular frame or hoop, evergreen branches six or eight inches long, and light, flexible wire for fastening branches to the hoop.

When a hoop is completed, lay an evergreen branch face up on the left side of the hoop and wire the stem tightly to it. Then place the next branch so it overlaps the first, like shingles on a roof, and fasten again. Continue adding branches in a counterclockwise direction until wreath is finished. Decorate your wreath with cones, berries, nuts, seed pods, dried weeds, bows, bells or other ornaments. It is better not to use spray paint, glitter or artificial snow — your wreath will retain its natural look.

Negotiations Halted As Strike Threat Extended To Six City Hospitals

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Contract talks between Provident Hospital and a worker's union broke down Tuesday and union officials vowed to expand a two-day-old strike to six city hospitals.

Contract talks broke down at about 2:30 p.m. when negotiations from Provident and the National Union for Hospital and Health Care could not reach an agreement on wages and contributions to a union-controlled health and welfare benefits fund.

Henry Nicholas, secretary-treasurer for the national union, set a Thursday strike deadline for 350 Provident union members and reaffirmed plans for a Thursday strike by 1,400 employees at Luthern and Maryland General hospitals and the Greater Baltimore Medical Center.

A strike by about 1,400 employees at Johns Hopkins Hospital entered its second day and about 530 union members at Sinai Hospital walked a picket line in front of that facility after a morning strike deadline passed.

Officials at Hopkins voiced hope that talks on a two-year contract might resume when federal mediators assigned James R. Williams, a veteran negotiator, to the dispute.

"We hope that having him come in will help get us moving," said Elaine Freeman, a Hopkins spokeswoman.

But Nicholas voiced no optimism, and vowed to redouble efforts to gain a 24 percent wage increase over the two-year contract and retain the current level of contributions to a union-controlled health and welfare benefit fund.

"We regard this as a head-on assault on our union, and we have set this strike as a national priority," he said.

Hospital objections to the two-year contract center on the health and welfare fund issue.

A. Samuel Cook, chief Hopkins negotiator, said he thinks the money is being funneled to other states, when it should be reserved for employees of contributing hospitals.

The union originally asked the company payment to the fund be increased from 10.5 percent of gross wages to 11.5 percent. But they are now asking that the 10 percent level merely be maintained.

Police and officials at Hopkins and Sinai reported no major disruptions during Tuesday's picketing. One woman was arrested at Sinai, however, and charged with failure to obey police and assault.

Ten persons were arrested Monday during picketing at Johns Hopkins.

Estelle Boston, 29, clutching her 3-year-old daughter's hand, walked a picket line outside Hopkins, wearing a sign that read "No take backs JHH."

She said the hospital's stance on the benefit package is outdated. "They want to go back before we had a union in 1969."

Ms. Boston, a 12-year nutrition employee, said she will continue to strike even though she really cannot afford to be out of work.

"I think we'll be out here for about a month. I got two more kids at home and I think it (the strike) is worth every bit of it," she said.

Charles Evans, an 18-year employee in the housekeeping division, said he'll walk the picket line "as long as I can. But I'm not going back until we get the benefits."

Baltimore Supreme Bench Judge Robert Hammerman modified an injunction sought by Hopkins to limit the number of pickets to two at each entrance. Hammerman said Tuesday his modification allows 20 pickets at the main entrance and 10 at the remaining four entrances.

Montgomery Co. Hires Investigator For Liquor Board

ROCKVILLE, Md. (UPI) — A former assistant federal prosecutor has been hired by the Montgomery County Council to assist in the investigation of the county's Department of Liquor Control.

Robert Trout, a Montgomery County resident and associate in the Washington law firm of Dannels, Duvall, Bennett and Porter, was hired to recommend any actions the council might need to take as a result of the current audit of the county's liquor monopoly.

The audit, conducted by Touche Ross Co., will determine whether the county has been doing a disproportionate share of liquor business with Schenley Distilleries of New York.

The council said it retained Trout to give it legal advice during the course of the current investigation, both by a county grand jury and the auditing firm.

In a related matter, the council revealed that Stephen Shawe, a former assistant U.S. Attorney hired to help investigate the alleged misuse of the county merit system, is related to Leonard Colodny, whose allegations sparked the liquor controversy.

Colodny last month said that County Executive Charles Gilchrist and two aides offered him jobs covered by the merit system.

Earlier this year, Gilchrist hired Colodny to investigate the liquor department, then fired him after he made public his allegations of favoritism.

Councilwoman Rose Crenca released a copy of a memorandum she sent Monday to Personnel Board Chairwoman Harriet Bernstein.

In the memo, Ms. Crenca said she had been informed that Shawe "is indeed a blood relative of Mr. Colodny's.... I bring this to your attention because of the very sensitive nature of this investigation."

Ms. Crenca did not specify how the two men are related.

The council also chose a new president Tuesday, electing Ruth Spector to succeed Scott Foster. The vote was 5-2.

The council unanimously elected Elizabeth Scull, sister of former Maryland Lt. Gov. Blair Lee, as vice president.

Mrs. Spector is serving her first term on the council and was a former legislative aide to Gilchrist, while he served in the Legislature.

No Welfare Cuts, More ZIP With Nine, Post Office Says

Secretary Claims

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Kaiman Hettelman, the secretary of the state Department of Human Resources, said Tuesday a $1.2 million budget cut will not force a reduction in welfare payments.

The department cut its budget because of projections that revenues will decrease. But Hettelman said the cuts will come in what he called "discretionary programs," as day care, legal services, public housing and the battered spouse program.

He said he would not cut any program that would result in loss of matching federal funds or welfare payments, which critics say already are too low.

But Hettelman said the effects of dropping some programs eventually will be felt.

"These programs are of crucial services but, for the most part, are of a preventive nature and we will eventually pay a higher price for their reduction," he said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Board of Governors is withholding its final approval of a controversial plan to expand ZIP codes to nine digits, presumably to allow the Reagan administration to review the proposal.

The board Tuesday withheld its final approval of the plan, on the recommendation of Postmaster General William Bolger, but approved spending $316 million for the first phase of the expansion, scheduled to take effect next year.

The $316 million will be used to buy 252 optical character readers and 460 bar code readers, automated equipment that would be deployed through 1983 so mail can be sorted by computer to individual city blocks.

If the expansion from the current five-digit ZIP code to a nine-digit code takes full effect through 1987, the Postal Service estimates it would cost $887 million.

But postal officials stressed the equipment expenditure does not necessarily take into consideration the return on investment from expansion to the nine-digit ZIP code.

James Jellison, senior assistant postmaster general for operations, told the governors that the return on investment if the equipment was used to process mail carrying five-digit ZIP codes would amount to 22 percent in a year's time if 90 percent of Americans used the code.

He said return on investment would be 48 percent with the nine-digit ZIP code at 90 percent usage.

Voluntary usage of the five-digit ZIP currently runs at 97 percent, the Postal Service said.

New Study Of Bay ...

Chesapeake Survey Reveals Concentrated Heavy Metals

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Portions of a new scientific study were released Tuesday showing high concentrations of lead and other heavy metals in the Chesapeake Bay.

Researchers said they don't know what caused the pollution. "It's tempting to say (some) of it comes from industrial activity in Baltimore... but perhaps this is largely controlled by (natural) factors," said Professor George Helz, a University of Maryland chemist.

The findings, culled from the results of a five-year study on Bay quality, reveals levels of lead, zinc and cadmium five times the average levels recorded along the Eastern United States continental shelf. Those metals often signal the presence of other contaminants.

Bay researchers found the highest readings of lead, zinc and cadmium along the floor of the Baltimore Harbor. Zinc readings were 20 times the average and cadmium readings 50 times the average.

Lead readings were 41 times the average.

The survey, conducted as part of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Chesapeake Bay Program, also found high levels of copper and chromium in the harbor.

Helz attributed at least some of the Baltimore Harbor pollution to "human activities," but he and other researchers said they could not be more specific without added data.

"We know that levels (of certain contaminants) increase when we get near the C&D Canal and Baltimore Harbor, but what are the sources?" asked Professor Robert Hugggett, of the Virginia Institute of Marine Sciences. "We don't know."

Scientists said they are also baffled by high levels of organics, heavy metals and other contaminants in Virginia's Rappahannock River, a phenomenon called the "Rappahannock Ripple."

"Maybe there is some method of (contaminant) transport we don't understand," said Helz.

Researchers and government officials said they remain unclear on the possible effect of contaminants on Bay life.

Heavy metals, at certain concentrations, are known to harm Bay animals. But James B. Coulter, Secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, said, "Some animals have been shown to build up tolerances. Sometimes scientists lead us to believe we have a problem, when we don't have problem at all."

Hughes Appoints James Sharer To Naughton Seat, 4th Circuit

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — James F. Sharer, Cumberland's city solicitor, was named Tuesday to a seat on the Allegheny County Circuit Court by Gov. Harry Hughes.

Sharer, 42, is a former deputy state's attorney and is currently a partner in the law firm of Wilson and Sharer.

He replaces Judge Harold E. Naughton, chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, who resigned Nov. 1. The Fourth Judicial Circuit encompasses the counties of Allegany, Garrett and Washington.

Sharer is a 1960 graduate in economics of Washington and Jefferson College in Washington, Pa., and earned his law degree in 1963 at the University of Maryland School of Law.

He was Allegheny County's deputy state's attorney in 1965 and 1966.

Sharer's name will be put before voters in the Fourth Judicial Circuit at the general election of 1982.

Health Dept. Budget Cuts Proposed To Offset Fiscal 1980 Deficit

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — The state health department announced Tuesday it will cut nearly $4.2 million from its current spending plan to help Gov. Harry Hughes erase a projected $127 million deficit at the end of the current fiscal year.

The reductions, announced by Health and Mental Hygiene Secretary Charles Buck, are to come from:

- curtailing out-of-state travel by department employees ($82,000);
- delaying hiring ($1.5 million);
- savings resulting from a shift in eight department facilities from oil-burning to gas-burning power plants ($1.5 million);
- delaying the opening of a 100-bed Upper Shore facility in Chestertown for emotionally disturbed patients ($250,000);
- postponing a new program of providing mental health services for children and adults with hearing impairments ($109,762);
- and eliminating half of the funds appropriated for a program of providing legal counsel for the developmentally disabled ($120,000).

Buck said the department attempted to propose budget reductions in administrative areas that would not affect services to patients, but was forced to cut $650,000 out of a $23.7 million fund used by the state to provide 20 percent matching funds to localities for the operation of local health departments.

Hughes had ordered all departments and agencies to prepare to cut spending by 3 percent, although the health department reductions agreed to by Hughes and Buck amounted to 1.26 percent of the department's budget.

"It would be fallacious to assume that each of these budgetary reductions will not ultimately contribute to a decline in the quality of the department's existing programs," Buck said in a prepared statement.

"However, with the exception of the curtailment of local health funding, these cuts avoid directly reducing or denying services to those who are already participating in (health and mental hygiene) programs."

The reductions were announced at a meeting of a subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee.

Much of the two-hour session, however, was spent instead on a sometimes vehement discussion of the manner in which the department announced plans to close Baltimore County's Mount Wilson Center for the chronically ill.

Sen. Melvin Steinberg, D-Baltimore County, who is not a member of the subcommittee, told Buck he was angered and surprised to learn of the proposed closing just days after telling constituents that no such plans were afoot.

Steinberg, Delegate Robert Neall, R-Anne Arundel, and others spent more time debating the procedures used in reaching the Mount Wilson decision and making that decision public than they did on the merits of the decision itself.

Sen. Francis X. Kelly, D-Baltimore County, sat in on the meeting and said afterwards, "I was upset because these are the decisions that have to be made, the cuts that have to be made."

"But the governor makes it just that much more difficult to do when you embarrass the delegates and senators involved."

"I support the governor in making legitimate cuts, when they have justified them. But when they don't do their homework politically, it makes it tough on us all," he said.

Health department officials said they intended to notify the legislators as soon as they had decided when and how to tell Mount Wilson patients and employees, but the story broke in the press before they had the chance.

PSC Rules Against Winter Cutoffs Of Utility Service

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Utilities in Maryland won't be allowed to cut off service for people who don't pay their bills this winter if the lives or the health of the customers are threatened, the Maryland Public Service Commission said Tuesday.

The policy is similar to one adopted last winter and is in effect from Dec. 1 to March 31.

The order says customers have the right to contest any cutoff and requires utilities to certify any cutoff with the PSC before service is terminated.

The commission has tried for years to draft a permanent policy on cutoffs, but instead has issued temporary orders each winter. Tuesday's order is another temporary measure.

Some members of the commission said they think the General Assembly should pass such a permanent policy into law, while others feel the commission itself should make the decree.

Don Marier, a forecaster with the National Weather Service, said gale force winds were recorded at Baltimore-Washington International Airport and a gust of 51 mph was logged at 9:02 a.m. today.

"This won't be a prolonged wind storm. Winds should be light and variable by tomorrow morning," Marier said.

John Metzger, a spokesman for BG&E, said about 15,000 customers were without power at 7 a.m. today. He said he didn't know when service would be restored "until we get a handle on this."

Science Center Funds

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The City Council meets in a special session Thursday to discuss a plan to spend $752,000 in city funds to bail out the financially-plagued Maryland Science Center.

The Maryland Science Center, operated by a non-profit organization, has run in the red for several years. It has raised admission prices and cut its budget to try to save money.

New Drug Law Applies

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — A Glen Burnie merchant who was arrested last month for selling drug paraphernalia has become the first Maryland resident to be convicted under a new anti-paraphernalia law.

The merchant, Brian Herman, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge and was fined $100 in Anne Arundel District Court Monday.

The law against selling the paraphernalia was signed by Gov. Harry Hughes on May 28, but it wasn't until six days ago that a federal court ruled it could be enforced.

Anne Arundel officials began enforcing the state law in September, before the federal court said it was constitutional.

Herman's Freedom Factory in Glen Burnie was first investigated Sept. 5. County police seized five boxes of merchandise, valued at about $3,000, later in the month.

State's Attorney Warren Duckett said, "It was important that the first case in the state result in a conviction."

Miller said Monday the warrant issued for the April 26, 1979 raid on Jacob's law offices did not specify what crimes Jacob allegedly committed, allowing officers to "decide for themselves what may be seized."

Jacob is charged with failing to pay $5,576 in taxes in 1975. Last summer, he was a government witness in the federal racketeering trial of

Chief Circuit Judge John Raine, noting that Edelen paid a $40 court fee to file the appeal and had to pay for the services of a lawyer, said, "That's punishment enough."

He wiped out the fine with a ruling of probation before judgment.

Anne Arundel Roads

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Officials in Anne Arundel County are angry over the elimination of road construction projects in the county because of budget cutbacks.

Gov. Harry Hughes ordered 83 road projects cut because of an expected decline in revenues. But Anne Arundel County legislators say the Transportation Department dropped needed projects — some of them in the county — for political reasons, and threatened revenge.

"If we have to cut back on the entire DOT appropriation this year and next, we'll do it until you get the message," Sen. John Cade, R-Anne Arundel, said Monday.

Only five of the 16 projects scheduled for next year survived the cutbacks.

Tax Records

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The government cannot present key evidence in the tax trial of Baltimore lawyer Felix Jacob because it was obtained under a warrant that violated Jacob's constitutional rights, a judge has ruled.

The order by U.S. District Judge James Miller means the case will not be brought to trial unless government attorneys successfully appeal the decision to the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond.

Miller said Monday the warrant issued for the April 26, 1979 raid on Jacob's law offices did not specify what crimes Jacob allegedly committed, allowing officers to "decide for themselves what may be seized."

Jacob is charged with failing to pay $5,576 in taxes in 1975. Last summer, he was a government witness in the federal racketeering trial of former Workmen's Compensation Commissioner Joseph Paper. In return, the government promised not to prosecute Jacob, who also had been charged with insurance fraud, on anything but the tax charge.

Howard Prison

JESSUP, Md. (UPI) — Howard County residents who live near five state prisons in the Jessup area fear a new county jail may be the start of additional prison construction in the area.

Construction of the $7.5 million county detention center began Monday on a 90-acre site near Interstate 85. Residents who live in fear of escapes from state correctional facilities say they think some of the land might become the site for a new prison.

"Everything is being dumped in our area. We are scared when there is a prison break. You lock your doors, your car and you don't know when to leave your house again," said Dorothy Stemlein.

Capital Offense

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Prosecutors said Tuesday they will seek the death penalty for an inmate at the House of Corrections accused of killing another prisoner.

Anthony Francis, 27, has been charged with the Oct. 23 knife slaying of Theodore Parks. Parks was killed as he slept in his cell, said William Roessler, an assistant state's attorney for Anne Arundel County.

"To the best of my knowledge, it's the first time we've sought the death sentence since the new law was passed (in 1978)," Roessler said.

Authorities have not released any details on the killing. Francis was indicted for the slaying Monday.

Better Half Speaks

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The wife of city Police Commissioner Donald Pomerleau, who called women "little balls of fluff" during a sex discrimination trial, says she is opposed to women receiving less pay than men for the same work.

Emily Pomerleau also defended her husband's comment during a trial brought by women police officers who said they were forced to do demeaning jobs.

"To him, it's a very endearing term. What he meant was that every woman is something special — tender and loving — to someone," she said.

"He felt that every small woman, as well as very small men, were limited as police officers."

But Mrs. Pomerleau added she thought women's groups could be offended if they misunderstood his statement.

"Airport Baby" Case

LINTHICUM, Md. (UPI) — The foster parents of a baby boy found in a car parked at Baltimore-Washington International Airport have named the child James.

The baby, found Nov. 21 in the parking lot at BWI, was about one week old when he was abandoned, state police said. They still are trying to find his parents.

Police said his foster parents, who have refused to be identified, are a middle-aged couple living in Pasadena.

Tax Default Case

BALTIMORE (UPI) — City officials said they will file suit Friday against 100 property owners who have defaulted on real estate taxes they owe the city.

There are about 800 property owners who have been targeted for suits, Solicitor Benjamin Brown said. Each will be sued unless they pay all back and current taxes and court costs, he said.

William Hughes, the head of the city's Litigation Division, said the first 100 cases could bring up to $120,000 in revenues. He said the suits will help keep real estate on the tax rolls and prevent it from becoming a costly burden for the city.

The city must take over buildings abandoned by owners who default on their taxes.

Willing Volunteers Lend Helping Hands At Bloomington Elementary School

by Carol Kapel

Because a child's education comes in many forms from many different sources, school administrators feel the responsibility for educating children is shared by teachers, parents, and the community. At Bloomington Elementary School, several parents are assisting classroom teachers in providing an effective instructional program.

In 1979, Bloomington School's reading and math instruction was increased by the Maryland State Compensatory Education Program which provided an additional teacher, two aides, and materials. Due to budgetary considerations, this program later had to be abandoned in the school, and as a result, a library aide and a CETA aide were dropped from the school staff. Although the loss of personnel has had an impact on the school, parent volunteers are currently continuing the objectives begun by the staff last year.

As an example of dedication to the welfare of children in the Bloomington area, two former aides whose positions were not funded this school year are voluntarily working several days each week.

Mrs. Marian Harvey is continuing to assist Miss DeVore's third and fourth graders. She handles follow-up instructional activities, assists with classroom record keeping, and prepares instructional materials.

Miss Janice Morton aids teachers with students in grades one, five, six, seven, and eight. She assists by developing instructional materials, working with small groups of children, and by correcting student assignments. Miss Morton does volunteer work most days until 2 p.m.

The school library is entirely operated by volunteers. Parents read to young children, carry out programs to motivate reading, manage circulation, and design library bulletin board displays. The library volunteer program is coordinated by Mrs. April Scardell, a former teacher and frequent substitute instructor at Bloomington. Library volunteers that donate a few hours of their time each week include: Mrs. Faye Tichnell, Mrs. Jean Marple, Mrs. Louise Nealis, Mrs. Jeanne Carder, Mrs. Shirley Maynard, Mrs. Patty Smith, Mrs. Linda Kasmer, and Mrs. Hilda Claycomb.

Another volunteer truly appreciated by the Bloomington staff is Mrs. Jane Bland, Mrs. Harvey was employed as an instructional aide last year under the Compensatory Education Program, but when funding for the program ceased, she continued to give her services on a volunteer basis. Pictured below is Janice Morton, also a former employee, who now also volunteers her time. She is shown correcting student papers as an assistant to Bloomington teachers.

who maintains the school health room. She launders the linen each week and as a registered nurse, is available when first aid advice is needed.

Administrators at Bloomington Elementary School credit their volunteer staff with improving the education of the children in attendance there. By working cooperatively, sharing talents, and communicating freely, teachers and parents are better able to meet the needs of the children, as reported by Gary Galloway, principal.

Saturn

The ringed planet is about 10 times farther from the Sun than Earth. This planet has a diameter about 10 times that of Earth, but weighs about 100 times as much as the Earth. Saturn is made of material that is about eight times lighter than the material of which Earth is composed. This planet takes 30 times as long to make one revolution around the Sun as the Earth does. Its day is about 40 percent of an Earth day.

Moon

On Sunday at 9:35 a.m., the Moon will pass through its New Moon phase. As this time, the Moon and the Sun will be in the same direction from Earth. Moonset will be at 3:01 this afternoon. Moonset will be at 6:57 p.m. next Tuesday.

Visible Planets

Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn will be visible during this week. Mercury will be low in the southeast sky for a few minutes prior to sunrise. Venus will rise 2½ hours before the Sun. During the week it will be moving through Libra. Jupiter and Saturn will be among the stars of Virgo. They rise about 5 hours before the Sun rises. Mars will be low in the southwest for about 2 hours after sunset. It will be among the stars of Sagittarius.

Daylight Decreases

By the end of the week, Tuesday, there will be 3 minutes less daylight than today will have. Sunrise was at 7:21 this morning. Sunset will be at 4:54 this afternoon. There will be 9 hours 28 minutes of daylight on Tuesday. Sunrise will be at 7:26 a.m., and sunset will be at 4:54 p.m.

Today is the 338th day of 1980. The altitude of the Sun at noon today will be the same as it was last 7th of January.

MATTHEW'S CHRIST AND YOURS

December 7, 1980

Background Scripture: Matthew 1:1-17, 5:17-20, 9:9, 13:41-42, 23:1-12

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 35

Newspaper and magazine editors throughout the world seem to have at least one rule in common: they will not print anonymous letters to the editor. "If you won't sign it, we won't print it," is the maxim in journalistic circles.

If this had been the practice current in ancient times the four Gospels of the New Testament might never have come to light (along with a lot of other literary and religious works). For, although each of them today bears a name — Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John — none of them did at the time they were written and originally circulated among the early Christian communities. This was not because the authors did not want to reveal their identities, but because authorship was not regarded as particularly important in those days. People didn't really care all that much who wrote something. It was the appeal of the contents, not the identity of the author, that was important.

The Writer's Christ

Thus it was several hundred years before the first Gospel bore the title, the Gospel Acknow why we build skyscrapers? In order to have many more people working in a limited area. We package people vertically!

Among the skyscrapers our photographer has discovered a church. It too has a vertical element — a steeple pointing heavenward.

Church architecture with its traditional spires expresses our beliefs. People today are packaged too tightly. Pressure, custom, conformity crowd in upon our souls. Christ teaches that every person is important... each one of us is loved by our Lord.

As we worship God each week side by side, our beliefs point us heavenward.

Newspaper and magazine editors throughout the world seem to have at least one rule in common: they will not print anonymous letters to the editor. "If you won't sign it, we won't print it," is the maxim in journalistic circles.

If this had been the practice current in ancient times the four Gospels of the New Testament might never have come to light (along with a lot of other literary and religious works). For, although each of them today bears a name — Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John — none of them did at the time they were written and originally circulated among the early Christian communities. This was not because the authors did not want to reveal their identities, but because authorship was not regarded as particularly important in those days. People didn't really care all that much who wrote something. It was the appeal of the contents, not the identity of the author, that was important.

SUMMER YOUTH EMPLOYMENT AWARDS — The Garrett County Commissioners presented certificates of achievement on November 26 to summer youth workers recommended by the program directors and their supervisors. Youth Program Awards Noted

The Garrett County Commissioners presented certificates of achievement on November 26 to eight Garrett County Summer Youth Employment Program participants for outstanding work performance.

The worksite supervisors and program counselors were permitted to nominate three program participants for the awards. The eight people selected received first place votes from both their supervisors and their counselors.

The recipients receiving the awards were: Eleanor Barnard, daughter of Anthony and Beatrice Barnard, Swanton, who was supervised by Tom Dunbar of Garrett

Memorial Hospital; Glen Broadwater, son of Cecil and Delta Broadwater, Grantsville, who worked for Perry Edmiston of New Germany State Park; Lowell Broadwater, son of Roy and Diona Broadwater, Lonaconing, who was supervised by Jean Reams of Northern Middle School; Diane Burns, daughter of John and Alma Burns, Mountain Lake Park, who worked for John Rickman at Southern Middle School; Donna McRobie, daughter of Junior and Donna Jean McRobie, Kitzmiller, who was supervised by Ray Karlstrand at Mt. Nebo; Wilbur Severe, son of Wilbur Severe and Marian Tasker, Swanton, who worked for Ward Ashby of Deep Creek Lake State Park; DeWayne Wilhelm, son of Allan and Alice Wilhelm, Grantsville, who was supervised by Perry Edmiston of New Germany State Park; and Bonnie Wilt, daughter of Lawrence and Mamie Wilt, Swanton, who worked for Wayne Johnson at Broad Ford Elementary School. Guests present for the awards presentation were Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Garrett County Superintendent of Schools;

Richard Barron, Director of Operations; Susan Sims, Youth Specialist, from the Western Maryland Consortium Administrative Office; Bonnie Cowan, Coordinator, and Den Elminger, Youth Specialist, Garrett County Western Maryland Consortium Office.

The Summer Youth Employment Program was funded by CETA through the Western Maryland Consortium and was locally operated by the Garrett County Board of Education. The program continued for 10 weeks, and offered the 172 participants thirty-two hours work experience per week at 40 worksites throughout Garrett County. In addition to the work experience, all the participants were involved in eight hours per week career exploration that provided exposure to a variety of vocations and job-research techniques.

Steve Hile was the Program Director. Debbie Ambrose and John Ledden were the training coordinators. Phil Caruso, Steve Liller, Kathy Myers, Elmer Redinger, Janie Stover, and Robin Taylor were the counselors.

Recruiting for the SYEP 1981 Summer Youth Employment Program will begin in February of 1981. Any 14-21 year old Garrett County resident that is currently in school or unemployed and meets the program income requirements may apply. Interested persons should contact the county CETA Office, at P.O. Box 72, Oakland, or call 334-8445.

Grantsville PTA Meeting Is Noted

The Grantsville School PTA met on November 24 in the school cafeteria.

Lois Bittinger, president, conducted a brief business meeting which included the secretary's report and a financial report by the treasurer. Following the treasurer's report, a check for $796.42 was presented to Matthew Stieringer, principal, representing half the proceeds of the Halloween Social.

Room count was taken, with PTA prizes being awarded to Betty Kolb's room and Michael Warne's class. In addition, ideas were requested for planned use of PTA funds, to be discussed at the January meeting.

Floyd Baker, president of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, presented a brief background of the squad, and explained a need for volunteers.

The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Betty Wellborn, Family Life Instructor at Northern Middle School. She presented the curriculum guide for review and a film which is shown during the 12-week instructional period, with a discussion following.

Energy Tip: A fireplace can help keep the home warm as cold weather sets in, but it is important to remember that when the fireplace is not in use, the chimney damper must be kept closed in order to avoid losing valuable heat up the chimney.

The Christmas Holidays are a joyous time of year but if we aren't careful they can also be a stressful time of year. It seems like there is always so much to do for Christmas with so little time to do it. This feeling of pressure could lead to stress through headaches, backaches, irritability or just general unhappiness.

To help enjoy the holiday season with as little stress as possible, here are some tips you may want to follow:

"Take up some physical activity that will allow you to relax, such as yoga, jogging, skiing, walking, etc."

"When you become anxious, set aside a short period of time to put all stress-producing thoughts aside and think of something pleasant and relaxing."

"Don't always be in a hurry, try to slow down."

"Avoid too many deadlines, either self-imposed or otherwise. Try to enjoy life."

"Don't try to be perfect, just do the best you can and everyone will be happy."

"Say 'no' when you feel you really don't have the time."

"Set aside one hour a day for you—you're worth it."

"Have a place in your home where you can be alone."

"Be cheerful and smile."

"Complete chores which you dread early in the day—the rest of the day will look much brighter."

"Try new ways of doing things to make life more interesting and less boring."

"Love and respect yourself—you are important!"

"Avoid stress and enjoy the holiday season!"

FOOD NOTES

Everyone enjoys the delicious aroma which comes from the kitchen around Christmas and one of the favorites is hard tack candy. I get many requests for that recipe each holiday season, so I have included it here. Enjoy it!

HARD TACK CANDY

3 c. sugar
1 c. white syrup
1 c. water flavoring

Put ingredients in heavy pan. Stir until dissolved, then cook until thermometer reaches 200°, add desired flavoring. Pour onto buttered cookie sheet. When candy starts to get hard around the edges, pull up into pieces with fork and snap off with scissors. Drop in powdered sugar or put on cookie sheet until dry. Do not allow pieces to touch until dry. Peanut butter, nuts or coconut may be added if desired. For butterscotch flavor, add 1/2 c. country butter and pure vanilla flavoring. Use oil of peppermint, cloves, etc., for flavoring. (You need to work fast so candy doesn't become too hard).

Educational Need Study Completed By Senator Mason

Senator Edward J. Mason, Chairman of a Governor's Task Force, has concluded a study of the educational needs of children in juvenile institutions and has reported those findings to the Governor for implementation. Senator Mason had been appointed by the Governor in July to serve as Chairman of the Task Force to Study Educational and Related Needs of Children in Juvenile Residential Institutions.

The Mason Report is the culmination of a four-month effort, during which time the Task Force conducted on-site visits to juvenile facilities in Allegany County and throughout the State. Representatives from various State agencies, parents and interested community members presented testimony to the Task Force and responded to direct inquiries.

The Task Force found a real need for coordination of educational programming, planning and budgeting within the Juvenile Services Administration to insure that the children placed in juvenile institutions receive a meaningful education program, according to Mason. To accomplish this, the Task Force has recommended that the Governor approve the creation of a position within the Juvenile Services Administration for a Superintendent of Education. The Superintendent would be responsible for developing and coordinating educational programs for all juvenile institutions and would function in a manner similar to that of the Superintendent of Schools in the various counties. The Task Force feels that the principals and teachers in the institutions must have direct access to the Superintendent to complement the effect of this change in the system.

Senator Mason stated that, "The recommendations endorsed by the Task Force are modest in terms of the benefits which we hope will be derived by the creation of a Superintendent's position. The individuals in charge of the various juvenile institutions are providing the best educational program that they can under the circumstances, but they need direction and assistance from within JSA. Our recommendations are saying that education is a key factor in meeting the needs of troubled children and we are making education a priority of the Juvenile Services Administration."

Mrs. Marlene Weimer of Frostburg served on the Task Force as a representative of the Parents-Teachers Association.

Marcia Wolf, Randall Ashby Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

Marcia Annette Wolf became the bride of Randall Glen Ashby in a candlelight ceremony in the Loch Lynn Church of God on October 4 at 3 p.m.

Rev. Robert H. Fletcher officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fredolen L. Wolf, Jr., Pleasant Valley. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Ashby, Oakland.

Given in marriage by her parents, and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white sheer organza. The bodice featured a high neckline with English netting accented with Alencon lace and seed pearls. The Bishop sleeves featured lace appliques. The full skirt swept to a chapel train beneath a sheer ruffle trimmed in lace. A Camello headpiece of matching lace held a chapel-length mantilla with satin piping.

The bride carried a bouquet of white and burgundy silk roses accented with baby's breath and matching streamers. She carried a white Bible belonging to her sister with her bouquet.

Becky Wolf, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sherri Remley, sister of the groom, Lynn Mellinger, cousin of the bride, Lesa Whitehair, and Lesanna Harvey, both friends of the bride.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore identically styled gowns. Larissa DeWitt, the flower girl, wore a floor-length gown similar to the attendants. All the gowns were made by Mrs. Karen DeWitt.

Serving as best man was Jay Sowers, friend of the groom. Ushers were Stephen Ashby, brother of the groom; Ed Remley, brother-in-law of the groom; Lee Wolf, brother of the bride; and Doug Sexton, friend of the groom. Timothy Rounds served as ring bearer.

Clifford DeWitt provided traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Karen Wilt, vocalist. During the ceremony, the couple lit the wedding candle and accepted Holy Communion.

A buffet reception followed the ceremony at the Deer Park Fire Hall. Lois Williams, aunt of the bride, and Pat Allen, cousin of the bride, cut and served the eight-tiered wedding cake, which featured a lighted fountain and stairways on either side. The cake was baked and decorated by the bride's mother and Mrs. Lois Williams.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Georgie Fike, Mrs. Eloise Harsh, and Ellen Friend. Laurie Allen, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book; Robin Allen, Glenda Mellinger, and Rhonda Wolf, all cousins of the bride, handed out programs and rice packets.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at the Loch Lynn Church of God fellowship hall. The dinner was served by Mrs. Edna Wolf, Mrs. Geraldine Wolf, and Mrs. Jackie Fletcher.

The bride chose a two-piece maroon suit with a corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet as a going-away outfit. After a honeymoon trip to Virginia, the couple now resides in Loch

Lynn.

Out-of-state guests were from Virginia, West Virginia, and Hawaii.

Huffman, Lough Exchange Vows

Mrs. Dorothy S. Huffman, Morgantown, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lough, also of Morgantown, announce the marriage of their children.

Judiann Huffman and Rodney Lough exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. O. W. Hull, on Saturday, November 22, in Loch Lynn.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her oldest brother, Scott B. Huffman, the bride chose a traditional floor-length gown of white and carried a silk bouquet of cascading yellow roses and white carnations.

Phyllis Lough Uphold, Friendsville, cousin of the groom, served as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length blue gown and carried blue silk rosebuds and yellow carnations.

Scott Lough, Swanton, cousin of the groom, served as best man. He hosted a bachelor party in the groom's home on Friday, November 21.

Annette Lough, sister of the groom, attended the guest book, and music was provided by Lesa Whitehair.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Philip H. Lough residence, Deer Park. The two-tiered cake was baked and decorated by Joyce Sisler, Friendsville.

After a brief stay in the area, the couple now resides in Morgantown, W. Va.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Private John L. Elchorn, son of Ray M. Elchorn of Grantsville, entered East Berlin to observe conditions on the communist-controlled side of the Berlin Wall.

Since the infamous Berlin Wall was built around this city, some 50,000 people have risked their lives to escape East Berlin and find freedom in the West.

The excursion was part of a three-day orientation tour of the divided city that is given to U. S. Army members stationed in Europe. According to Army Officials, the Berlin Orientation Tour is intended "to give American soldiers a first-hand look at the differences between a free and a controlled society, so they can see for themselves why they are stationed in Europe." The hope is that the contrast will add new meaning to their roles and assignments.

Under the Potsdam Agreements, members of the U. S. Military are permitted access to East Berlin.

In August 1976, Germans on both sides of the Berlin Wall observed the 15th year of its existence. Numerous memorial of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. DeWitt of Route 2, Oakland, is attending basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

During the training, students receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map-reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Alcohol, Tobacco Tax Revenue For October Higher

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein has reported that alcohol and tobacco tax revenue for October 1980 totaled $8,614,915, a growth of 20.7% over the $7,133,068 collected for the same month of 1979. Each of the three alcoholic beverage tax demonstrated growth: distilled spirits, 5.1%; wine, 14.2%; and beer, 25.6%. The cigarette tax collection of $6,007,710, increased $1,190,334, up 24.7%.

Net receipts for the first four months of Fiscal Year 1981 total $35,114,850. The $1.50 per gallon distilled spirits tax produced $5,415,046, a 1% rise. Wine tax receipts amounted to $1,656,767 and beer tax receipts, totaled $3,823,037, an increase of 9.2% and 13.1%, respectively.

The $23,971,536 produced by the cigarette tax exceeded the collection for the corresponding four months of 1979 by $7,451,280 or 45.1%.

"This increase in revenue exceeds the 30% tax increase enacted by the General Assembly, which became effective July 1, 1980," Comptroller Goldstein said. "It can only be attributed to increased cigarette sales."

Almanac

Today is Wednesday, December 3rd, the 338th day of 1980 with 28 to follow.

The moon is moving toward its new phase.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Mars.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius. American portrait painter Gilbert Stuart was born December 3rd, 1755.

On this date is history: In 1818, Illinois was admitted to the Union as the 21st state.

In 1833, Oberlin College in Ohio opened with an enrollment of 29 men and 15 women. . . The nation's first truly co-educational school.

In 1929, the Ford Motor Company raised the pay of its employees from six to seven dollars a day despite the collapse of the American stock market.

In 1948, the Whittaker Chambers spy case was made public. It was disclosed that microfilm of secret American documents had been found in a hollow pumpkin on the Maryland farm of the former magazine editor. Allegedly for delivery to a communist power.

A thought for the day: British writer Jan Austen said: "It is a truth universally acknowledged that a single man in possession of a good fortune must be in want of a wife."

Fair Stockholders Meet For Dinner, Elect Officers

The Garrett County Fair Stockholders annual dinner was held at the Deer Park Fire Hall on November 26. There were 170 stockholders and guests present.

New bleachers were erected this past year, with plans to cover them this year. A new pig barn is also in the plans.

Each officer thanked all those who helped support the fair.

Gary Fratz remarked about the live stock sale. He said he knows each child does not make a dollar, but it is a learning situation for each of them.

Elections of directors was held. Gerald Giotfely, Walter Margroff, Elwood Sanders, and Loretta Opel were all re-elected to serve another four-year term. Ira (Tip) Yaste is a new director serving where Allen (Dick) Paugh served. Paugh served as a director since the beginning of the fair 25 years ago.

Talent for accents made him a success

"I have an ear for accents," Ramon Bieri says softly. "It's a gift."

Bieri, who starred in the series "Joe's World" and co-starred in "Sarge," displays his talent for accents in "A Christmas Without Snow," a new motion picture for television being broadcast Tuesday, Dec. 9, on CBS.

In the drama, Bieri (pronounced Beer-eye) plays a Dane, a member of a church choir in San Francisco, who shyly courts a divorced newcomer, portrayed by Michael Learned. John Houseman also stars in the film directed by John Korty ("The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman"), about the efforts of a church choir to overcome individual differences and personal problems in time to present Handel's "Messiah" for Christmas.

Bieri has the ability to pick up almost any accent and imitate it. German, Greek, Italian, Scottish, British, French, Russian and Latin American accents are among his specialties. Ordinarily, his only preparation is tapping his memory and rehearsing into a tape recorder.

"I was raised in a melting pot in Connecticut," he explains. "I worked the farms with immigrants from Europe who had just arrived in the United States."

Since Danish is not an accent frequently called for in scripts, Bieri did a little extra research. Luckily, he is part Danish himself, so he returned to Windsor, Conn., his hometown, for a visit with his aunt and quick refresher in this particular Scandinavian accent.

"It's not difficult for my tongue to apply what my ear can hear," he says. "I might get into some problems if I had to go into precise regional dialect variations."

Although much of Bieri's career has tested his array of accents, he speaks no foreign language. His interest in acting came relatively late, after a stint in the Army. In school, he was interested in becoming a stage set designer.

Since he began acting, Bieri has appeared on Broadway in "Too True to Be Good" and "The Passion of Joseph D." He also appeared Off Broadway, at the New York Shakespeare Festival, and at such regional theaters as the Cincinnati Playhouse, the McCarter Theater in Princeton and the Akron Shakespeare Festival. He met Michael Learned, his "A Christmas Without Snow" co-star, while a member of the American Conservatory Theater in San Francisco.

His motion picture credits include "The Andromeda Strain," "Brother John" and "Memory of Us," and he has appeared frequently as a guest star on a number of television series.

No coffee for Namath; Rex gives his own

By CINDY ADAMS

Joe Namath razzberry'd a TV coffee commercial for big money, just because he's a semi-honest human. He doesn't drink coffee. Rex Harrison went into Video Shack, a shop that sells video cassettes of old movies. He bought six copies of his own oldies as gifts for friends.

Burt Reynolds, who annexes real estate about as easily as he does women, just vacuumed up another house near the theater he owns in Jupiter, Fla. Roy Rogers is going around New York in a Western hat, boots and drawl.

Ingrid Bergman and Louis Jourdan picked up a little loose change as hosts of syndicated feature films for TV's "On the Air" series. Bergman will provide comments, intros and pertinent babble for her "Joan of Arc" flick.

Alan Young (remember CBS' "Mister Ed, the Talking Horse") June Lockhart ("Lassie") and Dennis James, who was host of every game show on the air at one time, have teamed up for a three-month tour in "Murder at Howard Johnson's," which only lasted an hour and a half on Broadway. Lilli Palmer's looking to nail a Broadway show. Gladys Knight and the Pips are making a two-night stand at the Westbury Music Fair next month. Joyce Dewitt "I got divorced because I couldn't work all day then come home and be a docile slave to my husband. That's for the birds." Valerie Perrine "As the only daughter of a U.S. Army colonel I know that inside every straitlaced Catholic or Jewish girl is an urge to be tacky and promiscuous."

Telly Savalas' brother George is doing commercials for Blue Bonnet margarine. Tiny Tim is the latest roller disco freako. He does it with out the ukelele. 150 midgets are joining Eve Arden, Chevy Chase and Carrie Fisher in Orion Pictures' "Over the Rainbow." Richard Von Tripp's Europa House has the Hollywood faces who live in the Big Apple flocking for facials. He slathers them with cucumber cleansers, spearmint masques, honey and almond scrubs, strawberry skin toners and the rest of that natural jazz. Maybe it's age, but Debbie Reynolds sighs cheerily that her number-one passion these days is eating popcorn in a good movie.

Shirley MacLaine admits to chums that a majority of her wardrobe is from costumes she's worn in her movies. In any case, she looks smashing.

'Alexander' on PBS

"The Search for Alexander the Great," a four-part dramatization of the life of the legendary conqueror, will premiere on PBS this spring. Nicholas Clay (seen recently as Tristan in "Tristan and Isolde") portrays Alexander, who conquered the known world by the time he was 27, and died five years later, in 323 B.C. An international exhibit of artifacts from the age of Alexander, which opened last summer in Salonic, Greece, is now at the National Gallery in Washington and will tour major museums in the United States for two years.

Skokie special

Danny Kaye, internationally known as a clown and musical variety performer, will make his television drama debut in "Skokie," a special that depicts how citizens of Skokie, Ill., became embroiled in a bitter controversy after neo-Nazis announced their intention to demonstrate in the suburb.

John Rubinstein, Carl Reiner, Eli Wallach, Brian Dennehy, Ed Flanders, Charles Levin and James Sutorius will also star in "Skokie," which began filming last month. Kaye portrays Max Feldman, a concentration camp survivor who rejects local advice to ignore the neo-Nazi splinter group, which would deprive them of the confrontation and publicity they need in order to be effective. Feldman instead serves as the catalyst for the vocal opposition to the march, much to the bewilderment of his family.

Israeli 'Sesame St.'

Children's Television Workshop, producers of "Sesame Street," recently announced plans for a Hebrew language version of the award-winning series for pre-school children. The series will be produced in cooperation with the Instructional Television Center of Israel under a $750,000 grant from the Charles H. Revson Foundation.

The joint production will result in 65 half-hour programs in which Israeli and U.S.-produced material will be integrated into a "Sesame Street" with its own Israeli stamp. The Israeli portions of the series will go into production next year, and the program will be broadcast daily in Israel beginning in 1982.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

'The Doctors' go to a real VA hospital

By NANCY M. REICHARDT

NEW YORK — On Veterans Day, Tuesday, Nov. 11, the cast of "The Doctors" appeared in a live entertainment show that they produced and directed themselves. The group performed for the patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital in New York City.

After the main performance in the hospital's auditorium, the troupe toured several special wards that housed bed-ridden patients and autographed photos. Our actors have many talents apart from their performances on the daytime drama, said executive producer, Jim Balfico. "It was a great pleasure to see them utilized in a way that brought a special treat to deserving people. The group put together the Veterans Day show after their regular working hours on 'The Doctors.'"

Several soaps have had cast exits and additions, including "Days of Our Lives," which brought out daytime newcomer Susan Keller to replace Barbara Stanger in the role of Mary Marshall. There was no specific reason given for Barbara's exit but it was rumored that the actress hasn't been happy on the show for some time now. Also exiting "DOOL," was Tyler Murray as Carol Welles.

Peter Matthey joined the "One Life to Live" cast in the role of Becky Abbott's ex-husband, Luke Jackson, and you can be sure this won't be a very nice character.

New to "As the World Turns" is Justin Deas, tex-Bucky Carter on "Ryan's Hope." Justin is now portraying Tom Hughes, a role that has seen several actors in past years.

"Search for Tomorrow" has added Patricia Mancini as new character, Andrea Korakas.

Letters: My question is about Kathryn Harrold, who played Lauren Bacall in the TV movie, "Bogie" and also played Jim Rockford's blind girlfriend in "The Rockford Files." Did she do Nola Dancy on "The Doctors?" Anonymous

Yes, Kathryn did indeed portray Nola Dancy on "TD" until she left for the Hollywood scene. Needless to say, Kathryn has done well on the West Coast.

(Have a question about soap operas? Drop us a line in care of Newspaper Enterprise Assn., 200 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10106.)

THURSDAY

STARVIEW

Quality, not size, matters in a role

By RUTH THOMPSON

Contrary to what some directors have spotted, most good actors are not just a bunch of little kids.

Sure they'd all like big roles with star billing — if the roles are good. But given a choice between an initially showy, but shallow part in the movies or on television, versus "the good stuff," they'll opt for the latter, whatever its size. It is in the tradition of repertory, as Lord Laurence Olivier and Sir John Gielgud's often remind us. They dominate some productions, others they enhance with anything from walk-ons to major supporting characterizations. One thing is for sure: With them it's never how many carats go with a specified role, just that they deliver gem-quality.

Here are a few other examples.

When he cast "Skyward" for airing a few weeks back on NBC, Ron Howard — formerly of "Happy Days" but now a director and producer — cast the unknown Suzy Gilstrap as his heroine and secured Bette Davis and Howard Hesseman as her mentors. Both of the latter have large followings. Both were glad to get away from their recent stereotypes. Bette Davis as depressed, deranged or obsessed women with sagging jaws and baggy undereyes, and Hesseman as Johnny Fever on CBS's delightful "WKRP in Cincinnati."

Now Hesseman likes Johnny Fever as much as most of us. But he is an actor of wide range (and a man of deep perceptions). Fever is fine as an element of Hesseman's career, but not as his defining role. So Hesseman was pleased in his casting as the ex-flyer who urges Suzy (a paraplegic) to pursue her dream of piloting a plane with a feisty and again-attractive Bette Davis as the instructor.

Hesseman told us, "This was probably the most rewarding role I've handled in my career."

Not that good roles are always small. Here are some with star status. Barbara Feldon, who had a long run as Agent 99 in "Get Smart," has turned all recent proposals of a new series. But she said an instant "yes" to portraying a woman who gets only to the fringes of coping as a single parent in "Children of Divorce," which aired Thanksgiving Week on NBC. Why Barbara's quick agreement this time? The script was by Joanna Lee for whom I have such respect that there's not a line she has written that I would want to change," says Barbara. She also directed (and was the executive producer).

Anthony Andrews first charmed American viewers as young noblemen with more polish than depth in "Upstairs, Downstairs" and "The Pallisers." He liked the roles in his time. But in his recent visit from London to the Public Broadcasting Service station in the New York-Newark area, he expressed delight with the non-saccharine roles in which we will see him this season and next. In January, PBS imports "Danger UXB" with Anthony as the major in charge of unexploded bomb demolition in World War II London.

And with any luck, by next fall he will surface in the biggest acting challenge of his career as the self-tormented author in the mini-series based on Evelyn Waugh's autobiographical novel, "Brideshead Revisited." Production was halted because Britain, too, had an actors' strike. Now the partly filmed opus has been re-activated. So it's the costlier of England's TV efforts. Anthony hopes it will be the best.

TV PEOPLE

Betsy Palmer returns to TV after 11 years

Betsy Palmer, who appeared weekly on "Masquerade Party" (1955-56) and "I've Got a Secret" (1956-67) and frequently on "To Tell the Truth" and "What's My Line," returns to network television for the first time in 11 years to star in NBC's new comedy-drama serial, "Number 96," premiering over three consecutive nights, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Dec. 10, 11 and 12.

Marking her first role in a series, the actress — once called TV's "golden girl" — portrays Maureen Gallagher, a newly widowed and suddenly emancipated 30-year-old who moves into her daughter's apartment building and sheds too many inhibitions. "I'm an old face and a new face, and after more than a decade of going from play to play to play, I think it's time for me to come back to television," says Betsy Palmer.

"There's a whole generation of kids who don't know me, except for that crazy hit horror movie, Friday the 13th." Her recent Broadway and regional theater credits include "Same Time Next Year," "Petr Pan," "A Doll's House," "Cactus Flower," "The King and I," "Mary, Mary" and "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie."

Maureen will give me a chance to be more than sweetness and light Betsy. For years the character lived in a doll's house under her husband's thumb, and now the wraps gradually come off her, and she emerges from her cocoon.

Betsy Palmer

Palmer calls the role "a fluke." While in Phoenix to speak for the Salvation Army in July, she decided to visit Los Angeles for the first time in 14 years. "I figured as long as I was that close and my agent had just set up an office there, I'd have him line up some casting directors. People think that because you come from New York and the theater that you've got a whole other ballgame going on inside your head and put down TV. But I came out of the medium and look forward to coming back and playing a role that is a lovely extension of myself and definitely not a caricature."

Palmer's additional TV credits include "Studio One," "Philo Playhouse," "Alcoa Steel Hour," "Kraft Television Theater" and "Ornibus." She starred in such films as "Mr. Roberts," "The Last Angry Man," "Queen Bee" and "The Tin Star."

AN INSPIRING DRAMA OF human courage, a love story and hard-hitting football action are combined in the triumphant tale of Rocky Bleier, who overcame near-crushing war injuries to star with the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers, in "Fighting Back," "The ABC Sunday Night Movie," airing Dec. 7. Robert Urich stars as Bleier. Art Carney portrays Steelers' owner Art Rooney, and Bonnie Bedelia plays Rocky's wife, Aleta. Bubba Smith, Joe Greene and Howard Cosell also appear in the film.

THURSDAY NIGHTS IN HAWAII — Carefree Tom Magnum (portrayed by Tom Selleck) is a private investigator who lives in and keeps an eye on a Hawaiian beachfront mansion on Oahu's north shore. There, he conducts a running feud with the estate's knowledgeable but stuffy major domo, Higgins (John Hillerman), who disapproves of Magnum's tree-wheeling ways. That's the setting for the new CBS series, "Magnum, P.I.," scheduled to debut Thursday, Dec. 11, with a two-hour episode. It also stars Roger E. Mosley and Larry Manetti. (PREMIERE)

Lee Shillingburg, Deer Park, George Shawley, Bittering, and Charles Teets, Eglon, all elected delegates, represented local Southern States Co-operative's members at the association's 57th annual Stockholders' meeting held in Richmond, VA., November 19 and 20.

Also attending the session were Jesse H. Harsh, manager of SS Grantsville Service; John F. McCallister, manager of SS Oakland Cooperative, and Ronald J. Bishop, manager of Eglon Farm Service.

They heard Executive Vice President and General Manager, Gene A. James, report that Southern States had reached $625.3 million during the fiscal year which ended last June 30. This was an increase of 23% over the previous year.

James also told the business session at the Mosque Auditorium "that savings from operations, after income tax and equity earnings, came to $24.2 million, almost double that of a year ago."

James shared the reporting at the session with Jack A. McHugh, group vice president, wholesale services; Harris K. Swann, vice president, retail services; Paul E. Mullinix, group vice president, operations services; and Beverly W. Armstrong, vice president, finance.

James told the delegates that "after allowance for reserves, the Board of Directors had authorized the payment of a patronage refund of 1.5% on purchases and three cents per bushel on grain marketed. Those refunds are paid 40% in cash and 60% in patronage refund allocations which will be redeemed at a future date."

In his report, McHugh stated that "feed tonnage was down slightly from 543,000 tons the prior year to 540,000 tons. But because of inflationary pressures dollar volume was up from $88.9 million to $93.2 million."

Fertilizer volume was up from 653,000 tons the previous year to 668,496 tons, an increase of 2.4%. Dollar volume was $89.3 million compared to $71.1 the year before. Inflationary pressure and not tonnage was responsible for most of the increase.

Petroleum volume reached $192.1 million, a record figure, while gallonage decreased about 8.2%.

Farm supply volume was slightly over $94 million, up from $84.7 million the year before.

Seed volume increased slightly from $19.5 million last year to $19.6 million.

Swann told the session that "volume through the co-op's 87 owned branches totaled $171.6 million, an increase of 29%. Net savings after taxes came to $4.4 million, a 51% increase over the previous year."

"Managed local farm supply and petroleum co-ops ended their fiscal year on December 31, 1979. They had combined volume of $223.7 million after taxes compared with $194.1 million last year. Net savings were $6.1 million after taxes as compared to $3.5 million last year."

Private agencies and independent local farm supply cooperatives had wholesale purchases of $138.8 million, up from $125.5 million last year.

In reporting on the co-op's grain marketing operation, Mullinix said that "despite some adverse marketing factors, including depressed prices and the Russian grain embargo, two records were set in this division. Volume reached a new high at $93.9 million, and net savings also exceeded previous records at $1.4 million before taxes. The year was the third highest in grain volume with a total of 24,267,000 bushels marketed."

Armstrong told the session that "although all commodity groups contributed to the year's dollar volume increase, more than half - $68.1 million out of the $117.4 million gain - resulted from petroleum price increase at wholesale. The balance was reasonably well distributed among feed, fertilizer, seed farm supplies, grain marketing, and retail branch operations."

After taxes, and before equity additions, net savings from operations amounted to

Commodity Loans Now Available

Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, said loans are now available for 1980 farm program participants.

Grain loans are available for approximately ten months following harvest and mature no later than the last day of the ninth month following the month the loan is disbursed. Producers may satisfy the loan by repaying it or, in cases where the market value is below the loan rate, forfeiting the commodity. Grain under loan may be stored on the farm or in approved warehouses. "Until the loan is satisfied, producers are responsible for the quality of the farm-stored grain," said Crowl.

"The ASCS grain loan program provides operating cash and allows farmers to hold their crop off the market and benefit from price increases that often come after harvest", said Crowl. "Although the program does not guarantee participating farmers a profit, it does guarantee a selling price equal to or greater than the loan rate", he said.

The Maryland loan rates are $2.44 for corn, $2.98 for wheat, $1.81 for barley, $5.00 for soybeans, $3.86 for grain sorghum, $2.05 for rye and $1.29 for oats. Interest rates for all 1980 crop loans is 11% percent.

By placing grain under loan, farmers increase their marketing options and help strengthen crop prices. "The loans give farmers an opportunity to plan their management strategy and sell when the price is right," said Crowl.

Vets Reminded To Verify Income

Thousands of elderly veterans and survivors throughout Maryland are getting reminders in the mail that it's time once again to take a look at their income for this year to make certain it still meets Veterans Administration pension requirements.

The reminders come with VA pension checks in the form of a card explaining that pensioners over 72 who have been receiving VA pensions for the last two years must report certain changes. If the number or status of their dependents has changed or if annual income has increased above VA limits, the agency needs to know, said VA regional director, Milford J. Clayton.

The pensioners receiving the reminder cards are veterans of their survivors who chose at the end of 1978 to remain under what is now called the "old" VA pension plan because it was to their advantage to do so, Clayton said. Their pension rates were frozen at the end of the year, he added.

A smaller group of pension recipients chose to switch to do a more recent plan which offers higher rate to some pensioners, depending on individual circumstances.

Pension recipients receiving the card need not report cost of living increases in their social security income since VA automatically records cost of living rate increases, according to Mr. Clayton.

Should pensioners have any questions regarding the information asked for on the card they should contact the nearest VA regional office. The Baltimore Regional Office is located at 31 Hopkins Plaza, Baltimore, MD. 21201, telephone number 685-5454. To reach the Baltimore Regional Office toll-free in the state of Maryland, call 1-800-495-9503.

SCOUTS DONATE EQUIPMENT — Troop 31 of the Boy Scouts of America recently built and donated equipment for use in the activities program at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, Oakland. The construction of the equipment, which included a workbench, a quilt frame, a rug frame and a pillow frame, was under the direction of Vernon Leighton, a member of the Troop who is working toward the classification of Eagle Scout. Vernon began his planning for the Eagle Scout project by examining examples of the equipment needed and researching plans as found in books and periodicals. He then drew up detailed plans and made up a list of materials needed. The materials were donated by Beachy Lumber Company. In the photo above, left to right, are, front row, Robin Walters, assistant activities director at Dennett Manor; and Vernon Leighton. In the back row, same order, are Greg Finn, Robby Finn, Jeff McCauley, David Stonestier and Mike Whitmer. Below is a shot of the scouts working on the project.

England's Christmas Is Jovial Holiday

Christmas in England is very much like Christmas in America. Joyfulness and generosity are everywhere; presents are exchanged; carols are sung on the highways, byways and in the churches.

The day after Christmas is known as Boxing Day and is observed on a scale almost equal to that of Christmas. Originally, Boxing Day was the day on which the village priest opened the poor box in the parish house and distributed the money. Nowadays, mail carriers, newsboys and other public servants often receive gifts as they make their rounds from house to house.

Society Urges Parents To Keep Eye Safety In Mind When Buying Gifts

When shopping for children's holiday gifts, beware of those that pose threats to eyes, cautions the National Society to Prevent Blindness.

More than 5,000 eye injuries were linked to toys last year and nearly two-thirds of these accidents were suffered by children under the age of 15. BB guns, darts and bows and arrows were responsible for another 1,100 eye injuries among youngsters in this age range.

"Ninety percent of all eye injuries are preventable," noted Virginia S. Boyce, executive director of the National Society. "Safety-conscious adults can protect children from eye damage, and in some cases the loss of an eye, by picking toys and games carefully and by teaching youngsters how to play wisely."

"Holiday gifts hopefully will bring children many hours of enjoyment and help to expand their knowledge all year long, without jeopardizing their well-being," Mrs. Boyce added. Playthings with projectiles have been proven dangerous to eyes and should be avoided. Figures from a 1979 U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission survey of hospital emergency rooms indicate that children under 15 were the victims of:

- the 184 estimated eye injuries from slingshots/sling-propelled toys,
- nearly 82 percent of the 136 eye injuries related to toy guns and other toy weapons with projectiles.

- 78 percent of the 1,273 eye injuries associated with gas, air or spring-operated guns.

Eye damage also can result from toys and games with less apparent hazards. Building sets, skateboards and battery-operated toys were a few of those responsible for eye injuries last year, primarily among children under 15. In some cases, the child may be too young to handle a toy. Often, too, play gets rough and youngsters accidentally hurt themselves or playmates.

Most of these eye injuries happen when children are not supervised. It's very important, the Society says, that parents show their children how to use their gifts properly. Does the child understand how to use the toy? Does he or she take a "harmless" toy and make it dangerous, for example, by pulling rubber tips off darts? Do older children keep their more complicated toys out of reach of younger brothers and sisters? When dangers are explained, does the child acknowledge and avoid them?

"Remember these playtime tips and safeguard your child's sight during the holidays and through the year," Mrs. Boyce concluded.

The National Society to Prevent Blindness, established in 1908, is the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in preventing blindness through community service programs, public and professional education and research.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News

Harry Fox had the worship services in all three churches of the Bittering Parish on Sunday.

The blessing of the Advent wreaths in all the churches was a reminder of the season of Advent into which the church is now entering.

Next Sunday evening, Ivan Yoder, Beallville, Pa., will have a talk on "Peace and Non-Resistance" at the Cherry Glade Menonite Church. The public is invited.

The Glade Menonite Church will have a fellowship dinner at noon next Sunday. The speaker for the morning service will be Rev. Irvin Weaver, Johnstown, Pa., a field worker for the Allegheny Conference.

Christmas Party Planned
The Bittering Volunteer Fire Department and the Auxiliary of the fire department are planning a Christmas party at the Fire Hall on December 14 at 6:30 p.m. Each family is to bring something for refreshments: Candy, cheese, pickles, cookies or any finger foods. Coffee and punch will be furnished by the auxiliary. Governor Announces Creation Of Task Force To Study Coal Exports Maryland Governor Harry Hughes announced Saturday the creation of an Export Coal Task Force to develop policies and programs for coordinating and guiding the development of the Port of Baltimore to meet the needs of a growing worldwide demand for export coal.

The Task Force, composed of representatives of both the public and private sectors, will have a broad scope of inquiry into the various facets of coal export development.

Its areas of study will include the adequacy of rail facilities connecting coal production areas with the Port of Baltimore, storage and pier facilities, dredging needed for increased harbor and channel depth, and public and private means of financing future development.

Governor Hughes noted that skyrocketing oil prices have created a worldwide energy crisis and burgeoning demand for coal.

"Timely, aggressive action by the public and private sectors will enable the Port of Baltimore to capitalize upon its traditional geographical advantage and capture a major share of the expanding export coal market," stated Governor Hughes. "I am looking to the Task Force to facilitate and coordinate such activities."

Hans F. Mayer, Deputy Secretary, Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, was named chairman of the Task Force.

George Shropshire, Vice Chairman, Maryland Coal Producers Association, was named vice chairman.

Other members are:

Bernard L. Berkowitz, President Baltimore Economic Development Corporation; William Boucher, III, Executive Director Greater Baltimore Committee; Thomas M. Bradley, President Maryland-D.C. Council, AFL-CIO; William M. Eichbaum, Assistant Secretary for Environmental Programs Department of Health and Mental Hygiene; E. R. Lichty, Manager of Operations and Planning Chessie System; Richard C. Mappin, Executive Director Allegany County Economic Development Company, Inc.; Dr. Paul Massicot, Administrator Maryland Energy Administration Department of Natural Resources; James J. O'Donnell, Secretary Maryland Department of Transportation; Rexford L. Wheeler, Jr., Senior Vice President Lavino Shipping Company, Inc.

The federal government has also begun a study of the coal export problems and opportunities. An Interagency Coal Export Task Force under the U. S. Department of Energy has been created.

Last week, Governor Hughes submitted to the Federal Task Force a report on the status of coal export development at the Port of Baltimore, noting that "the State of Maryland, through its Department of Transportation, Department of Economic and Community Development, the City of Baltimore and many private sector interests, has moved to position itself to be the major coal export port of the United States."

In his letter of transmittal, Governor Hughes said:

"I attach hereto a report which outlines Maryland's posture regarding export coal including present private commitments for facilities, existing facilities and certain projections now in discussion stage. The report notes that $145,000,000 of industrial review bonds have been committed for new or expanded export coal facilities of which $90,000,000 has already been invested. By the mid-1980's, Maryland will be able to export at least 36,000,000 tons of coal each year and probably much more. When new coal facilities already under development are completed, $170,000,000 will have been invested. A conservative projection of total investments by the mid-1980's is placed at approximately $270,000,000.

"The attached report outlines the existence of rail and port facilities necessary to accommodate these projections as well as the commitment of the State of Maryland to dredge the Baltimore Harbor Channel to 50 feet. I reaffirm that commitment in view of the recent favorable U. S. Supreme Court action and the extension of our U. S. Corps of Engineers permit. As a matter of fact, work is currently underway on the design of the Hart-Miller containment area. An aggressive effort to upgrade our extensive private railroad facilities continues and will result in the best rail facilities nearest to the export coal supply in the country.

"Maryland has the rail and port facilities, the land and the public and private commitment to play an increasingly important role in America's coal export program."

Following a covered dish luncheon, the afternoon was spent in working on items for the Tannebaum Festival. Mrs. Lantz demonstrated the making of Christmas angels using ribbon. Martha Bolyard showed how to crochet wreaths and canes for ornaments.

Lung Association Offers Advice On Influenza Shots

"Ask your doctor if you should have a flu shot this year," advises Ms. Frances Koonz, RN President of the American Lung Association of Maryland.

"The same advice goes for pneumococcal pneumonia," continues Ms. Koonz. "There are vaccines for both diseases. And a drug, amantadine hydrochloride, is available to lessen an attack of flu even after it has started."

During the period 1968 to 1980, more than 150,000 excess deaths are estimated to have occurred during flu epidemics in the U. S., according to the Association. It is also estimated that as many as 900,000 cases of pneumococcal pneumonia may occur in the U. S. annually. Pneumococcal pneumonia has a fatality rate of five to ten percent.

"Certain persons are more susceptible to both flu and pneumococcal pneumonia than others," continues Ms. Koonz.

"Even though you may know if you fit into a broad category of the vulnerable, only your doctor can make an informed decision about you as an individual."

"We at the American Lung Association of Maryland are in the middle of our Christmas Seal Campaign," says Ms. Koonz, "but all year long we are concerned with our community's health, particularly lung health."

Vaccination for both diseases is strongly recommended for all individuals at increased risk, she explained. Such persons include those over 65 years of age and anyone suffering from chronic pulmonary, heart or kidney disease. Individuals with diabetes and severe anemia probably should also be vaccinated for both.

Vaccination should be considered for persons who provide essential community services who may be at increased risk of exposure. Such individuals might include medical care personnel.

Information about local vaccination programs may be obtained from local health departments.

"But remember," says Ms. Koonz, "your own physician best knows your medical condition and the inherent risks involved. Consult him or her first."

Christmas Seals, this year designed by children from every state plus the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam, have been mailed to more than one million homes in Maryland. Contributions to the Christmas Seal Campaign, according to Ms. Koonz, help the lung association fight emphysema, asthma, tuberculosis and many other lung diseases, in addition to influenza and pneumococcal pneumonia.

HOW TO APPLY TIRE CHAINS...THE EASY WAY

With a little "know-how" and practice, it can be done in 6 minutes, without a jack and without getting your clothes dirty.

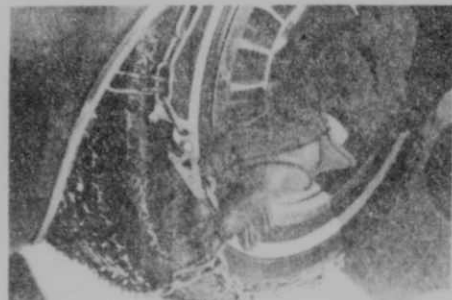

STEP NO. 1 Spread the chains on the ground behind the rear wheel to remove tangles. Hooks should be to the rear. If you use reinforced chains, the projecting teeth or cleats should be facing up.

STEP NO. 2 Gather the chains behind the tire so they won't catch the fender, and attach the end links to the "chain applicator," a simple spring steel wire that is easily slipped onto the tire.

STEP NO. 3 Drive the car forward about one wheel revolution so that the applicator carries the chains around the tire. Then remove the applicator, and you are ready for the hook-up.

STEP NO. 4 Fasten the inside hook that then the outside hook. With a little practice the inner hook can be fastened by "feel" without getting under the car.

Reinforced tire chains are still the ultimate self-help traction aid for severe snow and ice conditions. And installing them needn't be a hassle if you follow the four steps shown.

Sheriff's Office Hears Complaint

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department is investigating an attempted breaking and entering which occurred on Monday, November 24, on a farm in northern Garrett County.

The incident was reported by Charles Durst, Star Route 1, Frostburg, who resides in Garrett County and acts as caretaker of two homes located on the farm. Durst told police that he noticed unknown subjects near one of the homes and approached them at about 11 a.m. that day. The subjects reportedly told Durst they were looking for antiques, however a window in that dwelling had been broken out.

Durst told police that the subjects then left the scene in an early model, light-colored car with an out-of-state license tag. In other business, the department arrested four persons last week.

Mark Lee Mayle, 25, was arrested November 26 on charges of assault and battery and kidnapping. Mayle, a resident of Seagertown, Pa., was picked up in Meadville, Pa. and local police were notified.

Mayle was transported to the Garrett County Jail and was released Monday when he posted $500 bond. No other information is available at this time.

Jerry A. Kline, 29, Oak Park, was arrested Saturday on assault and battery charges. He was released the same day when he posted $250 bond. Ernest Kuhn, 41, Mt. Lake Park, was incarcerated Monday and charged with shoplifting. He was released the same day on his own recognizance.

George Devers, 55, Mt. Lake Park, was arrested Monday on a deadly weapon charge. He was released the next day on his own recognizance.

Straight Talk About Aging

By Dr. Matthew Tayback,
State Director on Aging REDUCING DENTAL COST

An ounce of prevention costs a lot less than a pound of cure. That's not quite the way the old saying goes, granted; but in these times my version is probably truer than the original. It's certainly truer in the area of dental care.

When it comes to saving money on tooth and gum care, nothing beats prevention. To postpone visiting your dentist until a tooth feels like Mt. St. Helen's or a gum bleeds every time you eat is foolish on many counts.

One of those counts is cost. In most cases, treatment of an advanced problem is much, much more expensive than preventing it happening would have been.

As the American Dental Association explains it, "Emergencies can be expensive (because) an emergency repair may often be a stopgap rather than a problem-solver." In other words, you'll have to make several trips to your dentist's office rather than just one in order to get the advanced condition under control.

The first important aspect of prevention, then, consists of periodic examinations by your dentist.

The second is good self-care: regular brushing, flossing at least once a day, avoidance of too many sweets.

Brushing, dentists say, should be with a fluoride dentifrice (either paste or powder) and with a soft brush, one that has multi-tufted bristles with rounded ends, and one that is small enough to reach every portion of your mouth.

Floss can be either waxed or unwaxed. Dentists point out that whereas the unwaxed variety rids the teeth of plaque more effectively than waxed does, the waxed is easier to use for people who have tightly-spaced teeth. Use the floss as directed by your dentist.

Plaque, by the way, is a sticky, nearly colorless film that forms continuously on the teeth. Since it's the stuff that leads to decay and gum disease, it's the stuff you're after when you brush and floss.

The American Dental Association points out that plaque cannot be removed by sloshing mouthwash around your teeth. Yes, mouthwash can sweeten your breath, but that's about all it can do.

And, the ADA adds, breath regularly kept sweet by washes may lead to serious difficulties. That's because continuous bad breath is sometimes an indication of gum or tooth disorder, sometimes also of a bodily ill. Mouthwash masks this symptom.

The ADA also has a warning about "dental quacks" - purveyors of such things as mail-order dentures.

"Denture construction and repair is one of the areas abused by quacks," the Association states unequivocally. "Dentures fitted by unqualified persons and mail order dentures can damage mouth tissues."

They can also cause eating problems (and thus poor nutrition), difficulty in speaking, open sores and jaw-bone damage, according to the Association.

Self-care, therefore, involves not doing the wrong thing as well as doing the right thing. Such care, combined with regular professional attention, can go a long way toward making sure that you can get by with an ounce of prevention rather than a more expensive pound of cure.

MY MONEY'S GOOD ANY PLACE!

So true! You have so many choices when it comes to places to shop and you, the customer, can make any choice you wish. You're the boss! If you've had a bad experience in a large store where the service is poor (or even non-existent) you can take your hard-earned money and find the same merchandise and services elsewhere.

Local business firms recognize the fact that you have a choice, and they're willing to work harder to get you to shop in their stores and then hold your patronage. Try them. You'll save money, your own personal energy, gasoline and learn again just how satisfying local shopping can be.

No need to roam... the best shopping's here at home!

Snow Thrower Safety

A Service of Underwriters Laboratories Inc.

Snow throwers are great labor-saving devices, but unfortunately they bring with them added hazards for the uninformed user. Underwriters Laboratories Inc. (UL) — a not-for-profit organization testing for public safety — offers the following tips for using a snow thrower.

The auger which bites into and throws the snow appears to be the greatest injury-producing part. Injuries here usually occur when attempting to clear debris without first shutting off the engine. Also, exposed gears, drive chains, and belts present similar injury potentials.

If your snow thrower is electrically powered, assure yourself that the unit is effectively and continuously grounded — have a qualified electrician determine this. Use only three-wire cords and extension cords plugged into a grounded three-terminal receptacle; unless the unit is double insulated. Check that the cords are in good condition; not cut, frayed or cracked — if so, replace.

Electric snow throwers should display the UL Listed Mark, indicating that the design has been tested by UL and found to be acceptably free from electric shock, fire and accident related hazards.

Prior to Starting:
* Read instruction manual and safety precautions furnished with your snow thrower.

* Know the controls and use of equipment.

* Fuel up — outdoors only — to avoid refilling tank while engine is hot. Wipe up any spills.

* Make all adjustments (height, auger direction, etc.) while machine is off and in neutral.

* Clear area to be plowed of sticks, stones, toys and other obstacles which could be picked up and thrown by the impeller. Keep children and pets away from area of operation.

* Disengage all clutches, augers, and impellers are free of debris and free to rotate.

* Wear sturdy, protective shoes and close-fitting clothes.

* Assume a firm stance and keep feet a safe distance from the auger before starting machine.

* Do not loan machine to people who are unfamiliar with it and safety rules.

* Never let children operate snow thrower.

During Operation:
* Keep hands and feet clear of auger housing, and fingers and clothing away from moving parts.

* To clear out debris, make adjustments or change direction of the discharge chute (unless a control is provided for this purpose near the handle), first shut off engine and disconnect spark plug wire. If electrically powered, unplug the power cord.

* Electric snow throwers — be careful not to run over the power cord or get it entangled in the mechanism. Start removing snow nearest to electrical outlet and work out from it.

* Never leave a running snow thrower unattended.

* Be certain of your footing at all times and never operate in precarious locations and on very slippery surfaces.

* Keep all nuts and bolts tight.

* Never refuel gasoline while thrower is running or engine is hot. Refuel outdoors only.

* Know how to stop the machine and engine quickly in an emergency.

* Never direct discharge toward anyone — debris may be hidden in the snow.

* Keep machine in good operating condition, and keep guards and safety devices in place.

EARN TOP FFA DEGREE — Robert Bender, left, of Cove Run Number Two Farm at McHenry, accepts his American Farmer Degree and congratulations from National Future Farmers of America President Doug Rinker during the 53rd National FFA Convention. Robert is the seventh Garrett Countyman to win this award in the 53 years of Vocational Agriculture Instruction and FFA Club work in the county, the fifth from Northern High and the first from the Junior North Garrett Chapter, which was established in 1973.

Robert W. Bender Is Recipient Of American Farmer Degree

Robert Wayne Bender of McHenry became the fifth Northern Garrett High School graduate and seventh from Garrett County to receive the American Farmer Degree at ceremonies held recently during the 53rd National Convention of the Future Farmers of America (FFA), in Kansas City. He was one of 781 members selected from the 30 states and Puerto Rico to receive the highest membership award of the FFA. As a holder of the American Farmer Degree, he joins a select group representing about one percent of all the nation's FFA members. Others from Northern Garrett who have been so honored are Nevin Unbeh, J. Robert Frazee, Gerald Wenner and Daniel Tice, and John Wildersen and Brooks Hamilton, from the Oakland FFA.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Bender of the Cove Run Holstein Farm near Accident. He is married to the former Alice Breckenman and has an infant son.

Each American Farmer is presented a gold key and certificate in recognition of their accomplishments among the nearly one-half million FFA members across the country. They also receive a cash award for travel to Kansas City and attend a special breakfast in their honor. The American Farmer program is sponsored through the National FFA Foundation by Amoco Oil, J.I. Case, Chevrolet, Pioneer Hi-Bred, Production Credit and the Twelve Federal Land Banks.

Robert is the first former member of the Junior North Garrett Chapter to attain the American Farmer Degree. He was elected as Charter President of the Chapter as a seventh grade student in 1973, when the club was formed to serve students interested in Vocational Agriculture in Northern Garrett Junior High.

Robert started his career in agriculture with one Holstein heifer and has built a foundation herd of 12 animals, averaging 16,000 pounds of milk with his top individual producing over 25,000 pounds in one lactation.

He and Alice live on the 176-acre Cove Run Number Two Farm and milk 38 cows while also assisting with the labor on the home farm at Accident.

with his parents and two sisters and three brothers. The young couple produces 70 acres of grain and silage and 40 acres of hay on the farm at McHenry.

In qualifying for the American Farmer Degree, Robert demonstrated leadership in his many activities in his church, the FFA, Holstein and Black and White Shows, the Garrett County Fair, Farm Organizations and Cooperatives.

In addition to the presentation of this degree to Robert, Valerie Loughrie represented Maryland as American Rural contestant at the convention. Dave Wassell attended as delegate from the North Garrett Chapter. Stella Steuber was the Junior North Garrett Delegate and Guy Frazee was official chaperone, with the FFA Advisor, Chaparral, the group.

The National Convention is an annual event of the Future Farmers of America and is carried out in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Education. This year over 30,000 FFA members, vocational Agriculture teachers, parents and guests took part in the 53rd National Convention, a meeting held each year in Kansas City since the FFA was founded in the American Rural Area in 1928.

Sludge Disposal Plan Rejected

A proposal to ship sewage sludge from Baltimore City to help fill old strip mines in Garrett County has been rejected because of the prohibitive cost of transporting the sludge.

A Philadelphia based land reclamation firm had wanted to use a 20-acre abandoned strip mine site in Garrett County as a pilot project to demonstrate the feasibility of hauling sludge from the city's treatment plants to be used to revegetate mine sites.

The plan was attractive to city officials faced with the problem of disposal of increasing amounts of sewage sludge. The commissioners had been asked to consider the plan this summer but had made no commitment.

Morden-Earthline Companies, which had devised the plan, would have hauled the treated waste to the county where it would have been mixed with grass and lime and plowed under to improve abandoned strip mine sites.

In a report by Associated Press, Baltimore Mayor William D. Schaefer said, "I don't know when we'll find the money."

The proposal reviewed by the city's Board of Estimates would have cost about $5 million. Because no source could be found for the money, city finance officials rejected the plan.

Crime Rate Up 16% In County; 7% Statewide

The crime rate in Garrett County, as measured by crime index offenses and tabulated by the Maryland State Police, increased 16% during the first nine months of 1980 when compared to the first nine months of 1979. The overall state crime index increased by 7% during the same period.

All regions, which include the 23 counties and Baltimore City, reported a rise in crime. Regionally, Western Maryland, which reported the largest increase with 11%, followed by Southern Maryland and Baltimore Metro Regions, which each showed a 7% jump, and Eastern Shore and Washington Metropolitan Regions, which each had a 6% increase.

Garrett County showed decreases in the number of murders (from two to zero), forcible rapes (from four to two) and robberies (from eight to four), but recorded increases in aggravated assaults from 15 to 19, breaking and entering (from 146 to 148), larceny and theft (from 220 to 234) and motor vehicle theft (from 19 to 26). The overall crime index total for the county increased from 441 to 513. Allegany County's rate jumped 13%.

Statewide, there was a decrease in only two crime categories, those being murder, which decreased 3%, and motor vehicle theft, which decreased 2%. Forcible rape increased 9%, robbery larceny increased 2% and aggravated assault was up 3%.

Property crime in the state also rose 7%. Included are breaking and entering, which jumped 12%, larceny-theft, which increased 6% and motor vehicle theft, which went down 2%.

The last downturn in Maryland's crime rate was in 1976 when figures showed a 3% decrease over the previous year. Crime statistics are submitted by all police departments in Maryland to the State Police Uniform Crime Reporting Section where they are compiled. These statewide figures are then reported to the State Police to the FBI for inclusion in the Bureau's nationwide report.

Weather

Partly cloudy and colder today through Thursday. There is a chance of snow showers today and tonight. Highs today in the upper 30s. Lows tonight around 20. Highs Thursday in the 30s. Lows in the 20s. Precipitation is 40 percent today and tonight and 20 percent Thursday.

In a report by Associated Press, Baltimore Mayor William D. Schaefer said, "I don't know when we'll find the money."

The proposal reviewed by the city's Board of Estimates would have cost about $5 million. Because no source could be found for the money, city finance officials rejected the plan.

Commissioners Impose Surcharge On Waste Disposal

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners seem to have taken the lead statewide in reacting to a bill giving the state power over county governments in approving disposal of wastes in any county.

The commissioners passed a resolution Tuesday, December 2, imposing a surcharge on waste materials transported into and deposited in the county.

The commissioners have scheduled a public hearing for the resolution on Tuesday, December 23 at 1:30 p. m. in the board meeting room. After hearing citizen's comments, the commissioners will decide whether they should adopt the resolution.

Lester Hunter, Chairman of the Board, who is not aware of a similar action by other counties, stated the commissioners passed the resolution because they believed the county should benefit from such disposal especially since the county would have no choice in the matter.

Hunter believes the possibility of waste disposal in the county from down state is slight because the cost of transporting wastes to the county is prohibitive, but he added that could change in the future.

The commissioners noted the measure was a precaution.

Mason Seeking Legalization Of Studded Tire Use

Senator Edward J. Mason has drafted legislation to permit the use of studded tires on Maryland roads. The Governor signed legislation which was enacted during the 1980 Session to prohibit the use of studded tires after April 30, 1981.

The opposition to the Governor's signing of the studded tire prohibition was widespread throughout Western Maryland, said Mason. "I understand the concern that our residents have and agree that the use of studded tires is important to the safety of those who must drive in Allegany and Garrett Counties during the winter months."

Mason's legislation gives the Motor Vehicle Administrator the discretionary power to permit the use of studded tires, as was the case prior to last year's action by the General Assembly, which prohibited outright the use of studded tires. A public hearing on this issue will be scheduled in Annapolis when the General Assembly convenes in January.

Record Buck Kill Occurs During Regular Season

The recently completed 1980 deer firearms season resulted in a record 1049 bucks being harvested in Garrett County, according to Al Bourgeois, District Wildlife Manager.

Previous high buck kill was last year when 948 deer were checked in. Better than half of this year's kill was taken on opening day, with 509 bucks reported, which was a record opening day kill.

"Several nice sized bucks were checked," Bourgeois said. The largest rack was a 20-point, 18-pound buck shot in the Aaron's Run area. The next two largest racks were both 14-points, weighing 12 pounds and 124 pounds and shot in the White Rock and Keyser Ridge areas, respectively. One 12-point buck, 128 pounds was killed in the vicinity of Swallow Falls. There were seven, eleven-point, 28 ten-point, 44 nine-point, and 91 eight-point bucks checked in.

By weight, the biggest deer checked in was a 176-pound, eight-point buck from the Piney Reservoir area, followed by the 173-pound, 14-point and a 173-pound, ten-point shot in the Savage River area. Three other deer checked in at over 160 pounds: a 160-pound, nine-point from Eagle Rock, a 160-pound, eight-point from Red House, and a 161-pound, ten-point from Chestnut Ridge.

The plant is expected to create 15,000 jobs, including construction, should the grant be approved.

At peak production, the plant would produce about 75,000 barrels of synthetic fuel daily, according to Meyer.

Early this year, TCC won a $60,000 study grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission, a regional funding agency. Two coal mining companies, two utilities and a gas company have shown increasing interest in the project.

TRIUMPHANT SEASON REMINDER — This proud hunter, Michael Stowell, Rt. 1, Oakland, sports a 14-point buck which weighed in at 173 pounds as a reminder of his successful 1980 deer season in Garrett County. The buck, one of the largest recorded in the county, was taken at Salt Rock, near White Rock, off the Oakland-Cranesville Road. The rack spread was recorded at nearly 21 inches.

Officials Expect HUD Block Grant Preapplication Word On Synfuel Plant Proposal

Tri-County Council officials are awaiting word this week on whether a $2.5 billion planning grant for a synfuel plant to be located in Western Maryland has been approved by the U.S. Department of Energy.

Jack Meyer, the Manager of the project for TCC, along with other TCC officials is optimistic about receiving the grant. "We think our chances are about one in four," he told the Associated Press.

The proposal calls for construction of a $2.5 billion synfuel plant on a 500-acre tract near Cumberland. After a four-year construction period, the plant is expected to produce methanol as fuel for electric companies, a form of natural gas for consumer use and gasoline.

Western Maryland coal would be used.

The plant is expected to create 15,000 jobs, including construction, should the grant be approved.

HUD Block Grant Preapplication Given Final Nod By Commissioners

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners Tuesday approved the final version of the 1981 Community Development Block Grant Preapplication for Garrett County for submission to the federal office of Housing and Urban Development.

The preapplication as explained by a spokesperson for the commissioners, is a package of eight projects with extensive documentation and support of each project. The total amount of the county's request is $675,000.

The commissioners pointed out that the preapplication does not exclude applications to be submitted separately by municipalities in the county. Kitzmiller will be submitting a request $24,000 to defray costs of water line construction.

After the December 15 deadline for preapplications, HUD will review all requests and notify local officials which projects have been approved for formal application.

Projects to be included in the county preapplication are: Bloomington Senior Citizens, $30,000 for renovation of a building to a Senior Citizens Center; Community Action Committee, Inc., $200,000 for housing rehabilitation; Accident, $50,000 for water and sewer service for the new Accident School; Grantsville, $25,000 to fund a feasibility study for water service; Friendsville, $50,000 for purchase, renovation and furnishing of building for a community center; Mt. Lake Park, $20,000 for paving 900 feet of road surface; Oakland, $83,900 for water line materials and for work on a water line extension along Route 130; and County Administration, $30,000 for the Block Grant Administrator's salary and office and equipment owned by Robert Feaver, who also lives on the property.

Firefighters Contain Blaze In One Room

Quick action by firefighters from Friendsville and Accident resulted in containing a fire in one room of a two-story frame dwelling located on the Noah Frazee Road, two miles west of Friendsville. The fire was reported by Garrett Central Alarm yesterday afternoon by an unidentified driver who was traveling on U.S. Route 46 and saw smoke coming from the dwelling.

The house was vacant and is owned by Walter Feaver, Mt. Lake Park. The house is located on property owned by Robert Feaver, who also lives on the property.

The fire is being investigated by James Martin, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett counties, who said the house was empty with the exception of a few boxes.

Smoke was reportedly showing when firefighters arrived on the scene, but fire damage was confined to a large room on the first floor, and the floor and wall on the second floor.

Martin said the cause remains undetermined and the investigation is continuing.

Also called to the scene was the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries.

Comp Receives Service Citation From Governor

George Comp, Jr. was presented a Distinguished Service Citation from Governor Harry Hughes, at the Sunday meeting of the Allegany-Garrett Firemen's Association at Midland. Delegate DeCorney Bolden, (R-Allegany-Garrett), member of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, presented the award to Comp for his tenure as Garrett County Civil Defense Director.

Comp recently retired from this position, but is still an active member of the three Parks Conservancy Volunteer Fire Department. A testimonial letter was held in his honor in October, at which time he received several other awards for his service to the community.

State Police Issue Various Citations

A Salisbury child was struck by a car operated by Harvey A. Geiger, 83, Myersdale, Pa., on November 26 in Salisbury.

According to police reports, Kevin Lamar McKenzie, 14, alighted from a school bus and crossed U.S. 219 into the path of the vehicle operated by Geiger, which was passing the bus.

Northern Rescue Squad responded to the call, and ambulance personnel administered first aid. The victim was then transported to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Geiger was charged with failure to stop when overtaking a school bus while loading and unloading.

A Keyser, W.Va. man was charged by Maryland State Police last Friday with reckless driving and striking an unattended vehicle.

According to police, Gary Leon Kesner, 31, was traveling southbound on Shalimar Road near North Hill Road, when he sideswiped a parked vehicle, causing minor damage. The owner of the parked vehicle, George Michael Brady, McHenry, gave chase, and when Kesner was confronted, he refused to give his name or any information.

Two Grantsville men were involved in an accident last Wednesday on Rt. 219 near the Aiken-Miller Road.

Police say an auto driven by James Emerson George was north bound on Rt. 219, south of Accident, when the driver lost control and crossed the center line into the path of a vehicle being driven by William Donald Clegg, 34, also of Grantsville.

The report further states that Clegg attempted to avoid the accident by steering left, but was unsuccessful. The George auto struck the Clegg vehicle in the right side, forcing it into the guardrails.

Police charged George with illegal approach to a right-of-way.

Vandals Active In Mt. Lake Park

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department is investigating three destructions of property which occurred in Mt. Lake Park during the night of December 8.

Maysell Yow and Douglas Thayer, both of Mt. Lake Park, reported that someone had broken out the driver's side windows of their vehicles. Both vehicles were parked in front of their residences when the windows were shattered.

Yow reported a loss value of $75. No loss value was placed for the Thayer vehicle.

Police said that both appeared to have been damaged by a gunshot. Thayer stated that his neighbor had eggs thrown at her car during the same night.

In other business, Keith Arnold, Deer Park, reported the theft of several items from his pickup truck, while it was parked at the Top of the Hill Tavern. The incident occurred on Sunday night, when unknown person unlocked the door of the vehicle.

Taken from the truck were a Minolta 35 mm camera and a black vinyl case; a Pro 100-200 Zoom lens; flash attachments and a purse belonging to Nancy Cooper, and containing a wallet with a $50 bill.

Total loss value is estimated at $90.

In a separate incident, Donald Loomis, Deer Park, reported that someone removed approximately 50 seven-inch locust posts from his property, between November 30 and December 5. The total loss value is approximately $82.50.

Richard DeWitt, Deer Park, reported that someone broke the lid from his school bus tank and siphoned approximately 20 gallons from the tank. The incident occurred on the night of December 3, while the school bus was parked near the post office in Kitzmiller.

The gasoline was valued at about $24.20, and the loss value of the gas cap is $8.30.

Last week the department arrested Paul Davis, 61, Kitzmiller, on a bench warrant for failure to appear in court. Davis was released the same day on his own recognizance.

CANDLELIGHT

If you want a candlelight atmosphere for Christmas, don't deny yourself, but exercise proper caution with this potential fire hazard.

Never place lighted candles on the Christmas tree, or in the window. Do not use candles in any way with decorations that are flammable. Light candles only when someone is in the room and extinguish them when you leave the room or house.

Snowmobile Task Force Appointed

As a result of an influx of snowmobiles in Garrett County and problems brought out at a recent public hearing, eight men have been appointed to serve on a task force to study snowmobiling problems in Garrett and Allegany counties. The appointments were made by Senator Edward J. Mason (R-Allegany-Garrett), Delegate DeCorsey Bolden (R-Allegany-Garrett) and Garrett County Commissioner H. Lester Hunter.

Gene Smith, McHenry, president of the Deep Creek Lake Snowdrifters, Inc., has been appointed chairman of the legislative committee.

Other members are John Reekner and George Dailey, both of McHenry; George Gilmore, Cumberland, Department of Natural Resources; Eugene Zumpano, Frostburg; Dean Yatchyshyn, Cresaptown; Jack Beitzel, Oakland, and Robert J. Fousek, Swanton.

The task force is being asked to study problems faced by snowmobilers and to recommend solutions by February 1.

Issues of interest to be reviewed by the committee are to include, but not be limited to, the questions of whether or not snowmobilers should be allowed to cross state highways, and if so, should authorized crossings be designated by signs; and also, whether or not snowmobiles should be registered in the state of Maryland.

Lions' Christmas Auction Brings In Over $500

The Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club raised over $500 at its annual Christmas Auction during the club's celebration of its 40th anniversary Monday, December 8 at 8:15 p.m. in the American Legion home, Oakland.

The auction followed a program and dinner observing the 41st charter night. Marion Carmack, Jr., district governor, and Bill Baker, past district governor, were guest speakers.

President Ron Stemple welcomed those in attendance. Rev. James Remely offered the invocation and Joseph Welch closed the program with the benediction.

Auctioneers were John Hill and Carl Bizzard. The club held its first charter night Monday, December 16, 1940 at 7 p.m. in the Saint Paul's United Methodist Church Assembly Room, Oakland. Of the 34 charter members, three are still active in the club.

Minimum Wage Will Increase On January 1

Harvey A. Epstein, State Commissioner of Labor and Industry, announced this week that under the Maryland Wage and Hour Law, the minimum wage rate will increase to $3.35 an hour on January 1, 1981.

"Employees covered under this law must be paid at least the minimum wage rate, and time and one-half the hourly rate for hours worked over 40 in one work week," stated Epstein.

Under the state law, all retail and service establishments must pay employees the minimum wage and overtime, except food and drink establishments with an annual gross income of $50,000 or less which sell food and drink for consumption on the premises.

Even though the Maryland minimum wage rate is identical to the federal rate, exemptions for certain types of employees vary under the state and federal laws. Employers and employees are often confused as to which law applies to their employment situation, Epstein said.

He explained that the "law which provides the greatest benefit to the employee or sets the highest standard is the one which must be complied with."

For additional information on the Maryland Wage and Hour Law, persons may contact Employment Standards Service, Maryland Division of Labor and Industry, 203 East Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland; (301) 659-4177.

Local Farmers Attend Annual Bureau Meeting

The 65th annual meeting of the Maryland Farm Bureau was held December 4-6 at the Carousel Hotel in Ocean City.

Attending the meeting from Garrett County were: Clark Kolb, president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau; Mrs. Ferne Beachy, Women's Committee chairman; Leslie and Betty Guard, Mrs. Larna Umbel and Wilmer Hummel, county delegates to the convention; and Julius and Karmen Carey, representing the Young Farmers' group.

The Safemart Dealers Conference began on Thursday morning, as did the Farm Bureau Women's Committee meeting, with Mrs. Winifred Dixon, state chairman, presiding. The general session of the Farm Bureau began that afternoon. Thursday guest speakers were: J. Richard Harmon, Tri-State Regional Manager, Nationwide Insurance, and Wayne A. Cawley Jr., Maryland Secretary of Agriculture.

A Young Farmers discussion and awards program was held Thursday evening, followed by special entertainment. Committee reports were read on Friday. The Policy Development Committee reviewed proposed resolutions and they were voted on and approved. The president's reception was held, followed by the Maryland Farm Bureau Banquet, which was attended by nearly 700 farmers and guests.

The delegates' session reconvened Saturday morning for the reading of various resolutions and election of officers. Leon Enfield, first vice president, was elected president, succeeding F. Grave Miller, who had served as Maryland president for the past six years.

The Farm Bureau is an independent, non-governmental, voluntary organization which provides a means "by which farmers can work together toward the goals upon which they agree," according to the Bureau.

Choral Society Will Sponsor Theatrical Christmas Production

By Kathy Bailey

The Garrett County Choral Society will sponsor a production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors," a Christmas theatrical presentation in song and dance. The performances are set for December 22 and 23 at 8 p.m. in the Southern Middle School cafeteria.

Nancy Leary, director of the Choral Society, is heading the production, which involves a cast and production staff of about 45 people. A former music teacher, Mrs. Leary is a guidance counselor at Southern Middle School and choir director at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland.

Her enthusiasm for music has spread to many members of the community, who have spent the past several weeks rehearsing at least twice a week, and making preparations for the show. Many of the people involved in the production are working people with families, and some travel great distances to be a part of this Christmas production. "Amahl and the Night Visitors" is a story set at the time of the birth of Jesus. When the curtain is drawn, attention will focus on Amahl, a 12-year-old crippled boy who lives in the country with his impoverished mother, widowed for several years.

Amahl is a frail-built child, but possesses genuine enthusiasm for life and a very vivid imagination. On this particular night, Amahl is sitting outside playing his shepherd's pipe and gazing at the sky. He is particularly captivated by a brilliant star, and he consistently ignores his mother's calling to come inside.

Finally his mother becomes angry and Amahl enters the small room. In response to his mother's questioning, Amahl is off on a tangent, describing the beautiful sky and the star that is as large as a window, with a tail, no less!

His mother, familiar with her son's imagination, becomes impatient with him and sends him to bed. The story continues as this tiny family with no oil for the light, no sticks for the fire and no money for food, is visited by three very wealthy and weary travelers, kings on a journey to Bethlehem.

Amahl and his mother go round and round in a delightful tune as the child attempts to convince her that there are, indeed, three kings knocking at the door. The story follows with visits from the shepherds of the town, dancing, music and the presentation of gifts to the travelers.

The following portion of the production portrays a touching view of that historical time, and many surprises. Humorous notes are dispersed throughout the play, particularly through the antics of King Kaspar, who is old, enthusiastic, and a bit child-like.

There is a dual role for the part of the mother, to be portrayed by Kay Carlson and Kathryn Sincell, at separate performances. The part of Amahl will be played by Rosalyn Frantz.

Richard Seaks will portray King Kaspar, Richard Morris will play the part of King Melchior, and the part of King Balthezar will be played by David Callis. Doug Stanton will portray a Page to the kings.

Ben Sincell and Greg Carrico are in charge of sets and lighting. Pam Hardesty is in charge of costumes, and Jane Avery is in charge of make-up.

Jeannie Matrix is directing the dance portion of the production, and Kathy Reckner and Margie Clever will perform as dual flutists. Dr. David Sheets will provide piano accompaniment for the production. The program is being designed by Robert Rodeheaver.

Mrs. Leary stated that the program has developed into a community effort, with many people volunteering their services. Mary Douglass is assisting with accompaniment at the rehearsals, David Terlizzi has volunteered to help with publicity, and Rita Shroud McNally, sets and stage manager for professional productions, has volunteered her services to the group.

There are approximately 30 people in the chorus of shepherds.

This production is being carefully put together through sheer hard work, as Choral Society funds are limited. Mrs. Leary stated that "the only force all of us possess is simply that we love music." The group practices for three hours at a time, sometimes at 50-degree temperatures at the school, as rehearsals are held after school hours.

This dedicated group has contributed much time and effort to this community Christmas production, which is certain to be most entertaining. Tickets will be sold in advance by members of the Garrett Choral Society, and box office locations will be announced next week. Anyone wishing to help with sets or staging should contact Ben Sincell at 334-2878 or 334-3963.

Mistletoe Subject Of Superstition

The ancient Druids called mistletoe "all heal", believing it had miraculous powers to cure diseases. The Druids probably are responsible for the mistletoe kiss — but custom demanded the mistletoe first be cut with a golden knife and that one berry be removed each time someone kissed beneath it.

According to an ancient Norse myth, mistletoe berries are symbolic of tears shed by Freya, the goddess of love. Balder, the god of light, couldn't be hurt by anything that grew on — or under — the earth. The evil god, Loki, knowing mistletoe grew neither on earth nor under it, had Balder slain with a spear tipped with mistletoe.

Balder was mourned by all creatures in heaven and on earth, including Freya, and the tears she shed became the pretty berries of the plant, which even today symbolizes love.

Auto Centers Agree to Accept Used Motor Oil

Three more local automotive centers recently agreed to accept used motor oil from individuals who change their own oil. They include Casselman Motor Company, Grantsville, Oakview Motors and Shaffer Ford Sales, both of Oakland.

Maryland law prohibits the dumping of used oil in sewers, on land, in refuse, or in the water. First time violators are subject to a minimum civil penalty up to $250, according to M. E. S.

Ron Darzen of the Maryland Environmental Service says that after reprocessing, used crankcase oil can be used as a lubricant and some is used as fuel; thus reducing the need for imported oil. "Used oil can be reprocessed with less energy consumption than the initial processing of virgin crude," he adds.

The eight million gallons of used oil collected at 700 plus centers in Maryland last year represents 160,000 barrels, or enough oil to heat about 10,000 homes for a year.

Oil that is poured on the ground, or into a storm drain or sewer, and even oil that is put out with the household trash for routine garbage pickup, finds its way to surface streams and underground waterways, causing long-lasting pollution of water supplies.

Most collection centers are local area gasoline stations and new and used car dealerships. For a list of collection locations in the Maryland counties, interested persons may call or write Maryland Environmental Service Used

The list is being updated on a continuing basis. Any additions, deletions, or other corrections should be reported to the Maryland Environmental Service, 60 West Street, Annapolis, Md. 21401, or telephone 301-269-3355.

Consequences Of Scandal

When scandals in government, whether on the national, state or local level, are brought to the attention of the public, the consequences are varied and sometimes severe. Some of them are beneficial, for when a scandal is brought to light, one or more injustices are usually terminated and those persons responsible for those injustices are usually forced out of the system. However, sometimes the results can be damaging. This may be the case concerning the recent local scandal involving the personnel of the Sheriff's department.

One of the unfortunate, and unfair, results of an incident like this is the public's tendency to chastise or condemn an entire group due to the actions of a few individuals. Generally, Garrett County has good sheriff's deputies. Some are obviously better than others. This is true in any occupational setting. However, the good deputies have been dragged into this scandal and are receiving much criticism which is, in many cases, undeserving.

The job of a law officer is tough enough without having to put up with unfair attacks from the public. The work is dangerous, the hours are difficult, the pressure is great and the pay leaves much to be desired. The duties of the sheriff are doubly difficult, for he is the decision-maker. Just as any elected official, the moment he makes an error in judgment, the public reacts aggressively, sometimes not unlike vulgarities. An entire career can sometimes be placed in real jeopardy due to such an error.

We certainly do not condone nor defend the alleged actions of the two former employees of the sheriff's department. Neither do we defend what, we believe, were serious errors in judgment by some elected officials. The public outcry, even if it resembles the actions of a hungry vulture, seem justified in this case, as long as those outcries do not harm innocent people.

We do, however, defend the sheriff, and the other officials involved in this case, to the point that they are human beings, who are subject to error just like everyone else. Fortunately, if given the chance, most people learn from their mistakes.

Integrity—A Sign of Men

by Carol Kapel

Integrity is described in the Random House College Dictionary as adherence to moral and ethical principles; soundness of moral character.

A specific group of young men in Garrett County obviously substantiated the meaning of the word earlier this week.

The Southern Rams Football Team members and the Southern Athletic Association returned the $500 traveling expense donation given them by the Garrett County Commissioners which, inadvertently, created much ill will among taxpayers throughout the county. The donation, approved by and dispersed through the commissioners, became a source of anger, frustration, and misunderstanding immediately after notice of its occurrence appeared in The Republican.

The players and supporters were unfairly placed in an embarrassing situation — perhaps unintentionally — but none the less embarrassing. The return of the money indicates the athletes present position and helps wipe the commissioners' blunder clean — for the present. Perhaps clearer thinking by county government prior to decision making is in order.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

First let me say that what the deputy and the dispatcher allegedly did was a terrible thing and they should have been fired, but for some of your people to judge the other deputies by just one is also unjust and the families of the other deputies are not going to stand by while persons criticize them and say they have no respect for the law themselves. Such persons are not God anymore than James Sherbin is a psychiatrist, so who are they to judge? If persons don't have any respect for the law, that is their problem, not the officers'. Two persons don't ruin a whole organization. I can't think anyone would be stupid enough to make such a remark.

I can associate with all kinds of people and that doesn't make me one of them. You are what you want to be yourself. If you want to respect the law or not that is your choice.

A mentally retarded person had no business working alone without supervision in a public place where anyone could have done the same thing. The girl is indeed one of the victims, but to blame everyone for what two people did is crazy, especially when others weren't even there.

Believe me, the other deputies were just as upset about this thing happening as the public is. They are also the victims of a terrible injustice.

Thank you

Respects the Law

Dear Sir:

It is truly amazing how people see only what they want to see — or hear only what they want to hear.

I am referring to the recent barrage of letters in last week's paper concerning the court house rendezvous. The article which caused this response contained the statement "... the involvement with the woman, to which she consented ...". In an activity between two consenting adults, why is all the blame being put upon the man or men, involved? True these men erred, but the woman consented. And why were there no people there to supervise this woman if she needed supervision because of her mental limitations?

This is indeed a deplorable situation. Yes, deplorable from all points of view.

Sincerely,
Michael E. Martin

Dear Sir:

As a taxpayer citizen of Garrett County, I find it very disgusting and am in full agreement with the letters published in last week's Republican, especially in regard to the so-called "gray area female", as Sherbin called her, who may have been harassed into doing the illegal act. In my opinion, it sounds as though Sherbin thinks this female and possibly all other females are instigators. Not so! We women are individuals, the same as men and should be treated accordingly.

It is much too sorrowful a situation that we, the public, cannot impeach or re-elect at the "turn of a hat" when something like this occurs.

Rita E. Fratz

Dear Editor:

I doubt very much if this gets in the paper, but I had to write anyway. I want to know why this paper and some so called upstanding citizens are trying to play God with two people's lives? This paper and the people have already tried, judged, and convicted these two deputies for who, (according to your paper) were allegedly involved in an incident at the courthouse with a mentally handicapped young woman.

I would like to ask Elaine Beachy why this 21 year old mentally handicapped woman was working unsupervised? I have a 13 year old daughter who is normal and she would scream and run away if she was approached by a man, so I have to assume this woman's mental capacity is that of someone even younger and if this is true, Elaine Beachy is not fit to be a supervisor if she lets someone even younger than this be working at night alone.

As for Mr. Evans, he had no business making these men hand in their registration without a hearing. Do you have proof these men are guilty? Was this girl examined by a Dr., or did someone catch them, as it is, it's just her word against theirs? If it was, I pity all the men who come in contact with her. I thought people in this country were "innocent until proven guilty" but I can see that this doesn't apply to Garrett Co.

I have known Mr. Beeman for the last 15 years and I know he has been a good law officer for the last 8 years, having served 4 years in the Air Force and serving in Vietnam and he has always been an upstanding citizen and I for one will stand for him.

Dear Sir:

This letter is written in the hope of clarifying to the taxpayer public any misconception or misinformation relative to the funding of extra-curricular programs (athletics, band, etc.) at the high school level.

Athletics exist almost entirely on gate receipts, fund raising, booster clubs, etc. This includes not only the major sports involving male students but with the implementation of Title IX, female sports of basketball, softball, volleyball, etc. In essence the sports of football and basketball support the entire program. Of the total athletic budget less than half is derived from gate receipts.

Financial support at the Garrett County Board of Education is limited to coach's salaries, $2500.00 to be divided between the athletic department and band ($1600.00-$900.00) to be used for transportation, and some financial and maintenance assistance for upkeep and improvement of physical facilities.

To put the problem in some perspective, transportation costs alone to support the Southern athletic programs for the school year '79-'80 approached $4000.00. The demand to participate in extra-curricular programs continues to grow along with operational costs, thus the discrepancy between gate receipts and operating costs, continues to widen. Examples of rising operating costs include the fact that it now costs approximately $235.00 to safely equip one football player and transportation costs have increased from 48¢ per mile in 1978 to 90¢ and more per mile today.

I view of the fact that 35% of the student body is involved in some form of extra-curricular activity at a cost of less than 1% of the school board budget, this is quite a bargain!!!

Dear Editor:

Now that the annual deer season (slaughter?) has passed, I would like to commend Craig Phillips of the Republican Staff for his excellent deer shot — with a camera. The picture in The Republican of last week is a testament to his skill as a photographer and intellect in recognizing the natural beauty of our wild life.

In regard to our game laws I would like to publicly protest the new law which legalizes the "spotlighting" of deer. Without a doubt this law promotes the killing of deer in a most unsportsmanlike manner, similar, in my opinion, to the much publicized clubbing of baby seals in the northern part of our continent. Once caught in the beam of a spotlight, deer stand petrified until anyone who says that deer are not killed when spotlighted either has his tongue-in-cheek or has not ventured into the rural areas at night time.

When questioned as to the "why" of such a law, one of our game wardens replied that hunters like to find where the deer are located. His reply had a very hollow sound.

I also believe it is an infringement of privacy to permit hunters to beam their spotlights from the county roads onto your residence and the immediate surrounding area. The resulting anxiety is not easily accepted. Notwithstanding, our police authorities state there is nothing they can do now that spotlighting is legal.

In the name of honest sportsmanship and the tranquility of country living I urge the repeal of the spotlighting law.

Dear Editor:

I understand recently there have been some complaints about the way the members of the Northern Rescue Squad are performing their duties.

Let us stop, and take a good look at them.

First, they are men and women, some nurses, that are well qualified to do the job. They have completed at least an 84-hour training course. Some of them are spending $40.00 and more to take another 140-hour course to obtain better training for the benefit of the community. They donate 12 to 40 hours a week without any pay.

Instead of complaining about them, I feel we should tell them how much we appreciate their work and thank God for them.

Yours truly,
Allen J. Teats

Second Impression

The Ties That Bind

By Harry Fox

I still have vivid memories of the trips here from the Baltimore area in the 50's, pre-interstate days, of automobile travel. The trip was incredibly long, and most of it was on the winding, stop-and-go trail that still exists as part of "scenic" U.S. 40. Winter travel was worst of all. The dreaded possibility of nature's worst plague hovered over the trip. Snow, that demon that lurks in the mountainous regions of western Maryland was waiting to turn a seven-hour drive into a living nightmare for unreconstructed city-dwellers like us. More than once we packed up and headed east, cutting short a winter visit at the first sign of the fearsome stuff.

The debate continues about the last 15-mile stretch of the National Freeway, successor to U.S. 40. (See story this issue.) But it should make us reflect on the tremendous benefits that thirty years of federally promoted highway building have brought us here in western Maryland. Yet, with every benefit in our complex world comes a cost to someone or something. The concerns about the environmental effects of the connecting link to I 70 are real. The choice between damaging state forest lands, or disrupting many hundreds of homes and businesses along the present U.S. 40, will inevitably leave one or more parties damaged.

But the real issue that Garrett County needs to address is of far greater impact than the single question of this highway route. One way or another, the National Freeway link will eventually become a reality. With its completion, the bond of fast, reliable transportation with "down state" will make Garrett County just that much more accessible. The relative isolation of our mountainous highlands is largely a thing of the past, like the winding trail of U.S. 40.

The ties that bind us to the rest of the state grow stronger from year to year. Those of us who live in and love this place need to do some hard thinking and planning about the future. It is not something to be left to chance, or dumped in the laps of a few elected or appointed officials. We stand to benefit, or suffer from, the decisions made about transportation, communication and public services. Walt Kelly's "Pogo" may have said it best: "We have met the enemy, and they are us."

Commissioners

a $55,000 bond anticipation note to the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc. for interim financing on the Mt. Lake Park Water Project. The District had requested the note two weeks ago but the commissioners had delayed approval until they received more information from Liberty Trust Company, which handles the project account.

Marilyn Metheny, executive director of the Commission on Aging, requested the Board to reaffirm its commitment for matching funds in FY1982 to continue a home care program for county senior citizens.

The program which is in cooperation with the county health department, employs six persons who visit homes of persons 60 years or older and provide house cleaning and personal hygiene assistance.

Metheny reported in the first five and one-half months 68 senior citizens had been served. The Commission has preliminary funding approval from the Health Systems Agency for FY1982 but it needed a commitment from the commissioners for local matching funds of $2,151 to proceed with formal application. The funding from HSA would total $40,874.

Bradley Frantz, county director of civil defense, requested authorization from the Board to inspect a surplus 16 foot trailer with the possibility of purchasing it for use as a command post for search and rescue or disaster operations.

The trailer, available through civil defense at Jessup, would cost $200.

The commissioners granted the request.

The Board agreed with a proposal by Gary Mullich, building manager, to request the Mass Transit Administration to add two items to a contract for construction of two buses for the Garrett Bus System.

The commissioners had accepted two proposals by Watson Automotive Equipment Company, which had been awarded the bus contract, to make alterations to the buses to more accommodate the needs of bus riders.

The public is invited, and admission is free.

The Vacationland CB Radio Club Christmas party scheduled for December 14 has been re-scheduled for December 21 at Southern High School.

There will be a meeting of the Governing Body of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland on Wednesday, December 17, 1:00 p.m., at the Sheraton Motor Inn, Hagerstown.

A Christmas Treat for the children of Laborers Local Union #616 will be held Saturday, December 13, at the Cresaptown Eagles Meeting Room, Main Street, Cresaptown, between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m.

A VFW and VFW Auxiliary Christmas party will be held for paid members and guests Sunday, December 14 from 4:30 - 9:30 p.m. at VFW Post 10677.

The Volunteer Service Center will be closed December 18 through January 7, 1981.

Winter Sky Inspired Luther To Trim Tree

History tells us that Martin Luther, impressed by the beauty of the heavens and the wintry landscape of a starlit sky, brought a small evergreen into his home and decorated it with lighted candles.

Luther lived from 1483 to 1546, in Germany. He began a custom that, until about 1700, was confined to the Rhine River district.

It has also been established that the Hessian soldiers, fighting in the American revolution, did much to popularize Christmas trees in this country. A description of Christmas festivities at Fort Dearborn, Ill., in 1804 mentions a Christmas tree.

STATE'S ATTORNEY'S COMMENTS

In May of 1980 there was an alleged incident involving a Deputy Sheriff and a Dispatcher which was brought to my attention approximately six weeks ago. At that time and up until the present day there has been no complaint filed with the Sheriff's Office, the Maryland State Police or the State's Attorney's Office. Approximately six weeks ago one of the Assistant State's Attorneys received, second hand, information that an incident occurred involving a Deputy Sheriff and a person employed to clean the Court House.

I can understand and appreciate the great concern of the citizens of Garrett County and, therefore, I would like to comment on the recent inquiries as to why the two men were not charged with a crime. When the matter was brought to my attention some five months after the fact I viewed the matter very seriously, and independent from any complaint being filed, I began making inquiries as this was the first knowledge I had of the alleged incident.

Among the questions which I had and considered were:

1. What exactly was supposed to have occurred?
2. Who was involved?
3. Was a complaint filed?
4. The age of the female?
5. The level of intelligence of the female as indicated by her psychological work-up?
6. Whether the act was a matter of consent?
7. Whether the girl had the ability, level of education and appreciation to consent?
8. Who solicited whom?
9. The previous sexual experience of the female, if any?
10. Was there, in fact, any sexual act involved?
11. What legally admissible evidence was available?

One of the facts investigated and considered was the mental capacity of the female. Article 27, Section 461 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, requires a mental defect to be such as to render a person substantially incapable of appraising the nature of her conduct in regard to a sexual act.

The results of the inquiries which I have mentioned were that criminal, as distinguished from administrative charges, should not be filed, especially in view of the fact that a complaint has never been filed by the person or any representative of the person.

Judge Thayer's charge to a Grand Jury is "indict or hold your peace." In other words, charge or keep silent. My office requires the same respect be given to citizens, victims and people who might be charged with a crime. For obvious reasons I am prevented from giving the public a detailed explanation under each of the items which I considered above. Each day I am required to make decisions and review investigations based on information provided to me. I do this without regard to the status of the people involved and without regard to public opinion. It is the only way the office of State's Attorney can maintain a fair system of justice.

I can appreciate the concern of the citizens of this County over the moral issue involved. The fact that both men have resigned is proper. However, the facts available at this time do not merit criminal charges being filed independent of a criminal complaint. I hope that the stigma of this occurrence does not taint the other Deputies who do an outstanding job and who do not deserve any discredit.

Grantsville Couple Feels The Touch Of County Concern

Happiness comes in many forms, and an elderly couple from Grantsville is experiencing a bit of Garrett County concern in the aftermath of a robbery which occurred several weeks ago.

Since a story about the breaking and entering of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Butler, Negro Mt., Grantsville, appeared on the front page of The Republican, it seems several people have made calls to the State Police with offers to help, a gift was left with the town magistrate for the couple, and a Christmas card containing a gift from an anonymous friend was received through the mail.

The Butlers lost $110 in cash, two chain saws, and some miscellaneous items in the November robbery.

Maryland State Trooper Gary Berkebile is investigating the incident, and would appreciate any assistance in identifying the unknown culprits at 387-5511.

In the meantime, perhaps the Butler's Christmas Holiday will be brighter because of Garrett County residents who care.

Parks Preparing For Winter Events

It's time to wax your skis, adjust your bindings, and prepare to kick off for two days of competitive wintertime fun in Garrett County, according to the Maryland Forest and Parks Service.

Herrington Manor State Park will hold its third annual Family Winter Fun Day on Saturday, January 31. And, once again New Germany State Park will sponsor its annual winter event, the Meadow Mountain Cross-Country Ski Race, on Saturday, February 14. Both events are designed to attract families to the park for a day of fun and exercise. All participants will receive certificates and winners in each class will receive trophies.

Feature events of each day will be cross-country ski races. Both parks have cross-country ski trails which are well marked. Prior to the events, the trails will be groomed and track will be set with a special tracking machine.

The trails vary in length from two to eight kilometers and are used all winter long by skiing enthusiasts. Herrington Manor also invites non-skiers to participate in the Family Winter Fun Day by joining in the sledding, snowmobiling and snowshoeing. Spectators are also welcome.

All activities are free, however, participants must bring their own equipment.

Throughout the winter, in addition to cross-country skiing, New Germany offers ice skating and sledding. Herrington Manor offers sledding and a parking area for snowmobilers who can use snowmobile trails in the adjacent state forest. Other activities such as snowshoeing, winter photography and bird watching are also popular.

As snow conditions prevail, both parks will be open daily for winter skiing and the cross-country trails will be maintained by the park personnel. For up-to-date snow conditions persons may call (301) 760-0895.

Preregistration is encouraged for both cross-country ski events. Forms may be obtained by contacting: Maryland Forest and Parks Services, Ski Races, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, MD, 21401. Phone: (301) 269-3761.

Lakers Win First Two; Whip Catamounts, Fayette

The Garrett Community College Lakers, following a pre-season win over a tough alumni squad, have continued their winning ways this week by defeating Potomac State College Thursday evening, 84-73, in Keyser and then returning home Saturday evening and routing Penn State-Fayette, 69-32.

|----------------|----|----|----|----|
| Valin Yaw | 3 | 2 | 4 | 5 |
| Miguel Rojas | 2 | 2 | 3 | 18 |

| Brian Black | 4 | 3 | 5 | 15 |
| John Finney | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| Totals | 34 | 14 | 21 | 84 |

Against the Catamounts of Potomac State, the Lakers trailed early 8-4, but poured it on in the second period and at the end of the half, led by 16 points, 50-34.

Late in the second half, however, the momentum shifted and the Cats gradually worked their way to only a three-point deficit. Both sides exchanged two-pointers before the Lakers hit a basket to increase the margin to five. The Cats responded with four points and closed the gap to one point 71-70. Then Garrett hit a basket and the Cats were called on foul, which increased the Lakers lead until Potomac State finally had to pressure the Lakers. GCC took advantage of this situation and forced the Cats to foul. The majority of Garrett's final points were from the free throw line.

The Lakers' balanced attack was paced by Miguel Rojas, who hit eight goals and two of two from the foul line for 18 points. H. A. Savage and Jerome Hampton each netted 16 points, while Brian Black contributed 15 for the Lakers.

Leading all scorers was Catamount Tony Van Cliffe, who netted 27 points on ten baskets and seven of 12 from the line. Also reaching double figures for Potomac State were Anthony Amendola with 13 and Rick Peggles with ten.

The Lakers had less trouble Saturday evening, as they coasted to their second regular season win over Fayette.

Former Northern High star, Bill Bender, led all scorers with six goals and three of six from the line for 13 points. Laker teammates Jerome Hampton, Miguel Rojas and H. A. Savage added 12, 11 and ten points, respectively.

Bender also led in rebounds,

Holiday Events

Special Christmas

celebrations began last Sunday at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland with the dedication of the Christman Tree erected in the church sanctuary.

The tree, donated by Dr. & Mrs. Custer, is a Colorado Blue Spruce, 13 feet tall and 21 years old. It was planted by the Custers in 1961 when the tree was two years old.

The Christmas copied from ancient symbols of Christianity found in jewelry and utensils and on walls of buildings and catacombs and combined with Greek letters for the name of Jesus and Christ were made by the women and children of the church. There are 15 different crosses, crowns, stars, fish, butterflies, thorns, roses and lilies made of pearls, gold beads and other materials. The public is invited to visit the Sanctuary any day between now and the New Year. An explanation of the symbols will be available so persons may better understand their meaning.

In addition to the Christman Tree, St. Paul's will hold its traditional Candlelight services at 5 and 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, December 21. The program this year will be built around the question "How Shall We Know Him When He Comes?" The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Leighton, will offer several selections.

The Youth of the church, with assistance from the Girl Scouts, will provide again this year the Live Nativity Scene on the church lawn, December 20, 22 and 23 between 6 and 8 p.m.

St. Paul's United Methodist Church extends an invitation to the public to these holiday services and events.

Interest on Checking

WHAT IS A NOW* ACCOUNT?

A NOW Account is a service that allows you to earn interest on checking deposits. A NOW Account operates just like a checking account. Except that you also earn interest.

If you now have a checking account with First National, there's no need to open a new account or order new checks. Simply sign up and you'll automatically start earning interest.

WHO MAY HAVE A NOW ACCOUNT?

Any individual, non-profit organization or sole proprietorship may legally have a NOW Account. Federal regulations prohibit other types of businesses from opening NOW Accounts. If you're unsure about your eligibility, please ask us.

SHOULD YOU COMBINE YOUR SAVINGS AND CHECKING DEPOSITS INTO A NOW ACCOUNT?

It really isn't necessary. Many people don't like to get their "savings funds" mixed up with their "spending funds." So we offer you a choice. Look over the "TWO WAYS to Qualify" and pick the option that best suits your situation. Either way, you'll earn interest on all your money.

There are lots of advantages to the NOW Account. But you must determine whether it's right for you. We'd like to help you make your decision.

TWO WAYS
to Qualify

1. With Checking . . .

You may qualify for a FREE NOW Account by agreeing to maintain a daily balance of $1,000 or more in your First National checking account.

If your checking balance should fall below $1,000 anytime during the month you would continue to earn 5 1/4% interest, however, service fees would be assessed according to this schedule:

| Balance Level | Monthly Service Fee |
|--------------------|---------------------|
| $1,000 and above | No Charge |
| $ 500 to $999.99 | $4.00 |
| $ 0 to $499.99 | $5.00 |

This new service is specifically designed for customers who keep fairly large checking balances.

The NOW Account might be a very good way for you to increase your income. Let one of our professionals help you determine whether this new service is for you.

2. With Savings . . .

You may use your First National Passbook savings account balance to qualify for a FREE NOW Account. By agreeing to keep $2,000 or more in your Passbook savings account, you can avoid all monthly service fees, regardless of your NOW checking balance.

This unique feature is designed for those who prefer to keep most of their money in a savings account, while maintaining only a minimal amount in their checking account.

There's no need to move funds from one account to another. Just tell us which Passbook account you wish to use as a qualifier for your FREE NOW Account. It's that simple!

In this option your NOW Account combines the convenience of your checking account with the earning power of your savings account, without the mixing of funds. You continue to maintain two separate accounts.

There are lots of advantages to our NOW Account with this unique savings option. We'd like to help you evaluate your situation. May we serve you today?

*The term NOW stands for "negotiable order of withdrawal" . . . the legal term for a money instrument that's like a check. NOW Accounts are legally effective after December 31, 1980. Interest at the rate of 5 1/4% per annum is computed on the minimum balance of the statement cycle, and is paid on each statement date.

WORKS BY THE MASTER OF PHOTOGRAPHY, Ansel Adams, are currently on display at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. The prints are owned by Sull McCartney, Oakland. These black and white photos depict scenes from Yosemite National Park in California, perhaps Adams' most versatile area of subject matter. The nationally-acclaimed artist is said to be the ranking photographer of America's landscape. The exhibit will be displayed through the month of December.

Ansel Adams' Photographs On Display At Oakland Library

by Kathy Bailey

Four original photographs by Ansel Adams, perhaps the most recognized photographer in history, will be on display at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland through the month of December.

The prints are owned by Sull McCartney, Oakland, an amateur photographer and accountant for Potomac Engineering.

McCartney purchased these four black and white photos while vacationing in California in 1974. He visited Adams' Yosemite National Park Studio about the time that Adams was gaining in national acclaim and popularity.

The prints depict scenes of Yosemite Park in California, the photographer's first love and second home, so to speak. Two of the photographs are identical shots of El Capitan, taken at different times of the year. The others are of the Half Dome and a sparkling lake nestled in the mountains of California.

At age 78, Adams is said to be the ranking photographer of America's natural landscape. This month's "American Photographer" claims he holds "the undisputed title of Mr. Photography."

In addition to his environmental and photographic interests, Adams is a trained concert pianist and an accomplished writer. He has sold over one million copies of his 40-plus books of photographs and technical writings, and has had more than 400 exhibitions from Moscow to Tennessee.

During the summer months, Ansel Adams conducts annual workshops at Yosemite, attended mostly by amateur photographers. He has taught at least 4,000 students and has printed and sold some 32,000 finished photographs.

In 1974 Adams announced that he would stop printing for all but museums and other non-profit institutions. At that time, he encouraged dealers and collectors to place large orders, within one year's time.

When the cutoff was announced, retail prices of his photographs started to rise. Market prices for 20x24-inch versions of his most popular and famous photos now range from $20-$5,000 each. Adams has reached millionaire status after years of painstaking precision in printing each photograph individually.

It is said that he doesn't just capture a scene on paper, but that his interest and fresh perspective in the environment and America's Western region instills unquestionable emotion in those who view his masterpieces. He has truly provided many people the opportunity to see the great natural wonders of America's West—as if the viewer was standing in its midst.

Fire Shower Slated

A fire shower will be held this Sunday, December 14, from 2 to 6 p.m. at the residence of Donald Savage near Cranesville for the family of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Savage, White Rock Road. The home and possessions of Mr. and Mrs. Savage were destroyed in a fire on December 1. Persons having items to donate to the Savages are invited to attend the fire shower.

County Being "Waterproofed" Through Water Safety Program

The American Red Cross is in the process of waterproofing Garrett County through a county-wide Water Safety Program.

Many youngsters, as well as adults, have learned to swim in the Red Cross Swimming Program during the past year, according to Paula Briggs, Water Safety Chairman for Garrett County. The swim classes are set up in a progressive fashion and each individual is encouraged to progress from one level of ability to the next at his/her own pace, Mrs. Briggs said. The levels of ability are: Beginners, Advanced Beginners, Intermediate, Swimmer, Basic Water Safety, Advanced Life Saving and Advanced Swimmer.

"Since interest has grown in the American Red Cross swim program it has become apparent that swimming is a sport that interests the entire county, and why not?" Mrs. Briggs stated. "Garrett County is filled with lakes, ponds, and streams waiting to be enjoyed by competent swimmers. Likewise, those same lakes, ponds, and streams are death traps for the non-swimmer."

In November of 1979 the American Red Cross Executive Director for Water Safety, Mrs. Norma Hesen, appointed Mrs. Briggs as Water Safety Chairman for Garrett County. A Board of Directors was formed to help formulate the course of action the Red Cross would take in supporting a water safety and recreational program. Board members, Mrs. JoAnn Graybill, Tom Jones, William Pope, Mrs. Jacquelyn Shirer and Bill Thoman are presently supporting the formation of a Garrett County Swim Team. The Swim team will be for persons ages 6-17 and will begin practices in January.

Although the next Learn To Swim session doesn't begin until February 2, an Advanced Life Saving Class will be offered beginning December 19, Mrs. Briggs said. Class is being taught by American Red Cross Instructors Pam Trickett, Mrs. Briggs and Craig Hutson. The Mask, Fin, and Snorkel portion of the class will be presented by Scuba Instructor Larry Bland. Pool Chemistry will be taught by the Garrett County Health Department. At the close of the class, members can be certified in Life Saving, First Aid, CPR and Pool Maintenance.

In order to promote swimming as a means of staying fit and healthy, the Red Cross Swim Program is scheduling time when the pool will be open to lap swimmers. This time can be used by those on the Swim and Stay Fit Program as well as by those desiring additional practice time to accompany swim lessons, according to Mrs. Briggs.

Due to the lack of public swimming facilities, the Red Cross has established its present Learn To Swim Program at the Village Inn in McHenry. Other classes are being established at the Grantsville Holiday Inn swimming pool. Any organization wanting more information on the American Red Cross Swim Program or desiring a formal presentation can contact Paula Briggs at 387-4335. Persons wanting to sign up for the swim team may contact Paula Briggs or call the Red Cross Office at 334-3916.

Women Educators Sponsor Auction

Members of the Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International met December 6 at the Will O' the Wisp Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake.

Following the luncheon, arranged by social chairman Carolyn Miller, the annual Christmas auction was conducted by the Ways and Means committee. Jean Grose served as auctioneer. The funds derived from the sale are held in reserve for presentation as a scholarship for a specifically named woman student preparing for a teaching career.

During the business meeting, committee reports were given and ideas and details of future meetings were discussed.

Musical entertainment was provided by Lucille Sines and Lillian Reckner, accompanied by Jane Fox.

A tentative date for the annual summer workshop was set for June 17 at 4 p.m. The event will be held at the cottage of Anna Bishop, Green Glade.

The Delta Kappa Gamma Society is the oldest society composed of women educators, founded in 1919 in Austin, Texas.

Selecting Toys for the Holiday Season

By Genevieve Miller Landau
Director, Hasbro Center for Child Development and Education

Christmas and Hanukkah are times of family sharing and giving — of oneself, as well as of material goods. But, though the holidays should be a time of joy and fulfillment — particularly if there are small children in the family — too often holiday preparations and gift-buying end up in tension and frustration for parents and children alike.

Choosing gifts for the children on your list should be part of the fun of the holidays, and it can be if you allow plenty of time to choose their presents, particularly the playthings you'd like to give them. If parents haven't considered in advance what they are looking for, they're likely to be bewildered by the number and variety of toys and games to choose among.

How do you choose? Here are a few simple guidelines to keep the joy in toy-buying and giving.

Above all, be guided by your children's interests. Remember to select things that are right for a youngster's age and aptitudes. Almost all manufacturers age-grade their toys and the packages are clearly marked.

Don't buy a toy just because you believe it will promote your child's intellectual growth. All toys and games — and many household objects, too — are "teaching tools" provided they permit the child to use his imagination and develop skills at his own pace, in the ways he plays with them.

There is a hidden child in every adult, and it is easy to succumb to the lure of nostalgia, that is, to buy something you would have adored when you were a child. But this isn't the time to indulge your own childhood dreams. It is the time to choose what will please your child, even if it is something that doesn't appeal to you.

In the case of very small children, the task is easy. Almost anything cuddly, colorful, that makes a nice sound, or that is pushable and pullable will please an infant or toddler. Everything is new to them, full of wonder and a source of surprise and delight.

Of course you want the toys you buy to be safe. The Toy Manufacturers of America have adopted stringent voluntary safety standards, which they developed with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. The National Safety Council and other organizations, to make sure the products you buy are sturdy and safe. Even so, remember that the age of the child is important and what is safe for a five-year-old can be unsafe for a toddler.

Next, to keep the holiday season a happy one for both children and parents, don't overload boys and girls with presents. Young children faced with a dozen dazzling new things to play with, run from one to the other in a frenzy which can become almost hysterical. It is much more sensible to space the presents. Give one or two new playthings at a time. Let your children savor these and dream up ways of playing with them. Children learn at their own pace and in their own ways how they want to play — what stories to act out, what feelings to express. Too many new things at once can distract them from developing the fine art of their own imagination.

As children grow into the school years, it's especially important, in avoiding holiday frustration, for parents to relate gift-giving to the child's individual interests and preferences. Children vary greatly in their physical, intellectual and emotional aptitudes — each developing according to his or her unique timetable. During the grade school years children's likes and dislikes are becoming established. Some girls and boys love to build things. Some like to draw and paint. Some like puzzles and board games; others like action toys, especially cars or anything to do with transportation. Older children are apt to like games of skill.

These are interests that can be developed by the selection of toys and playthings, but don't make the learning of a specific educational skill the prime factor in selection. The child's pleasure in a certain kind of activity should be your guide. Cost should not be the main element either. How much you spend is a poor measure of the joy you can give. A child, especially a young child, may like the simplest and least expensive toy most of all, seize upon it, play with it constantly, ignoring gifts that are much more complex and valuable.

even though ice skates cost more.

Should you take your preschool or school age child shopping with you and let him pick out his own main present? Parents should make this decision, themselves, based on their own inclinations and energy-level, as well as on their child's personality. My inclination would be not to bring the child along. Not only are young children likely to be fatigued and bewildered by the experience, but a large part of the pleasure of the exchanging of gifts is the surprise and excitement of finally pocketbook will be grateful.

If you would like to have a free booklet on the importance of play, send for "The Wonderful World of Play" by Maria W. Piers and Genevieve Miller Landau. Write to Mrs. Genevieve Miller Landau, 1027 Newport Avenue, Pawtucket, R.I. 02861.

Jeanne Mandel Charged in Suit, Illegal Business Takeover Claimed

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Former Gov. Marvin Mandel's wife, Jeanne, has been charged in a suit with trying to illegally take over a chemical and metals company.

The suit was filed by Lester Feit, a part-owner of Chemical Metal Industries. He charged that Mrs. Mandel and another part-owner locked him out of his office and "fraudulently and illegally" tried to take over control of the firm.

A Supreme Bench judge issued an injunction against Mrs. Mandel, but the injunction expired when Feit did not post a $25,000 bond.

Mrs. Mandel, whose husband is serving a three-year prison sentence for political racketeering, and Warren Stein filed a response to the suit Monday. No date for a trial has been set.

Chemical Metals is owned by L&M Associates Inc., which is owned 10 percent by Mrs. Mandel, 40 percent by Stein and 50 percent by Feit. Stein, the corporation president, is engaged to Mrs. Mandel's daughter.

Harford County Official Shot, Suspect Sought

BEL AIR, Md. (UPI) — Harford County investigators Tuesday sought a suspect in the wounding of a county zoning official in the victim's driveway.

Investigators spoke with the zoning official, Mervyn G. Thompson Sr., 56, for the first time since the incident Sunday in Pylesville. So far no motive has been established for the shooting, which left Thompson hospitalized in serious condition.

Sheriff's deputies said Thompson returned home from a Christmas concert late Sunday and talked to a man who said he wished to purchase a truck from Thompson. The man later called Thompson on the telephone and told him to meet him at the end of Thompson's long driveway, where the vehicle was parked.

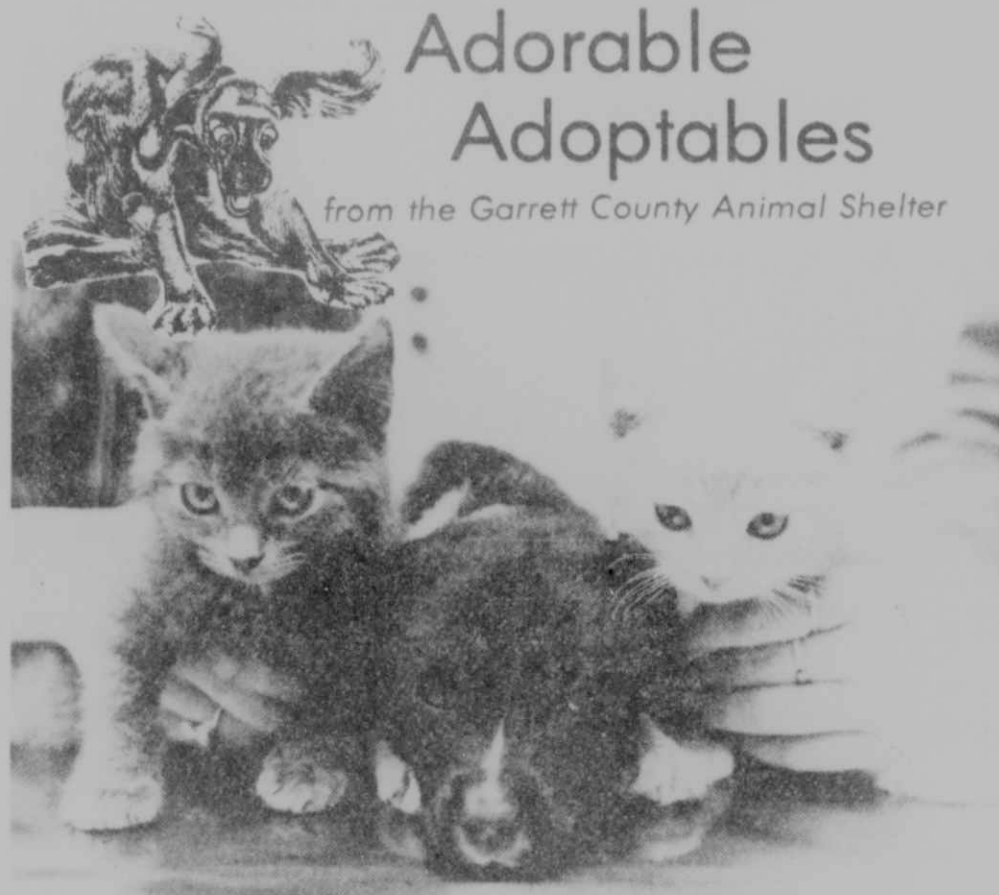

Thompson complied, deputies said, and the two men spoke for a while. Thompson was reportedly shot at least two times after he turned to walk away.

Police lacked further details of the incident because there were no witnesses.

Doctors at Union Memorial Hospital operated for nine hours early Monday to reestablish the blood flow in Thompson's badly damaged left arm. He was still in serious condition Tuesday, said Gil Kleiner, a hospital spokesman.

Report Charges Aid Is Ineffective In Western Maryland Region

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fifteen years of targeted government programs have failed to erase the twin problems of poverty and unemployment in the Appalachian region of Western Maryland, a report released Wednesday concludes.

The report by the Washington-based Appalachian Regional Commission said unemployment in the Maryland portion of the region in 1979 was 8.6 percent, somewhat higher than the national average and the highest unemployment rate among the 13 states included in the region.

The report, spanning the period between 1965 and 1979, also said per capita income in the Maryland portion of the region had not risen as fast as the average per capita income had increased throughout the whole region.

The commission, established to promote economic development within the Appalachian region, covers portions of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina, North Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York, as well as Maryland.

Per capita income throughout the region in 1965 was 81 percent of the national average, but had improved in Maryland by 1979 to only 83.5 percent of the national average. The report said the individual economic improvement in Maryland is smaller than that experienced throughout the region as a whole.

The focal point of most Appalachian Regional Commission investments has been on water and sewer facilities necessary to support industrial development. Between 1965 and 1979, the commission funded 21 sewage system projects for $6.3 million, 15 water supply projects for $6 million and two combined systems for $700,000.

In Maryland, the commission helped the Allegany County Economic Development Co., a non-profit corporation, develop the Upper Potomac Industrial Park.

The commission has also been involved in the rehabilitation of the old Alexander Hotel in Hagerstown, which is being converted into housing for the elderly.

Another $350,000 in commission funds have been filtered into the state as part of the Allegany weatherization and rehabilitation program, designed to give home repair or weatherization assistance to low and moderate income residents of the region.

In the health area, the commission has helped develop the Interstate Emergency Medical Services Consortium, a network of emergency services and equipment made available to a 35-county area in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The commission report also said it recently approved a $181,950 grant to the Western Maryland Tri-County Council to study the potential development of a coal gasification or liquefaction plant in Garrett, Allegany or Washington counties.

The United States, Russia, and Canada are the world's chief fur-producers.

U. S. Interior Department Opposes Freeway Through State Lands

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The U. S. Department of Interior has criticized a proposed 15-mile section of superhighway in the Green Ridge State Forest in Western Maryland, calling it the most environmentally damaging and expensive alternative to upgrading existing roads.

The environmental impact study on the last stretch of national freeway between interstate 70 near Hancock, Md. and Morgantown, W. Va. said the proposed route does not meet federal law prohibiting destruction of public lands unless a "feasible and prudent" alternative exists.

The interior department said it doesn't oppose a new road, but said the state has not offered sufficient evidence that widening Route 40 wouldn't be a better alternative.

Opponents to the superhighway maintain improving and widening Route 40 is preferable because it is less expensive and the proposed route would involve extensive construction through the tops of two unspoiled mountains.

"It will cause irreparable harm to the recreational and fish and wildlife values of the Green Ridge State Forest," the Interior Department report said.

David Burwell, an environmental lawyer from the National Wildlife Federation, said Monday improving and widening Route 40 is favorable because, "except for a few stretches, you can go the speed limit. With minor changes, Route 40 could be upgraded to serve the purpose of the planned highway."

The State Highway Administration has said the new roadway would be safer, flatter and straighter and if Route 40 is widened, more than twice as many houses would have to be relocated than through the forest.

Proponents also argue the new road also would speed truck traffic through Maryland enroute to the Midwest.

Burwell said the coalition has talked to attorneys about possible legal action to block the planned highway.

Self-Defense Is Ruled In Police Shooting.

Prosecutor Says

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — An Anne Arundel County police officer was acting in self-defense when he shot a Lothian, Md., man who refused to surrender to police, State's Attorney Warren Duckett Jr. said.

Duckett said Monday a police investigation into the death of Stanley Taylor, 33, showed the shooting was "righteous." Duckett said he currently has no plans to take the matter before a grand jury.

"Unless something in the way of an irregularity comes to my attention by anyone present during the incident, I see no reason to take it to the grand jury. My mind, however, is not closed," Duckett said.

He said he agreed with the police department's recommendation that the officer's name be withheld because "the officer's life has been threatened."

Taylor barricaded himself inside his house last week after a police officer serving a warrant was injured slightly by shotgun pellets. Police surrounded the house and threw tear gas inside, but Taylor remained inside for 15 hours.

Taylor, armed with a shotgun, came out after a hot tear gas canister apparently set the house on fire and was shot. He died enroute to the hospital.

Maryland News In Brief

Science Center Funds

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The City Council has approved a $752,000 grant to bail out the financially plagued Maryland Science Center.

The council approved the grant, proposed by Mayor William Donald Schaefer, at its meeting Monday. The Schaefer administration warned the center could go bankrupt and force the city to take over its operation without the grant.

The measure passed 16-2. One of its opponents, Councilman Kweiss Mfume, said he objects to funding projects "in the mayor's playpen that I submit is the Inner Harbor."

Kent Co. Bond Issue

MILLINGTON, Md. (UPI) — The Kent County commissioners have issued $6 million in bonds for the development of an egg plant.

The bonds will help pay for the A.J. Decoster Co. to build seven laying houses, two pullet houses and a processing facility. The bonds are being issued for $10,000 each and will pay an annual 10.25 percent interest over 10 years.

More BWI Passengers

LINTHICUM, Md. (UPI) — Passenger traffic at Baltimore-Washington International Airport increased 1.7 percent in September over a year ago, while the other two airports in the Washington metropolitan area decreased, officials said Tuesday.

National Airport had 6.3

percent fewer passengers than a year ago and Dulles International Airport suffered a 26.9 percent decrease, state aviation officials said.

"The September traffic figures are evidence of the increasing recognition of BWI's convenience among Baltimore-Washington area air travelers," said T. James Truby, the state aviation administrator. "The recent opening of the new BWI rail station also will positively affect BWI's air passenger growth."

Toll Bridge Incident

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Delegate John Hargreaves, D-Caroline, has pleaded guilty to charges he failed to pay a Bay Bridge toll and agreed to pay $5 in court costs.

Hargreaves was going east on the bridge in September when he got involved in an argument with the toll attendant over his commuter toll subscription.

Hargreaves, chairman of the House of Delegates Appropriations Committee, pleaded guilty but was put on probation before judgment and ordered to pay the $5 in court costs.

Other charges of drunken driving are pending against him in Anne Arundel County.

Attorney Sentenced

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A 38-year-old attorney convicted of molesting an 11-year-old girl who wanted to see his infant son has been sentenced to five years probation.

Criminal Court Judge Peter

D. Ward Monday suspended two three-year prison terms for Rodney S. Bonds, a former assistant attorney general, and required him to perform 750 hours of unpaid "public service" work. The judge has yet to decide what form the work will take.

The alleged offenses occurred from June, 1979 through March, 1980 at Bonds' residence, prosecutors charged.

Bonds resigned as an assistant attorney general following his indictment.

City Drug Intercept

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Baltimore narcotics officers have seized 700 pounds of marijuana and 96,000 Quaalude tablets valued at more than $750,000 from a van belonging to a New York man.

Police said Carlos G. Bueno, 30, from the Bronx, was charged Monday with possession and intent to distribute marijuana and Quaaludes, a handgun violation and resisting arrest. Police said they also confiscated a loaded .38-caliber pistol.

Members of the city's Narcotics Enforcement Team received a tip that a van parked at a gas station apparently was carrying a cargo of drugs.

Two men were seen breaking into the vehicle and running off with two boxes, spilling what was identified as marijuana across the station lot, police said.

Police, dressed as gas station employees, arrested Bueno when he returned to claim the van.

DAYLIGHT DECREASES

By the end of the week,

State Jobless Rate Unchanged; County's Rises

Unemployment in Maryland remained stable in October, holding at the 5.9 percent level recorded in September, according to statistics released by the Maryland Department of Human Resources. Garrett County's jobless rate increased by over one percent.

As with every other month this year, the October unemployment rate was higher than the corresponding rate last year. The October 1979 rate was 5.5 percent. Maryland's rate remained significantly lower than the national rate, which stayed at its September level of 7.1 percent.

Employment rose slightly in Maryland in October, by an estimated 12,163 persons, with the gain concentrated primarily in state and local government. Public schools continued hiring for the fall semester, and city and local governments engaged in limited hiring. The last of the summer jobs ended, causing declines in agriculture, trade and services. Although the number of unemployed increased by an estimated 101 persons, the unemployed left the labor force.

In the Baltimore Metropolitan Area, the unemployment rate also remained stable in October, continuing the September rate of 6.9 percent. The area's employment achieved a larger gain than the state, with increases in trade and state and local government. Unemployment also increased by more than statewide, by an estimated 1,032 persons.

In the Maryland suburbs of Washington, D.C., the unemployment rate decreased slightly, from 3.6 percent in September to 3.4 percent in October. Employment increased somewhat, with advances in state and local government. The number of unemployed decreased by an estimated 1,137 persons.

Western Maryland's unemployment rate rose slightly from 6.2 percent in September to 6.4 percent in October. Employment increased in state and local government and in finance, insurance and real estate. In Garrett County, the unemployment rate rose significantly, from 9.6 percent to 10.8 percent, partly due to a temporary shutdown of Sterling Processing, Inc.

Diverse trends also were seen in Southern Maryland and on the Eastern Shore. Unemployment rates rose in only Calvert, Talbot and Worcester counties and fell in other counties. In Worcester County, the end of summer employment in food processing, construction, trade and services brought substantial increases in unemployment, as the unemployment rate advanced from 8.1 percent to 12.2 percent. Reductions in continued claims for unemployment insurance caused sizable reductions in the unemployment rates of Kent, Queen Anne's, Somerset and Wicomico counties.

It snowed yesterday and when it stopped, I walked along the creek in a world of frosty splendor. The woods were hushed in majestic stillness, and I tread softly. A jay screamed overhead, and bending trees shivered stealthily, with squeaking, icecoated branches. The falls at the curve of the creek stood immobilized with hoarfrost and icicles, but bending near I heard soft and surely the murmur of the moving creek beneath the icebound surface.

It came to me, how like that creek, my faith has been. At times this faith has been covered by mists of doubt and selfishness. Often it has been embittered by anguish and despair. But always under that glacial exterior there coursed a stream of consciousness that knew no turning from God—and the things I had been taught from childhood.

How glad I am my parents took me to church and brought me up with such a sure knowledge of God's love that it sustained me even when I tried to turn from His ways.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE TWO-POINT SERMON

December 14, 1980

Background Scripture: Malachi 3:1-5, 4:5-6; Isaiah 40:1-11; Matthew 3:1-12, 11:7-15; 19:11.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 7:10-15.

John the Baptist had only a two-point sermon, but his rather uncomplicated message made a tremendous impact upon the people of Judea. His reputation spread far and wide and great crowds went out into the Judean wilderness to hear this strange man who regarded himself as simply God's messenger. So great was his popularity that even the Pharisees and Sadducees of Jerusalem went to hear him. Some even came forward to be baptized by him.

What could this man of the wilderness possibly say that would attract such great throngs? Did he have some new approach to religion? Was there something unique about his religious lifestyle or message? No, John the Baptist was not unique as a desert prophet. There had been many others before him, some even setting precedents for his austere style and demeanor. Nor was his message unique or new. Both his sermon points were drawn from familiar themes in the scriptures.

Like prophets before him, John the Baptist called his listeners to repent. That was his first sermon point: change from your sinful ways and return to God! And the second point was clearly tied to the first: "for the kingdom of heaven is at hand" (3:2). Actually, this was the most important thing John had to say. Everything else he preached was predicated on his assurance that the kingdom of heaven was "at hand." Thus, John the Baptist saw himself as God's messenger to prepare his people for his coming and he linked himself with Isaiah's prophecy:

"The voice of one crying in the wilderness: Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight. So it was a message of hope, yet at the same time it was hardly a popular theme and the great response of the people to this message must be regarded as an indication of their great spiritual hunger. Nobody likes to be told to repent, whether for the kingdom of heaven or anything else. The term "repent" is not popular in most religious circles today for most of us do not like to think of ourselves as sinners—perhaps a bit "mistaken" or "misguided," but not sinful.

Bear Fruit Begetting Repentance To be sure we regularly go through the ritual of repentance—"Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors"—but there is often something vital lacking in that ritual. The Baptist realized that his people also went through their stereotyped, so what he asked of them was not words of repentance, but changed lives: "Bear fruit the begets repentance, and do not presume to say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father'" (3:9). That was the only way they could be truly prepared for Christ and his kingdom. And it is still the only way today.

Small Business Aid Announced

In recognition of decreasing productivity, technological obsolescence, etc., facing small businesses, the University of Maryland, College of Engineering has established a Technological Extension Service for Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

This new service is funded by a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission to provide technological assistance to the small business/industry community in Western Maryland and to assist enterprises in identifying their problems and devising appropriate solutions.

TES utilizes the expertise of the University of Maryland's College of Engineering, consultants, equipment manufacturers, and has access to information from industry, other colleges, federal agency services, etc.

TES began in 1978 and has already provided services or information to more than 100 small businesses like yours in Western Maryland. The services are provided by the University at no cost and have included assistance in the areas of production improvements, plant layout, energy conservation, material handling, equipment utilization, structural analysis, waste disposal, fuel substitutions, manufacturing techniques, data processing and others.

Interested persons may contact the TES office at 889-2570, or write in care of Frostburg State College.

Almanac

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 10, the 345th day of 1980 with 21 to follow.

The Moon is moving toward its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Mars.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

American poet Emily Dickinson was born Dec. 10, 1830.

On this date in history:

In 1817, Mississippi was admitted to the union as the 20th state.

In 1898, Spain signed a treaty officially ending the Spanish-American War. It gave Guam, Puerto Rico and the Philippines to the United States.

In 1941, Japanese troops landed on Northern Luzon in the Philippines in the early days of World War II in the Pacific theater.

In 1974, the Senate confirmed the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller to be Vice President of the United States.

A thought for the day:

American poet Emily Dickinson said, "Success is counted sweetest by those who never succeed."

Social Security Annual Earnings Limit Announced

The 1981 annual exempt amounts of earnings people can have and still receive social security benefits were announced by Frank Tomko, Asst. District Manager of the Cumberland social security office. These earnings limits increase each year with increases in average wages.

People under age 65 can make $4,080 in 1981, up from $3,720 in 1980, and still receive all of their social security benefits.

For people who are 65 and over by the end of 1981, the exempt amount is $5,500, up from $5,000. The earnings limit does not apply to people 72 and over (70 in 1981). Earnings over the exempt amounts reduce the social security benefits by $1 for each $2 in excess earnings.

The monthly earnings limits — 1/12th of the annual exempt amounts — are $458 for people 65 and over and $340 for people under 65. Since social security is intended to partially replace earnings that are lost when a worker retires, dies or becomes disabled, the earnings test is used to measure whether — and the extent to which — a loss of earnings has occurred. The test also applies to dependents and survivors, since their earnings are considered to offset the loss of the worker's earnings. Different rules, which include medical considerations, apply to people receiving checks because of disability.

To obtain information about any social security matter, or get free pamphlets, just telephone 724-0970. Residents of Garrett County and Mineral County, W. Va., may call collect. The Cumberland social security office is located at 316 Paoli Street.

course will be the work with the Apocrypha.

"It is a very important part of the inter-testamental period. It presents history and philosophy that are important to deeper understanding of the New Testament. From a literary standpoint, it contains many excellent narratives. Among them is the story of Susanna and the conflicting evidence given by the Elders. This same form of evidence is the most modern detective stories."

"Over the years that I presented a course in Comparative Religion a great many students asked if some kind of a course on the Bible alone couldn't be given by the college. I think that this course, on the Bible as literature, is the answer to the kind of study they wanted," Rev. Grant concluded.

For information on registering for the course, persons should call the Oakland Center of GCC at 334-8296.

Judge Jones Hears Variety of Charges

Judge Lewis H. Jones heard cases ranging from theft to unlawful use of the telephone during the December 1 session of Garrett County District Court.

Robert Critteli, Jr., Oakland, was found guilty of theft stemming from charges that he was driving an auto belonging to Donald Uphold, Sr., without his permission. Critteli was fined $50 and sentenced to six months in jail, which was suspended.

which was suspended. He was placed on 18 months supervised probation.

Ronald V. Carlisle, 22, Oakland, was found guilty of unlawful use of the telephone as a result of charges brought against him by the Oakland Police Department.

According to court records, Carlisle made twelve calls over a three-day period to the home of James McCrobie, his former employer, after a tracing device had been installed on McCrobie's home phone. The calls were described as life threatening or hang-up in nature.

Judge Jones fined Carlisle $150 plus court costs, and sentenced him to six months in jail. The sentence was suspended, and the defendant was placed on 18 months supervised probation.

Several persons were found not guilty on various charges by Judge Jones.

Richard L. Sisler, Friendsville, was found not guilty on charges of breaking and entering and disorderly conduct on the property of another.

The charges were brought against Sisler by George L. Fikes, also of Friendsville. Also found not guilty were Patricia J. Schroyer, Grantsville, and Donald Michael Mannick, Friendsville, on charges of Sunday liquor law violations.

Charges against Terry

Carlisle, Oakland; Donald Ray Stanton, Grantsville; and John W. Murphy, St. Luke Park, were declared Nolle Prosequi by the state's attorney, James Shortlin.

Three persons failed to appear to face charges against them, and bench warrants for their arrest were issued. Those persons include John Harold Mannick, "Frost" Oakland; William Lanwood, Bury, Meyersdale, Pa.; and Paul Edgar Davis, Kimmler.

Reimbursement For Housing State Prisoners Studied By Task Force

Senator Edward J. Mason, Co-chairman of a Governor's Task Force, recently completed a study which recommends the manner in which local governments are to be reimbursed by the State Division of Correction for housing State prisoners in local jails.

The back-up of State-sentenced prisoners in local jail facilities has become an increasing problem, Mason said, since 1975 when State correctional facilities became filled to capacity. Consequently, prison overcrowding has presented a significant problem for local governments, several of which have gone to court in an effort to have State-sentenced prisoners removed from their facilities.

The primary focus of the Task Force was to provide an equitable amount of dollars to local governments for housing State prisoners. The Task Force recommended that the current maximum allotment of $34 per day for each prisoner should be eliminated and that local governments be reimbursed at the rate it actually costs to house a prisoner (average daily cost). Daily reimbursement figures will be subject to an audit by the Department of Public Safety.

ASC Committee Announces Feed Grain Program

"For the second year in a row, Maryland feed grain producers will not need to set aside acreage to be eligible for commodity loans, target price protection, and disaster benefits," said Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

"Feed grain producers need only to be sure they plant within their normal crop acreage (NCA) on all farms in which they have an interest to be eligible for program benefits in 1981," he said. Unlike the two-tier target price system of the 1980 program, the 1981 program will have just one target price for all producers who planted within their Normal Crop Acreage. The feed grain target prices for 1981 will be announced next spring but will be at least equal to the 1980 levels of $2.35 per bushel for corn, $2.50 per bushel for sorghum, and $2.55 per bushel for barley. The minimum 1981 loan rate for corn will be $2.25 per bushel. Provisions of the 1981 wheat program were previously announced. The 1981 target price was set at a minimum of $3.81 per bushel and the loan rate for 1981 wheat will be a minimum of $3.00 per bushel. With world coarse grain production likely to be down slightly from last year, domestic 1980 crop production estimated to be 18 percent lower than last year's crop and the demand for grains continuing to rise, the U. S. Department of Agriculture expects a drawdown in stocks and higher prices. The provisions of the 1981 Feed Grain Program will allow U. S. farmers to respond to domestic and world market requirements but still provide them with price and income protection," said Crowl. He said producers should remember the importance of good farming practices as they plan for 1981; and he recommends against bringing fragile lands into production. The $50,000 payment limitation for total deficiency payments for any combination of wheat and feed grains will remain in effect for the 1981 crop year.

Wheat Programs, contact your county ASCS office," said on the 1981 Feed Grains and Crowl.

State's High-Tech Industry Highlighted in Publication

Maryland's high-technology industry and several of its leading firms are the subject of a special advertising supplement in the December issue of "Scientific American."

The 7,000-word article is one in a series of special reports done by the magazine on advances in high-technology throughout the United States.

The article, titled "Technology in Maryland: From Clipper Ship to Satellite," is written by Peter J. Brennan who specializes in writing on international business, finance and development.

The article traces the state's high-tech orientation, beginning with the development of the famed Baltimore Clipper ships of the mid-18th Century and continuing through the years to the latest high-tech industries in the state, Bendix Corporation's Advanced Technology Center planned for the new city of Columbia.

In chronicling Maryland's progress, the article concentrates on a common thread woven into the state's economic and industrial development—diversity. With over 172,000 professional, technical and support workers, Maryland ranks second in the nation in the percentage of its population with four or more years of education.

The diversity and depth of the state's industrial base provide skilled and versatile people who can switch from ship building and steel making to computer frames and satellites," Brennan writes.

These factors argue well for a firm thinking of moving to the state or of expanding an operation already there," he states.

In addition to profiling the manufacturing of available "hand-on" technology, the article covers advances in medical and biomedical technology, environmental control industries, communications and space related industries, solar power research, and computer and related services industries.

Brennan singles out Westinghouse's Electrical Technology Division, the state's second largest employer, as a prime example of high-tech advances being made by Maryland firms.

"Scientific American," with an international circulation of 720,000, reaches over 3,000,000 executives, engineers, scientists and other professionals each month. The magazine is published in English, Italian, French, German, Japanese and Chinese and circulated throughout business, industry and government in 140 countries in the world.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Cavett makes second appearance on 'AMC'

By NANCY McREARD
HOLLYWOOD — "I've talked with a few guests," says Dick Cavett, the PBS television talk-show host. "But I don't remember anybody except Eric." Cavett, who is appearing on "AMC" this time around as himself in a talk-show sequence with Eric, who's now a New York model in the daytime. When asked why he would take time out from his busy schedule to appear on a soap, Cavett exclaimed with a grin, "Because it's fun."

"General Hospital's" newest addition to the cast is Rose Anderson, who portrays Edward Quartermain's niece, Alexandra. Rose was chosen for the role after an exhaustive search for "just the right actress."

Also from the West Coast comes actress Julianna McCarthy (Liz Brooks on "The Young and the Restless") who will have a featured role in the CBS-TV movie, "A Gun in the House." The movie should appear on your small screen in the near future.

During the making of the thriller, "Blinded by the Light," it was obvious that Jimmy and Kristy McNichol were enjoying working together for the first time in a medium picture for television as a brother and sister caught up in the nightmare of religious cult. The last time they had acted together was 15 years ago, in a filmed episode of the series, "Family Affair." It was about 6 and Kristy was 4, says Jimmy, and we were brother and sister in that one too.

'Breaking Away' from the movie to TV

Successful feature films are frequently made over into television series. Sometimes the translation works ("M.A.S.H." for example), sometimes it doesn't (CBS' "Planet of the Apes" lasted three months).

This season "Breaking Away," the story of four teenage boys growing up in a small Midwestern university town, came to TV. Frank Konigsberg is executive producer of the series, which stars Shaun Cassidy. We asked Konigsberg about making TV out of a movie.

Q What attracted you to the television version of "Breaking Away?"
A I loved the movie. I thought it had a lot to say about American values and the problems that are common to all of us.

Q What values? What problems?

A As you know, the story is set in Bloomington, Ind., which is quintessential Americana, the way we think the country is, or was. The location gives a different look and pace to the series. Values are the traditional ones: warmth, humanity, affection, honor, caring, loyalty, gentleness, mutual respect, pride in one's self, one's family and friends. I think the reason why the film was so successful was that there was an underlying theme of optimism running through it. These values are even more meaningful now, given the economic times we are living in.

As for problems, the one most basic to the plot has to do with the process of maturing—specifically, young people who are approaching the point when they must begin to think about finding a place in life.

Others problems that most people can readily identify with are how even a friend can be hurtful at times, how a father can love a son, and how, or be able to tell him so, how fragile a person's pride can be, how evasive goals can be, how life's promises can be compromised.

Q Besides its optimism, what else made the film so successful?

A Good writing, good production, good acting. The series, the first thing we did was to sit down and make out a four-year plan. We've projected where each of these four guys is going to be at the end of each year and some of the experiences they are going to encounter.

Q For example?

A Well, for one thing Cyril, the cynic, is going to become a doctor. He's going to be a doctor. You're going to have to wait and see for yourself.

FOR WOMEN ONLY—Two young men whose jobs are Madison Avenue, but whose salaries are Skid Row, find an incredible way to heat the money crunch. They move into a reasonably priced apartment in a hotel for women only, in the ABC half-hour sitcom, "Bosom Buddies," which airs Thursdays. Tom Hanks (left) stars as Kip Wilson, and Peter Scolari portrays Henry Desmond.

Attorney General Surveys Interest Rates Of Banks

Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs released Monday the results of two telephone surveys comparing the interest rates charged by 104 national and state banks in Maryland on four types of consumer loans.

The surveys, believed to be the first of their kind published in Maryland, were conducted November 19 and December 2-3 by representatives of the Consumer Protection Division. Surveyors called 104 banks throughout the State asking what interest rates they would charge prospective customers on credit card balances up to $700, and on personal, home improvement and auto loans over $3500. The data reported by the bank's consumer loan departments to the Division in the latest survey revealed the following significant facts:

* Retail credit account interest rates are almost all at the ceiling of 18 percent on balances up to $700. Nine of the eleven banks which offer charge cards charge the maximum permitted interest rate. Only one bank has continued charging 12% on the amount between $500 and $700 after July 1 and this bank stated it was raising its rate to the maximum next January. The other bank offers a credit card through a Pennsylvania bank which charged 15% on all outstanding balances.

* Personal loans are close to the 18 percent maximum. Of 104 banks surveyed, 31 charged the maximum amount. The average interest rate statewide for all banks surveyed is 16.6%, 1.8% more than for new car loans.

* New car loans are well below the statutory ceiling of 18 percent. Only three banks charged the maximum amount permitted by law and the vast majority of banks charged between 14% - 16%. The average interest rate statewide for all banks surveyed is 14.8%.

* Home Improvement loans are somewhat below the 18 percent ceiling. Only 17 of the 104 banks surveyed are charging the maximum interest rate for these loans and the average interest rate is 16.1%.

* In almost all categories of loans surveyed, large state-chartered banks as a group, which account for 79% of all loans granted by state-chartered banks, clearly tend to charge higher interest rates than do medium or small state-chartered banks.

* In general, interest rates on consumer loans rose during the two week period between the first survey on November 19 and the 2nd survey on December 2-3. Interest rates on new car loans rose an average of 0.6 percent, on home improvement loans an average of 0.4 percent, and on personal loans an average of 0.4 percent. Only retail credit accounts remained the same, but most banks were already at the maximum for this category in the first survey.

The survey cautions consumers that interest rates are volatile and subject to change and points out that the actual rates an individual customer may be able to get will frequently vary depending on factors like past credit history, income, home ownership or length of residence and job stability.

"We think it is an important service, especially these days when interest rates are rising so rapidly, to collect and publish information which gives consumers the ability to compare shop for loans," Attorney General Sachs said. "Consumers should know what it costs to borrow money and be aware that not all banks charge the same price," Sachs continued.

The surveys published this week list all the banks surveyed alphabetically by name and the interest rates they quoted. Division representatives on November 19 and December 2-3 for each category of consumer loan.

"To the best of our knowledge, this is the first time this kind of information has been compiled, analyzed and made available to Maryland consumers," said Consumer Protection Division Chief, Bob Erwin. "We plan to continue to survey the rates banks charge on consumer loans in the State and to report the results periodically. We will reassess the usefulness of the surveys at the end of a four-month trial period."

Farmer's Tax Guide Available

The 1980 Farmer's Tax Guide, Publication 225, is available throughout the county, according to James McHenry, Extension Agent, Agriculture. The booklet has been distributed to the various banks and all U. S. D. A. Offices. It is also available at the Extension Office, Courthouse Annex. Mailing restrictions prohibit general mailing of the booklet, McHenry said, however, farmers may call the Extension Office at 334-2145 and request a book be mailed to them.

McHenry states this booklet is an "excellent tool" in assisting farmers to figure their tax. It is an 80-page booklet with an index to particular problems.

Specialist Offers Information On Alcohol Fuels

Rising costs of fossil fuels and new economic incentives have increased the development of farm-based alcohol plants, says John W. Gird, an Extension energy programs specialist and agricultural engineering instructor at the University of Maryland.

Federal loan programs, reduced permit requirements and the availability of commercial systems for producing alcohol fuel have all accelerated the movement, according to Gird.

Success of any alcohol production system depends heavily on management ability and knowledge of the operator, Gird said. "Even the best-designed production plant will not do its job if the operator does not know the chemistry and microbiology of the system."

Alcohol fuel production should not be approached as a simple part-time operation, he said. A farmer should do research and assemble good background information before going ahead.

The Maryland Extension specialist suggests that each of the following factors be carefully investigated and weighed before any on-farm plant is constructed:

*Type of crop to be planted as a feedstock for producing alcohol fuel;

*Amount of time to be spent operating the plant and the effect this will have on other farm operations;

*Availability of storage facilities for a wet by-product;

*Amount of by-product which must be fed on a daily basis to livestock and the effect this will have on animal performance;

*Methods for feeding the by-product and consequent effect on dry feed-handling systems;

*Amount and quality of alcohol fuel to be produced;

*Necessary engine modifications and costs of engine conversions for utilizing the alcohol;

*Effects of off-and-on or seasonal plant operation on overhead costs;

*Influence on other monetary investments as a result of investing in an alcohol plant;

*Long-term potential of alcohol fuel in reducing energy needs and costs.

More information on alcohol fuel production is available from county Extension offices throughout Maryland. Persons should ask for a free mimeographed leaflet titled On-Farm Production and Utilization of Ethanol Fuel.

Re-Forestation Tax Incentives Effective Now

Small non-industrial woodland owners should be aware of recently enacted federal legislation that will provide tax incentives for re-forestation, according to the Maryland Forest and Park Service. Service hopes this legislation will encourage forest landowners in Maryland to re-forest their land and invest in forestry for the future.

The new re-forestation tax incentive in public law 96-451 is a direct ten percent investment tax credit, plus seven-year amortization on the first $10,000 of capitalized re-forestation expenditures each year. Factory owners have long been allowed tax credits for investment in machinery and other capital equipment to stay in business. Effective now, in the 1980 tax year, forest landowners are allowed a tax credit for investment in their land. This law should be an incentive, according to the Service, to landowners to invest in forestry by enabling them to "write-off" their costs early in the life of their forest. Landowners can now "expense" their costs as soon as possible.

Public Law 96-451 will change prior law by permitting landowners to deduct ten percent of their re-forestation expenses in the year that they occurred from the federal tax owned and also amortize their expenses over a seven-year period by subtracting from their taxable income.

The following is an example of how the new re-forestation incentive will work:

If a timber owner spends $10,000 for re-forestation such as, site preparation, seeds or seedlings, labor and tools used in planting or seeding, he will receive a $1,000 credit ($10,000 X 10 percent) against the taxes otherwise owed in the year of the investment, plus an amortization deduction of one-fourteenth of $10,000 ($714) in the year of the investment, one-seventh of $10,000 ($1,428) in each of the succeeding six years, and one-fourteenth of $10,000 in the last year.

The incentive can be applied to qualifying re-forestation expenditures incurred after December 31, 1979. The incentive is limited to the first $10,000 of capitalized re-forestation expenditures each year. There is no carryover of excess expenditures to subsequent years for either the investment tax credit or seven-year amortization. Qualifying expenditures are direct costs incurred to plant or seed for re-forestation or re-forestation purposes, including costs for site preparation, seeds and seedlings, and labor and tool costs.

Holidays are for Grandparents, too.

The Christmas season isn't just for children. It should be a joyous occasion for every generation. True, if there are small children in the family, holiday events focus on them — and this is only fitting. But this is also a time for remembering the past, and for linking the past to the present, and to the future, as well. The holidays are a time for children to hear about and delight in — as they always do — what it was like in the "olden days" when their grandparents were children themselves. This is the time, too, for grandparents to enjoy that very special pleasure of indulging their grandchildren.

Sometimes parents think that the grandparents are too extravagant, that they give presents the parents can't afford. Naturally, this makes young parents resentful. Jealousy, too, sometimes surfaces, as parents recall, "they never gave me such expensive gifts." Parents should try to be understanding, to permit their own parents the pleasure of being open-handed with the children. Let your parents have the pleasure of being extravagant if that makes their holidays more joyous. And enjoy the pleasure your children derive from their grandparents' generosity.

by Genevieve Millet Landau
Director Hasbro Center for Child Development and Education

All that is needed is common sense on both sides. A grandmother should not, for instance, decide that the time has come for Sarah to have a bicycle unless the idea has her parents' approval. Such a major gift, involving safety as well as expense, should be discussed beforehand with the parents.

On the other hand, if a grandfather yearns to teach his grandchildren to fish and gives them rather costly tackle, rejoice in the friendship and communion that may result between the generations.

The holidays may provide children who live far from their grandparents with one of the few opportunities they have to really get to know another and more distant generation; to share their thoughts with them; to discover that they can have fun with them. The holidays are not just a time for exchanging gifts. They are times for family closeness, for the renewal of traditions, and for the sharing of memories that will last a lifetime.

Auto Antifreeze, Coolants Threats To Pets' Health

Antifreeze and summer coolants used in automobiles are potential threats to the health of family pets and other small animals, the Maryland Veterinary Medical Association warned this week.

This being the time of year when automobile owners change or replenish their car radiator systems, pet owners should be aware that the antifreeze which has been drained from radiators and allowed to lie in gutters becomes a prime source for animal poisoning.

Antifreeze has a sweet taste, pleasant aroma and color which attracts small animals.

Almost all permanent types of antifreeze contains glycols which are highly toxic and can cause kidney damage or death if swallowed in sufficient quantities, the MVMA warned. Signs of such poisoning include nervousness, vomiting and a staggering gait.

For the safety of family pets and other small animals, the MVMA recommended that antifreeze be disposed of properly after use and that any receptacles containing antifreeze be properly stored.

State-Local Partnership Is Examined By Comptroller Goldstein

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein Thursday told officials of the state's 23 counties and Baltimore City that 45% of the state's tax revenue was returned to the political subdivisions during Fiscal Year 1980. However, he stated that he failed to see how that amount can be expanded until the new national administration and United States Congress make known their plans for helping local and state governments.

"During Fiscal Year 1980, the various funds transferred to Maryland's political subdivisions totaled more than $2.445 billion," Goldstein said. The funds included shared revenues, direct grants and appropriations, state administered local revenue and federal revenues dependent upon state matching funds.

"The potential effect of these revenues on local property tax rates averages $6.80 per $100 of assessed value. Individually, the effect ranges from $1.60 up to $17.82 per $100 of assessed value," the comptroller said.

Goldstein said the alliance between the state and its subdivisions would continue to be a strong partnership.

"But like any partnership, there has to be a division of labor, a division of responsibility and a division of resources," he said. "Now may be the time for each level of government to have its own unique sources of revenue in order to provide the levels of essential services that our citizens are accustomed to and demand."

Comptroller Goldstein noted that the Board of Revenue Estimates, of which he is chairman, will present Governor Hughes with its estimates of state revenues for the remainder of Fiscal Year 1981 and Fiscal Year 1982 this Friday, December 12. He noted that the board would be reviewing its figures in light of the current national economic uncertainty with continued high interest rates and unemployment.

The Comptroller told the local officials that sales tax revenues have totaled nearly $245.1 million thus far in Fiscal Year 1981, an increase of 4.3% over the $234.5 million collected for the same period last year. He warned, however, that continued high interest rates could reverse the growth trend in consumer spending, just as it happened in the spring.

Like the sales tax, state and local income revenues have been showing a much slower rate of growth than in the past. Goldstein noted that income tax revenues total $669.9 million thus far in Fiscal Year 1981, up 6.8% over the $627.2 million collected for the same period last year.

Finally, Goldstein told the local officials that the State's General Fund is being depleted by $85.9 million this fiscal year, due to transfers of some corporation income tax and motor vehicle titling tax revenues to the Transportation Trust Fund. "That revenue is lost to the state for General Fund spending," he said.

The comptroller also noted that the state is no longer receiving federal revenue sharing money. "Maryland losing approximately $34 million in the remainder of the fiscal year and could lose $1 million in Fiscal Year 1982 the U. S. Congress does not fund the state portion of the revenue sharing program. The 23 counties and Baltimore City and other towns and cities are continuing to receive their shares of federal revenue sharing funds. You are most fortunate."

Goldstein also noted that, if the U. S. Congress does not disapprove the lottery referendum recently passed in Washington, D. C., the Maryland lottery could lose up to $30 million per year.

Given all the worms it could eat, a young robin once downed 14 feet of them in one day.

Krista Harsh, Charles Hayes Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

The Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, W. Va., was the setting for the November 1 wedding of Krista Joyce Harsh and Charles Jacob Hayes.

Rev. Norman Harsh, uncle of the bride, performed the double-ring, candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin G. Harsh, Eglon. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes, Kingwood, W. Va.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a gown of white silesto and quana knit with re-embroidered lace. The gown was styled with a high neckline and lace yoke. The long tapering sleeves featured lace cuffs. The natural blouse waistline fell into a cover-up diagonal overskirt held with a silk rose at the waistline. The skirt extended to a chapel length train in the back. Her headpiece was a floral ring of fall colored silk daisies and baby's breath. She carried a basket of silk daisies matching her headpiece.

Sue Corbin, Eglon, was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Joy Hayes, sister of the groom; Connie Murlin, cousin of the bride, and Cynthia Bachtel.

The attendants' gowns were blue quana styled with a natural waist on a full skirt. A large collar cape of printed chiffon fell from a round waistline. They carried baskets of silk daisies with baby's breath. Each wore a comb in her hair accented with matching silk flowers.

Kimble Hayes, Craigsville, was his brother's best man. Ushers were David Hayes, and Dan Hayes, brothers of the groom, and Richard Corbin, brother-in-law of the bride.

Kevin and Brian Corbin, nephews of the bride, served as ring bearers. They wore blue knickers and vests, with white ruffled shirts and blue string ties. The outfits were styled by the bride's mother.

Tonya Beckman served as flower girl. She wore a blue quana gown with a chiffon collar cape identical to the other attendants. Her headpiece was floral ring of silk flowers.

Organist for the ceremony was Mrs. Wilma Mae Teets. Vocalist was Mrs. Clifton Arnold.

A reception was held in the downstairs area of the church immediately following the ceremony. The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner served by the Maple Spring Church Women in the Eglon Memorial Building. Cynthia Riggins registered the guests.

The bride was the guest of honor at two showers. One of the showers was given by the Aurora School staff members and the other by Cynthia Bachtel.

She also holds a master's degree from West Virginia University in Elementary Classroom Management. She is employed by the Preston County Board of Education at the Aurora Elementary School.

The groom is a graduate of Kingwood High School and West Virginia University School of Agriculture and Forestry. He is employed by Patriot Coal Company, Kingwood.

The couple now resides in Eglon.

Choral "Sing-In" Slated At FSC

Choral groups of Frostburg State College will combine with those from local high schools and members of the community in an unrehearsed "sing-in" performance of Handel's "The Messiah" on December 14 at 8 p. m. in FSC's Pullen Auditorium on the Frostburg campus.

The program will begin with a performance of J. S. Bach's great Advent Cantata "Sleepers Wake" featuring the Frostburg Choral Union with Thomas Yeager conducting. Soloists for this performance will be Carrol Klue, tenor; Bonnie Davidson, soprano; and Donald Busch, baritone.

The choir of Allegany High School, under the direction of Jeanlyn Lewis, will perform a group of Christmas selections as the second item on the program with the Messiah "sing-in" comprising the final section.

ENERGY TIP: Kitchen exhaust fans remove heated air from the house, therefore their use should be kept to a minimum during the cold winter months.

SAFETY AT CHRISTMAS: Christmas trees and decorations help to brighten homes and hearts during the holiday season, but safety precautions must be taken in order to keep that holiday spirit from being darkened with an unnecessary accident. Follow these suggestions for a safe joyous holiday:

* When choosing your tree, check to see that it has a deep green color, a strong scent of pine, needles that do not easily fall and a trunk butt that is sticky with sap.

* When setting up your tree, place it away from the fireplace, radiator or other heat source, and out of the way of traffic.

* Cut off about 2 inches of the trunk and mount in a sturdy water-holding stand with wide-spread legs. Make sure the tree is stable. Fill the base with water and keep it full while the tree is indoors to keep it from becoming too dry.

* If purchasing an artificial tree, choose one that has been tested for flammability.

* Use only tree lights that have a UL Mark from the Underwriters Laboratory showing that they have been tested for safety.

* Check the wires and sockets of the lights for damage and don't use it in question.

* Do not use more than the manufacturer's recommended number of lights in one circuit. Overloading could cause a fire.

* Turn off all tree lights when you are away from the house and before going to bed.

* Never use electric lights on a metallic tree, because damaged insulation in the light strings could cause the entire tree to be charged with electricity.

* When purchasing tinsel or artificial icicles, choose ones of non-lead material.

* If youngsters will be around the tree, avoid decorations that tend to break easily, have sharp edges, are small, have removable parts or resembles candy or food.

* Never use lighted candles on a tree or near other evergreens.

Have a safe holiday season!

FOOD NOTES:

Good eating is always associated with the holidays. Most times during this season entertaining plans are set, but there are still impromptu occasions when it's nice to have a quick to prepare recipe. Here is one that you will enjoy preparing and that your guests will enjoy eating:

HOLIDAY CHOCOLATE FONDUE

Combine 8 squares of Baker's semi-sweet chocolate, 1/2 cup plus 1 tablespoon milk, 1/2 cup sugar and a dash of ground cinnamon in a saucepan. Heat over low heat, stirring constantly until melted and smooth. Pour into a fondue pot or small chafing dish to keep warm while serving. If heated longer than 1/2 hour, add additional milk for proper consistency. Arrange trays of the following for dipping: butter cookies, toasted pound cake strips, pretzels, rolled cookies, ladyfingers. Include assorted fresh fruits: pear wedges, green grapes, apple slices and banana chunks, as well as dried apricots, prunes and dates.

WHAT'S REALLY IN SANTA'S PACK?

[By Genevieve Millet Landau]
Director, Hasbro Center for Child Development and Education

As Christmas approaches, many well-meaning parents spend anxious hours worrying if they should tell their believing children that there is no Santa Claus? "Reality-oriented" parents wonder if such a belief will slow a youngster's intellectual progress. Can it be harmful to cling to the conviction that fairy tales and fantasy creatures are real?

Parents should let common sense be their guide. If a preschooler believes in Santa Claus, there is no harm in letting him enjoy that illusion. Belief in Santa can be a satisfying, even strengthening idea to a child. The real world—its complexity, size, all of its unknowns—is far beyond a child's awareness; let alone his capacity to make sense of it. Santa is a simple, lovely notion that makes children happy. Santa embodies many virtues and caring qualities, and a belief in him, and therefore in the existence of these virtues, can be reassuring to a child.

What about the problem raised by the multiple Santa Clauses who are seen indoors and out around holiday time? Every store has its own Santa; dozens more appear on TV in stores and on street corners. Everywhere you turn, there are red-coated, white-whiskered gentlemen. How do you explain this to the child who believes in the one and only Santa Claus? You might say that Santa is so busy getting his pack ready that he sends out helpers before Christmas who listen to the children and tell him what gifts they are hoping to receive. These helpers aren't the real Santa; they are people

Holiday Recipes

Special desserts make holiday dinners festive

In the "Spirit of the Holiday" we pass these special dessert recipes on to you. All are easy and offer three delicious ways for you to show off your culinary talents.

FLAMING BANANAS

4 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
4 medium size firm, ripe bananas
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup banana liqueur
1/2 cup light rum
4 scoops vanilla ice cream

Melt butter in electric fry pan or chafing dish, add brown sugar and stir 'til smooth. Add halved bananas and, tilting pan, baste with syrup for about three minutes. Sprinkle with lemon juice and dust lightly with cinnamon. Add liqueur and rum. Ignite carefully and slide pan back and forth over heat 'til flames die. Place two banana halves on serving dish, spooning some syrup over them and top with scoop of ice cream. Spoon sauce over all and serve immediately. You can impress your guests by preparing this on a server near your dining table.

SENSATIONAL PEARS

4 pears
Lemon juice
6 tablespoons black cherry jam
Chocolate cherry liqueur
Peel pears and slice bottoms off, reserving bottoms to be used later. Brush pear with lemon juice and remove core. Spoon jam into cored pear and set on reserved bottom slice, in a sherbet glass. Spoon liqueur over pears, and serve. A light, impressive finish to your meal!

SPARKLING BERRY TRIFLE

This special dessert looks best in a crystal bowl... read on.
3 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cups milk
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
12 double lady fingers
1/2 cup orange liqueur
3 cups blueberries, fresh or dry-pack, frozen, rinsed and dried
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons confectioners sugar
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1/4 cup thinly sliced toasted almonds
3 tablespoons sugar

Beat eggs and sugar until frothy and lemon colored. Stir in cornstarch, then gradually stir in milk. Cook over low heat until custard thickens, stirring constantly. Be careful not to boil mixture. Cool, stir in vanilla. Split lady fingers and arrange on bottom of bowl. Sprinkle with liqueur and cover with 2 cups of berries. Spoon custard over berries. Whip cream with confectioners sugar and spoon around edge of bowl in a ring. Stand almond slices upright in cream and fill center with remaining berries. Sprinkle berries with sugar. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Hot Buttered Rum Recipe

For unexpected guests or a get-together that does not include meal serving, hot buttered rum and cookies are a good choice. In preparing the drinks for company, you can have the mugs set out with their spices in advance, then complete the drinks with the addition of warmed flavorings and boiling water.

2 whole cloves
2 whole allspice
1 short stick cinnamon
1 teaspoon sugar
Boiling water
1 1/2 ounces light rum
1 1/2 ounces dark rum
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
Ground cinnamon-optional
Put the cloves, allspice, stick cinnamon and sugar in mugs or glass and add a tablespoon or two of boiling water. Combine the rums in small saucepan and heat but do not boil. Pour rums into spice mixture, filling mug or glass with boiling water and immediately add butter. Sprinkle with cinnamon if desired. 1 serving.

Choose Right-Size Turkey This Year

Count on a half pound of whole turkey per serving, and that means about one pound per person if you want second helpings. This a 16-pound turkey will feed sixteen to twenty. But, if you want leftovers, buy a 20-pounder, which is a good size for taste and tenderness, too.

A 20-pound bird takes three to four days to defrost in the refrigerator, or about 12 hours in a sinkful of water. In either case, leave the turkey in its original plastic wrapper until it seems thawed. Then unwrap as soon as possible, and pull out the package of giblets from inside the turkey. Often these are still frozen, indicating that the inside of the turkey is also still frozen. Finish thawing either at room temperature or, if you are not in a hurry, in the refrigerator. Keep thawed turkey under refrigeration, since it spoils more rapidly than fresh turkey, and plan to roast it within a day, or at most two days, of thawing.

Cakes and Cookies Are Traditional

The popularity of cakes and cookies at Christmas may be a survival of an early Roman custom. On Saturnalia, the Roman mid-winter holiday, each Roman senator was given a confection to celebrate the coming of spring. The delightful custom of decorative sweets continued into Christian times.

A German favorite is Pfefferkuchen, a hard, round, spicy cookie made in great quantities at Christmas. Scandinavian women spend days baking pastries for the holidays. French like cakes baked in the form of a chocolate Yule log and Rumanians make their cakes in folds, symbolic of the swaddling clothes of the Christ Child.

HOLIDAY FLAVOR

Of all the spicy, nostalgic smells of the holiday, that of nutmeg and its sister-spice, mace, is recalled with particular pleasure. We top the frothy egg-nog with nutmeg, use it to add final flavor to a hot glogg. Hard sauce for the plum pudding gets a dash of nutmeg or mace, as does the whipped cream to top holiday desserts. Mace is delightful in chocolate and, like nutmeg, has dozens of gourmet uses in the kitchen.

HONEY-ORANGE COFFEE CAKE

Topping:
3/4 cup buttermilk complete pancake mix
1/3 cup chopped nuts
1/3 cup sugar
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
Cake:
3/4 cup orange juice
1/4 cup honey
1 egg, beaten
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 1/2 cups buttermilk complete pancake mix
1 cup confectioners sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
3 to 4 teaspoons orange juice
1 tablespoon honey
1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind

For topping, combine all ingredients, mixing until crumbly. For cake, add combined orange juice, honey, egg, oil and orange rind to mix, beat until smooth. Spread into greased 13x9-inch baking pan. Sprinkle topping evenly over batter. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) about 18 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean.

For honey-orange drizzle, combine all ingredients, mixing until smooth. Drizzle - a ring over warm cake. Cut into squares; serve warm. Makes 13x9-inch cake.

SUPER CINNAMON WAFFLES

Apple Syrup:
1 to 1 1/2 cups maple-blended syrup
2 medium-sized apples, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons coarsely chopped pecans
Waffles:
2 cups buttermilk complete pancake mix
1 1/4 cups water
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 teaspoon cinnamon

For apple syrup, bring syrup to a boil in heavy saucepan. Cover, simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat, stir in apples, butter and pecans. Keep warm until ready to serve.

For waffles, combine all ingredients; stir until batter is fairly smooth. For each waffle, pour scant 1/4 cup batter onto hot waffle iron. Bake in hot waffle iron until steaming stops. For each serving, pour about 1/2 cup syrup over 1 waffle. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

BEEF STEW 'N DUMPLINGS

Beef Stew:
1 lb. round steak, cut 1/2 to 3/4-inch thick
1/2 cup coarsely chopped onion
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
One 16-oz. can tomatoes
1 cup water
One 6-oz. can tomato paste
One 4-oz. can mushroom slices
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves
Dumplings:
1 1/4 cups buttermilk
1 1/4 cups water
2 1/2 cups complete pancake mix
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon parsley flakes
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

For beef stew, cut meat into strips about 1/4-inch thick. Brown meat and onion in oil in 4-1/2 qt. Dutch oven or 12-inch skillet over medium-high heat. Drain. Add tomatoes, water, tomato paste, mushrooms, parsley, salt, oregano, garlic, thyme and pepper. Cover, simmer 30 minutes. Add frozen green beans. Cover, simmer 15 minutes.

For dumplings, combine all ingredients, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Bring stew mixture to boil; drop dumpling mixture by rounded tablespoons onto stew. Cover; reduce heat. Simmer about 20 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

COOKIES & POPCORN

It's old-fashioned and fun to decorate Christmas trees with garlands of popcorn and cranberries and homemade cookies. Even if you prefer only ornaments, tinsels and lights, don't overlook the joy of making cookies for Christmas. Cookies and popcorn add a warm and hospitable aroma to the household and give children an inner happiness that can never be bought and is long remembered.

ABOUT LEFTOVERS

If holiday meals left you with excess food, don't wait until you have served a meal several times before deciding to freeze some of it. Food frozen after the first cooking will be much better than food that has gone through numerous re-heatings and then frozen. This is especially true for holiday turkey.

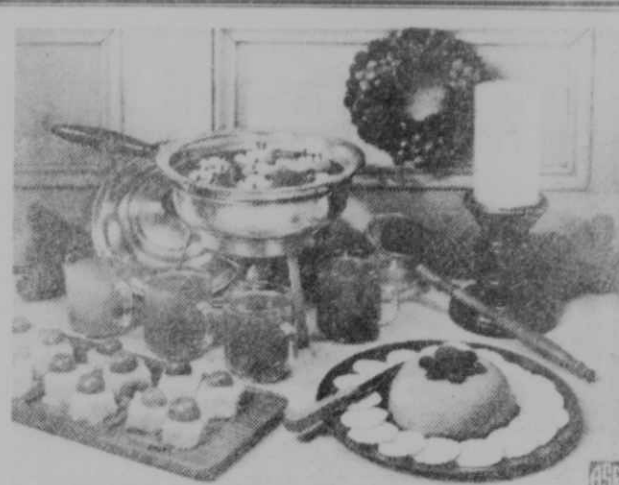

PUNCH BOWL

When making a punch for your holiday party, use a tube cake pan for freezing grapefruit juice or water tinted green with food coloring to which you have added red cherries and mint leaves. When frozen, put in the punch bowl to look like a floating Christmas wreath.

Turkey Will Offer Second Meal Variety

Turkey, that native American bird, is a holiday favorite for more reasons than one. Not only does the turkey make a fine centerpiece for the holiday festive board; he usually provides leftovers for easy meals in the days that follow.

Turkey soup, turkey a la king, turkey sandwiches, turkey bits (cubed of turkey, cold, as appetizers) represent but a few of the ways this versatile bird may be used during the holiday season.

The word "wassail" is derived from the Old Norse ves heill or "Be Well." In merry Olde England the word came to mean a toast to someone's health as you gave him a cup of wine. Today the "wassail bowl" is a symbol of hospitality and friendship and a perfect way to say welcome to friends and neighbors during the holiday season.

The Tea Wassail recipe below is made with a base of strong hot tea, combined with apple juice, frozen fruit punch, spices and clove-studded baked apples. Served hot from a chafing dish, it will warm any holiday gathering.

Tea Wassail

(Makes about 2 quarts)

4 cups water
6 teabags
1 (6 oz.) can frozen concentrated juice
2 cups apple juice
1/4 cup sugar
1 (3-inch) cinnamon stick
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
8 small baked apples or 8 spiced crabapples
Bring water to a boil; pour over teabags. Stir; cover and let stand 5 minutes. Stir again and squeeze out teabags. Meanwhile, in large saucepan heat fruit punch, apple juice, sugar and spices, simmer 5 minutes. Add apples and hot tea; bring to gentle boil. Place apples in chafing dish and fill with hot wassail. Serve hot.

PORK WITH APPLESAUCE

For as long as I can remember applesauce has been the natural accompaniment to pork. When my mother made pork chops there was always a little mound of applesauce on the side of the plate to eat with the meat.

Here is a recipe in which the applesauce is cooked along with the pork enabling it to absorb the flavor of the apples while it roasts. As with most other American dishes, this one was brought here from the "old country". In this case, the inspiration is from Poland.

How the pork loin is prepared for cooking is of the utmost importance in preparing this and many other pork roast dishes. The backbone must be cut through lengthwise but left attached and then tied to the loin in 3 or 4 places with twine. Most butchers know how to do this and will be happy to prepare it for you.

Serve this roast with fried potatoes, a green vegetable and heated applesauce as a garnish. A nice wine accompaniment would be a Gamay Beaujolais or an Italian Bardolino or Valpolicella.

Loin of Pork Glazed with Applesauce

Degree of difficulty: Easy
Time: 2 hours cooking time
1/2 hour preparation time

Servings: Six generous Cost: Moderate

Ingredients:
5 pound center-cut pork loin with bone attached
1 tablespoon salt
1 clove garlic, minced
The juice of 1 lemon
Freshly ground black pepper
12 whole cloves
2 cups thick applesauce
● Preheat the oven to 350°.
● In a small bowl make a paste of the salt, garlic, lemon juice, and a few grindings of pepper, using the back of a spoon.
● With your fingers rub the paste into all sides of the pork loin. Stud the meat at even intervals with the cloves.
● Place the seasoned loin fat side up in a shallow roasting pan just large enough to hold it comfortably.
● Put the meat in the middle of the oven and roast for 1 hour undisturbed.
● Remove the pan from the oven and spread about half of the applesauce over the top of the loin with a spoon or spatula.
● Continue cooking for 1 more hour adding more applesauce every 15 minutes or so. The meat is done when its internal temperature as indicated on a meat thermometer is 165° or more.
● When the roast is done, remove it from the oven and let it rest for 10 minutes before carving.

Be A Wise Grocery Shopper

By Jane Rentschler
Extension Agent
Home Economics

A strain is being felt on the pocketbooks of all consumers these days in the grocery store, but food is a basic need which must be met. Therefore, grocery shopping can be looked at as a large and very important investment in good health and satisfaction. Even though this is true, the rising costs of food is a matter of concern for all. What can be done? Each person must become the best shopper that he can in order to make every dollar go as far as it possibly can. The suggestions included here may help each person attain that goal.

Planning is a key to becoming a better grocery shopper. Menus should be planned for the period for which the shopping will be done. Check current food advertisements for specials to be included in the menus. Manufacturer's coupons may also be used in this planning, but remember, don't use a coupon just because it's a real bargain unless the product will be used and is needed. From the menus, develop a shopping list which will be flexible enough to include lower priced items in the store.

Once at the store, stick to the planned list as much as possible to avoid spending money on unwanted items. To get the best buy, compare the prices and labels of different brands and different forms of items, then choose the best buy. While in the store watch for mass displays; they are very often bargains although there are times when items on the shelves may be a better price. Also, when purchasing grouped items (2 for $1.00), make sure they are the best buys.

Purchase food by cost per serving. For example: meat with a large amount of bone yields 1-2 servings per pound; meat with a medium amount of bone yields 2-3 servings a pound; and boneless meat yields 4 servings a pound. A pocket food buying guide that shows servings per pound is available from the Extension Office at 334-2145.

Careful planning is essential for a good shopper, but these factors should also be considered: cut shopping trips to a minimum; shop alone; shop refreshed; shop when not hungry; and carefully choose the store. All of these factors will help to make the food dollar go further.

A more detailed five lesson learn-at-home series on food buying is available from the Extension Office upon request at no charge. Interested persons should call 334-2145, stop by the Extension Office, or write P.O. Box 112, Oakland, Maryland 21550.

Oakland Promotion Winners Announced

Dee Raynovich, president of the Greater Oakland Merchants Association, has announced the winners of Saturday's drawing for the Christmas Promotion. Shoppers are signing up in Oakland to win $100 gift certificates during the Christmas season, with approximately 27 merchants participating.

Gift certificates were presented this week to Pat Vetter, Oakland, for the Book Market, Helena Thrasher, Deer Park, for Marvin's Men's Wear; Flossie Roy, Oakland, for A. D. Naylor Hardware; Eloise Welling, Mt. Lake Park, for Garrett National Bank; and Catherine Knotts, Aurora, W. Va., for Kountry Image.

In last week's edition, on page 27, it was incorrectly reported that five certificates were awarded, and that Mary Ryscavage, Oakland, won a certificate for Village Jewelers.

Six certificates were awarded last week. Ms. Ryscavage received a certificate for Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy, and Helen Baumgardner, Oakland, received a certificate for Village Jewelers. We regret the error.

The next drawing will be held this Saturday at 3 p. m. in the Liberty Street parking lot.

HOW TO HANDLE HOLIDAY STRESS

By Genevieve Millet Landau
Director, Hasbro Center for Child Development and Education

The Christmas season is a time of happiness and high excitement for parents and children, but these days can also lead to tension, frustration, even anger. Children are particularly sensitive to changes in the rhythm and pace of their everyday lives. Around Christmas, especially, there are so many special goings-on in town, at school, on the radio and television, at church, in the home that children's excitement mounts, bringing with it the likelihood of let-down later on.

There is the bustle of the streets and shopping centers, highlighted by holiday decorations, store windows full of toys, the piney smell of Christmas trees ready to be carried home, people hurrying, the sounds of music in the streets, and all the rest of the special excitement which means Christmas is coming. Sometimes all of this hub-bub is too much for a child. Too much is happening all at once — too many new sensations, too much anticipation.

Involving your children in your preparations for Christmas can make the event and their role in it more satisfying and less stressful to them. Encouraging them to experience the real meaning of the holidays — a celebration of love and sharing of doing things for others — helps children develop self-confidence and pride. Even very young children can make cards and gifts for others, and feel the pleasure of giving. And, of course, as soon as children are old enough to help with tree-trimming, baking, and so on, they should be permitted — and expected — to do their share.

Even so, as anticipation can be nerve-racking for adults, for children, waiting for the big day and their presents, it can be agonizing. Even the basically cheerful child is likely to feel suddenly fatigued and disappointed by the reality of the holiday celebration, itself. That's when there may be tears and tantrums.

Understanding parents will comfort and soothe their youngsters, and will make an effort to create an oasis of calm, a time for rest and quiet during the day. They certainly won't reprimand their children if they appear unhappy or ungrateful, or make them feel guilty for their lack of appreciation of "all we've done for you." Nor will they urge them to play with their gifts while everyone is looking on expectantly. Wise parents will let their children simmer down, cool off, and become themselves again.

If a child has received a great many presents from friends and relatives, it may be a good idea to put away some of the toys and other gifts and bring them out gradually in the days that follow.

Some parents worry about balancing the gifts they give their offspring, making sure everything even up to avoid jealousy. For example, if Bobby gets a tricycle, what will Jane think if her main present seems much smaller? But gifts should be chosen according to age differences and the children's interests. It is unnecessary to try to make everything equal.

Though there are bound to be some tensions at holiday time, these can be minimized or avoided by remembering the underlying meaning of the season — to give of oneself and to renew loving family ties.

If you would like to have a free booklet on the importance of play, send for "The Wonderful World Of Play" by Maria W. Piers and Genevieve Millet Landau. Write to: Mrs. Genevieve Millet Landau, 1027 Newport Avenue, Pawtucket, R.I. 02861.

Health Official Issues Warnings About Kerosene

With many people looking for alternate sources of heat as the energy pinch becomes more acute, a real concern has been expressed over the packaging, storing and labelling of kerosene, according to William M. Eichbaum, Assistant Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene for Environmental Programs.

Kerosene is sold all over the State in hardware stores, garages, gasoline stations, feed stores and other outlets. Quite often it is packaged in used gallon plastic jugs or in glass bottles, neither of which are approved containers, according to Eichbaum. Since kerosene is extremely flammable, the use of glass, because of its fragile nature, is quite risky.

The reason for the prohibition on selling kerosene in used plastic jugs, however, is more subtle he says. The type of plastic used in milk, juice and cider containers is of such a composition that kerosene can actually leach through the material and then vaporize, thus causing a fire hazard.

Labels on proper containers, either approved plastic material or metal cans (both types having child-resistant closures) must contain the following information:

Danger: Harmful or fatal if swallowed extremely flammable; Contains petroleum distillate (8); Avoid prolonged contact with skin; Use only in well-ventilated area; Do not use (or store) near heat, sparks or flame; If swallowed, do not induce vomiting; call physician immediately; Keep out of reach of children.

Purchasers and sellers of kerosene should be aware of these requirements, Eichbaum says.

Eichbaum said that inspectors from the Division of Product Safety would be increasing surveillance of kerosene sales Statewide, and that violations of safety rules would bring citations by that Division.

The bill states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than a year and a day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 24th day of December, 1980, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the sale made and reported in the above cause, by W. Dwight Stover and William O. Doub, substitute trustees to Floyd Wilcox Baker and Wilma Alice Baker, his wife, be ratified and confirmed unless cause to the contrary thereof be shown on or before the 24th day of December, 1980, provided a copy of this Order be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for three successive weeks before the 1st day of January, 1981, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by the 2nd day of February, 1981, and redeem the property and answer the bill, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property, and vesting in the plaintiff a title, free and clear of all encumbrances. MY MONEY'S GOOD ANY PLACE!

So true! You have so many choices when it comes to places to shop and you, the customer, can make any choice you wish. You're the boss! If you've had a bad experience in a large store where the service is poor (or even non-existent) you can take your hard-earned money and find the same merchandise and services elsewhere.

Local business firms recognize the fact that you have a choice, and they're willing to work harder to get you to shop in their stores and then hold your patronage. Try them. You'll save money, your own personal energy, gasoline and learn again just how satisfying local shopping can be.

No need to roam... the best shopping's here at home!

Marylanders Report Gross Income Of Over $29 Billion For 1979

Maryland taxpayers reported gross income of $29,383,887,366 on state tax returns reflecting calendar year 1979 income. That's up nearly $2.9 billion over their gross Maryland income for 1978, according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. In a summary report of state income tax returns, the Comptroller also noted that the net taxable income on which individuals paid state and local tax and the refunds they received had also increased.

"Maryland taxpayers took deductions totaling $4,387,246,008 and totaling $2,930,638,664 on returns filed in 1979 income. This left a net taxable income of $21,776,602,409, on which individuals paid $1,610,866,771 in state and local tax," Goldstein said. Montgomery counties once again claimed the largest dollar amount of deductions ($978,908,463).

Each of the 1,487,794 state income tax returns reflecting a tax liability represented an average of $80.96 in state and local tax paid for income earned in calendar year 1979. "The largest number of taxable returns (255,236) came from Baltimore County, with 347,333 coming from residents of Baltimore City," the Comptroller said. However, the highest average state and local tax bill per return—$1,181.68—was found in Montgomery County, which also had the highest average tax, $427.35.

The largest number of refund checks—303,726—were issued to taxpayers in Baltimore City, while Kent counties received the fewest (4,076). Kent County taxpayers were also refunded the lowest total amount of money—$346,862.92—while Prince George's counties received the most ($46,033,929.41). There were 6,419 refund checks issued in Garrett County, for a total of $1,018,297.33.

"Statistics show that Marylanders took advantage of increased opportunities to file the short form, claiming the standard deduction," Goldstein said. The Comptroller stated, "the tax tables were revised to allow individuals earning up to $20,000 in 1979 to file the short form. The percentage of taxpayers filing the short form grew to 42%, up from 31% the previous year."

Single taxpayers sent in 31% of the returns. An additional 28% of the returns were filed jointly by husband and wife. Husbands and wives choosing the combined separate option accounted for 26% of the returns filed in 1979 income, while 3% came from husbands and wives filing separately.

"Montgomery County, with the fourth largest number of taxable returns, still has the highest gross Maryland income reported by its residents, $9.86 billion," the Comptroller added.

"I SUPPOSE IT'S BETTER THAN NO CHRISTMAS BONUS AT ALL."

This was followed by Baltimore County ($9.24 billion), the Prince George's County ($4.62 billion), and Baltimore City ($3.78 billion). Garrett County's Maryland Gross Income was $10,958,322.

"Montgomery County also had the largest number of tax returns (747) reporting Maryland gross income in excess of $20,000 for 1979 followed by Baltimore County (318 tax returns). Sixteen returns from Garrett County showed gross income over $10,000.

Since the 1973 tax year, Calvert County has shown the greatest increase in number of resident tax returns filed (31%), while Baltimore City shows a decrease of 3.6%. The number of returns filed statewide has increased by 12.5%.

State Releases Marketing Publication

Economic and Community Development Secretary James O. Roberson Friday released the final document in a series of marketing publications that now makes Maryland "second to none" in providing prospective businesses with concise and comprehensive information on doing business in Maryland, according to the secretary.

Containing over 130 pages in houseleaf format, the new book, titled "Maryland: A Business Inventory of Major Locational Factors," represents over 18 months of research on all aspects of the major factors influencing business expansion and relocation.

When used in conjunction with other DCECD publications on the state's financing, tax, and training programs, the inventory manual makes Maryland's marketing effort among the "most sophisticated and comprehensive in the nation," Roberson said.

"Only a couple of other states in the country have gone to these lengths to attract and hold business," Roberson said. These new publications, when coupled with selected opportunity studies such as was done for our prospecting mission to the Silicon Valley last April, makes our marketing effort second to none in the country."

utilities, industrial base, population/incomes, labor, education/research facilities, government, taxes, financing, data on individual counties, and a section on Maryland life-styles.

CHERRY TREE

Almost every tree that we know, in poem or song, has in some way been associated with the Christmas season. No exception is the cherry tree.

According to the well-known "Cherry Tree Carol," the cherry tree born its boughs to the Virgin Mary could pluck its fruit.

DOT Reps Report Cutdown Of State Highway Projects

At a meeting with Garrett County officials Thursday evening, Maryland Department of Transportation representatives blamed slow revenue growth and high inflation as the culprits that have forced a large scale-down of future highway projects.

The meeting with county officials was part of an annual statewide tour taken by DOT personnel to present its status report.

Secretary of Transportation Jim O'Donnell stated the project plan had been decreased from 300 to 170 projects. He added that over the next ten years if revenues remained the same and inflation continued to rise, the cut-down in projects over the next ten years would go from $300 million a year now to $30 million in the early 1990's.

O'Donnell explained that because of the shortage of funding, only high priority projects had been included in the FY 1981-1986 Construction Program and in the Project Development and Evaluation Program. He noted that the Development and Evaluation Program were those projects that would be moved into the construction plan only when funds became available.

Garrett County has one project listed in the Construction Program — the relocation of MD 960 — and none listed in the Development and Evaluation Program.

Senator Edward Mason (R-Allegany, Garrett) criticized the financial projections as inadequate because inflation figures were already higher than those used by the department. He also stated the alternative revenues should be found to finance the Mass Transit System, which was taking more and more of the department's funds.

O'Donnell stated the department's financial situation could be improved by finding revenues responsive to inflation in addition to finding a different revenue source for the Mass Transit System.

After O'Donnell's presentation of the department's financial status, other representatives continued on page seven.

Two-Story House Damaged By Fire Thursday Morning

Fire caused considerable damage Thursday morning to a two-story wood frame house located along State Route 960 about five miles south of Loch Lynn.

Firefighters from Oakland and Deer Park were summoned by Garrett Central Alarm at 8:59 a.m. to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Mousch, and upon arrival found smoke coming from the rear of the dwelling, and around the eaves on the second floor.

Firefighters entered the structure and discovered the kitchen completely involved in flame. The blaze was brought under control in approximately ten minutes, and although the fire was contained in the kitchen, fire officials reported that there was extensive heat and smoke damage throughout the remainder of the house.

The fire was discovered by two passers-by. One unidentified woman saw the fire and stopped at the nearby residence of Mrs. Keith Steyer, who then called Garrett Central Alarm. The fire was also spotted by Norman Launi, a resident of Mt. Storm and employee of AT&T Launi also

Funds Denied For Synfuel Plant Proposal

The federal Department of Energy (DOE) has denied a grant for a feasibility study for a Western Maryland Synfuel Plant.

The proposal from Delta Mining Inc. and the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland (TCC) was for $2.5 million to conduct a feasibility study.

Officials involved in the project called Westmar, had been optimistic that DOE would fund the proposal.

Stephen E. Kocsis, TCC executive director, said the council has requested a meeting with DOE officials within the next few weeks to find out why the proposal was not funded.

He pointed out that a site has been chosen for the proposed plant and that there are no foreseeable problems with the availability of water or with air quality or transportation.

Kocsis also pointed out that support for the proposal was strong. Besides local governments, area coal companies and utility companies have shown interest in the project. Some of those who have supported it are the Potomac Edison Company, part of the Allegheny Power System.

Board Policies Questioned By PTA Representatives

Questions on the revised student attendance policy and draft curriculum policy were put to the Garrett County Board of Education by the Parent-Teacher Association representatives during the Board's Thursday, December 11 meeting.

Representatives from 11 of the 17 county schools participated in the Thursday meeting at a special invitation by the Board.

The major concern by the representatives on the attendance policy was the inequities shown to students by teachers regarding make up work. The representatives were particularly concerned for students who take off days for deer hunting and then do not receive credit for make up work while other students take off a week to accompany their parents on a vacation trip to receive credit.

Stephen E. Kocsis, TCC executive director, said the council has requested a meeting with DOE officials within the next few weeks to find out why the proposal was not funded.

He pointed out that a site has been chosen for the proposed plant and that there are no foreseeable problems with the availability of water or with air quality or transportation.

Mason, Bolden Seek Support For Coal Tax

Delegate DeCoursey Bolden and Senator Edward Mason will meet with Garrett and Allegany County Commissioners Friday to seek their support for a coal tax legislation to be introduced during the 1981 session of the General Assembly — one of the 1981 session of the Maryland General Assembly.

The legislation would impose a percentage tax on strip maintenance and repair of roads damaged by coal truck use.

Bolden and Mason will each introduce a form of the legislation, whether or not they receive the support of the two county governments.

Bolden explained one of the major reasons for introducing the bill was to reduce the financial burden of the counties faced with repairing the roads. He and Mason received a report of the amount of damage to road surfaces in Allegany County and the sum of money needed to repair the roads. Bolden stated the amount of money needed was "staggering."

Area coal operators and the Western Maryland Coal Association oppose the bill calling it discriminatory. They also say it would require more bookkeeping on behalf of the coal companies and the counties to audit books.

The coal operators and the coal association would prefer a flat tonnage coal tax and elimination of the personal property tax. A bill to establish this kind of tax had been introduced in the 1980 General Assembly but had failed due to lack of support in the Western Maryland delegation and from the Allegany County Commissioners.

One group in favor of the percentage tax is the Coalition For Surface Mining, a citizens organization.

Senator Mason, who drafted the bill, requested the commissioners meet with the Allegany County Commissioners and the Western Maryland Delegation Friday to further discuss the proposed tax.

Other areas the commissioners believed needed legislation, but received no commitment from the delegation to introduce bills for them, are:

— Increasing the debt financing fee. The commissioners noted revenues from this fee go into a special fund to repay owners of sheep, livestock and poultry that have been killed by stray dogs. Chances date back to November 1978 and amount to approximately $200. The commissioners stated an increase in the fee would facilitate paying off the claims.

Senator Mason requested the commissioners provide him more statistical information on the matter.

Repeat of the law requiring the commissioners pay the Town of Friendsville $500 annually for repair and maintenance of town roads.

Special legislation setting a policy on the rightful authority to set county elected officials' salaries. The commissioners, who had set the salary of the county treasurer this past year, questioned the setting of elected officials' salaries by elected officials.

The delegation pointed out that a bill by Delegate Bolden which passed the 1981 General Assembly established a salary reverse commission composed of county citizens. This commission would recommend salary levels of county elected officials and thereby relieve the commissioners of the responsibility.

— Raising the limitation on items to be advertised for bids. Garrett County has the lowest limitation in the state at $500. The commissioners noted most county's limits were above $1000. Their proposed legislation would set the limitation at $2000 meaning any county purchases not to exceed $2000 would not require bidding and any purchases $2000 or more would require bidding.

County Delegation, Commissioners Discuss Possible Legislation

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners Thursday presented ten proposals for legislation to the Garrett County Delegation but so far only two are sure to be introduced during the 1981 session of the General Assembly — one of the 1981 session of the Maryland General Assembly.

In a working session with Delegate DeCoursey Bolden and Senator Edward Mason Thursday evening, the commissioners requested a bill to revise Article 31, Section 4 of the Maryland Annotated Code which sets the county discount rate on taxes.

The commissioners pointed out Garrett County has the most liberal tax discount structure in the state. They also noted that the July and August discount rates were the same and gave no incentive for taxes to be paid in July.

The proposed bill would change the discount rate structure by lowering the August rate from five percent to four percent, and the September rate from four percent to three percent. The July rate would remain at five percent.

The county coal tax bill, which the Senator and Delegate will introduce simultaneously — one in the Senate, the other in the House — would impose a percentage tax on strip mined coal.

Senator Mason, who drafted the bill, requested the commissioners meet with the Allegany County Commissioners and the Western Maryland Delegation Friday to further discuss the proposed tax.

Other areas the commissioners believed needed legislation, but received no commitment from the delegation to introduce bills for them, are:

— Increasing the debt financing fee. The commissioners noted revenues from this fee go into a special fund to repay owners of sheep, livestock and poultry that have been killed by stray dogs. Chances date back to November 1978 and amount to approximately $200. The commissioners stated an increase in the fee would facilitate paying off the claims.

HOUSE DAMAGED BY FIRE — Oakland firefighters ladder the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Mousch, 146, last Thursday morning in order to ventilate smoke and excessive heat to allow follow-up repairs to the house and extinguish the fire. The fire was contained in the kitchen area, however considerable heat and smoke damage occurred throughout the house. Deer Park firefighters also responded to the scene. See story. Oakland Town Council Hears Sewerage Evaluation Update

Morgan France, Project Manager and branch office manager for Franklin Associates, Mt. Lake Park, presented an update on the Oakland Sewer System Evaluation Survey at a recent meeting of the Oakland Town Council.

The purpose of the SSES is to determine the most cost-effective manner of handling sewer line flows, rehabilitation and replacement, in conjunction with the construction of a sewage treatment facility. The survey will determine where rain water is leaking into the town's sewer lines, citing the heavy flow areas and areas where water will have to be removed. The areas where the most gallons can be removed for the least cost will be ranked first.

Another part of the survey will study the construction costs of sewage treatment plant, ranging from the plant's handling of all extraneous water to just sewage. The survey will determine how much water should be removed from the sewer lines and how much water should be handled by the treatment plant.

As part of the survey, continuous flow meters have been installed in the town's sewer lines, to determine and measure maximum flow areas. These monitors will remain in effect for 30 days.

An interim report will be presented in January, to justify further study. France stated that Franklin Associates has determined that about 75 percent of the town can be eliminated from further study, and those sewer lines do not require rehabilitation.

France said that the interim report will recommend that additional manholes be built to aid in isolating the flow of problem lines, and to determine which regions of sewer line may be justified for replacement or rehabilitation. The report will call for the construction of additional manholes in the area of Third Street.

He added that, at this point in the survey, it appears that the line which runs through Winters' field will have to be replaced, as well as the Ninth Street line, which runs westerly from Cee Dee Tavern to the Little Youghiogheny River.

In studying the sewage treatment plant, Franklin Associates is taking into account the operating costs, chemicals required and electricity, in addition to the construction of a collective sewer. France stated that presently there four points where raw sewage is discharged directly into Little Youghiogheny River.

Because of this pollutant sewerage, the Environmental Protection Agency will fund about 75 percent of the survey and construction costs of the plant, and the State Health Department will fund about 12 and one-half percent. Sources say the estimated cost of constructing the plant will be about one million dollars. If a new system of treatment is to be used for the plant, EPA and the State Health Department will consider funding an even larger portion of the project.

A 15-year sewer moratorium was recently lifted from the town of Oakland, with some stipulations. The reason for the Health Department's decision is the active pursuit of the construction of a treatment plant by the Oakland Town Council.

France said the present sewerage condition in Oakland has strangled its growth in population and business, because of the moratorium.

In other business, the council met again for a special meeting on December 8.

During that meeting, Wendell Keaton proposed that the council seek funds from the HUD 701 Planning Process to obtain planning and research money to supplement the proposed Maryland Industrial and Commercial Redevelopment Fund (MICRIF) Downtown Development Project.

The Downtown Development Commission recently submitted a pre-application to MICRIF to obtain money to conduct an in-depth study of downtown Oakland, and to put together a final grant or loan application for rehabilitation, landscaping, and other areas of development. Keaton stated that the HUD 701 funds could be used to aid in funding the Market Study Project Feasibility Plan.

Keaton added that, at this time, any funds granted by HUD 701 would be in the form of budget amendments or unused money.

In other business, Council agreed to keep the rates at Broadford Recreation area the same as last summer for the summer of 1981.

C&P DONATES — The Garrett County Memorial Hospital was the recipient of a check for $1,000 this week from the C&P Telephone Company. Making the presentation to hospital administrator Kenneth Richmond is Mrs. Nancy Nemith, manager of the Oakland office of C&P. Similar donations have been made by C&P to the hospital over the past several years. Richmond stated that the money would be used to purchase a micro-surgery drill.

Planning Board Begins Work On Capital Improvement Plan

At the request of the county commissioners, the Garrett County Planning Commission Wednesday took preliminary steps in putting together a county capital improvements package for funding by general obligation bond.

The projects to be included in the package are those requested by various county agencies and approved as part of the county capital improvement program recently restated by the county commissioners.

The program had been established in 1974 and was to have been revised annually but had not been.

The commissioners, who are seriously considering making a request to the 1981 General Assembly for authority to undertake a general obligation bond to finance needed county facilities, reinstituted the development of a capital improvements program due to "continual pressure against county revenue sources" that make "it imperative that major county expenditures be carefully evaluated and scheduled in relation to the county's revenue prospects".

Though the commissioners have the ultimate approval of projects to be included in the program and in the package, the Planning Commission is to prepare both a proposed program and a proposed annual package.

Wednesday, the commission looked over a listing of projects requested by county agencies to group those that would qualify for a general obligation bond package.

After reviewing 24 projects, the commission settled on 15 eligible for the package amounting to a sum of $2 million. Tim Dugan, county planning director, emphasized that none of the projects reviewed had actually been approved meaning the $2 million figure was merely an estimate.

Dugan also pointed out that the task of developing the five year capital improvements plan should be undertaken by the planning Commission in the next few months.

In other business, the commission heard criticisms by Tim Dugan of the first part of proposed areas of critical state concern prepared by the Maryland Department of State Planning.

Dugan noted that of the four areas proposed by Garrett County for inclusion in the program, only one was listed - the Finzel Swamp Area. In the description management recommendations for the area, Dugan pointed out the state had removed any references including its involvement in managing the area.

Dugan further stated the document was inadequate and appeared to have been hurriedly done to relieve outside pressures on the department.

He added the state department had changed the structure of the program without notifying the counties and still has not adequately explained the restructuring.

The Commission directed Dugan to write a letter to the department stating his criticisms.

Jack Meyer of Tri-County Council made a presentation to the Commission on the proposed Westmar Coal Liquefaction Plant. He stated TCC was awaiting word from the Department of Energy on whether funding for a feasibility study for the plant would be granted.

Meyer added there was considerable support for the project from area coal companies and utility companies. He indicated if DOE denied the funding request, alternative sources of financing would be sought.

Commissioner Defends Freeway

Commissioner Lester Hunter has written a letter to Donald P. Hutchinson, Baltimore County Executive, criticizing Hutchinson's statements concerning completion of Route 48 through Western Maryland.

In early December, Hutchinson was quoted by the Baltimore Sun to have requested state Department of Transportation funds be used on Baltimore County projects rather than for completion of the final 15-mile stretch of the national freeway which would cut through the Green Ridge state forest in Allegany County.

Commissioner Hunter explained in his letter why the freeway would benefit the entire state of Maryland "including Baltimore County".

"This highway would open up the whole Ohio Valley to the Port of Baltimore," Hunter wrote. "It will also be a great economic benefit to Western Maryland (Garrett and Allegany) to get their products to market."

Hunter also mentioned the need for a four lane highway in the unfinished section due to the increased volume of truck traffic on Route 48.

Opposition to the proposed route for the 15-mile segment has grown in the past few weeks.

The U.S. Department of Interior has called the route unjustified and the most environmentally damaging and expensive of all possible routes through the area.

Although the Department's objections are not expected to change the approval given the state forest route by both the state and federal Departments of Transportation, they appear to have fueled the fire of a growing coalition against the route who plan to fight it in court.

The coalition of local citizens and state environmental leaders base the lawsuit on what the Interior Department calls the clear failure of the route to meet a federal law that says a project can't destroy public lands unless no "feasible and prudent" alternative exists.

The alternative to the route supported by the Interior Department and the coalition is to upgrade and widen the present U. S. 40.

Crime Made Easier . . .

The tragic death of musician, composer and former Beatle John Lennon brought varied reactions from millions of people all over the world. The followers of Lennon and those who enjoyed his music reacted in an emotional way, which, in some cases, seemed a little extreme to those who knew little about the man or cared little for his music. However, his death brings to the surface once more, even in the minds of non-followers of John Lennon, the highly controversial issue of gun control, or at least handgun control.

Lennon's death was just one of thousands which occur in a similar fashion every year in the United States. Crimes involving fatalities most often occur due to the presence of a handgun.

It seems to us that crime is made much easier by the availability of handguns. Unlike rifles, handguns are concealable and easy to carry. A person intending to burglarize a house or rob a place of business would probably not use a rifle, because it is too easily seen and too cumbersome when it comes to carrying off the loot. However, a handgun is made to order for such a crime.

Handguns are actually of little use, other than for illegal activity. They are not accurate enough for hunting and, although some enjoy target shooting with them, here too their accuracy is severely limited.

Handguns are a source of power. It takes only a slightly warped mind to abuse that power. Opponents of gun control say it is unconstitutional. This point is highly debatable. Items such as switch blades, cross bows, cherry bombs and fire crackers are illegal. They are illegal because they are dangerous. Could not the same question of constitutionality be applied here?

Totally illegalizing handguns does not seem to be the best answer to this problem, but severe restructuring of the present, far too lenient gun laws is needed. Stiffer penalties, without parole, for criminals using handguns should also be part of the solution.

Keeping Christmas . . .

by Carol Kapel

Once again, the time has come to observe the season of Christmas — a time to celebrate a shared experience of joy and hope.

An even finer experience than sharing Christmas Day is the joy of keeping Christmas every day of the year.

Keeping Christmas happens in the heart. It means being willing to forget all you've done for others and to remember what others have done for you. It means forgetting what the world owes you and looking about for what you can give to the world. It means closing the book of complaints about the way the world is being run and looking around for a place where you can see a few seeds of happiness.

Keeping Christmas means seeing joy in the eyes and on the faces of small children — and remembering there are also many little faces streaked with tears that an act of your love could dry. It's seeing the loneliness of people grown old and finding time in your world for them.

Most of all, keeping Christmas means hearing the promises given with Bethlehem's child and believing those promises of love are stronger than any hate, evil, or even death. It's knowing that love and the joy of Christmas belongs to you.

If you can keep Christmas for even one day . . . why not every day???

Letters to the Editor

To the Citizens:

There is no justice or due process of the law. Take it from someone who knows I am that person.

I was injured on a job at Safe Way, Inc., and from the company on down to the doctors and lawyers of this county including the S.S. and the welfare did not do anything to help people like me. I am not crazy or in the gray area as some would have people believe. I would just like for once to see that we could get some people in the government and law enforcement agencies to do their job. They put their hand on the bible and take an oath. Doesn't that mean anything? Wake up and be wise.

Thank You

Dear Sir:

So often we are quick to find fault with those in authority in our town. We so often fail to give them credit for the many wonderful things they do.

Today I would like to express my thanks to those in the street department for the excellent service received when I called them about a tree which had fallen over into the road because of high winds. The men were here within an hour after I called and removed the tree, as well as two others that were in danger of falling.

Sincerely,

"NO, MADAM, WE DON'T GET AFTER TEENAGERS TO CLEAN UP THEIR ROOMS."

Dear Sir:

The recent event at the Court House requires a little patient, sober thought on the part of everyone. I do not condone immoral conduct, but human beings are prone to mistakes. The Bible says we "all err and come short of the glory of God," and further, "if a man say he has no sin, he is a liar."

Many people were seemingly "shocked" at what happened and became quite vociferous in expressing their condemnation. I wonder how many of those people who were casting stones are without blemish themselves?

I have little doubt that things just as immoral, and possibly even more reprehensible, have transpired within the confines of our county government. Those recently were unfortunate enough to get caught.

The thing that happened was hardly on the magnitude of a murder, robbery, crippling physical assault, embezzlement or blackmail. Yet I've seen less printed space given to these major crimes in our papers. How juicy a morsel an indiscretion becomes to those who continually want to wave a flag of alarm at the least provocation, while winking slyly at more serious news.

This county is assumed to have a preponderance of Christian people. But where are the Christian people when the stones are flying? Is there no room in Christian hearts for a sense of forgiveness? True Christians guide and correct. They don't judge and condemn.

So, in this season, when we celebrate the birth of One who is all-forgiving, let us strive to forgive others their trespasses that we, in turn, may not be denied by our Father, lest we not share His glory to come. Let us not forget to pray that we, also, may not be led into temptation and may foster peace between and among us.

Sincerely yours,
Wayne Wolfe

As I read Jim Sherbin's pompous piece

I heard the squawks of a chicken,

Echoing squawks I'd heard before

And probably shall again.

By contrast, let's due credit give

The Sheriff for courage to admit A mistake made and so stands up

Not a chicken but a Man.

Each time that I accounting take

I find I've made about 500 mistakes.

But coward me, when year is done,

I will admit to 3, 2, or 1.

And sometimes, none.

To justify myself to self I say,

I never drew a salary for behaving in this way.

Where are there eagles to scream,

Wheeling America's skies,

Lifting us from demeaning acceptance of Barnyard Establishments, coast to coast?

Will editors, reacting like a Mother Hen,

Mistake eagles for vultures when

The time comes round to then?

To the Editor:

I had the privilege of traveling with the Southern Highlander Band on their recent trip to Florida as an invited guest. I also went to help in what ever way I could.

After spending a week with the members of the band, I want the People of Oakland and the surrounding area to know that I feel the members of the band are the greatest teenagers in the world. You would have been proud of them for the way they conducted themselves on the trip, for the way they acted in the hotel, and for the way they competed.

I was glad I was able to see that I was with them, and when so many teenagers and young adults are on drugs and have all sorts of problems, it was gratifying to me to see a group of teenagers who have high morals, who are well-disciplined and well-behaved.

They have worked hard to become the great band they are. I am glad to see that the community is now recognizing the band for what they have done this year. They deserve the community's support.

Chuck Feather

Letter to the Editor:

On December 2, my daughter's small sized sheep dog disappeared. We called the radio station, ran an ad in your paper with no results. However, during our own search and talking with people, we found that this is a fairly common happening. We also found that four dogs (also pedigree) disappeared at the same time in the same area.

We were also told that most people involved, believe that there is a dog-napping ring operating here who sell the dogs to labs for experimentation or worse yet, to buyers for dog fights in Pennsylvania.

These animals are not strays, but family pets. If the people concerned have a conscience, they should realize the anguish they cause the owners, not to mention the suffering caused to the dog.

If anyone cares or can help stop this, please write to P.O. Box 223, McHenry, MD.

Sincerely,
Mary Foley

P.S. One animal was taken from its leash in the owner's back yard.

To the Editor:

We are all but trying to curb inflation. Yet, the State Department of Assessments and Taxation has come up with a most insidious scheme for insuring and promoting inflation, each and every year.

According to the statements which we all recently received, the 1981 increase in assessments will be 26.3%, well over the current rate of inflation. The 1982 increase over that will be 17.6%; the 1983 increase beyond that 15%, and presumably will be 15% or more each succeeding year. By 1990, at 15%, the increase over 1980 will be 39%.

My property taxes in 1980 were $305.55. In 1990, with no tax rate increase, they'll be $2,485.08 or $6.81 per day, exactly the same as my State and Federal income taxes at that time. From my fixed retirement income of $27.25, the same as in 1971 when I was retired, that would leave me $13.63 per day to live on. With 15% annual inflation, that would 15% annual inflation, that would be worth $3.41 in today's purchasing power, hardly enough for one dinner in a restaurant.

And, that $3.41 would have to provide food, clothing, heating, lighting, water, medical and other living—or existing—essentials! The Department should be quite proud of its accomplishments.

Before that time, our National Economy will likely have become so weakened by inflation, that the Russians will have taken over, without ever having to fire a single intercontinental missile, thanks to the Department's stupidity, and to that of the rest of our government for not starting to control inflation in 1980 when it could.

The Shadows Lengthen

By Harry Fox

All over the world, the sun's light is falling on our western hemisphere at the shortest angles of the year. The resulting effect is the season of long nights and short days that comes in December. It is easy to see the profound meaning this natural phenomenon had for the ancient peoples of the world. The Romans celebrated the Saturnalia, the birthday of the unconquerable sun, at this season. This custom, along with other religious traditions of the ancient world, was part of the development of the Christian observance of Jesus' birth.

That frightens some people. It bothers them to see that "our" beliefs have any connection with "pagan" religious customs.

The natural world has a tremendous effect on how we understand ourselves in relation to our creator. The Hebrew poets who formed the collection of Psalms never tired of using the rich images of the natural world to describe the grandeur of the living God.

Of course, Christians and most of the world's great faiths, reject the worship of the physical creation as a god in itself. But those of us who take the time to look at the ancient beliefs of our forebears will discover that the pagan religions have much in common with our own approach to faith in God.

That shouldn't surprise us. The early Christian missionaries who took the faith to the pagan people of western Europe knew that. Far from rejecting their understanding of God, they used this natural recognition of God, as seen in his creation, to interpret the faith of Christ.

The Church fathers who fixed the observance of Jesus' birth on December 25 were not blind to the evils of the ruling social customs. They detested the wild revels associated with the Saturnalia. But they also saw the deeper meaning of the Sun as symbol of light. They recalled the words of Malachi, the messenger, about the "Sun of Righteousness."

Even now, as the shadows lengthen, we sing our hymns of praise to the light of the world: "Thou comest in the darkness night, to make us children of the light . . ."

Settlement Reached In Death Of Child

An out-of-court settlement was reached yesterday in a case filed by Helen Louise Gay, Pleasant Valley, against the Potomac Edison Power Company and the Aspinlud Tree Company.

The suit alleged that the death of Mrs. Gay's son, William Lloyd Gay, Jr., 13, on June 11, 1977 was a result of electrocution when he came in contact with electrical wiring while playing in a spruce tree in his yard.

The amount of the settlement was undisclosed. Robert Enten, Oakland, served as counsel for Mrs. Gay.

WINTER SURVIVAL EMPHASIZED — The county commissioners Tuesday proclaimed December 21-27 as Winter Preparedness Week, authorizing county agencies to distribute winter preparedness information to citizens. In the proclamation, the commissioners recognized the importance of informing the public on steps that should be taken to survive this winter, thereby reducing "the loss of life and property" and decreasing "the effects of winter on our energy resources and our economy". Pictured above are, left to right, Commissioner Ernie Gregg, Civil Defense Director Bradley Frantz, Commissioner Truman Paugh, and Commissioner Lester Hunter.

The hospital reported 84 admissions and 96 discharges last week. A Wednesday morning census showed a patient tally of 71.

State Police Issue Several Traffic Citations

A Baltimore man and several passengers in his vehicle were injured on December 6 when their auto collided with a deer on Rt. 48, on the Cumberland thruway, near Pig's Ear Road.

Jeffrey Mansfield, and the injured passengers, were transported to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, by members of the Northern Rescue Squad.

According to the report, the driver struck the deer, lost control of his vehicle, and overturned.

Ruth Iva Broadwater, 66, Deer Park, was involved in a single-vehicle accident on the Sand Flat Road, two miles from the Pugin Farm Road on December 8.

According to police reports, the Broadwater auto was northbound on the Sand Flat Road when the driver lost control, ran off the left side of the road, and came to rest in a deep culvert.

According to the report, the operator advised that an unknown vehicle caused her to lose control and have the accident.

Roman Lewis Yoder, Jr., 17, Grantsville, was charged by Maryland State Police with driving while intoxicated and illegal entrance to a right-of-way as a result of an accident on the Simon Tice Road, three miles from the Springs Road.

According to the police report, the operator was northbound when his vehicle ran off the left side of the highway on a curve, struck a culvert, and overturned.

SHA Officials Research 560 Restrictions

In regard to the proposed design of the relocation of Maryland Route 560, the State Highway Administration announced last week that it will determine whether federal regulations will permit the existing railroad crossing at Loch Lynn to remain open.

At a recent design public hearing opposition was expressed in regard to the closing of that existing crossing, which is currently included in the project design. The design is for a bridge to be constructed over the railroad tracks, to by-pass the business district of Loch Lynn. The project was initiated after a train collided with a school bus several years ago.

Residents of Loch Lynn indicated that the closing of that crossing would have a severe impact on businesses in Loch Lynn, and possibly the town's tax base. Residents are also concerned that travel time for emergency vehicles will be increased if the crossing is closed, and that the closing would cause inconvenience and hardship for pedestrians.

A proposal was made at the meeting to have the existing crossing remain open to local traffic, with a one-half-ton vehicle limit.

SHA officials stated last week that they will check on the federal requirements and get back to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners within one month.

tatives reported on special projects which are near completion in the county and which are candidate projects for the 1981 Special Projects Program.

Those projects nearing completion include landscaping on U.S. 48 near the West Virginia State Line east of U.S. 219; rest area scenic enhancement on U.S. 219 at Keyser's Ridge; work to increase safety at the B&O Railroad crossing in Loch Lynn Heights; rehabilitation of the U.S. 219 Bridge over the B&O Railroad and Little Youghiogheny River; and rehabilitation of the B&O Railroad Bridge on MD 135.

Candidate Projects for the 1981 Special Projects Program include safety work and resurfacing of MD 42, 3.20 miles north of U.S. 219 to Friendsville; safety work and resurfacing of MD 135, 1.48 miles east of Chestnut Grove Road to Savage River Bridge; modification of bridge roadway joints on four county bridges; signalization at the junction of MD 135 and MD 495; landscaping of U.S. 48 east of U.S. 219 to west of the Lower New Germany Road; safety work and resurfacing on MD 495 from MD 135 to the North Glade Road; and the state's share of funding for bridge rehabilitation of the U.S. 50 Bridge over the Potomac River and Western Maryland Railroad.

County Board

regulation. He noted that although he had found few cases of abuse of the buffer strip around the lake, he had discovered a problem with the number of boats docked around the lake.

He stated there was a threat of boats overcrowding available dock space. He described the various forms of docks installed on the lake and stated the most common were those with spaces for three vessels.

Yoder warned that as existing dock space became less available, people would resort to turning the docks out into the lake which would not only allow the number of boats to increase but would also decrease the available lake recreation space.

With little over half of lake-front land developed, stated Yoder, the lake has almost reached its capacity for boat traffic.

The question Yoder stated and his advisory board must confront in their regulations is "when is enough, enough?" He added that any regulations had to be responsive to lake users, lake developers and county citizens and still comply with federal and state laws.

Yoder noted that once the regulations are drafted public information meetings and, eventually, a public hearing would be held. Final approval for the regulations rests with the Department of Natural Resources, he said.

Another problem the regulations may have to address is the use of metal drums for floating devices. Yoder said the barrels may have to be banned because they are beginning to clutter the lake.

Yoder told the commissioners he believed that he, the advisory board and DNR were responding to these problems in time to prevent a crisis situation at the lake.

The lake, said Yoder, is in good shape biologically but is threatened by acid rain. "The lake has no ability to buffer acids," he stated.

Although the lake does not have a high acid content, Yoder emphasized a management plan to monitor fish was needed.

Future projects Yoder will be instituting for the lake will include completion of the regulations, a surface zoning plan, a feasibility study on the cluster development of docks, and archaeological studies on any site developments.

In other business, the commissioners approved a petition to create an Agricultural Land Preservation District on a 106 acre parcel of land in Pleasant Valley owned by Milton Riley. His is the fourth petition to be approved. The Board forwarded the petition to the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation, Annapolis, for final approval.

John Nelson, county liaison officer for the Program Open Space, and Tom Earley, assistant administrator for Garrett County Memorial Hospital, met with the commissioners to execute the final transaction in acquiring land for the McHenry Community Park. A check for $41,437.50 was presented to Earley to pay for the purchase of the land owned by the hospital. Acquisition of the property, located on Bumble Bee Road approximately one-half mile north of the intersection with Mosser Road, was funded through the State Program Open Space.

Legislation

would require being put out for bid.

— An increase in the marriage license fee to generate more revenue for the county. Revenues from the fee presently help fund the Ruth Enlow Library and the Garrett County Historical Society. The commissioners explained the increase in the fee would not change the amount received by the two organizations but would provide additional revenues for the county general fund.

— Establishment of a hotel-motel tax rate. No tax exists on the county's hotel-motel industry, stated the commissioners. Revenues from the tax would provide additional funds for the county without affecting the majority of county residents.

— An amendment to a pending bill regarding revegetation of forestland. The commissioners noted that Donald MacLaughlan, director of the Department of Natural Resources Forest and Park Service and advocate of the bill, had agreed to amend his bill which would take ten percent of monies derived from state parks and forests for use in revegetation of forestland. The commissioners had opposed the bill earlier because it would affect the 25 percent the county receives from those same monies. Their main objection was that ten percent obtained from parks and forests in Garrett County could easily be used in other counties instead of in Garrett County. MacLaughlan's amendment would insure that each county would benefit proportionately to the amount of money generated in that county.

— Request for enabling legislation for a general obligation bond for various capital projects in the county. The commissioners alerted the delegation that in the next few months they may request a bill for enabling legislation to go to bond with a capital projects package of up to $2 million. They stated the package would be comprised of capital projects proposed by the various county agencies but none of the agencies' proposals had yet been approved for inclusion in a project package.

House Damaged

saw smoke coming from the structure and phoned for help directly from the company vehicle which he was driving.

There was no one home at the time of the fire, which fire personnel believed had been burning for possibly as long as an hour before being discovered. However, because the house was closed up, the fire burned slowly and created intense heat throughout the house.

Among the "individuals" rescued from the fire by firefighters were two dogs, two cats and several gold fish.

The incident investigated by James Martin, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, who determined that the fire originated around the gas stove in the kitchen. William Mousch told fire officials he had been having trouble with a valve on the stove and gas fumes had been evident in the house a few days previous. He said, however, that the stove was used that morning and there were no fumes evident when the family left the house that morning.

Mrs. Charlotte Mousch stated that they had enough insurance on the house and its contents to cover the majority of the loss.

Fire personnel remained on the scene until 10:47 a.m. Also responding to the scene was the county air cascade truck, which is presently being housed at the Gorman Fire Hall, and the equipment truck from the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries.

tendent Dr. Jerome Ryscavage to work with members of his staff to determine alternative ways to handle the situation.

The Board's draft policy on co-curricular activities was also questioned by the PTA representatives.

Representative Joyce Bischoff asked whether the Board actually should impose a policy to monitor such activities.

The Board conceded that advisors of such activities should curtail themselves to insure students would miss as few school days as possible but it believed a policy was necessary to prevent co-curricular activities from "getting too far out of hand."

Nine Local Gridders Named To All-Conference Squad

Over one third of the entire Highland Football Conference All-Star Team for 1980 is composed of Garrett County high school gridders, as seven Southern High Rams and two Northern High Huskies were named to the squad during the HFC All-Star Banquet, held Sunday evening at Southern High School. The Rams also received a trophy for earning the HFC championship and Southern Coach Tom Woods was presented the Coach of the Year trophy. Woods guided his team to its second consecutive appearance in the Class C State Championship contest.

Gary Tranquill, offensive coordinator at West Virginia University, presented the awards and served as the featured speaker. Clifton Van Roby, a Cumberland radio personality, was the emcee. The Coach of the Year award was presented to Woods by Ed Green, vice principal at Southern, while Luther Parrack, principal, presented the HFC Championship trophy to the senior members of the Rams' team.

Jack Settle, head coach at Northern High School and conference president, presented a review of the 1980 campaign. Rev. Curtis Saville offered the invocation and benediction.

Southern team members named to the all-conference squad included: Paul Cornish and Ron Bosley, offensive backs; Kevin Flanagan, interior offensive lineman; Pat Rodeheaver, interior defensive lineman; Jim Lyons and Mike Beard, linebackers; and Wayne Scott, defensive back. William Wilt and Greg Carr, of Northern High, were named as linebacker and defensive back, respectively.

Other members of the team included: Kevin Malick and Cabot Edwards, of Hampshire, Andy Whetzel of Bruce and Randy Clark and Mike Raley of Beall, offensive backs; Carl Schurg of Beall, Craig Poland of Hampshire and Steve Schermesser and Mark McMaster, both of Bruce, offensive interior linemen; Kelly Jaeger of Hampshire and Vic Clark and Greg Bean, both of Valley, defensive interior linemen; Randy Clark and Duane Miller, both of Beall, linebackers; and Sam Hott, Hampshire, defensive back.

Thomas led in interceptions with three, good for 24 yards on returns.

Lakers Ripped By Trojans: Rebound Against Shenango

The Garrett Community College Lakers saw their early season winning streak come to an abrupt halt last Wednesday evening as they were man-handled by the Trojans of Allegany Community College, 102-75, on GCC's floor. The Lakers rebounded, however, on Saturday by thrashing visiting Penn State-Shenango Campus, 93-68, and improved their overall record to 4-1.

Allegany's Dave Hobel paced all scorers with 29 points on ten field goals and nine of 13 at the line, while five teammates also reached double figures. Gary Timberlake netted 16 points, Adam Bostick hit 15, Jeff Churchwell 13, Mike Hanlin 12, and Don Betts chipped in 11.

The Lakers never really challenged the Trojans, who held a commanding 52-33 lead at the half. The win was the tenth in 11 outings for Allegany.

Brian Black led the Lakers' scoring, netting 14 points on seven goals, while H. A. Savage hit 12 points and Bill Bender and Miguel Rojas split 30 points.

GCC was outmanned from the floor by a 41-31 margin and the Trojans converted 20 of 32 attempts from the foul line, compared to 13-for-27 effort by the Lakers.

Miguel Rojas and Brian Black sparked the Lakers on Saturday evening against Penn State-Shenango Campus by connecting with the nets for 21 and 18 points respectively.

Shenango stayed close during the first half, as the two teams went to the locker rooms at intermission separated by only three points, 35-32. Coach Randy Hess's squad returned to the floor fired up, extended that lead early in the third period and were never threatened.

Rojas' points came on nine shots from the floor and three of four at the line, while Black connected on eight goals and two for two at the line. Former Northern High standout Bill Bender also reached double figures for the Lakers, recording 11 points.

Also contributing significantly to the victory were H. A. Savage, who grabbed 14 rebounds, and Shawn Finney, who provided eight assists.

Bill Phillips led the scoring for Shenango, netting 21 points on seven goals and seven of 12 from the line. Don Pugliarini added 15 points and Kevin Morrison supplied 12 for the losers.

Garrett outshot Shenango from the floor by a 36 and 24 margin, and from the line by converting 21 of 30 attempts, compared to a 20-for-30 effort by the visitors.

BENEFITS OF HOME OFFICE

There's an increasing trend today toward operating an office or small business from the owner's home. Not only is there a complete elimination of commuting time and reduction in overhead costs, but there are tax advantages too.

The taxpayer can deduct, as an operating expense, the pro-rated share of such items as electricity, heating, house depreciation, telephone, and the cost of repairs which benefit the property as a whole. The computation is usually based on the amount of space used for the business.

However, before setting yourself up for a letdown, check the zoning regulations for your area. It may or may not preclude using your home for the type of business you have in mind. Better yet, if you are looking for a new home to fit these needs, check with our office and let us do the leg-work for you.

Remember, though, that the 1976 Tax Reform law tightened the requirement in order to take the deduction for the home office. It must be used as a full time office and not a part-time affair.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices:

Extortion Charges To Be Dropped
In Alleged Bauman Relationship

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Prosecutors agreed Tuesday to drop obstruction of justice charges against an Eastern Shore man accused of trying to extort $2,000 from Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., in exchange for his silence about an alleged homosexual relationship between the two.

Regina, 26, of Fishing Creek, still is charged with a threatening communication. He was arrested Oct. 8 by FBI agents who said he mailed a letter to Bauman asking for the money. A grand jury indicted Regina Nov. 5.

Bauman, a noted conservative voice in Congress and former head of the American Conservative Union, pleaded innocent Oct. 2 to a charge of soliciting sex from a teen-age boy in Washington.

He agreed to enter a rehabilitation program in exchange for the charge being dropped against him, and later admitted he was an alcoholic with "homosexual tendencies."

Bauman lost his bid for reelection in the 4th Congressional District to state legislator Roy Dyson of Great Mills.

Regina is scheduled to go on trial Jan. 19 in U.S. District Court.

Legislators Pick
Nominees To Run
For Dyson Seat

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Seven would-be state legislators will parade before two county Democratic committees Wednesday in hopes of being nominated to replace Congressman-elect Roy Dyson in the Maryland General Assembly.

The candidates will be permitted to make a five-minute statement and then will be questioned by members of the St. Mary's and Charles County Democratic Central Committees at a joint meeting in Leonardtown, Scarlett Mower, chairman of the Charles County group, said Tuesday.

The committees, which hope to agree on one name to recommend to Gov. Harry Hughes for appointment once Dyson's seat becomes officially vacant Jan. 5, will then decide whether to vote immediately on a nominee, or postpone the vote until another day.

Ms. Mower said, in any event, "We want to have this all wrapped up by Friday."

The Charles County Democrats have already agreed that the nominee should be from St. Mary's County, where Dyson is from. Six of the seven candidates are St. Mary's County residents.

They include John Knight Parlett, a 43-year-old farmer and former St. Mary's County commissioner, who appears to be the front-runner.

Others expected to challenge Parlett for the nomination include J. Harry Norris III, the 34-year-old town commission president of Leonardtown; and Sally Johnson of Hollywood, Md., a former administrative judge and local liaison officer for Sen. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., for Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's counties.

Also applying for the post are: Harry S. Lancaster Jr., manager of the office of Catholic cemeteries in St. Mary's City; Joseph Densford, a Leonardtown attorney; and Roger J. Myerberg, 29, of California, Md., a lawyer and brother of St. Mary's County State's Attorney Neal Myerberg.

David Chapman, a clerk to a Charles County circuit judge, is the only non-St. Mary's County applicant.

When the first few names were submitted to replace Dyson, the Charles County group took a straw vote in which Parlett was determined the most qualified candidate, although Ms. Mower said Norris and Ms. Johnson are also considered qualified candidates.

James Dent, a two-term Charles County commissioner, originally submitted his name, but withdrew and threw his support behind Parlett.

Parlett, a Charlotte Hall corn and cattle farmer, lost his only previous bid for a General Assembly seat in the 1978 Democratic primary by a 77-vote margin.

Dyson defeated Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., in the November election.

Hopkins Strike Settlement Reached;
Union Members Ratify Contract

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Blue collar workers at Johns Hopkins Hospital overwhelmingly ratified a two-year contract Tuesday to end a sometimes bitter 16-day-old strike.

Workers at another Baltimore hospital, Sinai, were still off the job. Talks were continuing in that dispute.

Union members at Hopkins voted 471-21 to approve a contract calling for an 8 percent wage increase and for Hopkins to contribute 9 percent of gross wages to an employee health and welfare fund.

The union had asked for a 12 percent wage hike and 10 percent for the health fund, which pays for workers' medical expenses. The size of Hopkins' contribution to the fund was the key issue in the strike.

About 1,500 union members will report to work beginning at 7 a.m. Wednesday, said Ronald Hollie, president of Local 1199-E, National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees.

Talks in the 15-day-old Sinai strike, where 300 workers are off the job, resumed after several fruitless hours of negotiations earlier in the week. Contract talks with bargain representatives about 1,400 union members at Provident, Lutheran and Maryland General hospitals, and the Greater Baltimore Medical Center, also continued.

Union negotiators and employees at Hopkins said they were satisfied with the new contract even though the contribution to the health and welfare fund was cut from 10 percent.

"We've still got our union," said John Ploma, a power plant technician at the hospital.

The health fund is also central to the dispute involving Sinai, which is refusing to contribute to the fund.

The Hopkins settlement will help the union in its fight against Sinai, said Bernie Mentor, a negotiator for the union district encompassing Local 1199-E.

Hopkins spokespersons, who angered negotiators by releasing terms of the agreement before the ratification vote, declined comment on the new accord.

However, hospital officials are known to be particularly satisfied with a portion of the contract requiring the union to provide more information on the benefit fund. Negotiators at Hopkins and Sinai repeatedly

Teachers' Union
Disputes Testing
Prince Georges Rep. Recovery
Becomes Controversial Issue

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The president of the Baltimore Teachers Union said Tuesday that the tests to be given applicants for teaching jobs starting next year will not properly measure the skills necessary for the job.

School Superintendent John Crew Sr. said he has not decided between the Wesman Personnel Classification Test and the National Teachers Examination. Besides the exam scores, city school officials also will continue to base hiring on personal interviews and college performance.

But Irene Dandridge, BTU president, said she opposes both examinations because they only test basic reading and writing skills, not competence or knowledge of subject matter.

"This is a nationwide problem. There is no test on the horizon that can test whether someone can teach or not. You can't test creativity, patience or discipline and without those, you have a poor teacher," she said.

The city, which currently only tests for administrative-level positions, joins Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince Georges' counties in requiring instructor applicants to pass a competency examination.

The only requirement for state certification is graduation from an accredited teacher training program from a four-year university or college.

A plan last year to require prospective instructors to take the National Teachers Examination was postponed because the city was negotiating a new contract with the union.

CHEVERLY, Md. (UPI) — A Prince Georges General Hospital official denied Tuesday that a controversy has developed between the hospital and the husband of Rep. Gladys Spellman, D-Md., over reports of her condition.

Using his wife's campaign stationery, Reuben Spellman said in a letter to 3,000 residents of the 5th Congressional District he expects his wife to recover from her Oct. 31 heart attack.

He added that her staff is maintaining "the high caliber of constituent work which Gladys has always insisted upon."

A spokeswoman for the hospital agreed Mrs. Spellman had improved, even though the hospital's daily statements have not indicated any change in her condition, listed as serious but stable.

"There have been slight improvements. She has been taken off the respirator. But we do not go into the slight improvements in our daily statements," spokeswoman Jane Olson said. "Nothing that Mr. Spellman said will be denied or seen as inaccurate."

She also denied published reports indicating there was a disagreement between the hospital and Mrs. Spellman's staff.

Mrs. Spellman suffered the attack while judging a Halloween contest at a Laurel shopping center. She was overwhelmingly re-elected over Republican Kevin Igoe, a political newcomer, five days later.

There has been speculation that a special election would be held to replace Mrs. Spellman. But he said the House of Representatives leadership has told him it is not planning to demand her resignation if she is unable to be sworn in Jan. 5.

When asked if he would run for his wife's House seat if she is unable to resume her duties, Spellman said, "I really don't know at this time."

The chairman of the Maryland Republican Party has called for a special election, if Mrs. Spellman is unable to be sworn in next month.

TORCH PARADE

Caroling and Midnight Mass are longtime traditions in the mountains of Western Austria. Beginning with the family living farthest from the village church, torch-bearing carolers begin a procession. At each house along the way, greetings of "Froehliche Weihnachten" are exchanged and the inhabitants join the march to the next home. Eventually, the whole population is part of the parade as it arrives at the church steps in time for Midnight Mass.

Scriptures attributed to The American Bible Society

Even a frown can worry Mother. And when he has a fever — she always fears the worst!

Did you know, Mother, that more children fall victim to spiritual neglect than any of the crippling diseases we dread? It has wrecked the fond hopes and bold dreams of hundreds of thousands of parents.

Yet it isn't a disease, at all!

It is a HESITATION, hesitating to start our child in Church School, hesitating to go with him and worship God, hesitating to discuss at home the need for moral and religious foundation for the whole family.

Face it today! Do something about it next week! Choose YOUR place of worship. And make attendance a regular habit. And through a lifetime of worship and faith it can be for your child . . . HIS place of worship.

A NAME FOR THE CHILD
December 21, 1980

Background Scripture:
Matthew 1:18 through 2:23
Devotional Reading:
Isaiah 9:2

Eight hundred years before the birth of Jesus of Nazareth occurred an event in Judah that the writer of Matthew would later view as a revelation of Jesus the Messiah. Ahaz was on the throne of Judah and Isaiah was God's prophet.

The tiny kingdom was once again in danger of annihilation by its enemies Syria and Ephraim (Israel), and Ahaz and his people were struck with terror: "... his heart and the heart of his people shook as the trees of the forest shake before the wind" (Isaiah 7:2).

Ask A Sign Of The Lord
So God sent Isaiah to Ahaz to reassure him and his people that they would be saved. But apparently King Ahaz was not comforted by the prophet's words, so Isaiah says to him: "Ask a sign of the Lord your God; let it be as deep as Sheol or as high as heaven" (Isaiah 7:10). But Ahaz, whose faith had withered, refused to do so.

Thus, Isaiah proclaimed, since Ahaz would not designate a sign, God himself would give one to him: "Behold, a young woman shall conceive and bear a son, and you shall call his name Immanuel" (7:14). Before the child should reach maturity, the Lord would defeat Judah's enemies, and, because Ahaz's lack of faith, an even greater ordeal would befall him and his nation. Those who believed in God's sign would be saved, while those who doubted would suffer greatly.

We don't know who was the "young woman" who conceived and bore a son. Some believe it was one of Ahaz's wives, while others think it may have been the wife of the prophet. At any rate, it was a young woman known to both the prophet and the king and the conception and birth of a child would be under circumstances that would make the event discernible as a sign to those with faith.

"God With Us"

Even more significant, however, would be the child's name: Immanuel, meaning "God is with us." This was the message God was bringing his people through Isaiah: God is with you! Therefore, do not be afraid. Trust in God! The child would symbolize God's assurance that he would save his people if they trusted in him.

Eight centuries later the people of the newly-born church saw the birth of Jesus as the ultimate fulfillment of this event. As the birth of that unknown 8th century BC child was a sign and challenge to Judah, so the birth of Jesus was a sign and challenge to the whole world that God was fulfilling his promises of old.

To the people of Judah the name Immanuel was a reminder that God would be with them in their national struggle. To Christians, however, the name Immanuel is even more meaningful, for in this child, Jesus, God was and continues to be present to all who in faith receive him.

Thus, Isaiah proclaimed, since Ahaz would not designate a sign, God himself would give one to him: "Behold, a young woman shall conceive and bear a son, and you shall call his name Immanuel" (7:14).

Loan Levels Set For '80 Reserve Grains Higher

Producers placing 1980 crop grains in the farmer-held reserve will become eligible for higher loan levels and will have the interest on those loans waived as a result of the recently enacted Agricultural Act of 1980.

Maryland corn producers placing this year's crop into the reserve will receive a 15 cent premium, making the loan level $2.59 per bushel instead of the $2.44 per bushel rate for non-reserve loans, according to Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

Wheat placed in the reserve will receive a $3.30 per bushel loan, compared to the $3.00 loan level for wheat not in the reserve program and barley producers placing 1980 crop in the reserve will receive a 12 cent premium above the $1.83 loan level for non-reserve barley.

"Producers with 1980 crop corn, wheat, and barley already in the reserve may request the higher price supports at their local ASCS office," said Crowl. Reserve release and call levels are not affected by the higher loan levels.

Crowl reminded farmers that the 11 1/2 percent interest rate will be waived on loans for all grain entered into the grain reserve.

The Act also provides for a 7 cent reserve premium to the current oat loan level of $1.16 per bushel and a 14 cent premium to the $2.14 per bushel loan for non-reserve sorghum. However, oats, and sorghum have already been called from the reserve. Corn, wheat, and barley have been released from the reserve but will not be called until the five-day moving average price has been above the call level for five consecutive days.

Crowl said the new higher loan levels for reserve commodities will help to strengthen the reserve program.

Ginseng Hunters Must Now Obtain Gathering Permit

The Maryland Department of Agriculture's Plant Protection Section has announced that the Office of Scientific Authority of the United States Department of Interior has approved the export of ginseng legally dug in Maryland during the 1980 season.

Dr. Charles W. Puffinberger of the Maryland Department of Agriculture emphasized that new federal regulations require all ginseng sold for export must be accompanied by a State Ginseng Export Certificate. The MDA has developed a ginseng conservation program that establishes a digging season and requires collectors to obtain a collection permit.

According to Dr. Puffinberger, 93 persons have purchased Ginseng Collection Permits for the 1980 season.

For many decades a few skillful people in Western Maryland have earned some extra money by harvesting wild ginseng. Puffinberger said. Ginseng is prized as an herb because of its reported health powers, particularly in Asia where it is generally believed that wild American ginseng is superior to other varieties.

Persons who plan on gathering and selling wild ginseng this season who have not yet secured their permit should contact: Plant Protection Section, Maryland 20742. For those who wish to telephone, the number is 301/454-3844.

SAFE TOYS

Look for safety and quality when buying toys for Christmas. These two factors are far more important than price.

Toys should be flameproof, sturdy, and free of sharp edges. Durable, bright, creative toys are not necessarily expensive and will make for a Merry Christmas.

Like the Wise Men, let us follow The Star to discover the true joy of this cherished holiday. MAY PEACE BE YOURS!

Onion Soup Takes Oriental Flavor

Soup plays an important role in oriental menus. In Japan, a bowl of soup is a frequent part of breakfast. And in China, soup is served during dinner as a thirst-quencher and as a way of preparing vegetables.

A tasty example of one of these soups is Oriental Onion Soup made with mild Idaho-Oregon Sweet Spanish onions. Known for their enormous size and gentle flavor, you'll find them ideal for eating raw as well as cooked. Look for these "gentle giants" with their parchment bronze skin in the produce counters from September through March.

Introduce Oriental Onion Soup by serving it with a menu featuring stir-fried beef and broccoli and steamed rice. Or for lunch, team it with meat-filled turnovers or a favorite sandwich.

Oriental Onion Soup

- 2 large Idaho-Oregon Sweet Spanish onions
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 4 cups chicken broth or 3 cans (10-1/2 oz.) each
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- Salt, to taste
- 2 eggs, beaten slightly
- Fresh mushroom slices, for garnish

Peel and thinly slice onions to equal 4 cups. Lightly saute in butter or margarine until onions are just tender. Add chicken broth, soy sauce and salt. Heat to boiling. Pour eggs into boiling soup in a thin stream, stirring to form shreds. Serve, garnished with slices of mushrooms. Serves 4 to 6.

Henry VIII Staged Great Holiday Feast

The greatest Christmas feast of all time may have been sponsored by King Henry VIII in Westminster Hall in 1548. He had tents erected and artificial gardens plotted within the spacious walls of his palace.

Knights came out of the tents to join in tournaments and fantastically dressed dancers emerged from the gardens to entertain guests.

Cost of gold cloth used in the celebration amounted to 600 pounds alone.

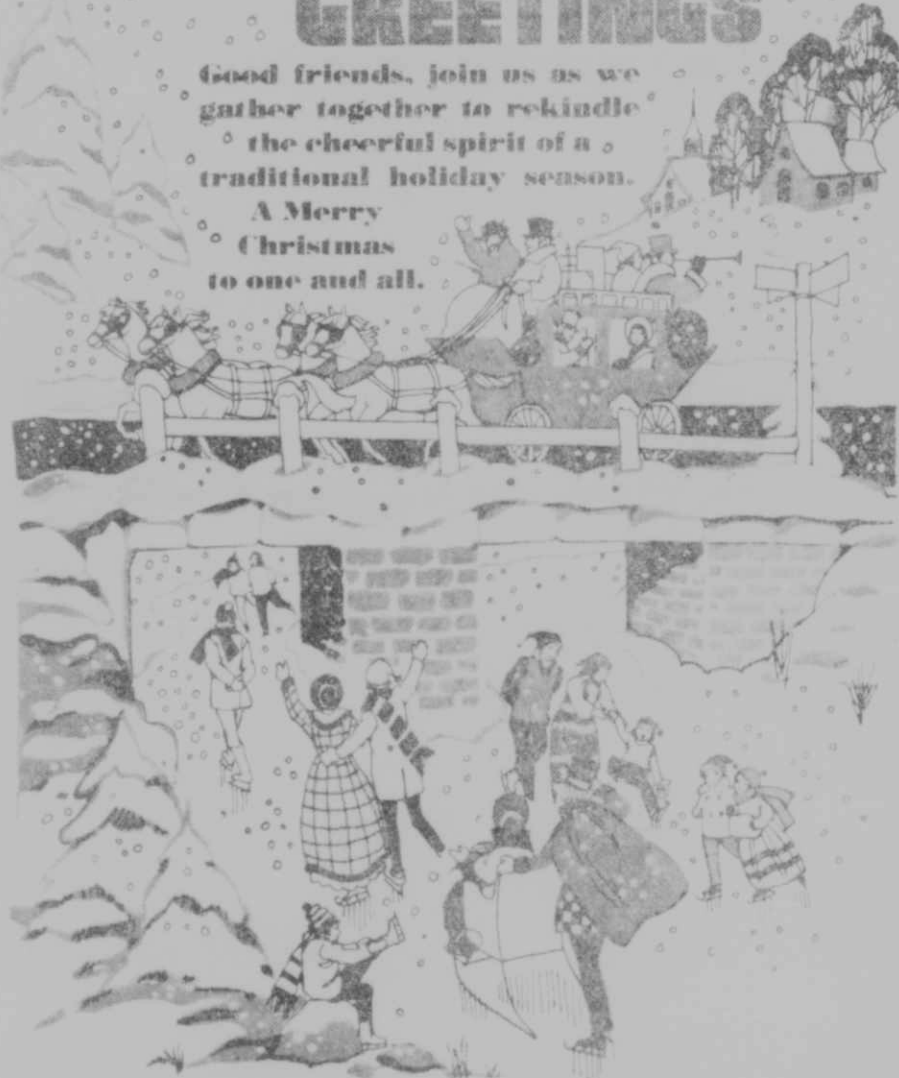

Culinary preparations for the feast can be only estimated, considering that Richard II normally employed 2,000 cooks to prepare food for the 10,000 persons who shared his festive board.

Holiday Turkey--The Delicious Time-Saver

This holiday season serve your family the traditional holiday favorite... turkey. Spiced up with fresh tasting Apple Cinnamon Dressing, you have a delicious combination that saves both time and money.

Americans are traditionally wise food shoppers, and the popularity of turkey proves it. First, turkey is an excellent budget stretcher. There are no better meat buys in the market today. Second, it's nutritious. Turkey has less fat and yet more protein than most other cooked meats. Third, and an important consideration during the busy holiday season, turkey is a time-saver.

In planning your holiday feast, keep in mind the fact that whole turkeys range in size from six to more than 30 pounds, are available fresh or frozen and may be prebasted. If you allow one pound of turkey per person, you will have plenty for the dinner and some for your favorite left-over recipes.

If turkey is frozen, leave in original bag and thaw in refrigerator for 3 to 4 days (24 hours for each 5 pounds of turkey) or cover with cold water, changing water frequently (1/2 hour per pound of turkey). Refrigerate or cook turkey as soon as thawed.

For your 6-minute turkey, simply follow these easy steps.

Remove plastic wrap from thawed turkey, remove giblets and neck from body cavities, rinse turkey inside and out, pat dry with paper towel, return legs to hook lock or band of skin, and skewer neck skin to back.

Place turkey breast side up on rack in foil-lined pan. Place a tent of aluminum foil loosely over turkey to prevent over-browning. Place in oven and roast according to chart. Foil tent may be removed last half hour for a final browning.

Approximate Roasting Time In 325 F. Oven*

| Weight | Unstuffed | Stuffed |
|---------------|--------------------|--------------------|
| 8 to 12 lbs. | 3 to 4 hrs | 4 to 5 hrs |
| 12 to 16 lbs. | 3-1/2 to 5 hrs | 4-1/2 to 6 hrs |
| 16 to 20 lbs. | 4-1/2 to 6 hrs | 5-1/2 to 7 hrs |
| 20 to 24 lbs. | 5-1/2 to 6-1/2 hrs | 6-1/2 to 7-1/2 hrs |

*Factors affecting roasting times are variations in ovens, shape of turkey and degree of thawing. These variations make it important to begin checking for doneness about one hour before the end of the recommended roasting time.

Try the updated apple-cinnamon version of the traditional tasty stuffing cooked in a casserole dish for only 30 minutes.

Spice up your time-saving holiday turkey with tasty Apple-Cinnamon Dressing.

Apple Cinnamon Dressing

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|---|
| 1 cup chicken broth | 2 medium apples, pared, cored, and finely chopped |
| 1/2 cup chopped celery | 1/2 cup chopped pecans or walnuts |
| 1/2 cup chopped onion | 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning |
| 4 tablespoons butter or margarine | 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 1/8 teaspoon pepper |
| 4 cups dry, whole wheat bread cubes | |

Combine in a saucepan broth, celery, onion, butter and salt. Cover and bring to a boil, simmer until vegetables are tender, about 5 minutes. In a large bowl combine bread cubes, apples, nuts and seasonings. Pour broth mixture on top and toss to moisten. Turn into a greased 1-1/2 quart casserole and bake, covered at 350°F. for 25-30 minutes. Makes about 6 cups stuffing.

Duckling Creates Holiday Spirit

Happy holiday time can happen any time of the year! Roast duckling with fruit rice stuffing is easy to prepare and elegant to serve for two couples.

Golden peach halves or slices accompany the duckling, which is prepared whole and then can be halved or quartered for serving. A highly nutritious food.

duckling is low in saturated fatty acids and is a source of complete protein. It is high in linoleic acid, which is an unsaturated fatty acid that helps in normal growth. Duckling supplies one-third to one-half of the U.S. recommended daily allowance of niacin, and it also supplies some iron.

For your convenience, the National Duckling Council suggests that you always keep a brace of frozen duckling in your freezer.

Roast Duckling With Fruited Rice Stuffing
1 frozen duckling, defrosted
1/2 teaspoon salt

Fruited Rice Stuffing (recipe follows)

Wash, drain and dry skin with paper toweling. Sprinkle body and neck cavities with salt. Fill neck and body cavities loosely with stuffing. Slit lower neck skin to back. Cover opening of body cavity with aluminum foil and tie legs together loosely. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake in slow oven (350°F) 40 minutes per pound until drumstick meat is tender. Brush duckling with pan drippings several times during last 30 minutes of roasting. Cool 8 to 10 minutes before carving. Arrange on serving platter and garnish as desired. Makes 4 servings.

Fruited Rice Stuffing

- | | |
|---------------------------------|---|
| 1 can (30 ounce) fruit cocktail | 1/2 cup finely chopped onion |
| 1/2 cup butter | 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, optional |
| 3/4 cup finely chopped celery | 6 cups hot cooked seasoned rice |

Drain fruit cocktail. Melt butter in skillet. Add celery, onion and parsley. Cook over low heat until vegetables are transparent, stirring frequently. Add to rice; mix and fold in fruit. Stuff body and neck cavities of duckling with mixture.

Extra dressing may be spooned into a small baking dish and heated with the duckling the last 30 minutes of cooking. Makes enough stuffing for 2 ducklings.

Advent Represents Four Prophecies

The four weeks of Advent preceding Christmas represent the four great prophecies concerning the coming of the Saviour in the Old Testament.

The first promise of the Redeemer was made in paradise after the fall of our first parents; the woman and her Son would crush the head of the serpent.

The second promise is found in the story of Abraham. This patriarch was chosen as the father of a new nation, and in his seed all the nations of the earth would be blessed. Out of the nation of Abraham the family of David was selected, and out of this family the Saviour of the world would be born, fulfilling the third promise.

Lastly, out of David's family a person was to spring forth, the Virgin Mother of Christ. "A virgin shall bring forth a Son and His name shall be called Emmanuel, God with us."

Attorney General Cautions Shoppers About Warranties

The Consumer Protection Division of the Maryland Attorney General's Office this week urged holiday shoppers to check the terms on product warranties, keep receipts of purchases and inquire about refund and return policies when buying gifts this season.

Caution also should be a key word when buying toys, according to the Division. Label-reading is as important when buying gifts for youngsters as it is when purchasing gifts for adults.

Shopping for warranties ought to be an integral part of shopping for gifts, advised H. Robert Erwin, Jr., Chief of the Consumer Protection Division. Consumers have the right to compare warranties on products costing more than $15.00, and careful scrutiny of warranty terms could help shoppers avoid giving gifts that may require costly repairs.

Consumers should note whether a warranty is a full or limited one. A full warranty assures that a product will be repaired free-of-charge within a reasonable period of time or replaced if it cannot be fixed after a reasonable number of attempts. A limited warranty may require the consumer to pay labor or other charges, pay for the period the product was owned before the defect was discovered or personally return the product to the store or repair facility, which could be a cumbersome ordeal.

It is important to find out when the warranty period starts, if there are different warranty periods for different parts of the product and whether any of the parts are not covered by the warranty, Erwin added.

Maryland has a Consumer Products Guaranty Act which extends the warranty for the length of time an item is being repaired during the warranty period.

Often it is necessary to prove ownership in order to qualify for warranted repairs, and a receipt is the easiest way to establish proof of purchase. In addition, a store's refund or return policies may be printed on the receipt, but if they are not, be sure to ask the salesperson to write them on the back of the receipt for your records, Erwin advised. It can be difficult to prove refund or return promises unless they are in writing, particularly if the salesperson who made them is only a temporary employee

Whole family shares in visit to tree farms, choices abound of fir, pine, spruce

One of the long remembered joys of the holiday is that of cutting down one's own Christmas tree. Today, trees can be found for sale on almost every urban street corner and village square, but nothing equals the fun and adventure of visiting a tree farm, picking "your" tree and bringing it home! It's wise to think ahead if you're planning such a trip, and we offer the following advice to make yours easier!

- Call ahead for weather conditions, directions, business hours and prices for the farm you plan to visit.
- Dress appropriately and, if the weather has been wet or snowy, wear boots.
- Some tree farms will cut down the tree you pick. Others provide saws for cutting your tree down. Most farms prohibit the use of axes, as too dangerous.

- Take a tape measure along so you don't come home with a tree that's too tall for your ceiling height.
- Take plenty of rope to fix the tree securely onto the car.

Experts advise you to put the stump of the tree into warm water as soon as you get it home, then to keep it out-of-doors 'till you're hired for the holidays. Receipts also are extremely helpful if you, or the person to whom you gave a gift, wants to return or exchange the item, he added. It is important to understand the return and refund policies before you make a purchase. Sometimes they are posted in a store, but if you don't see them, be sure to ask what they are, Erwin said.

Douglas Fir—Soft, spiraling needles give this decorative tree its elegant look.

Scotch Pine—Clusters of soft needles and full branches give this lovely tree a soft look.

Sometimes there is the temptation to give a child a toy which actually is too advanced or complicated for the youngster to use. Don't buy something for a child to "grow into," Erwin said. Inevitably, the child becomes frustrated—and could end up being injured. Read the labels on toys. These should tell you the age range for which the toy was designed. It's also wise for adults to read the instructions on a toy before buying it, since often they are the ones who will have to know how to put it together and explain it to the youngster, Erwin noted.

When buying toys for children under three, check for any small, loose parts, or parts which can be broken off easily and swallowed, and toys which shoot any type of object should be checked with particular care.

Events Above The Mountaintop

December 17-23 1980

Paul S. Frank, Jr.

Winter

Winter will begin at 11:56 a. m. Sunday. This is the time that the Sun will be as far south as it will go this year. It will be directly overhead, for those who live on the Tropic of Capricorn, at noon Sunday. Sunday will have the fewest hours of daylight of any day this year.

Moon

At 1:08 p. m. Sunday, the Moon will pass through its Full Moon phase. During this time the Moon will be opposite the Sun as viewed from the Earth. Moonrise will be at 2:14 this afternoon. Next Tuesday, the Moon will rise at 7:15 p. m.

Visible Planets

Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn will be visible during the coming week. Venus will rise about 2½ hours before the Sun. This planet will be moving into Scorpius. Mars will set against the background stars of Sagittarius, about 2 hours after sunset. Jupiter and Saturn, among the stars of Virgo, will rise about midnight.

Ursid Meteors

At 2:00 Monday morning, the maximum of the Ursid meteor shower will occur. One may see as many as 15 meteors in an hour. This is twice as many meteors as can be seen normally. The best time to observe meteors is early in the morning, just prior to sunrise.

Daylight

This week daylight will decrease by one minute at the end of the week, Tuesday. Sunrise was at 7:32 this morning. This evening the Sun will set at 4:55. Tuesday, the Sun will rise at 7:36 a. m. and it will set at 4:58 p. m. There will be 9 hours 22 minutes of daylight. Today is the 352nd day of the year. The Sun will follow the same path today as it will follow on December 25th.

ready to put it up. There are about 40 different kinds of Christmas trees from which to choose—the favorites are shown here.

Blue Spruce—Noted for its unusual silvery blue color, this is one of the most beautiful trees of all. Usually more difficult to find than others, it has a symmetrical shape and dense needles.

Red Pine—Spreading branches with turned up ends make this tree easy to trim. Its clusters of long shiny needles give off a delightful aroma.

Balsam Fir—This popular tree has short, flat needles that stay fresh a long time, and a welcoming, pungent, holiday fragrance.

B.C. — Okay! What About A.D.?

Most everyone knows the notation "B.C." following dates means "before Christ." But, quickly now, what about "A.D."? This notation means "in the year of our Lord" and was affixed by Charles III of Germany who began attaching his symbolism to the years of his reign in 879.

The system of retroactively dating years prior to the Saviour's birth and dedicating succeeding years to His Greater Glory was invented, along with the Christian era, by a monk about 532 A.D.

The Christian era begins on January 1 in the middle of the fourth year of the 194th Olympiad, the 753rd year of the building of Rome and in 4714 of the Julian Period.

The Julian Period, invented by Joseph Scaliger about 1583 A.D., was devised by multiplying the lunar cycle 19, solar cycle 28 and the Roman indication 15.

Centuries before, about 4,000 B.C., the Egyptians devised a calendar based on the Mundane era of Alexander, estimating the "beginning" to be about 5502 B.C.

PROPER TOYS

Buying a toy for a child should not be a casual thing. The fact you wanted a certain toy when you were a child is no indication your child would like to have one for Christmas. He might prefer to play with the box and the wrappings. Toss children don't favor represent wasted money. If they are too "old" for the child, or so complicated only an adult can manipulate them, the child will have no interest.

May the enduring bounty of this joyful season bring you happiness and fulfillment.

Gasoline Use Up During October

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced recently that gasoline consumption during October 1980 increased by 2 percent over the amount used in the same month of 1979, marking the second consecutive month that gasoline use has posted an increase.

Consumption increased in September 1980 for only the second time since January 1979.

"These increases are very unusual. In fact, the 165,861,816 gallons of gasoline consumed during October 1980 is the largest amount consumed during a single month since August 1979 when 169,208,149 gallons were used," Goldstein said. "The increased availability of gasoline, combined with lower prices apparently have been factors in the increased use of gasoline."

Goldstein noted that, according to the latest available national price surveys, the retail price of gasoline in the Baltimore area continues to be below the national average and below other east coast cities surveyed. The information appeared in the November 1980 Platt's-Lundberg Report.

The average self-service prices for regular gasoline were reported to be $1.1392 for leaded and $1.1934 for unleaded. The national average was $1.1575 for leaded and $1.2181 for unleaded regular. Full service prices were also lower than the U. S. average.

"This is an abrupt change to the normal seasonal patterns of gasoline consumption," Goldstein said. "Normally, August is the month during which the greatest amount of gasoline is consumed. The months of October and November generally reflect a falloff between peak summer driving and the increased holiday traveling associated with the December holidays."

The increased gasoline use fueled an increase in motor fuel tax revenue. For the first five

County JSA Works To Make "Taxpayers Out Of Tax Eaters"

by Kathy Bailey

The Juvenile Service Administration of Garrett County has managed a program for more than a year, designed to employ unemployable juveniles in the county to work for non-profit organizations. The youth employment training program is CETA-funded, and each participant may work up to 2000 hours, approximately 50 weeks, 40 hours each week.

Wayne Wilt, Juvenile Probation Officer, stated that the program was originally conceived in August, 1979, when JSA was faced with a large number of juveniles who could not find work. "We give them a job to reduce delinquency, and offer a program which teaches good work attitudes and varied job skills," Wilt explained. "We are attempting to make taxpayers out of tax eaters."

Kathy Fauber, Juvenile Counselor, is in charge of the program from the JSA office. There are presently 15 people enrolled in the program which has had as many as 26 clients employed during one month. It served a total of 46 clients during the first year. Ms. Fauber stated that the program carries a lengthy waiting list of potential participants.

The program accepts CETA-eligible enrollees between the ages of 16 and 21, from a variety of backgrounds, most in need of supervision. All are not working, some are not attending school, some are on probation or released from correctional institutions, and others have no delinquency problems but simply cannot find a job. A few of the participants are involved in the program as a preventive measure. These are juveniles who are inclined to commit delinquent acts but have not been to court. Ms. Fauber estimated, however, that 90 to 95 percent of the program's enrollees have been through the court system.

Enrollees come to the program through various avenues, such as referrals from Wilt, the Garrett County Health Department and the Western Maryland Consortium, and some are walk-ins seeking employment.

Enrollees without a high school diploma are required to take classes at Garrett Community College to receive their GED's (high school equivalency diplomas). Other courses are offered to the participants as part of the program, such as welding, property improvement technology, mining and many others. Many have received certificates through the program, and seven present enrollees will receive their GED's this month.

Both the Youth Service Program and the Youth Community Intervention Program, the two sections of this program, follow CETA and Department of Labor guidelines. When hired, participants are presented with a list of rules and regulations to follow. They are not paid for holidays, and they receive no vacation time or fringe benefits. Wilt explained that the program is "strictly a job training program."

Each participant is trained on an individual basis in regard to behavior and attitude changes, interviewing techniques, what employers look for in a worker, and how to successfully hold down a job. Perhaps the most valuable aspect of the program in the conversion from delinquency to responsibility, which takes place in many of the participants — the majority terminate from the program with positive recommendations. Wilt said that nearly all of the participants have a steady job at the end of the program, or prior to its completion, and he added that there is a "very low percentage" of recidivism in the program. When a client is prepared, JSA will help him find employment, Wilt added.

The participants are exposed to many different job situations, and are kept working 40 hours each week. Non-profit organizations request the services of the work force to perform a variety of tasks, at the same time providing the participants with on-the-job training. This offers a first-hand choice to the participants in regard to future employment or careers.

There were 14 separate worksites up until September of this year. The group cleared several miles of brush, fallen trees and other debris from cross country ski trails at Herrington Manor State Park. Participants in the program also cleared a new trail, and surveyed and prepared a 200-foot walkway for the handicapped at that park. Other work at that site included odd jobs in preparation for the park's closing, such as clearing trash and debris left from the summer months.

At Swallow Falls State Park the group prepared the main bathhouse for handicap renovations and painting. Participants constructed several small block buildings there, and gained experience in cement mixing, block laying and construction.

The Western Maryland Consortium utilized the youth program resources, as enrollees winterized the back porch of the WMC building on Alder Street.

Program participants assisted in transferring playground equipment from one area to another, for the Oakland Headstart program. The enrollees cemented the equipment in the ground, cleaned and painted it.

Another painting project for the participants was for the Kitzmiller Lions Club, when they painted the booth and tables for the club, prior to the opening of the Garrett County Fair.

The group has worked at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, where enrollees cleared brush and cut down selected trees for future construction sites.

The Garrett County Commissioners made use of the program's services, by having participants clear brush and pick up litter along Old Route 219 and Mayhew Inn Road.

The enrollees were involved in the removal of brush and trees from the west end of the runway at the Garrett County Airport. This is a continuing project.

The Garrett County Board of Education, also a continuing project, has utilized the workers in clearing a sod field for the Southern High School Football field, in addition to raking and reseeding on the athletic field.

Many of the participants work with the Garrett County Roads Department, Solid Waste division, in assisting with clean-up of dumpster sites throughout the county. The group also assists Roads Department mechanics in repairing equipment and vehicles.

Participants of the program were responsible for moving State and County offices into the new building of the Garrett County Courthouse, as well as moving county and state documents from one vault to another.

The enrollees helped to renovate the rooms in the old Courthouse, by stripping old paint from the woodwork and preparing it for refinishing back to the original wood grain. They were also involved in replastering and painting the walls in several of the old office spaces. Circuit Court Judge Fred Thayer asked the enrollees to assist him in moving several hundred law books from the law library in the old section of the Courthouse to the new law library.

The Garrett County Courthouse is also a continuing project, as the group will perform additional renovations to the old section.

Some of the enrollees work at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, in general clean-up of the grounds and floor, and repair of motor and small equipment. They also perform minor maintenance duties there, such as plumbing, snow removal, applying and spreading ice melt on the parking lot, trimming of shrubs and trees, mowing the lawn, painting, scraping, replastering and sanding.

The enrollees painted the inside of the National Guard Armory, and they take care of general cleaning and polishing of the building's floors and walls. Other duties at that site include mowing the grass, stocking shelves, minor mechanic repairs and general office duties. Several of the enrollees have joined the National Guard, after being exposed to that site.

The youth program enrollees assisted in the building of the new town bakery at the Appalachian Adult Activities Center, and will continue to work there until the construction is completed.

This program has given jobs to juveniles who might not otherwise have a chance at employment in the community. In addition, the income from their employment enabled 17 juvenile enrollees to pay restitution, fines and court costs ordered by the court.

Twelve juveniles have paid in full a total of $3,820.42 in restitution, fines or court costs. As of September, five juveniles had an outstanding balance of $698 total. According to Ms. Fauber, these young men have been consistent in paying a monthly sum towards restitution, and one juvenile paid a total of $1800 in restitution through his work at the program.

Counselors with the program visit the enrollees at their worksites, and Ms. Fauber receives feedback from work-site foremen. The program has

Wrapping Round Gift Need Not Frustrate

There's no reason to lose your "cool" trying to wrap a round package for Christmas giving.

Place the package on paper and cut so there is an inch overlap on each side. Fix neatly with tape. Leave enough paper at both ends to fold over and meet in the center of the cylinder. Pleat these ends neatly toward the center, making firm creases. Cut two circles of paper to fit the ends and paste over the pleats.

Round packages may also be wrapped in several layers of tissue paper with overlap fixed with tape, and two or three inches of paper at each end. The end wraps firmly with ribbon or yarn. Cut rose-like ends that result in thin strips to resemble a party "snapper." Decorate each end with a bow.

Your star quality puts you in the spotlight at Christmas and all through the year. May your holiday be a bright album of happy days.

ATTEND SEMINAR — Two Western Maryland residents find a moment to talk about health care issues during a December 2 meeting in Baltimore. Kenneth Richmond, left, president of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and John Bambacus, trustee of Frostburg Community Hospital and faculty member at Frostburg State College, were among 40 legislators and hospital leaders who came together under the auspices of the Maryland Hospital Association to preview the major health-related topics that will come before the Maryland General Assembly in January. The seminar is an annual event. Dominating the discussion at the 1980 event was the expected $50 million deficit in the state's Medicaid budget.

Maryland Revenue Estimates For Fiscal Year '81, '82 Released

The Maryland Board of Revenue Estimates, consisting of State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein (chairman), State Treasurer William S. James and State Budget Secretary Thomas W. Schmidt met Friday with Governor Hughes and provided him with its most current economic analysis and revenue projections for the remainder of the current fiscal year (1981) and for Fiscal Year 1982. The revised General Fund revenue projections call for a growth in Fiscal Year 1981 revenues of 1.8% over the Fiscal Year 1980.

The Board noted that Maryland's revenue growth has been severely affected by national economic conditions, including high interest rates, inflation and unemployment, as well as by actions of the United States Congress and the Maryland General Assembly.

"While we are projecting an increase in the funds available for the next fiscal year, the largest single factor in that increase is the money Governor Hughes has ordered state agencies not to spend out of their current budgets, estimated to be $50 million," Goldstein said.

The state's General Fund revenues are being reduced by $133.9 million in Fiscal Year 1981 and an estimated $182.3 million in Fiscal Year 1982 directly as a result of actions of the Maryland General Assembly and the United States Congress, according to the Board's figures.

"Had these actions not been taken, the growth in Maryland's General Fund revenues for Fiscal Year 1981 would have been 6.9%, instead of the 1.8% we are now projecting," Goldstein said.

The Board of Revenue Estimates noted that the state's General Fund revenues are being reduced in the current fiscal year by $14,150,000 due to various tax relief measures passed by the 1980 session of the Maryland General Assembly affecting state income and sales taxes.

"Fiscal Year 1981 revenues are also being decreased by the transfer of portions of the Corporation Income and Motor Vehicle Titling Taxes to the Transportation Trust Fund. These transfers are expected to reduce General Fund revenues by $85,009,000 during Fiscal Year 1981," the Board wrote.

An additional $34,700,000 will not be available this fiscal year because the U.S. Congress eliminated the states' participation in the Federal Revenue Sharing program, effective September 30, 1980.

"These factors will continue to affect revenues for Fiscal Year 1982, when an additional factor could further reduce General Fund revenues," Goldstein said. "If the United States Congress does not disapprove the lottery referendum passed by Washington, D.C. voters on November 4, 1980, Maryland Lottery revenues could decline by as much as $30,000,000.

In addition to taking these factors into consideration, the Board of Revenue Estimates made revisions in its revenue projections based on a slower than normal rate of economic growth for the state. The Board projects the personal income of Marylanders to grow by 8.7% in Calendar Year 1980, 9.0% in Calendar Year 1981, and 9.5% in Calendar Year 1982. Combining these factors with the tax relief enacted by the 1980 Session of the General Assembly and very slow growth in total Maryland employment during the first three quarters of Calendar Year 1980, the Board projects State Income Tax revenues to grow by 8.9% in Fiscal Year 1981, a slower than usual rate. In doing this the Board reduced its prior estimate of FY 1981 individual income tax revenue by $9,951,000 (to $1,194,435,000.)

The Board increased its estimate of Retail Sales Tax revenue for Fiscal Year 1981 by $12.4 million (to $754,958,000), but cautioned that continued high interest rates could cause sales tax revenues to fall off happened in the spring of 1980.

Citing those same high interest rates, the Board increased its estimates of revenue from interest on investments by $13 million (to $33 million) for Fiscal Year 1981.

When the various reductions and increases in revenue projections are totaled, the Board estimates that Governor Hughes will have $2,911,194,000 available to fund the General Fund portion of the Fiscal Year 1982 budget he is preparing to submit to the General Assembly in January.

The Board projects a General Fund Balance at the end of Fiscal Year 1981 of $117,769,000, but stressed that the largest single factor in that balance is the $50,000,000 state agencies are expected to return to the state treasury at the end of the 1981 fiscal year.

In examining the state's transportation revenues, the Board of Revenue Estimates reduced its prior projections for each of the three major sources of transportation revenue for Fiscal Year 1981.

Older Farmers Can Earn More In '81 Without Deductions

Higher annual farm and non-farm labor employment earnings will be permitted in 1981 before deductions for federal social security benefits, according to Dr. John W. Wysong, Extension farm management specialist and professor of agricultural economics at the University of Maryland.

As before, retirees over 72 years of age have no ceiling on their earnings that might cause a reduction in their social security benefits. However, notes Dr. Wysong, workers aged 65-71 will now be able to earn up to $5,500 per year without losing any of their usual benefits. Retirees under 65 years of age will now be able to earn $4,080 before benefits begin to be reduced.

Dr. Wysong reports that the new ceilings are intended to offset changes in wage rates due to inflation in the general economy. When there is more money — currency and credit — available than there are goods and services to purchase, consumer and producer prices tend to rise, and wages also increase. Improvements in labor and capital productivity can help to offset this rise.

It is expected, according to Dr. Wysong, that the higher earnings ceilings for retirees will encourage some persons to re-enter the labor force or remain in it on a part-time basis. It should be helpful to older farmers and farm workers, he concluded.

Winter Survival

DID YOU KNOW?

Keep Posted On Weather Conditions

The following is the first in a series of articles prepared by the Federal Emergency Management Agency and made available to The Republican by the Garrett County Civil Defense office.

Winter storms kill persistently - from year to year - by both direct and indirect means. Attributable deaths come from automobile accidents, overexertion, exhaustion and consequent fatal heart attack, exposure and fatal freezing as well as home fires, carbon monoxide poisoning in stalled cars, falls on slippery walks, and electrocution from downed wires.

The first step in winter preparedness is keeping posted on weather conditions. Listen to your local radio station, Weather Service Radio, or your local television station to keep informed of current forecasts in your area. Even a few hours warning may enable you to avoid being caught outside in a severe storm or better prepared to cope with it at home.

The terms "watch" and "warning" are used for winter storms, as for other natural hazards. "Watch" means severe winter weather conditions may affect your area. Keep listening for advisories and begin precautionary measures. "Warning" means severe winter weather conditions are imminent and immediate action should be taken to protect life and property.

You should also understand the terms commonly used in weather forecasts. A "blizzard" is the most dangerous of all winter storms. It combines cold air, heavy snow, and strong winds that blow the snow about and may reduce visibility to only a few yards. A "blizzard warning" is issued when the Weather Service expects a considerable accumulation of falling and/or blowing snow with winds of 35 miles per hour or more. A "severe blizzard" warning means that a considerable accumulation of falling and/or blowing snow is expected, with winds of at least 45 miles an hour and temperatures of 10 degrees F. or lower.

A "heavy snow" warning usually means an expected snowfall of four inches or more in a 12-hour period, or six inches or more in a 24-hour period.

"Travelers' Advisories" are issued to indicate that snow, sleet, and freezing rain or drizzle will make driving difficult.

"Ice Storm" is the term used to describe freezing rain or drizzle when a substantial glaze layer accumulates. Side-walks, streets, and highways become extremely hazardous to pedestrians and motorists; more than 85 percent of ice-storm deaths are traffic related.

Energy Tip

Take advantage of natural light. Trim shrubs and vines away from windows and during the winter, take advantage of solar light and heat by opening draperies during the day.

Ironing With Ease

Permanent press fabrics and finishes, tumble drying and ironing have certainly helped to make the task of ironing less difficult and less time consuming. But, with the increased use of natural fibers such as silk, cotton and linen, ironing will become necessary. Don't become discouraged because the ironing can be made easier by using these techniques which discourage wrinkling.

Check garment labels for instructions. For machine washing, use the water temperature with agitation and spin cycles recommended by the manufacturer. For tumble drying, the permanent press cycle of a washer helps prevent the setting of wrinkles by cooling the wash water before a spin and using a low spin speed.

Dryer temperature and time are very important. Separate light and heavy weight pieces for more even drying. Don't dry too large a load because clothes need room to move. The permanent press cycle in drying calls for a 10-minute cool-down at the end of the cycle for wrinkle free results. Don't overdry clothes — this tends to set wrinkles.

Remove clothes from the dryer at the proper time, but don't just drop the dried clothes into a basket. Give them prompt attention by smoothing seams, collars and by hanging up those items which would appropriately be hung, and neatly folding other items. Many light wrinkles will hang out or simply require a quick touch-up.

Clothes that need to be

1 teaspoon salt
1 tomato, peeled and chopped cauliflower, celery, sliced scoured cucumber, carrot curls, sliced mushrooms
1/4 cup skimmed milk
1 tablespoon chopped chives
1/2 cup (2 oz.) crumbled blue cheese

Combine cottage cheese and milk in container of electric blender; cover and process at high speed until smooth and creamy. Transfer to mixing bowl. Add salt, chives, tomato and blue cheese; mix well. Chill until serving time. Garnish with additional chopped tomato and chives; serve with vegetables. Makes about 2 1/2 cups dip.

Increased Labor Costs Expected For Farmers

Maryland farmers should expect higher labor costs in 1981, according to Dr. John W. Wysong, Extension farm management specialist and professor of agricultural economics at the University of Maryland.

Two forces are behind the expected increase, notes Dr. Wysong. First, the federal minimum hourly wage will rise from the 1980 level of $3.10 to $3.35 on January 1, 1981.

The second force involves the social security tax on employee earnings. The tax rate will not only rise from 6.15 percent to 6.65 percent, but the amount of total income subject to tax will rise from $25,900 to $29,700 per year.

Since most hired farm workers earn less than the new level of taxable earnings, their employer will have his tax bill increased to 6.65 percent on all wages paid, reports Dr. Wysong.

Several suggestions have been made to offset the impact of rising labor costs on the price of producing milk and meat, but these suggestions have not been acted on by Congress.

One of these recommendations involves tax incentives for employers who hire youths and give them training on the job. Another proposal is to lower the minimum wage to 75 percent of the base rate for youths under 20 years of age. During rough economic times, young, inexperienced workers have the most trouble finding and holding a job, notes Dr. Wysong.

Passage of legislation which permits faster rates of depreciation on new equipment and building investments is still another area to help decrease the impact of rising labor costs.

Efficiencies in other areas of farm management also can help to lower the costs of each unit of output.

Assistance and additional information on farm management is available through county Extension agricultural agents.

Annual March Of Dimes

Kick-off Dinner Noted
The annual March of Dimes "Kick-off" dinner was held at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, on Monday evening, December 8, with 21 persons in attendance.

The guest speaker was P. Michael Gahagan, Field Representative, from the Newark, Delaware office.

A film entitled "From the Wisdom of Nature" was shown.

According to Verna Harvey, local March of Dimes chairperson, plans for the Mother's March, scheduled in January, 1981, were also discussed.

MDOT Reminds That Drinking And Driving Don't Mix

The odds that your holiday guest will have an auto accident are increased seven times if he or she is legally drunk, according to the Maryland Department of Transportation's (MDOT) Transportation Safety Division and the AAA-Automobile Club of Maryland.

Maryland's standard for determining whether a driver is intoxicated is a .15 blood alcohol level, but the Governor's Task force on the drinking driver has recommended legislation that would lower the standard to .10. As the holiday season begins, 722 people have died on Maryland highways, 30 more than last year's total fatality count. Alcohol is a contributing factor in two-thirds of Maryland's traffic deaths, MDOT and the 215,000 member motor club are combining efforts this holiday season to tell the public of this growing alcohol-related fatality rate on state highways. They suggest that party hosts take the following practical steps to help prevent drunk drivers from getting behind the wheel.

Before the Party: Serve food with alcohol, because food slows down the effect alcohol has on the body.

•Have several shot glasses at the bar so mixed drinks can be measured.

•Use a non-carbonated base for any alcoholic punch because this slows the rate at which alcohol is absorbed.

•Have non-alcoholic beverages available.

•Decide not to force drinks on guests.

•Stop serving alcohol to guests about an hour before the party ends, so the effects of alcohol will be reduced.

After the Party: If the host realizes that a guest has had too much to drink, decide on one of these options:

•Offer the guest a ride home.

•Invite the guest to stay overnight.

•Call a taxi, pay the fare and have the guest taken home.

•If necessary, take the guest's car keys.

"How to Keep the Life of the Party Alive," a pamphlet which describes these steps in detail, is available free at all Automobile Club of Maryland offices, State Police barracks and the Public Affairs office of the Maryland Department of Transportation.

PET POINTERS

By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.
Manager of Veterinary Services
Norden Laboratories

One of the most important sources of information for a pet owner is a veterinarian. These professionals can give advice on a wide range of pet health topics, including diet, exercise, and medical treatment. To help you benefit from talks with your veterinarian, I'll review some of the more common terms heard in a veterinary office.

For example, you may talk to your veterinarian about an answer to the problem of the unwanted puppies or kittens your pet produces twice a year. The veterinarian can suggest spaying (surgically removing the pet's ovaries and uterus), or the use of special contraceptive tablets, to prevent the female's future pregnancies. A male dog could be neutered, that is, have his testicles surgically removed.

Checking your pet's vaccination record, your veterinarian may note that the dog needs revaccination to maintain its immunity (ability to resist certain disease-causing viruses and bacteria).

A newborn kitten or puppy will often receive temporary disease protection by absorbing the antibodies (special protective molecules) present in the colostrum (first milk) of the vaccinated mother. After the first 12 weeks of life, a puppy may be successfully vaccinated for long-lasting immunity against canine distemper, hepatitis, leptospirosis and rabies. Kittens may be vaccinated against feline distemper, rabies and respiratory diseases.

Certain terms are useful for the pet owner whose animal must undergo surgery. A pet is anesthetized (rendered unconscious) so that an operation will not be painful. An incision (cut) through the skin and muscle exposes the proper organs for the veterinarian. Tissue that is malignant (cancerous) may be removed, if necessary. Occasionally, surgery is not enough to repair extensive tissue damage, and the veterinarian must euthanize (humanely destroy) a suffering animal.

There is a wide range of technical terms that identify the various conditions affecting dogs and cats. Here are a few of them:

• FUS (feline urinary syndrome) is a condition where fine, sand-like particles block a tomcat's urinary tract and prevent urination. Sometimes the problem can be corrected by a change in diet; other times, surgery is required.

• Estrus, or heat, is the period when female pets are bred and conceive their young. Cats often show strange behavior while in heat.

• Canine distemper is a serious respiratory infection that causes fever, running of the nose and eyes, and possibly death in puppies and older dogs. The disease is effectively prevented by vaccination. Feline distemper is a similar but separate respiratory infection of cats.

• Heartworms are parasites that live in the heart and major blood vessels of dogs. Heartworms are effectively controlled with the use of certain anthelmintic (wormer) medications.

Obviously, your veterinarian won't use all these terms in a single office visit. But you might hear one or two. Perhaps this glossary can improve communication between you and your pet's veterinarian.

Conversations on Carpeting Remnants Available

Who say

"A Floor without a Rug is like a Kiss without a Hug."

IF YOU ASK ME

I'm going to be buying new carpeting soon and I'd like to know how many years I can expect it to last?

It's very difficult, of course, to estimate exactly how long a carpet will last. There are many factors to consider, such as quality, amount of wear, etc. If you've purchased a good quality carpet, and have selected a carpet fiber designed to take the amount of wear it will receive in your home, I'd say it should last for many years. Of course, to keep it looking like new, you must give it proper maintenance. I recommend light vacuuming almost every day. A thorough job of vacuuming should be done at least once a week. This will prevent dirt particles from becoming imbedded in the carpet pile and spoiling its appearance. Give it a home shampooing when it begins to look soiled and consider a professional cleaning every year or two.

Have a question about carpeting? Butch and Carolyn are carpet experts. They'll be happy to help you find just the right carpet for your home.

'Visit from St. Nicholas' written as Christmas gift

by Marjorie Miller

"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night!" These heart-warming and familiar words, so dear to all, complete Clement Clarke Moore's beloved poem, A Visit from St. Nicholas.

Dr. Moore, a classical scholar and part-time poet, wrote his immortal and whimsical poem on a cold Christmas Eve in 1822, as a present he had promised to his children.

Clement Clarke Moore is best remembered for having created the now popular image of Santa Claus, that happy, portly, white bearded figure, dressed in fur, smoking a pipe, and carrying a bulging sack of toys over his shoulder. It is thought that an old Dutch handyman who drove Dr. Moore's sleigh the night the poem was written was the model for the cherubic Santa figure.

Imagine how delighted the Moore children must have been with this colorful tale. How captivated, as their father read, "Now Dash! now, 'Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen! On! Comet, on! Cupid, on! Donder and Blitzen."

The young family memorized the poem they loved so, although Dr. Moore thought little of it and relegated it to a desk drawer.

Sometime after the holiday, a family acquaintance, intrigued with the fascinating and spell-binding tale, sent a copy to her local newspaper, where it was reprinted. Unfortunately, she forgot to say who had written the delightful poem, and for some years it was reprinted "anonymously" in other papers and magazines.

Later, in the 1860's, Thomas Nast, an American political cartoonist, created the round, kindly Santa we know, in his fur-trimmed red suit.

Although better known for his political cartoons, Thomas Nast also drew this charming scene of Santa Claus waiting for the children to go to bed on Christmas eve. The drawing appeared in Harper's Weekly, January 3, 1874. Courtesy of the New York Historical Society, New York City.

A collection of verse printed in 1837, called The New York Book of Poetry, carried Dr. Moore's poem with his name. And it was also included in a volume of Dr. Moore's poems, printed in 1844.

Although he did not consider A Visit from St. Nicholas a significant poem, it eclipsed all his other writings on the Bible and classical literature.

Clement Moore never received a single penny in royalties from his poem, although it has been reprinted countless thousands of times. Almost every American child, and millions of other children all over the world, have been delighted by this endearing classic.

There is no estimating how many people have read or heard it in the dozens of languages in which it has appeared. Dr. Clement Clarke Moore has been likened to the kindly, humorous figure he gave to the world, a man who brought joy to others and whose own reward was the happiness he left as his legacy.

Christmas Through the Eyes of a Child

By Carol Kapel

A delightful group of children, ages six and seven, discussed their fondest Christmas wishes Friday morning with one of Santa's helpers.

With excitement in their eyes and giggles in their voices, the children told of the holiday preparations taking place now in their homes and of activities happening in school.

The wonder of the holiday hung heavy in the room, as paper Santas, silver streamers, and chains of red and green provided a background for the discussion.

The children reported a full schedule of activities now underway in preparation for Christmas, including the shopping, wrapping, decorating, and tree trimming. Songs are being sung, costumes are being made, and lines are being memorized for the school plays planned for next week.

In a quest for opinion on the true meaning of Christmas, Santa's helper asked who had a birthday on Christmas Day, and the answers were unanimous. The birth of Baby Jesus was emphatically stressed as the most important part of the holiday season, and complete details of the stable in Bethlehem, the shepherds, and the three Wise Men were offered to all those present. When questioned as to the most important or favorite Christmas decoration, the manager won, hands down.

The group readily agreed to the importance of an early letter to Santa, and when questions about the desired items were mentioned, the requests were surprisingly different. Tape recorders headed everyone's list, followed by wishes for a typewriter, make-up, bicycles, a piano, and a guitar. One young man had a real desire for a football.

Christmas dinner around Garrett County obviously has special meaning to the children, as memories of dinners past were injected into the conversation of holiday goodie consumption. One petite young lady volunteered information on the traditional Christmas goose, which is cooked by her grandfather. As an afterthought, she explained the goose is killed first.

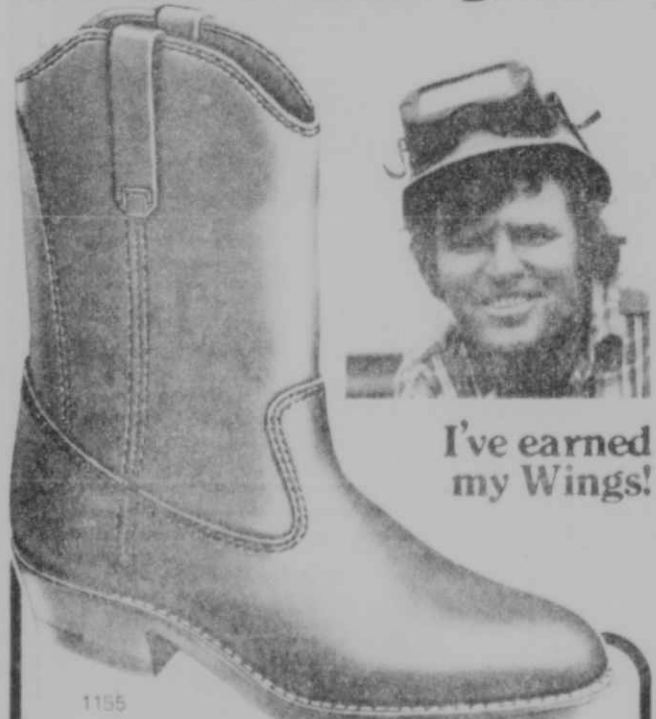

One young man remembered Jello and peas as last year's main course. If his mother had prepared anything else, he couldn't remember.

The girls were eager to tell of helping with dinner, setting the table, and calling the family to dinner. Most of the boys agreed to steer clear of the kitchen, but one did volunteer to "snitch" what was already "fixed" while his mother's back was turned.

The group agreed with the lights, the trees, the stockings, and the tinsel, but most of all, the importance of the birth that night, so long ago, in a small town called Bethlehem.

Santa's helper left with a promise to deliver all requests, and a special glow on her own holiday memories.

The names were inadvertently omitted. Those women were Janice Hileman and Angie Skipper. We regret the error.

Ag Calendar
Listings Sought

It's time to be thinking of calendars, and the Maryland Department of Agriculture is no exception, as it is seeking listing information for various agricultural events in Maryland for 1981 to be placed on its popular "Agricultural Calendar."

The calendar, which will be published and distributed in January, will list any agricultural event of general interest free of charge.

It also serves a dual purpose as people and organizations can use it to avoid conflict of dates when scheduling later events.

Deadline for submission of listing information is January 10, 1980.

Needed for list submissions are: the name of the event, the date and time when it will be held, the place it will be held and the name and telephone number of someone involved with the organization sponsoring the event.

Listing information should be sent to: Maryland Department of Agriculture, Information Office, Parole Plaza Office Building, Annapolis, MD 21401.

Grantsville PAC Meets

The Grantsville School Parent Advisory Council met December 10 in the Title I room at the school. Thirteen parents and staff attended the meeting. Carol Warnick, chairperson, conducted the business session.

Lois Bittinger, Garrett County PAC chairperson, reported on the recent county PAC meeting held in Kitzmiller. Portions of the meeting dealt with Title I and educational reading programs in the various schools.

Anna Miller, resource teacher, emphasized the need of parents to write to state legislators concerning funds for continuation of the State Compensatory Education Program. The program provides funds for teacher aids throughout the school district.

Rose Lee Folk, home-school aide, gave a brief talk on self-esteem for the child, emphasizing things that parents can do with their children to make the children feel better about themselves.

Anna Miller discussed a volunteer program which will soon be implemented at the Grantsville school. Parents will volunteer their time to come into classrooms to help both the teacher and the children.

Linda Upole, cookbook chairperson, reported on the status of the county PAC cookbook. Local PAC groups are soliciting recipes from their members to compile a county cookbook. The book will be distributed to PAC members attending the state meeting to be held in Garrett County this summer.

A door prize was won by Lois Bittinger, State Secretary, and the morning session ended with a cookie-candy "swap".

An afternoon craft workshop was held following the meeting. Anna Platter presented crafts made with beads, and Carolyn Collin, an instructor at Grantsville, presented craft ideas for parents and children to work together.

In closing the day's activities, each parent was given copies of the recipe from the cookie-candy swap.

Bayberry Candle Burns For Luck

To learn your luck for the year they say, Burn a bayberry dip on Christmas day.

If the flame burns bright and the light shines clear, Good luck will be yours throughout the year.

One of the early traditions of our country was that of burning a bayberry candle on Christmas Eve to assure a long and happy life.

Early settlers discovered that the bayberry gave off a way to would make fine candles. Important discoveries became animal fats were important food and for other uses. Consequently, animal fats were served as much as possible as children were assigned the task of gathering bayberries for candle-making.

Former Resident Honored Recently

A former Mountain Lake Park resident, Vava Stevenson, 93, was recently honored with a graduation certificate presented to her by the Hagerstown Junior College.

She was the oldest member of the class.

Mrs. Stevenson, along with twelve other residents of the Reeder Nursing Home, Boonsboro, participated recently in a course in American History, with interest in the special aspects of the Civil War.

The nine-week course was taught through the outreach program, initiated as an in-house program for senior citizens. Guest speakers took part in class lectures, and residents shared their personal knowledge of the Civil War through discussions and sharing of pictures and diaries passed down through their families. Mrs. Stevenson was privileged to present a copy of a diary kept by her father, a Civil War Union officer, as part of the class material.

The graduation was a major accomplishment to the thirteen participants, as well as Dr. Frederick Otto, the Dean of Hagerstown Junior College, Community Services, and Charlene Kerns, activity director at the Reeder Home.

Mrs. Stevenson is the mother of five children, including Mrs. Leo Helbig, Oakland; Mrs. Kenneth Stahl, Falls Church, Va.; Thomas Stevenson, Rockville; Robert Stevenson, Damascus; and John

GCC Offers Fundamentals Of Painting

Among the art courses being offered at Garrett Community College during the spring semester is Fundamentals of Painting (ART 206) which will be taught by Ms. Lane Heise, a local artist. The course will be taught on Friday mornings at the McHenry campus.

According to Ms. Heise, the course will cover the fundamentals of painting for the beginning artist, as well as techniques for the more experienced artist. Students will learn to stretch canvas, mix colors, choose suitable subjects for painting, and create their own designs. Possible subjects for painting will be still lifes, animals, landscapes, and abstract designs, done in either oils or acrylics.

An exhibit of the students' art work will be held at the end of the semester.

Ms. Heise has taught painting at the Oakland Center for the past three years and has been the art editor of the Mountain Heritage. A graduate of Pennsylvania State University, she received a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree with a concentration in illustration, drawing, and painting. She lives in McHenry with her husband, Gary, and daughter, Leah.

POINSETTIAS

The poinsettia is a welcome Christmas gift, but does require some special attention. They will last longer if they have plenty of light, are kept in a cool place and given proper watering.

Proper watering is necessary to prevent leaves from dropping. Water soil thoroughly, until water runs from the bottom of the pot, then allow to become rather dry before watering again.

Gourmet Cooking Course To Be Offered By GCC

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer a course in Gourmet Cooking (Step #1, Basic French Cooking), beginning Thursday, January 8, 1981, from 7-10 p.m., at the Oakland Center of the College. This course will meet every Thursday for a period of eight weeks.

Mrs. Sandra Naumann, a professional in the world of food will instruct the course. Mrs. Naumann, wife of Dr. Walter Naumann, Accident, recently moved to Garrett County from Minneapolis where she spent the last two years as an assistant to Marion Conlin, lecturer, teacher, and author of Marion Conlin's Cooking School. Mrs. Naumann has studied and taken many courses in ethnic foods: Chinese, German, Japanese, Norwegian, Italian and Danish, and French. Having a husband who was born in India, Mrs. Naumann has spent time in India studying the food and techniques of India's culinary world and has become an expert in East Indian cooking. She has attended cooking demonstrations by Chefs of La Verne Cooking School of Paris, Simone Beck, Julia Childs, Diana Kennedy, Craig Claiborne, and Hedy Lamarr, as well as studying French cooking with Minneapolis' own food expert, Verna Meyers. Mrs. Naumann has also had extensive experience with buying and selecting wines and is a member of the Bacchus Wine Society.

As a member of the Professional Association of Cooking Schools, it is Mrs. Naumann's opinion that "one must learn the basics before one can create." In April of this coming year, Mrs. Naumann will return to London where she will continue studies at the Cordon Bleu School of Cooking.

For additional information concerning the course to be offered, persons may contact the GCC Offices of Continuing Education.

LCW Meeting
The LCW of Zion Lutheran Church held its monthly meeting in the church on December 10, with an attendance of seven.

Leota Baker presided and presented the topic, "A Shalom Christmas", which endeavored to help the group reflect on the Biblical idea of peace that is proclaimed as a sign of the coming of the Messiah. Traditions, celebrations and preparations were discussed and a banner, relevant to the topic, was made.

Booklets offering suggestions for a Shalom Christmas were given to members. The worship center was decorated with evergreens, lighted candles, the nativity scene, and an open Bible.

Mrs. Joe Resh was remembered by the group while she was a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital.

The next quarter's project will be the making of lap robes for the Passavant Health Center, Zelenople, Pa.

An election of officers was held. Elected to serve for two-year terms were president, Mrs. Nellie Yommer; vice president, Miss Barbara Gilpin; secretary, Mrs. Louise Billmeyer; and treasurer, Miss Leota Baker. Committee chairpersons elected were Faith and Life, Mrs. Nora Stahl; Outreach and Fellowship, Mrs. Freda Handwerk; and Christian Concerns, Mrs. Ethel Hetrick.

The meeting adjourned with silent prayer and the missionary benediction. The next meeting is scheduled for the second week in January.

Christmas Party Held

The Firemen and Auxiliary of the Bittering Fire Department held their community Christmas party on Sunday, December 14. Sandwiches, salads, cheeses, pickles, and a variety of finger foods and desserts were the evening meal, along with coffee and punch.

Rev. Kenneth Zehr, pastor of Glade Mennonite Church, had the table blessing, and Mrs. Lottie Brenneman, president of the Auxiliary, had charge of the meeting. The Christmas story from St. Matthew's gospel was read by Harley Brenneman, and Mrs. Lottie Brenneman read "Let Us Keep Christmas" by Henry VanDyke. The group sang Christmas carols, with Martha Glatfelter as pianist, and Santa Claus appeared. Each child present was presented a gift. Each adult had brought a gift and there was an exchange among all present. Mrs. Brenneman presented a $1,000 check, on behalf of the Auxiliary, to Roy Beitzel, president of the Fire Department. A check for $4,000 had been presented to the Department at the Harvest dinner. Ira Yaste, fire chief, expressed his thanks to the Auxiliary for their fine contributions. The Christmas tree and the Hall had been decorated by the Bittering 4-H Club. There were 125 present.

Selective Service Registration Scheduled For Week Of January 5

Selective Service registration for men born in 1962 will take place during the week of January 5th, 1981. Men born in 1963 (and later) should register within 30 days of their 18th birthday. This is a continuation of the program begun last summer, whereby men born in 1960 and 1961 visited post offices across the nation to fill in the registration form.

The purpose of registration is to build a pool of names and addresses from which Selective Service could draw in an emergency. According to Dr. Bernard D. Rostker, Director of the Selective Service System: "Registration directly improves our capability to respond... actually reducing lead time by at least four weeks. We think that provides a significant advantage, especially when matched with the very low cost of the registration effort." The direct costs of registration are less than $2 per registrant.

One of the basic underlying assumptions of the All-Volunteer Force concept was that the country should always maintain a stand-by Selective Service, with an on-going system of registration. When the draft was ended in 1972, registration was, in fact, continued until suspended in 1975. Over the next few years, the capabilities of Selective Service steadily declined to an unacceptable level, prompting a total revitalization which began in November 1979. This program -- of which registration is a part -- is designed to return the Selective Service System to the readiness level required for an emergency back-up to our peace time volunteer armed forces. Other actions underway include the development of greatly improved computer support, and the development of a training program for potential draft board members.

Male citizens and aliens residing in the United States born in 1960, 1961, or 1962 except those on student or similar visas or who are members of trade or diplomatic missions, and men already serving on active duty with the Armed Forces must register. Members of reserve components not on active duty must register. Men born in 1963 and later years will be required to register within 30 days of their 18th birthday.

Men born in 1962 are to register during the week of January 5th. To help avoid lines, individuals are encouraged to register on a day of the week keyed to the month of birth: on Monday, January 5, for those born in January, February, and March; on Tuesday, January 6, for those born in April, May and June; on Wednesday, January 7, for those born in July, August, and September; and on Thursday, January 8, for those born in October, November, and December. Friday and Saturday may be used as "make-up" days for those who are unable to register on the suggested day.

Men born in 1963 are to register within 30 days of their 18th birthday. Men born in 1960 and 1961 should already have registered this year; those who have not are encouraged to do so as soon as possible.

Persons may register at any of more than 34,500 U.S. Post Offices throughout the nation, or at embassies or consular offices overseas. For more information interested persons may contact the Selective Service public affairs office at 724-0790.

James Cagney: fighter, dancer, gangster, star

James Cagney, the charismatic American actor who once gave a devastating performance as a blinded prizefighter in the pugilistic epic, "City for Conquest" (1940), was recalling one of his earliest professional ambitions.

"Well, I was 16, and for awhile there, like any kid, I was thinking about becoming a prizefighter. So I started to train, and I began to lose weight, of course, and I was getting paler and more wan looking by the day. One day my mother said to me, 'What are you doing, son? You're looking really bad.' So I piped up and said, 'I tell ya, ma, I'm gonna get me a fight. I can pick up 10 bucks easy on a Friday night. Ma looked at me a second, then shook her head, and said, 'Oh, so you want to be a fighter, huh? Well, can you lick me?' I sized her up for a second, then decided that I probably couldn't. That was the end of my fighting career."

Cagney, along with Leonard Bernstein, Agnes de Mille, Lynn Fontanne and Leontyne Price, who will be honored for "lifetime achievement in the performing arts" at "The Kennedy Center Honors: A Celebration of the Performing Arts," the third annual entertainment gala at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts was held Dec. 7 and will be broadcast Saturday, Dec. 27, on CBS.

Cagney recently came out of a 20-year retirement to play the role of the police commissioner in Milos Forman's film of E. L. Doctorow's best-selling novel, "Ragtime." Cagney shot the film in London in company with his longtime friend and frequent co-star, Pat O'Brien, who also came out of retirement for "Ragtime." (Cagney and O'Brien played together in eight films from 1934 to 1940, including "Ceiling Zero," "Angels with Dirty Faces" and "Torrid Zone.") Asked what it is like to team up again with his old pal, the Irishman answered, "Ah, Pat, that man knows his business, and anytime he makes a move, it's just right. Yep, the old gang is here."

Why did Cagney abandon a blissful retirement on his 800-acre farm in upstate New York and at his home on Martha's Vineyard?

"Doctor's orders," replied the actor. "I knew it wasn't helping me to just sit around and decay, and this thing came along so I got into it."

During his heyday, from 1930 until he retired from the screen in 1961, Cagney was a fast-talking, fast-talking, wisecracking dynamo who exuded electricity as he created a series of roles that formed a myth of the 20th-century American male. He leapt into the public eye in his third film, "Public Enemy" (1931), as the gangster who coolly mashed a grapefruit into Mae Clarke's face, and he continued to play gangsters and cocksure bad guys in a number of the rapid-fire Warner Bros. films of the 1930s.

Cagney, who started in show business as a vaudeville hooper, played the role closest to his heart in 1942 when he portrayed song-and-dance man George M. Cohan in "Yankee Doodle Dandy," which won him an Academy Award. In 1949, he gave a scorching performance as a psychotic killer in "White Heat," then followed that with a heart-rending portrayal of an alcoholic fighter in 1951 in "Come Fill the Cup."

The actor capped his career in characteristic style in 1961 when he played the frenetic Coca-Cola executive in Billy Wilder's "One, Two, Three." He then retired from films and firmly resisted all efforts to lure him in front of the cameras again — until this year.

One of Cagney's favorite pastimes in retirement has been painting. It is not surprising that the actor, whose father was a boxer, and who, but for his mother's superior left jab, might have become a practitioner of the sweet science himself, has captured the fight game in his art.

"Having been around prizefighters all my life, it was natural that I would paint them. There was one painting I did called 'The Victor.' It's about this fellow who's had his brains beaten out, and who can't see out of one eye, but who has just won the championship, so it's all worth it. There wasn't a model for that one, I just made him up."

IN FOCUS

'Time for Miracles' and for reflection

Kate Mulgrew stares at the candle on the dinner table, the light illuminating her strong, square-jawed face. "I'm a little stunned right now," she says, explaining her quiet mood. "I'm going to have to work very hard to even come close to understanding what it is to give your entire self, your every cell and pore, to God."

Heavy thoughts for dinner conversation. But tomorrow Kate Mulgrew will begin filming some very serious scenes for "A Time for Miracles," a dramatized retelling of the life of Elizabeth Bayley Seton, the first native-born American saint. The film is based on the events in Mother Seton's life from the time she was the happy wife of a wealthy New York businessman and mother of five through her widowhood, her conversion to Catholicism and her eventual elevation to sainthood in the church.

And Kate Mulgrew, who portrays Mother Seton, is preparing to deal with that later part of the saint's life in the film that will air as an "ABC Theater" presentation on Sunday, Dec. 21.

Later, months after the location shooting in Savannah, Ga., has been completed, Miss Mulgrew will call this project "my best work ever," but tonight she is worried.

"It's been all right so far — showing her as a young mother, recreating her love affair with her husband, her arrival in Italy — all of that I can personalize, but the rest ..."

When it is suggested that the early life of Elizabeth Bayley Seton contains certain parallels to her own, Kate Mulgrew says, "Only on the most simplistic levels, tragedy. Mother Seton lost her husband and several of her children; the actress has suffered the death of two sisters, spiritual conversion to some degree and the ability to perceive."

Looking at herself in the third person comparison, Miss Mulgrew also sees the differences when she recounts Elizabeth Seton's meeting with a married man who comes to her aid after the death of her husband. They do not act on the love that blossoms between them.

"One difference between us is that Kate Mulgrew would have fallen desperately in love with him and pursued the relationship," she says. "And if she hadn't, she would have regretted it sorely. But saints don't regret. They give to God."

During less intense moments of the dinner conversation, Miss Mulgrew recalls how she learned of Mother Seton at an early age. "I'm one of eight children," she says, smiling. "So my mother would say to us, 'Elizabeth Bayley Seton had five children and she was a saint. So I want you to look at me and know that.'"

Safire studies Lincoln; Thai king has a party

By CINDY ADAMS

The New York Times' hotshot William Safire's knocking off a novel on Abraham Lincoln based on documents and diaries heretofore unknown to us. It'll have all kinds of sex in it, too. Not that Abe was a swinger, he wasn't. But as Safire sees it, Abe's friends had some good times.

Dina Merrill was invited to the king of Thailand's birthday party in Bangkok. The only hangup being she has to pay her own way. Miss Merrill sent regrets. From Lorne Greene: "Outer space is like Dolly Parton. You don't believe it, but there it is!"

Chock Full o' Nuts claims it perked up 40 percent since Bert Parks began doing its commercials. Too bad those Miss Americas don't drink coffee, right? Richard Chamberlain is saying "Hamlet" is the next tenant in The Circle in the Square theater. Leigh Taylor-Young, who retired from acting eight years ago, has retired. She'll be back with Albert Finney and James Coburn in some Warner Brothers thing titled "Looker." It's a thriller.

Husband Phil Donahue wants to spend more time in his Chicago home. Wife Mario Thomas wants to spend more time in her New York home.

Marilu Henner's psychic abilities extend to her hands.

One palmist asked for an imprint of her right hand because the vibrations were so healing. Beate Davis scratched herself up a new "ghost" and is rewriting her autobiography. Shirley MacLaine: "Open infidelity could save a lot of marriages." Marlon Brando: "Acting's like driving a trolley. It's boring." Elizabeth Taylor: "I've earned my fat." Frank Sinatra: "I was the kind of kid my mother always forbade me to play with." Bob Hope: "Johnny Carson's the patron saint of the insomniac." Donna Summer: "My sexuality exists on a fantasy level. I'm actually undersexed."

The lousy script choices attributed to George C. Scott and his missus, Trish Van Devere, are because the Scotts are hot to co-star in everything together. Chuck Barris, of "The Gong Show" and "The $1.98 Beauty Show," is now producing "The Million Dollar Talent Show" and flew Earl Wilson to California for the pilot program.

Erik Estrada is taking horse-jumping lessons. He's practicing to hop on and off while the animal's still moving. Why? I haven't the foggiest.

THURSDAY

Robert Mitchum portrays an investigator looking into a report that a powerful industrialist is missing, in "Nightkill," a suspense drama airing Thursday, Dec. 18, on NBC. Also starring Jaclyn Smith.

TV TATTLE

Caught her share

Tanya Roberts, the newest angel of "Charlie's Angels," got a salty taste of the Hawaiian lifestyle the first morning of the series' paradise location in an idyllic cove with Pacific waves falling on the shore. A couple of actors from the island hired for the episode rigged the auburn-haired beauty up with a fishing pole, and before long the three of them were hauling in a catch of barracuda — just in time for breakfast.

ABC's 'Elephant Man'

"The Elephant Man," one of the most heralded plays in recent years, will become the first production of ABC Theater on Broadway. It will star two of the key members from the original Broadway cast and will air next season. Appearing in the title role will be the original Broadway star, Philip Anglim. Kevin Conway portrays Dr. Frederick Treves. During its first season in New York, the play won three Tonys, three Obie Awards, a Drama Desk Award and the New York Drama Critics Circle Award.

ABBA canceled

The popular musical group, ABBA, was recently forced to cancel a German television appearance due to kidnapping threats. ABBA was originally scheduled to fly to Germany to tape the TV program, "Show Express," on Nov. 27. When German police received an anonymous tip revealing plans to kidnap the group and individual group members, Swedish and German authorities decided ABBA should not leave their native Sweden until the matter had been thoroughly investigated. Wanting to fulfill the terms of their agreement to appear on the TV show, the Swedish quartet arranged to perform via live satellite from Stockholm.

Most-seen ad

Coca-Cola, in conjunction with Walt Disney Productions, has created a television commercial that its makers believe will be the most frequently seen ad during the Christmas season. The commercial, which features a snowblown Christmas scene and was filmed with remote-controlled cameras at Disneyland, used more than 250 people, as well as Disney characters. Producers believe the 30-second spot will be seen by 12 billion viewers worldwide this Christmas season.

The producer is a lady

On Sunday fall afternoons, Janis Delson doesn't linger over brunch or the newspaper. By 9 a.m., she is in the control room at CBS in New York, plotting out the day's "NFL Today" broadcast. And when many folks are just returning from church or finishing their noon meal, Miss Delson has arranged for a half-dozen or more regional pro football games to be strapped with their pre-game, half-time and post-game shows. She's the coordinating producer of the weekly football broadcast who, in the din of a frenzied control room, must get Brent Musburger, Phyllis George Brown and Jimmy "The Greek" Plunged in at the appropriate times, whether it be a Rams game in Los Angeles, a Saints game in New Orleans or the Vikings in Minnesota.

Janis Delson

"The scores, plays and such all run together," says Miss Delson, referring to the 20-odd TV screens she monitors all afternoon. "My job is just to see it's all running smoothly. Usually I'm in control of the situation, but once in a while, in an emergency, there's some fumbling around."

But is she a sports fan? "To a degree" is all she'll admit.

Easter Seal hosts

Pat Boone and Don Kirshner will co-host the 10th Annual National Easter Seal Telethon, to air March 28-29. The telethon will air for 20 hours, with local stations taking over for 20 minutes out of each hour. To date, stations total 132. Last year the 1980 telethon raised in excess of $14 million for the National Easter Seal Society.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Soapsters boogie in NYC disco contest

Deidre Hall was a recent guest on John Davidson's syndicated talk-show.

By NANCY M. REICHARDT
HOLLYWOOD — A couple of weeks ago the Electric Circus Disco on Manhattan's Lower West Side was virtually jumping with ABC soap opera actors.

The event was called the "ABC Soap Bubble Boogie," and teams of stars competed in a disco dance-off that was open to the public. Representing "One Life to Live," Anthony Call (Herb Callison) and Mary Murray (Becky Abbott) were the first couple to take to the disco floor. The other couples that followed were Michael Corbett (Michael Pavei) and Randall Edwards (Della Colebridge) of "Ryan's Hope," and from "Edge of Night," Sonia Petrova (Martine Duval) and Alan Fawcett (Kelly McGrath). Sharon Galt (Raven Swift) and Dennis Parker (Derek Malloy), and finally, Frances Fisher (Deborah Saxon) and Ernest Townsend (Cliff Nelson). "All My Children" contestants included Mary Lynn Blanks (Tara Brent), her date Steve Rankin and the illustrious Ruth Warwick (Phoebe Tyler) and her dance partner, Ross Weatherford (a bartender on "AMC").

The contest judges were soap opera newspaper columnist Jon Michael Reed and "Soaps Alive" producer, Harriett Epstein. Needless to say, they had a tough time of it, but finally decided it was a tie between "AMC's" Ruth Warwick and her partner Ross, and Randall and Michael from

"RH." The list of celebrity guests was so long that space doesn't permit a complete listing in this column. But it was evident that a good time was had by performers and fans alike since the action was still going on well past the witching hour. The well-deserved credit for setting up the "ABC Soap Bubble Boogie" goes to Cynthia Bostic (ex-Marcia Campbell on "As the World Turns") and her Kasey Associates public relations partner, Ken Sherber.

"The John Davidson Show" is once again featuring several soap opera performers in an upcoming week of interviews. Included were Tony Geary and Genie Francis (Luke Spencer and Laura Baldwin) on "General Hospital," Deidre Hall and her co-star and real-life boyfriend Quinn Redeker (Marlena Craig and Alex Marshall), John Gabriel (Seneca Beaulieu on "Ryan's Hope") and his wife Sandy Gabriel (ex-Edna Thornton on "All My Children"), Victoria Mallory (Leslie Prentiss on "The Young and the Restless"), and rounding out the week, Stuart Damon (Alan Quartermaine on "General Hospital"). Since the show airs at different times across the country, keep a lookout in your area.

SAINT NICK'S HELPERS — Ricardo Montalban (right) and Herve Villechaise, who star as the mysterious proprietors of ABC's "Fantasy Island," where any dream can be fulfilled, wish that all your dreams come true for Christmas throughout the holiday season. "Fantasy Island" airs Saturdays.

Sheriff's Office Is Investigating Area Larcenies

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department is investigating three thefts which were reported last week.

Donald Welch, Mt. Lake Park, reported that someone entered his residence on Friday and removed a model 70 Winchester 7 mm. magnum rifle with a red field power scope, enclosed in a leather gun case. The gun is valued at approximately $500.

Also taken, from the outside of his residence, was a stainless steel plug from a wood stove smokestack, valued at approximately $20.

The town of Kitzmiller reported that unknown persons removed 32 colored Christmas light bulbs from a tree in front of the Town Hall. The lights were stolen Friday night. They are valued at approximately $5.

In a separate case, John Mellinger reported that, during the night of November 27, someone cut a padlock and entered a trailer belonging to his sister, Lois Williams, Swanton. A kitchen knife, valued at $2, was the only item found missing from the trailer. Police said that foot tracks in the snow left the trailer and went in the direction of Swanton.

In other business, the department arrested four persons last week.

Jimmi Dale Beeman, 34, Kitzmiller, was arrested December 10 on a charge of assault. He was released the same day on his own recognizance.

Kenneth Stinson, 21, Mt. Lake Park, was incarcerated December 12 on a bench warrant, for failure to appear in court. He was released the same day when he posted $500 bond.

Robert Glaze, 43, Mt. Lake Park, was arrested December 12 on charges of main and battery. He was released the same day when he posted $1000 bond.

Paula Padoveina, 21, Baltimore, was arrested December 13 on charges of writing a bad check. She was released the same day on her own recognizance.

Christmas Goblin Measures Value

Goblins are associated with Halloween, not Christmas, but there is one legend about a Christmas goblin. According to an old story, the goblin went about the world at Christmas-time with a magic scale to weigh the value of people's thoughts and deeds.

He met a man who had purchased a new car for Christmas, put it on the scales and it weighed nothing. He met a happy boy who had looked into the closet hiding place and saw many gifts he would receive on Christmas morning. He put them all on the scales and they weighed nothing.

Next, the goblin met a very rich woman, who was busy knitting. She told him she was knitting a scarf for a sick friend. "Why do you not buy her one," the goblin asked. "Because," the woman replied, "the time and effort I expend is a token of my love and friendship." The goblin placed the scarf on the scales and it weighed to the limit.

Yuletide joy and glory voiced through festive carols, music

by Marjorie Miller

Through many centuries, Christmas carols have expressed the joy and glory of the Yuletide. Modern composers, too, have been inspired by the birth of the Christ Child to create some of their most celebrated works.

Music for Christmas began with musical prayers, or litanies, of the Christian church. Carols, and the feelings that have inspired them, have endured for centuries. The word "carol," probably taken from the Greek word "choros," means a dance. Early medieval carols, suitable for dancing, were both religious and nonreligious.

In 1223, St. Francis of Assisi placed the first manger on display at Greccio, Italy, complete with living animals and statues of the Holy Family. The creche was taken up in many churches accompanied by singing of the Gospel message.

Soon, performers began acting out the events and composed carols to sing with their Nativity plays. Street caroling was born when the actors continued their singing as they strolled down the streets after the service.

Jacopone da Todi, born after the death of St. Francis, was one of the greatest of the early composers, and his carols were famous all over Europe.

"O Come, All Ye Faithful" or "Adeste Fideles," one of the most popular of Christmas carols, was written by John Francis Wade in about 1742, a fact only recently come to light.

"God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen," probably written about the 16th century, or earlier, is a great British favorite.

The words to "Silent Night" were written on Christmas Eve, 1818, by Father Josef Mohr, pastor of a church in Austria. The same night, the church organist, Franz Gruber, composed the music and it was presented at Midnight Mass.

Phillips Brooks, an American minister, inspired by a visit to Christ's birthplace, penned "O Little Town of Bethlehem." The 19th century French composer Adolphe Charles Adam wrote "O Holy Night," and its familiar English words were written by John S. Dwight, an American minister.

Some of the world's finest music has been created in celebration of this sacred holiday.

In 1734, Johann Sebastian Bach wrote his "Christmas Oratorio," a set of six cantatas composed to be performed one at each of six services between Christmas and the Epiphany. The texts are taken mostly from Matthew and Luke. Today this masterpiece is performed as a single work.

George Friedrich Handel presented his "Messiah" in 1742. This work was completed in only 24 days, an incredibly short time considering that it takes nearly three hours to perform in its entirety.

Composers in the 20th century, too, have written music around the theme of the holiday. One of the most familiar of these is Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors," originally commissioned for television, and now an annual presentation.

Other major compositions are Benjamin Britten's "Christmas Cantata," "St. Nicholas," and Ralph Vaughan Williams' "Fantasia on Christmas Carols."

And among the most popular classics are "Frosty the Snowman," "Jingle Bells," "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," "White Christmas," and "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town."

Festive carols and music will always be a joyful part of Christmas celebrations, helping people to express their happy and jubilant feelings.

On What Day Was Christ Really Born?

We call it Christmas. In medieval England it was known as Christ's Mass, then Christ's Mass, until it acquired the present spelling. The day is still known as "Christ's Birthday" in many countries of Europe, called Noel by the French, Natale by the Italians, Weihnachten by the Germans, and Yulen Jul in Scandinavia.

Most scholars agree that Christ was not born on December 25th. He was not born in what we now measure as A.D. The custom of celebrating Christ's birthday on December 25th originated in Rome in the fourth century of the Christian era, some say in 354 A.D. Some experts say that the Roman monk, Dionysius Exiguus, who made the calculations for the calendar in the sixth century, could have misplaced A.D. by at least six years.

Herod the Great died in 4 B.C., according to the current Gregorian calendar. He is said to have put to death the boy babies in Bethlehem who were two years old and younger. The first Christmas may have been as early as 6 B.C.

If there is a question as to when Christ was born, there is no doubt as to where. Visit Bethlehem and you will find the small grotto, or cave, beneath the Church of the Nativity.

Attention: Bettervision Subscribers of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn, Deer Park, and Deep Creek Lake

We have not had a price increase in our cable operation in the Oakland area for over five years. We are very much in need of an increase of basic rates at this time in order for us to keep up with modern technology.

We have to upgrade our delivery system and make ready for satellite service in your area. We have in the budget for 1981 an Earth Station, making available Movie Channels and Sport Channels for the subscribers who desire that service. In addition to this we will have available other independent channels to replace the weak and duplicating services we are now giving.

Effective January 1, 1981, the following rate increases will be in effect:

Basic rate: $8.00 per month
Additional taps: $2.00 (PM and/or TV)
Basic rate for business FM taps: $8.00 per month
Hook Up Fee: $25.00
Extension hook-up after initial hook-up: $15.00
Reconnect: $15.00
Transfer: $15.00
Returned checks for insufficient funds: $10.00
Late Charge after the 15th of the month due: $5.00

New coupon books reflecting these changes will be sent out by the 1st of January.

Thank You,

TRAILER DESTROYED — It will be a bleak Christmas for Ronald Aronhalt and Betty Lowdermilk, who lost all of their possessions in a trailer fire Friday afternoon. The trailer, located on Shady Dell Road, was owned by Charles Swinn of Baltimore.

Area Firefighters Have Busy Week; Trailer, Storage Shed Destroyed

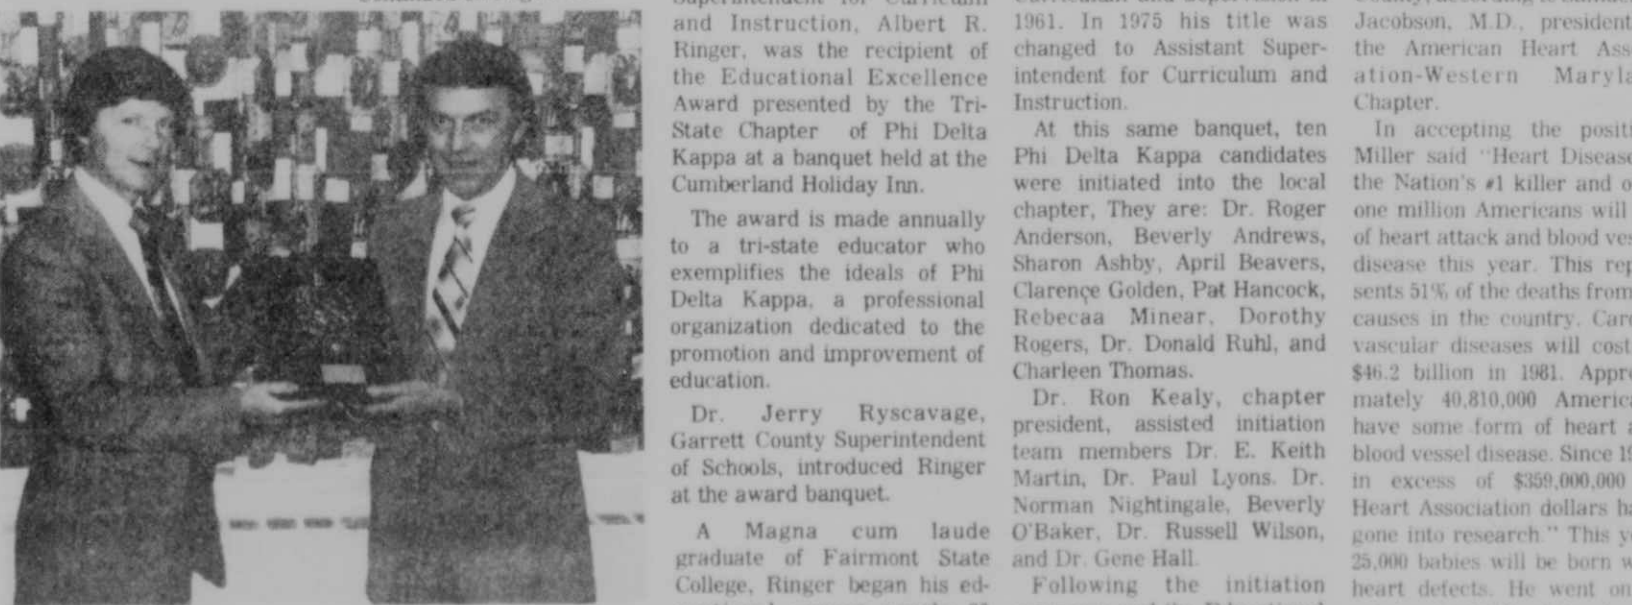

Christmas is a busy time of the year for everyone, including, unfortunately, several area fire departments. Numerous alarms were received during the past week, resulting in the destruction of a storage shed and a trailer.

The storage shed and approximately 300 bales of hay, owned by William Savage and located on the Thomas Loh Road, just off the Turkey Neck Road, were destroyed early Friday morning. Firefighters from Deer Park, Oakland and Bittling were called to the scene at 12:06 a.m., and, upon arrival, found flames coming out of one end of the 30x40 foot structure.

The blaze was extinguished quickly, however, firefighters remained on the scene until 3:15 a.m., extinguishing burning embers throughout the remaining bales of hay. The shed, which was constructed of concrete blocks and had a wooden roof, was still standing after the fire was extinguished, however, fire officials stated that the building had been damaged beyond repair.

James Martin, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, stated that Savage told him he had backed his pickup truck up to one end of the structure to load some bales of hay. When he restarted the vehicle, apparently the heat from the exhaust set some of the hay afire.

The fire apparently went unnoticed for awhile and while firefighters remained on the RECEIVES AWARD — Dr. Ronald Kealy, left, president of the local Phi Delta Kappa chapter, presents Albert Ringer, assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction in Garrett County, an award for educational excellence during a recent banquet. The award is given each year to a tri-state educator who exemplifies the ideals of Phi Delta Kappa, a national honorary fraternity for education.

Dr. Jerry Ryscavage, Garrett County Superintendent of Schools, introduced Ringer at the award banquet.

A Magna cum laude graduate of Fairmont State College, Ringer began his educational career nearly 30 years ago in Garrett County, beginning as an elementary teacher in the Oakland Elementary School and later teaching in the Northern and Southern High Schools, Ringer was promoted to Director of Curriculum and Supervision in 1981. In 1975 his title was changed to Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum and Instruction.

At this same banquet, ten Phi Delta Kappa candidates were initiated into the local chapter. They are: Dr. Roger Anderson, Beverly Andrews, Sharon Adley, April Beavers, Clarence Golden, Ted Hancock, Rebecca Minear, Dorothy Rogers, Dr. Donald Fuhs, and Charles Thomas.

Dr. Ron Kealy, chapter president, assisted initiation team members Dr. E. Keith Martin, Dr. Paul Lyons, Dr. Norman Nightingale, Beverly O'Raker, Dr. Russell Wilson, and Dr. Gene Hall.

Following the initiation ceremony and the Educational Excellence Award presentation, students from the Fair Hill drama department, directed by Mary Jane Turner, entertained members and their guests.

Commissioners Look At Coal Tax Legislation

The county commissioners Tuesday rejected statements they agreed to support General Assembly bills enabling them to place percentage tax on strip-mined coal.

The commissioners met with Allegany county commissioners and the Western Maryland delegation Friday to discuss the legislation but, says Commissioner Lester Hunter, they did not officially commit themselves to support it.

"We agreed there should be some local control of taxing strip miners," explained Hunter. The problem with the proposed legislation is the mechanism of taxation, he stated.

Senator Edward J. Mason and Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden (both Republicans representing Allegany and Garrett Counties) will be filing identical bills in the General Assembly enabling the counties to tax coal and use the revenues to rebuild coal haul roads.

Mason, who has already prefiled his bill, said at the meeting he was not hoping for a commitment but for a general consensus in favor of his bill and its intent.

The bill calls for a percentage tax on the sale price of strip-mined coal. Revenues from the tax would go into the general fund of the county.

The commissioners emphasized they support a bill giving the counties taxing authority and they intend to fully cooperate with the delegation and Allegany county commissioners.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg noted the board is in favor of eliminating the personal

DOE, Synfuel Plant Officials Set Meeting

Representatives for Tri-County Council and Delta Mining Inc. will meet with the Department of Energy (DOE) officials to discuss reasons a proposed feasibility study for a Western Maryland Synfuel Plant was denied funding.

Jack Meyer, project director, says he hopes to find out at the meeting areas of the proposal need to be strengthened.

The proposal from Delta Mining Inc. and the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland (TCC) was for $2.5 million to conduct a feasibility study.

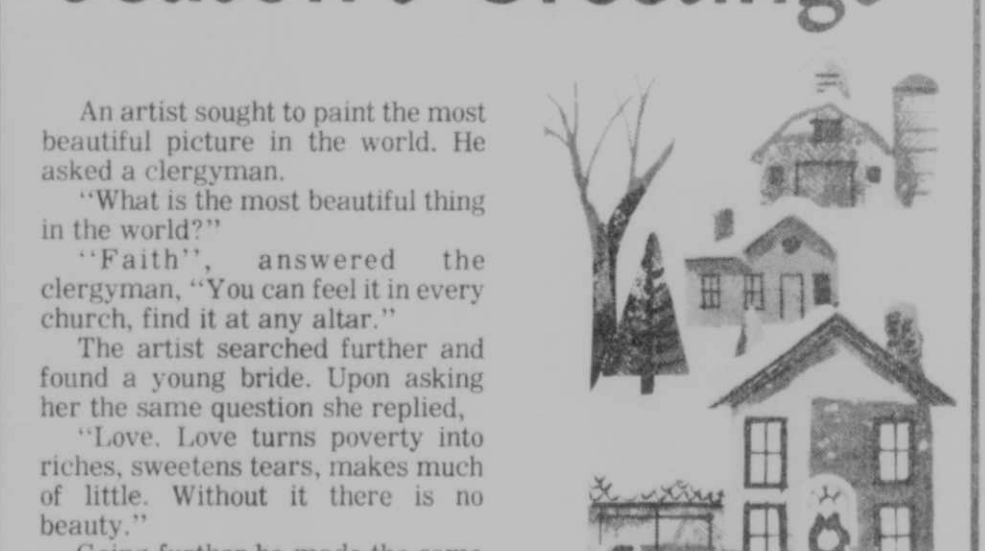

Officials involved in the project, called WESTMAR, had been optimistic that DOE would fund the proposal. Meyer pointed out that all the requirements for the application had been met. A site had been chosen for the plant and water, transportation and coal were available.

There was also involvement in the project by private industry.

Miller Again Named Heart Fund Chairman

Charles B. Miller, Friendsville, has again accepted the position of General Heart Fund Chairman for all of Garrett County, according to Samuel M. Jacobson, M.D., president of the American Heart Association-Western Maryland Chapter.

In accepting the position, Miller said "Heart Disease is the Nation's #1 killer and over one million Americans will die of heart attack and blood vessel disease this year. This represents 31% of the deaths from all causes in the country. Cardiovascular diseases will cost us $46.2 billion in 1981. Approximately 40,810,000 Americans have some form of heart and blood vessel disease. Since 1949, in excess of $50,000,000 in Heart Association dollars have gone into research." This year, 2,500 babies will be born with heart defects. He went on to point out "57.6% of the deaths from all causes in Garrett County are due to heart disease which is higher than the national average and should bring reason to the residents of

Season's Greetings

An artist sought to paint the most beautiful picture in the world. He asked a clergyman.

"What is the most beautiful thing in the world?"

"Faith," answered the clergyman. "You can feel it in every church, find it at any altar."

The artist searched further and found a young bride. Upon asking her the same question she replied:

"Love. Love turns poverty into riches, sweetens tears, makes much of little. Without it there is no beauty."

Going further he made the same inquiry of a soldier who answered:

"Peace is the most beautiful thing in the world. War is the most ugly. Wherever you find Peace you will find beauty."

"Faith, Love and Peace . . . how can I paint them?" wondered the artist. Entering his house he found Faith in the eyes of his children, Love in the eyes of his wife and there in his home was the Peace that Faith and Love built.

So he painted "The Most Beautiful Thing In The World," and when he finished he called it . . . "HOME".

Bids Opened For Gorman Water

The Garrett County Sanitary Commission opened bids for the Gorman Water Project on Friday in the Grand Jury Room of the Garrett County Courthouse. The project was first put out to bid in June, 1979, at which time all of the bids were too high. Dick Nace, Sanitary District administrator, stated that now all of the bids "are in the ball park."

Of 11 bidders, the apparent low bidder is Uwhland Construction Company of Uwhland, Pa. The project was bid on a phase basis to allow flexibility in the amount of construction to be done, depending upon the bids received and available funds.

Uwhland bid $380,000 for Schedule One, which will include construction of pipelines for the Gorman area up to and including Coruna Road; $200,000 for Schedule Two, which will extend about two miles beyond the first phase, toward Table Rock; and $175,000 for Schedule Three, which will include the last one and one-half miles of the project, up to Table Rock. The total bid for the project by Uwhland is $755,000.

Bids ranged from that amount to $1,235,778. The engineer's estimate for the entire project was $824,760.

Donna E. Boorne, Beltsville, Project Engineer, will review all of the bids submitted and will make a recommendation to the Sanitary Commission before a contract is awarded.

Sanitary Commission Authorizes Deep Creek Feasibility Study

The Garrett County Sanitary Commission last week gave authorization for Rummel, Klepper and Kahl, a Baltimore engineering firm, to proceed with a feasibility study for the expanded portion of the Deep Creek Lake Sewerage Project. The study is required by the State Health Department, to compile information needed for a design, grant amendment application for the entire system.

This study will be done at local cost, and will ultimately be paid for by the users. The contract amount is $9,579. Dick Nace, Sanitary District administrator, stated that the only other way the expanded system could be approved by the Health Department would be to go back to the beginning with a feasibility study of the entire system. This alternative action would delay the project two to five years, and the local cost would be greater than the $9,579 to be used for studying just the expanded portion, Nace said.

The basic system will include the construction of a treatment plant below the breast of the Deep Creek Lake dam, and sewer lines will run along Lake Shore Drive and Mayhew Inn Road to the Glendale Bridge at Deep Creek Lake. The areas considered for the expanded system are Glendale Peninsula and areas near Deep Creek State Park, Gravelly Run Road, Harvey's Peninsula, Beckman's Peninsula and Paradise Point. Property owners expressed enthusiasm for the expanded system at a September hearing, where the expanded system was shown to be cost-effective.

The feasibility study will include an abbreviated facilities plan, documentation of need and cost-effectiveness, identification of failing septic tanks and contaminated wells, and alternative methods of treatment. Nace stated that the information from this study should be in hand by March 1, 1981.

In other business, the commission approved a contract amendment from R. K&K to be submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency, State Office of Environmental Programs, for their approval for an EPA grant or amendment. The amendment is for a contract to design the basic system of the Deep Creek Sewerage Project, using the alternative of a small diameter pressure (grinder pump) system, instead of the vacuum system originally proposed.

The contract amendment updates costs for that design change to a grinder pump system, as well as increased salary costs. The original contract amount in 1970 was $275,000. With the proposed amendment the cost will be $809,453 in 1981.

Although the amendment has not been formally accepted, the commission authorized R. K&K to proceed with construction plans, through committed Sanitary District money remaining under the old grant, amounting to $119,015. The firm was advised not to exceed this amount in its immediate work. This action is subject to the Office of Environmental Programs' approval to use the remaining grant money for this purpose.

Nace explained that, although the amendment shows a considerable increase in the contract amount, the district would lose about $650,000 if it waited to award another engineering bid under EPA guidelines.

R. K&K indicated that it could have at least two projects in the basic system advertised for bid by September, 1981. Nace stated that these projects should be under construction by the spring of 1982. The remaining work of the basic system should be out to bid before April of 1982, he said, and the expanded system will be "right behind the rest of it."

Nace commented that "everyone should realize that this is going to cause some disruption to any access to private and business property, and the work has to be done during the summer, which is the busy tourist season. It will be the policy of the commission and district to keep these disruptions to a minimum, and we ask for the cooperation and understanding of these people."

Nace said there will be a public hearing when construction plans are completed. He added that there will be hearings as required on a proposed separate system near Swanton, to submit applications for studies of areas south of Hoopole Run Inlet, and North Glade Inlet.

were concerned about layers of rock interfering with the depth of the lines. The Sanitary District then took samples of all areas to be affected, down to the depth of the line, to provide contractors with more detailed information.

Contractors were also provided more time to work on this bid, and it was divided into three phases. Nace said that, as a result of the bids submitted, the commission is looking toward construction of all three phases.

Garrett County schools have shown progress in teaching students the basics reported Albert Ringer, Assistant Superintendent in Curriculum and Instruction, during a recent presentation to the Board of Education on the results of the county's annual testing program.

Ringer summarized the test results by saying they showed improvement over the years at all grade levels tested but that "we are not where we should be." He stated that the results were slightly above the state average.

Those grade levels tested were grades three, and five, and seven and nine. The tests were administered this spring. Ringer noted in the third grade, all but 13 students were tested. The average scores in all segments of the test were above the third grade level.

The overall test score for grade five was also above the fifth grade level. Ringer added that in 1973 test results showed students were barely at the fifth grade level.

The seventh grade overall average was slightly below the seventh grade level, but, Ringer explained, it was an improvement. He stated the county hit an all time low in the school year 1975-76. He attributed the lower level to the introduction in seventh grade of more complex material requiring new learning skills.

Comparison of ninth grade test results was difficult, Ringer stated, because the test administered was changed. He noted that in the years the Iowa Test of Basic Skills was administered, the ninth overall average was below the grade level. The tests results for the new test showed the ninth graders well above the grade level.

Ringer emphasized that students were not being taught to take the tests, but the tests were a good indicator of whether students were grasping material at their grade level.

property tax and imposing a coal severance tax, a tax based on tonnage of coal produced. He added that local strip miners who do not support a percentage tax do support a severance tax.

Gregg stated that county and state officials will try to devise a fair tax whatever type is imposed. "Our intent is not to impose heavy taxation on the industry of our county," he said.

"We agree the county should have some control over taxes," said Commissioner Hunter, "but they shouldn't tell us how it should be done."

The commissioners pointed out the county anticipates a revenue of $330,512 in personal property taxes from strip miners, but they have no guarantee they will receive it. They also receive a six cent tax surcharge, part of the tax imposed by the state.

The county presently spends $3094.52 above the normal cost per mile for road repair on coal-hauling roads. Coal-haul roads cost the county a total of $465,137 above the normal maintenance costs, reported the commissioners, because there are about 150 miles of road in the county designated for coal use.

During the meeting Friday, Senator Mason said the commissioners' support for his bill is needed because the General Assembly had traditionally looked askance at giving counties any additional taxing authority.

Mason solicited the commissioners' support after presenting them with a thick report on coal taxes in other states. The report by the West Virginia Research League Inc., of Charleston, listed Maryland as among the states placing the lowest taxes on coal, Mason said. Taxes in the neighboring states of West Virginia and Pennsylvania, where a number of the companies operating in Maryland are headquartered are higher, he stated.

The coal industry, Mason predicted, will fight the legislative proposal because it enables a percentage tax to be imposed. But he said a tax will have to be imposed if the coal haul roads are to be repaired.

Delegate Bolden said a delegate who is involved in the sand and gravel business had spoken out against Mason's pre-filed bill probably because of his fear that the bill might be a precedent for taxing his industry. Bolden believed such opposition would not be a threat to the bill in the General Assembly.

the county, why they should support the work of their local Heart Association."

Miller reported other top campaign positions are filled and will be announced shortly.

The Ninth Annual Educational Dinner to kick off the Annual Heart Association Campaign has been set for Wednesday, February 4, 1981, at the Grantville Fire Department with the Grantsville Rotary acting as hosts.

Heart Sunday will be February 15, 1981, however Miller pointed out workers may begin collecting February 1, 1981 and should be finished by February 15. Main Heart Sunday Headquarters will be the First National Bank of Oakland with Francis and Rita Grimm, Stephanie Smith, Merritt Feather, and Betty Wildesen coordinating the headquarters. Other area chairmen for Heart Sunday will have headquarters in their area.

Miller has been an active volunteer in the Heart Fund Campaign for many years and recently received the Bronze Medallion for his volunteer service. Retired from the Environmental Section of the County Health Department, he has served as president of the Friendsville Rotary Club, is active in Bear Creek Church of the Brethren, has served as a member of the Friendsville Town Council and chairman of Friendsville Area of Western Maryland Health Care Corporation, is a past member of the Western Maryland Tri-County Council, and a member of the Health Systems Agency of Appalachia (HSA) Maryland, Inc. Miller is a member of the Garrett County Farm Bureau and the Garrett County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). Miller urges groups and persons interested in holding a special event or helping with the Heart Campaign to contact him.

Bolden Notes Proposed Bills

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden (R-Garrett, Allegany) will be introducing five bills when the General Assembly convenes for its 1981 session on January 14. Three bills have already been prefiled.

House Bill 36 would amend Article 81, Section 326 of the Maryland Annotated Code which grants tax exemptions to certain businesses and organizations. The amendment would extend the tax exemption to the sale of equipment or machinery for use in cutting, trimming, or loading trees for sale or delivery to a sawmill.

House Bill 58 amends Article 2B, Section 115 (b) of the Annotated Code of Maryland which requires retail dealers of alcoholic beverages to obtain a license in certain counties in order to deliver to a purchaser in the respective county. The amendment would include Garrett County as one of the counties requiring a license of retail dealers.

House Bill 59 repeals Section 37-4 of the Public Local Laws of Garrett County which requires a motion picture admission tax on Sundays. Bolden noted that the Board of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, which receives revenues from the tax, agreed to the repeal of the law. He added that the tax generated an annual average income of $300.

Two bills still in the draft stages are: —An amendment to Article, Natural Resources, Section 10-411(c) of the Annotated Code of Maryland to remove liability from a landowner for accidental injury or damage to a person who is deer hunting on the landowner's property with the written permission of the landowner, the landowner's agent, or lessee.

—An amendment to Article

81, Section 908 of the Annotated Code of Maryland that authorizes the implementation and imposition of a coal tax in Allegany and Garrett counties. The tax would be based on a percentage of the sale price of the coal.

industry, Meyer noted. Besides Delta Mining, those industries which have shown interest in the project were the Potomac Edison Company, part of the Allegheny Power System, Potomac Electric Power Company, the Island Creek Coal Company, PPG Industries, and Columbia LNG Corporation.

Because of the local interest, Meyer stated alternative funding will be sought. "We are reasonably certain other funding will be available," he said. "We are not certain of the amount."

Supporters of the project are not planning to reapply for funding with DOE because of rumors that funding for feasibility studies will not be available.

Additional support for the project has been obtained from U. S. Congressmen. Representatives from the offices of Senator Paul Sarbanes, Senator Charles McC. Mathias, and Representative Beverly Byron will be assisting in efforts to obtain funding for the project.

Those attending the January 6 meeting with Meyer will be George Evans of Delta Mining and representatives from Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation of Boston, project consultant.

Giving Without Strings

Among the most enjoyable activities associated with the celebration of Christmas is the exchanging of gifts.

The real definition of giving means to provide something to another person or persons straight from the heart, without a feeling of obligation and with absolutely no strings attached. No return favor or gift, not even a thank you, is expected for that gift.

True giving is something that does not always come easy for human beings. Presents and favors are so often offered with one of those strings attached. "What's in it for me?" "By providing this gift, what benefits will I reap?" These are questions which are often present in our minds, albeit our subconscious. The selfish streak which is in all of us many times dictates just how closely we come to engaging in this activity called giving.

The real gift is not the object contained in a beautifully wrapped package, but the love, friendship, understanding, helping hands, prayer, consideration and kind words which accompany that object.

God provided all of us with the gift of his son. This supreme act of giving is the event we celebrate this season. His son then taught us how to give. He set the example for us through his ministry, his miracles, his good works and, especially, his death.

Through giving, may everyone have a merry Christmas!

He Chose To Come . . .

by Carol Kapel

Without the comfort or warmth of a suitable birthplace, but in a crude, dark stable,
He chose to come.
Not to a major capital of power, or culture, or religion, but to a little known village called Bethlehem.
He chose to come.
In the midst of a captive nation, ruled by a pagan emperor, to a people in poverty,
He chose to come.
Full well knowing even his own would not receive him, and few would acknowledge who he was,
He chose to come.
With a life that was to eventually lead to a steep hill with the burden of a heavy wooden cross, a crown of thorns, and a public execution,
He chose to come.
Because He loved us . . . because of what He began in Bethlehem and fulfilled in the resurrection . . . because He chose to come, we have the opportunity this Christmas, once more, to give thanks.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Editor:

I am more than a little tired of people like you and Ann Landers wanting to take my handgun away. According to your statement you would have us believe that you can go to most any store anywhere and purchase a handgun. Have you tried to buy one lately? You state that handguns are easily concealed and carried. But how long would it take to cut a shotgun or rifle down to a easily concealable weapon?

I take offense at your statements of "little use, other than for illegal activity". There are many makes and models that are more than accurate enough for hunting or target shooting.

Handguns are a source of power, but so is an automobile. You go on to say switch blades and cross bows, etc. are dangerous, but so are butcher knives and axes and numerous other readily available items.

The existing gun laws are not all that lenient, as you would have us to believe. All they need is enforced. The last sentence in your article is the most sensible one. How many hardened criminals are turned back out on the streets to rob and kill and rape after a few days in jail and a slap on the wrist?

Lowell T. Merrill
Grantsville

Editor:

I must register my violent disagreement with your call for stricter handgun laws, dragged out under the banner of John Lennon's assassination.

Besides being the source of fun for millions, handguns serve a very important purpose: self protection. Perhaps, you should be concerned about the real problem, which is crime itself. America has become the most violent, crime ridden society in history. There is more violent crime annually in any large American city than in any ten European cities combined. The crime rate increases up to 17 times faster than the population. A person living in Washington is likely to be victimized by crime every three years.

This condition came not from handguns. It came from people; from the pluralism and degeneration of society. It is part of the malaise which has also resulted in run-away drug abuse, divorce and suicide (about 30,000 annually).

Violent, anti-social people will not cease criminal behavior merely because guns are restricted. They will always find a gun — or make one — or a knife, club or razor.

This hysteria to ban handguns is an unconstitutional attempt to disarm law-abiding Americans in order that they might more readily accept economic enslavement.

If I had my way, ownership and training in the use of handguns would be encouraged. I oppose any restriction on law-abiding citizens carrying handguns.
As for John Lennon, I regret his senseless death, but the passing of almost anyone would be better mourned than this drug-cultist, confused creation of a big-money record industry, who left but a few songs and much howling. That he became a multi-millionaire and a cult hero for youth is profoundly tragic, but symptomatic of the national spiritual illness which led to his own violent death and thousands of others.

Sincerely,
Bob Watson

Dear Editor:

If I may, I would like to use this column to publicly announce my thanks to several thoughtful and kind Garrett County residents who came to my immediate assistance last evening after I was involved in what could have been a tragic accident with my automobile. I feel it is very important for residents of our county to realize the extent people will go to offer help and comfort in a time of crisis.

I was traveling alone on Route 42 near Friendsville late last night when I lost control of my car, made several circles in the highway, and slammed into an embankment, striking a fence and a deep culvert along the roadway.

Within seconds, at least six vehicles stopped to render assistance. Fortunately, I was spared serious injury and my vehicle damage was minor.

The persons who offered assistance not only comforted me personally, but physically removed my vehicle from its precarious position while directing traffic around the scene.

My special thanks to Mrs. Nola Ritter, Mr. Doerr, a gentleman traveling with him whose name I failed to obtain, in addition to anyone else who helped in any way until my family arrived.

Garrett County can be proud of such persons. God Bless You.

Sincerely,
Carol Kapel

Dear Editor,

There are those living within this county who profess to obey the laws of the land, but lack the intelligence or fortitude to realize how they contradict themselves.

Let me remind those individuals who may disagree with decisions of the Garrett County courts; the law of the land existed long before a judicial system was enacted.

"Everyone must obey the state authorities, because no authority exists without God's permission and the existing authorities have been put there by God. Whoever opposes the existing authority opposes what God has ordered; and anyone who does so will bring judgement on himself. For rulers are not to be feared by those who do good but by those who do evil." Romans XIII, Verses 1-3.

Dear Sir:

I am constantly amazed by the commentary of the editorials in this, as well as many other news publications. Objectively it is easy to deduce that this commentary is bias, misinforming and generally inaccurate.

Gun control is a highly controversial issue because its roots stem back in history prior to our own revolutionary war. It was our forefathers with the gun as their tool who overthrew the tyrants that plagued our country, and with that same gun delivered us our freedom.

Guns past, present and future are a very important tool in the structure of our free society. They are a vital link in maintaining the livelihood and freedom of our democracy. Unlike the misguided and suicidal approach many people champion in order to deprive us of our handguns and eventually guns in general, our forefathers with their infinite wisdom set forth a portion of our constitution to guarantee our rights to maintain our personal and national freedom by decreeing to posterity the inalienable right to maintain and bear arms.

Be it handgun or rifle, it has as a tool protected and defended our way of life for over 200 years and has in itself allowed our democratic nation to prevail.

Throughout history tyrants, dictators, illegal regimes, religious fanatics and communists have notoriously disarmed the populace in order to subjugate them.

Presently we have stringent enough gun control for people who have honest intentions for their usage. Crime control and firm punishment commensurate with the degree of the offense is the crux of the problems facing our nation. Remove the corruption from the judicial system, reinstall the realities of incarceration in the prison system, reinstate capital punishment but above all, do not disarm the loyal majority who make up the backbone of freedom and our democratic society.

John Watt

Dear Sir:

Your editorial "Crime Made Easier" is a farce. Crime involving fatalities happens because a person, a human being, commits the crime whether it be with the aid of a handgun, butcher knife, pair of scissors, axe or an automobile. When used properly and with respect all of these items can benefit mankind. However, when a person misuses them they can all be used as weapons to commit a crime or kill.

Your contention that handguns are of little use other than for illegal activity is utterly ridiculous. My husband and I spend many happy and relaxing hours target shooting. We prefer our handguns with barrels from 2 inches to 14 inches because it takes more skill to hit your target. Any person who states they are not accurate enough for hunting is either very unskilled in the use of guns or totally misinformed. Their only limitation to accuracy is the person using them. Specified handguns are legally recognized for hunting purposes in the majority of the United States.

Did you bother to consider the handgun as a valuable asset in saving and protecting lives, because it most certainly is. If more women in the country were thoroughly trained in the use of handguns there would be less assaults, rapes and murders committed on their person.

Handguns are perfect defensive protection for women. They are the best weapon to defend yourself with, especially in your own home. I would not want to ward off a criminal with a rifle or shotgun inside my home because they are not as easy to handle and have too much recoil. A handgun conceals easily in a kitchen cabinet or sewing box where it can be retrieved quickly in case of emergency.

Severe punishment for persons misusing guns will eliminate any need for gun control.

Lynda Watt

Dear Editor:

The December 17th issue of The Republican contained comments from a luncheon meeting of the Board of Education with the County PTA presidents. A spokesman for the Board of Education is quoted in this article as placing the responsibility and inadequacies for the County's Attendance Policy on the Garrett County Teacher. Nothing could be further from the truth. First of all, teachers don't code absence. They are coded and interpreted by the administration or one of their designees. Secondly, the codes are placed on absences in accordance with Board Policy. For example: If a student goes on a vacation, he must bring in a note beforehand. It will be coded "30" — student travel. If a student says he was deer hunting, he receives a code of "11" or "12" — unexcused absence.

We believe that the Board of Education should accept responsibility for their unanimously approved attendance policy and not attempt to place blame with the Garrett County Teacher. We urge the public to direct their complaints concerning this policy to the Board of Education.

Sincerely,
Donald Lipscomb
President, Garrett County
Federation of Teachers

Dear Sir:

In concern to the letter written last week by Mary Foley about a ring of dog-nappers here in Garrett County, I'm not sure I believe there is an organized group of dog thieves in the area besides careless hunters and bored teenagers who have nothing better to do with their time. In the six years I've spent here, I've had four dogs and two cats come up missing, one dog shot in the leg and a horse grazed by a bullet during "deer season".

Recently, my very faithful golden retriever disappeared wearing a collar with I.D. and rabies tags. I feel it was highly unlikely she was mistaken for a stray. If she had been shot, I would have thought any hunter with half a heart would have at least notified me. I know how a child or an adult can suffer over the loss of a pet; concerned about the pet's welfare. My main concern is that my dog has a litter of three-week old pups at home. I'm sure not the first to have this happen. I'd just like to ask these people involved in killing or stealing these animals how they'd feel if someone stole their favorite pet, or can someone like that have feelings? I think people that low don't have enough sense to read a newspaper column.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor:

An surprised, disgusted and even ashamed that you let the anti-gun hysteria get to you (Editorial December 17, 1980). May I remind you, we are supposed to be living in a Democracy. There are approximately 10,000 deaths annually in this country due to misuse of firearms. These involved less than one tenth of one percent of all gun owners. Is punishing the other nearly one hundred percent, for what is done by so few, the way a Democracy is supposed to work? I think not!

Now, since the bottom line is saving lives, why do we never hear the news media attack the use of alcohol and cigarettes? According to the National Institute for Alcohol Abuse approximately 200,000 persons die annually from alcohol abuse. The Atlanta Cigarette House for Cigarette Smoking and Disease Control reports approximately 320,000 people are killed by cigarette abuse. Why does not the news media get hysterical about such tragic, unnecessary loss of life?

Could very much if alcohol and cigarettes will be outlawed, but it would make more sense than punishing millions of gun owners because of the actions of only one tenth of one percent of said gun owners. Also, your lack of knowledge about handguns shows. Many people do use them for recreational target shooting, and contrary to your statement, many hunters use them successfully. Respectfully suggest you do your homework before advocating actions which would endanger more of our already shrinking freedoms.

Sincerely yours,
George L. Porter

P.O.S. Funds

Granted For McHenry Park

James B. Coulter, Secretary of the Department of Natural Resources, has announced that Program Open Space funds totaling $43,657.50 have been approved by the State Board of Public Works for acquisition of 32.5 acres for a McHenry Community Park. The tract of land is located on Bumble Bee Road.

Program Open Space, through which Maryland subdivisions may obtain funding for acquisition and development of recreational facilities, is administered by the Capital Programs Administration of the Department of Natural Resources. The Board of Public Works is made up of Governor Harry Hughes, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer William S. James.

The McHenry park was initiated by the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club. Jack Lear, president, stated that the club is looking toward a five-year plan for construction of a few ball fields, a hiking and nature trail and at least one pavilion, as funds become available. He emphasized that no definite plans have been made for development of the land at this time.

The group's primary concern now is for a little league field, according to John Nelson, county liaison officer. A proposal for the development of one baseball field and one trail for the McHenry park is included in the Program Open Space Annual Program for Development, for fiscal year 1982. This proposal is sponsored by the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, and amounts to an estimated total cost of $25,000.

The annual program was set up by the Garrett County Parks and Recreation Committee, to alert the State Planning Department and the Department of Natural Resources of projects anticipated during the next fiscal year. Nelson emphasized that proposals included in the annual program are not definite.

Lear stated that the Lions Club hopes to have some definite plans for the park by March, 1981, and he added that they hope to begin development by next spring.

Acquisition of land under Program Open Space is 100 percent state funded, while development of that land is 75 percent state, and 25 percent locally funded.

Second Impression

Just The Facts, Please

By Harry Fox

In the TV series "Dragnet", Detective Friday was never at a loss when questioning a suspect. No matter if the person was hysterical, threatening or confused, any attempt to stray from the line of questioning was met with, "Just the facts, please." It was typical of Friday's approach to police work in the series. It captured the desire of producer/actor Jack Webb to recreate the real-life drama of criminal investigation.

As a summary statement, it should say a lot about the business of reporting the news. "Just the facts, please." There is probably no more difficult task in preparing a newspaper than the self-searching that must take place when writing and editing the events of the day.

But, a lot more than facts go into a newspaper. And it's a good thing, because along with the job of reporting the news, goes the task of presenting it in a way that makes sense. A newspaper is more than a catalogue of the things that happen in the community. A newspaper that was "just the facts" would not only be impossible to read, it would be boring.

The point is, the job of covering the news is a demanding, and frustrating one. Not only do we fail to please everyone, we can't. Editing the news is a creative task, regardless of the technology and delivery system. That goes for network television and for weekly newspapers. Human judgement and thought are part of the process. Again and again, questions have to be asked: Does it have impact on the community? Does it have a lasting significance? Will it be, or should it be, known by everyone, or does it violate individual privacy? And, of course, the most important question of all, is it true?

Walter Cronkite is undeniably one of the great talents in the news business of our day. But, watching his newscast every evening, one hears again and again a gross exaggeration of the truth. Each evening, as he says goodnight to his millions of viewers across the nation, Cronkite says, "And that's the way it is."

That is not the way it is. No news medium can ever tell the whole story. No broadcast can capture the whole truth, no newspaper can cover every story. And that makes the reader or viewer a part of this business. He must read and listen carefully, responsibly, and form his own understanding of his world.

Board Imposes Solid Waste Surcharge, Opens Some Roads To Snowmobiles

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners Tuesday passed resolutions to impose a surcharge on solid wastes deposited in the county and to permit use of designated county roads by snowmobiles after public hearings on the issues.

None of those attending the hearing for the solid waste surcharge expressed opposition, but representatives from Allegany County and Upper Potomac River Commission asked for clarification of the commissioners' intent. Both Allegany County and the Commission had prior arrangements for deposit of wastes in the county.

The commissioners assured the representatives the resolution would not effect agreements made with them. Commissioner Lester Hunter explained the measure was a reaction to state legislation giving the state power to select waste disposal sites without county consent. The resolution would insure the county would benefit financially if solid waste was brought into the county to be deposited.

Hunter pointed out those depositing wastes in the county would be using county roads which would mean additional costs for the county.

Edgar Harman, Garrett County Health Department representative, suggested the commissioners include a statement granting the option to negotiate the surcharge. The commissioners passed the resolution with the proposed amendment.

During the hearing designating certain county roads for snowmobile use, Commissioner Hunter reported two concerns of Herb McCrobie, county roads administrator. McCrobie questioned the county's liability in case of snowmobile accidents on county roads and he pointed out the possible danger of increased coal truck traffic along the same roads as those designated for snowmobiles.

The commissioners directed their attorney to investigate whether the county had adequate liability insurance since they could be liable in some instances. They also agreed to direct McCrobie to install signs in the areas designated for snowmobiles.

Commissioner Hunter stated he did not think the increased truck traffic would endanger snowmobilers because trucks would generally not be running during the same times the snowmobilers would be using the roads. He added that snowmobilers should obey the same traffic rules as they using public roads.

In other business, the commissioners selected an architectural firm to design the Animal Health Laboratory to be constructed on the Oakland-Sang Run Road, adjacent to the Animal Shelter.

Of five proposals reviewed, the commissioners selected

Jacob J. Gzesh, Oakland, who was the lowest bidder.

Also present during the selection was Dr. Frank Custer from the Maryland Department of Agriculture and Gary Mulich, building manager.

The commissioners appointed Randy Rodeheaver, certified public accountant with an Oakland firm, to the Sanitary Commission to replace Jeanne Devine who recently resigned.

In other action, the commissioners designated Commissioner Ernest Gregg as Chairman of the Board for 1981.

The commissioners heard a report from Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county school superintendent, concerning the annual audit for the Board of Education for 1980.

Ryscavage reported the Board's current expense program fund had a balance of $232,000 at the end of the year; he noted that in the previous two years there were deficits in the fund.

"We are in better fiscal shape than we have been in some years," Ryscavage told the commissioners.

Diana Wawinski, county housing director, appeared before the commissioners with Tim Dugan, county planning director, and Ray Alexander, the energy impact planner for the Tri-County Council of Western Maryland, to discuss the Maryland State Plan for Energy Impact Areas.

Alexander told the Board the plan was designed to provide assistance to coal producing counties to alleviate impacts resulting from increased coal mining activities.

He noted the plan included two projects for Garrett County involving acquisition and development of housing sites. The plan was subject to review by Farmers Home Administration.

If approved by FHA, the project would then be eligible for formal application for funding, Alexander stated.

He said about $5.1 million in additional annual revenues will be necessary to reach the authorized rate of return level. After taxes, annual net income for the company from Maryland customers would increase about $2.7 million.

The requested rate hike would increase base rates (not including fuel) by about 4.8 percent for all classes of customers. For a residential customer using 500 kilowatt-hours of electricity a month, the increase would be $1.70 a month, including fuel costs. For a residential customer using 2,000 kwh a month, the increase would be $5.36, including all charges. The company is also asking for a modification in the fuel surcharge granted in the last rate case.

McCordell said the August rate of return would have been even lower if PE and the other companies on the Allegheny Power System had not sold large blocks of electric power to other utilities, particularly General Public Utilities, earlier this year.

Legend Says Mary Died In Ephesus, Turkey

A ruined city in Turkey may have been the last home of the Virgin Mary.

Ephesus, a ghost city, lies some 35 miles from Izmir, near the Aegean Sea. Ephesus is frequented by archaeologists, chiefly interested in the Temple of Diana, one of the Seven Wonders of the World. In recent years, Christians have come to Ephesus in increasing numbers, drawn by the legend that Mary spent her last years here, cared for by St. John the Apostle.

Amid the ruins of the 6th century Church of St. John, a tiny chapel is believed by many to stand over the site of Mary's home. Local tradition says that both Mary and John died in Ephesus, but their tombs have never been discovered.

Ephesus was destroyed by Goths in A.D. 262 but the Christianized city revived and became the seat of two of the most important councils in Roman Catholic history. Later invasions by Arabs, Turks and Mongols completed its ruin.

ABOUT CHRIST

"If Christ is to remain alive in the life of men, eternally present with us, it is absolutely necessary to resuscitate Him from time to time, not to color Him with dyes of the present day, but to represent with new words, with references to things now happening, His eternal truth and His never-changing story."

ADS AND DISCLOSURE RULE

The truth-in-lending law became effective July 1, 1969. It's also known as the disclosure rule. It requires lenders to give customers a plain statement of the credit charges involved in any transaction.

One area where it has helped to clear possible misunderstandings is in real estate ads. Remember when ads used to read like this: "FOR SALE — 3-bedroom home in fine location, only $22,000 with $3,000 down."

Now, if the advertiser mentions the down payment, he must also mention the monthly payment and the interest rate. Tell all or tell nothing! You may advertise the selling price, or terms like "low down payment" or "easy terms". But when it comes to the big three — down payment, interest rate or monthly payment — if you mention one you have to tell all three.

The obvious reason is so buyers can't be misled by an ad that offers $2,000 down payment — and then finding out that the monthly payments are extremely high.

Safe Christmas Is Best Of All

Christmas, the happiest of holidays, should never be spoiled by tragedy.

Remember that most holiday accidents take place during the last 6 hours before Christmas Eve than during the remainder of the holiday. The hourly rate for accidents is much greater during this 6-hour period than during the rest of the holiday.

Most accidents happen on the highways and in the home. If you're driving, don't get in a hurry. If you've been enjoying Christmas "cheer" of the alcoholic variety, don't drive. Check Christmas tree lights and other sources of danger around the home. Never leave tree lights burning if you leave the house.

State Finances Study For Solid Waste Project

Garrett County, as one of Maryland's rural counties, may be interested in results of a feasibility study on a model solid waste resource recovery and energy conversion project. Governor Harry Hughes has indicated.

Governor Hughes and the Board of Public Works gave the Maryland Environmental Service (MES) approval to use $85,000 of Water Quality Loan Act funds for the study.

Four counties, Caroline, Dorchester, Queen Anne's and Talbot, will participate in the Maryland Mid-Shore Resource Recovery Project.

Preliminary studies by the MES over the last six months indicate that solid wastes from these counties could be converted to steam energy and sold to industrial and commercial users.

Additionally, the initial studies led MES to conclude that the model program, if successful, could be applied to solving solid waste management problems in other rural areas of Maryland.

The Water Quality Loan Act, passed in 1968, provides funds for the planning and evaluation of waste management and water supply services.

The MES, with the approval of the Board of Public Works, will retain consultant services during the coming year to assess the amount of waste generated in the participating counties; conduct an evaluation of current applicable technology; examine the legal requirements related to controlling the source of waste; and determine the arrangements that would be necessary among the institutions involved in waste management.

Governor Hughes agreed with the MES that, historically,

Maryland has taken a leadership role in developing resource recovery technology. "The development of a rural Maryland model for solid waste management," the Governor said, "is in keeping with the State's overall plan for a well-organized system of regional solid waste management."

State Police Issue Various Traffic Citations

A Bayard, W. Va. man, Robert Lee Paugh, 31, was charged by Maryland State Police with driving at speed greater than reasonable as a result of a single-vehicle accident on December 11.

According to police reports, Paugh was traveling west on Steyer Mine Road when his vehicle crossed the left side of the snow-covered roadway, went over the embankment, turned over, and came to rest on its side on a fence.

An unknown citizen transported the driver to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Autos driven by Robert Bailey, 52, Oakland, and Mary Underwood, 53, Deer Park, collided on Glendale Road on December 11.

According to reports, the Bailey auto was west bound and the Underwood auto was eastbound when the collision occurred; however, because the Underwood vehicle was in a ditch on the side of the road and the Bailey auto was being driven from the scene when the police arrived, it was impossible to determine who was at fault.

The injured were taken by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Autos driven by Gloria Loren Johnston, 21, Swanton, and Roger Lee Beckman, 49, Levels, W. Va., were involved in an accident at the intersection of Rt. 219 and Mayhew Inn Road on December 18.

According to the report, the Johnston vehicle was parked on the shoulder of Rt. 219 on the north bound side. The Beckman auto was traveling south when the Johnston vehicle attempted to make a left turn from the shoulder onto Mayhew Inn Road, failing to grant the right-of-way to Beckman.

Police charged Johnston with failure to grant right-of-way. Alvin Andrew Shumaker, 71, Grantsville, and Roy Richard Rinker, Sr., Bayard, W. Va., collided on Rock Lodge Road on December 17.

According to police, the Rinker auto was southbound on Rock Lodge Road and the Shumaker vehicle was eastbound on Musser Road. The report further states that Shumaker failed to grant the right-of-way when coming onto Rock Lodge Road, for which charges were made by police.

MANY SANTAS

Santa Claus is found almost everywhere in the world, but his name isn't always the same.

In Russia he may be called "Father Frost" or "Father Winter." In Germany, children look for "Chriekind" or "Kris Kringle." Chinese children anticipate their stockings will be filled by the "Nice Old Father" and Norwegian children expect gifts from an elf, "Jul Tonten."

Hollanders look for "Saint Nickolas" or "Sinterklass." French children await "Pere Noel."

Whatever the name, Santa and gift giving are part of the Christmas tradition around the world.

Former Resident Named Regional Sales Manager

James H. Edwards, formerly of Grantsville, has been named regional sales manager at Raleigh, N.C., by the Columbus-based Nationwide Insurance organization.

Edwards has been with Nationwide since 1955. He joined the company as an agent at Grantsville and became a district sales manager a year later. He has been in sales management ever since, for the last six years serving as director of marketing for property and casualty insurance.

A Grantsville native and 1949 graduate of Grantsville High School, Edwards is married to the former Marilyn Judith Wilburn of Grantsville. They have five children, now adults, and six grandchildren. Until they relocate in the Raleigh area, the Edwards' home is at 9030 Carriage Ct. in Pickerington, Ohio.

Medicare Insurance Enrollment Period Begins In January

People who failed to sign up for medical insurance under Medicare, or who once had this protection but dropped it, will have a chance to obtain medical insurance during the 1981 general enrollment period, January through March, according to Frank Tomko, Asst. District Manager in the Cumberland Social Security Office.

"Medical insurance is part of Medicare that helps pay for doctor bills, outpatient hospital services, and many other medical items and services not covered under hospital insurance," he stated.

"Protection for people who sign up during the general enrollment period may pay a higher premium, Mr. Tomko said. This is because the premium is increased by 10 percent for each full year a person could have had this protection but did not."

More information about the medical insurance general enrollment period can be obtained at the Cumberland social security office located at 316 Pace Street. The telephone number is 724-0970, and residents of Garrett County and Mineral County, W. Va., may call collect.

Bright Stars

In the winter sky, there are six of the brightest stars in the sky. Aldebaran, Capella, Procyon, and Sirius are double stars. Castor is a triple star and Pollux has no companion. The star systems are similar to our Solar System, with the planets orbit the Sun. Procyon and Sirius have white dwarf stars as their companions. White dwarfs are the remnants of stars like the Sun.

Moon

Monday, the Moon will pass through its Last Quarter phase at 1:32 a. m. At this time, the Moon will be 90 degrees west of the Sun as observed from Earth. Moonrise will be at 8:17 tonight. Next Tuesday, the Moon will rise at 1:01 a. m.

The greatest separation between the Moon and Earth will occur on Tuesday at 6:00 p. m. This apogee will be 404,749 kilometers (251,553 miles) from Earth.

Visible Planets

Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn will be the most easily observed planets during the coming week. Venus will be visible for 1½ hours before sunrise. It will pass close to Antares, the heart of the Scorpion, during the week. Mars will be low in the southwest, setting as evening twilight ends. Jupiter and Saturn will be found among the stars of Virgo, rising about midnight during the week. Jupiter and Saturn will be in conjunction on the last day of the year. This conjunction will be the first of a triple conjunction occurring over a seven month period. The next triple conjunction of these two planets will be in the year 2238.

Rams Whip Elk Garden; Streak Ended By Valley

The Southern High Rams picked up their fifth win without a loss Friday evening by crushing the Elk Garden Stags, 63-37, at Elk Garden. The Rams' undefeated season came to an end last night, however, as they were stopped by the Black Knights of Valley, 65-52. Valley is now 6-0.

Brian Sellers gained all of his 26 points from the field as he led the Rams past Elk Garden in the Stags season opener. Jeff Ryscavage also reached double figures for Southern, however, the bulk of his points came at the foul line, converting eight of ten attempts. He also hit three goals and had a total of 14 points.

Southern maintained leads of 9-6, 27-13 and 45-31 at the quarters and then held the Stags to only six points in the final quarter.

Southern outshot Elk Garden from the floor by a 25-16 margin and converted 13 of 20 free throw attempts, compared to a five-for-14 effort by the Stags.

Southern edged the Stags in rebounds, 39-38.

Leading the Stags' scoring were Carter Moreland and Paul Harvey, who each netted ten points.

Southern's foul shooting so far this season has been excellent, however, Valley turned the tables last night and gained the victory over the Rams at the line. Southern outshot Valley from the floor 22-21, but the Knights had 32 opportunities at the line and converted 23 of them. Southern converted eight of 13 free throw attempts.

Southern's Jeff Ryscavage led all scorers, hitting eight goals and six of ten from the line for 22 points. Gary Heginbotham contributed ten to the Rams' total.

Dave Smith and Dave Winner paced four Knights in double figures, each of them netting 21 points. Lonnie Gardner and Rick Conner added 13 and ten points, respectively.

The Rams held a 15-13 lead at the end of the first quarter, however Valley came back in the second period and assumed a 28-22 halftime lead. The Black Knights increased that lead to 45-38 at the end of the third period and forced Southern to commit numerous fouls in the final eight minutes. Eight of Dave Smith's foul shots came in that final period, which put the contest out of reach for the Rams.

There was some consolation for Ram fans, however, as the Southern Jayvees whipped their Valley counterparts, 48-41, in the preliminary contest.

Coach Tom Bosley's 5-1 Rams will return to action January 2 in the annual Snowball Classic at Southern.

Christmas Is Holiday For Entire Family

It is wrongly stated that "Christmas is for children." Christmas is a Holy Day and a holiday more truly for the family.

The birth of the infant Jesus is also, in a sense, a feast of the Holy Family, bringing to mind the blessings, trials, joys, sorrows and anxieties of Mary and Joseph.

It is natural that the traditions of Christmas in every land center upon the family and its symbols. The special magic of Christmas is for everyone, and through traditions and customs the bonds of family love and unity are renewed and strengthened.

Huskies Nip Bulldogs, Then Fall To Oldtown, 53-47

A last minute layup by Dick Bender Friday evening was just enough to give the Northern Huskies a 43-42 win over the host Bruce Bulldogs. The win improved Northern's record to 3-2, however the Huskies dropped back to .500 ball last evening by losing to Oldtown, 53-47, on the Indians court.

The Huskies defeated the Bruce Bulldogs at the foul line, as they converted 11 of 18 attempts, compared to a four-for-seven effort by Bruce. Northern was outshot from the floor by a 19-16 margin.

The host team had numerous opportunities to reverse the outcome, as the Bulldogs made three attempts to hit the basket in the final seconds of the game, all of which failed.

Leading the scoring for Northern was Brad Yoder, who connected on seven goals and one of two at the line for 15 points. Bender added 13 points.

Dave Morris scored 11 markers for the losers, while teammates Mark McMaster and Jesse Harris each contributed ten.

The contest was tight all the way, with Northern holding an 11-10 edge at the end of the first stanza and Bruce leading 24-22 at the half. Northern was back on top by one, 34-33, going into the final eight minutes.

In the preliminary game, the Bruce Jayvees rolled over their Northern counterparts, 68-21.

Brad Yoder and Bender again led the scoring for the Huskies last night against Oldtown, but this time it was in a losing effort.

The Indians maintained a rather narrow lead throughout the contest, fighting back a Husky rally in the third period when the visitors drew to within

Christmas Tree Came From Ancient Rites

The pagans decorated trees, particularly evergreens, because they thought the trees were inhabited by woodland spirits. The Druids of ancient England tied gilded apples onto tree branches. During Saturnalia, the Romans decorated small trees with toys, masks of Bacchus, and candles.

Centuries passed before anyone took a tree inside the home and decorated. No one knew exactly who was responsible for the first indoor tree. Some say it was Martin Luther, who lived in Germany from 1483 to 1546. Others say it was an Austrian, in 1605. We do know that a German decorated the first indoor tree in America, in 1832. It was not until the Teddy Roosevelt years, however, that Christmas trees gained favor and became an American tradition.

Rojas Named MVP

Lakers Top Howard, Beaver To Win Rotary Tourney

The Garrett Community College Lakers closed out their 1980 competition on a solid note Saturday evening by defeating Beaver Community College, 65-76, and thus winning the annual Oakland Rotary Christmas Tournament championship. The Lakers made their way into the finals by trouncing Howard Community College Friday evening, 119-79. GCC is now 5-1 on the season.

Six Lakers, led by Jerome Hampton and Miguel Rojas, reached double figures in the win against Howard. Hampton and Rojas each netted 18 points, while teammates H.A. Savage scored 15, Roger Cornwell and Brian Black added 14 points each and Perry Lee contributed 12.

Pacing Howard's scoring were Lardy, who hit 29 markers, and Jones, who scored 21.

Garrett took a commanding lead early in the contest, allowing Coach Randy Hess to play his entire bench. The Lakers led at the half 59-42.

Hampton and Savage led in rebounds, grabbing eight apiece, while Shawn Finney provided nine assists and Black had seven assists and four steals.

The Lakers outshot Howard from the floor by a 53-29 margin, however, the visitors connected on 21 of 38 free throws, compared to a 13 of 15 effort by the Lakers.

In Friday evening's other preliminary, Beaver CC breezed past the Fayette Campus of Penn State, 83-42.

Miguel Rojas was the star in Saturday night's championship game against Beaver, as he hit 24 points on nine goals and a perfect six-for-six at the foul line and pulled nine rebounds. His efforts earned him the MVP trophy.

Rojas' foul shots were one of the real keys to the Lakers' win, as he connected on all of them in the final quarter. Bill Bender also contributed a four-for-four effort in that same period to allow the Lakers to pull away from the visitors for the win. Up to that point the contest had remained close, with Beaver maintaining a 42-40 edge at the half.

Four other Lakers reached double figures, including H.A. Savage, who hit eight goals and four of six from the line for 20 points, Brian Black with 14 points, Roger Cornwell with 11 and Jerome Hampton with ten. Hampton also contributed eight rebounds.

Leading all scorers was Beavers Tom Edwards, who netted 12 field goals and three free throws for 27 points. Phil Young scored 18 points.

Garrett outgunned Beaver from the floor 36-34 and hit 17 of 20 free throws, while Beaver managed to connect on only eight of 17 attempts.

The Lakers will not play again until January 6 when they visit Allegheny Community College-Coyne Campus.

Santa Buys An Auto

The following is a Christmas story which was passed down through the years in the family of the late Virge Shepard. It was submitted to The Republican by her widow, Tom Shepard, Thomas, W. Va. Mrs. Shepard learned the story as a child and taught it to her nine children and grandchildren.

One day Mr. Santa Claus said to his wife, "I'm tired of reindeer. I've had them all my life. You know that we live in an up-to-date age, that airships and motors are quite all the rage. I take such long rides. I'm beginning to feel I really should buy an automobile."

But dear Mrs. Santa, in doubt, shook her head. "You'd better stick to the reindeer," she said, "you can't drive an auto, you'll sure have a wreck, and the next thing you'd know you'd be breaking your neck!" But Santa was stubborn, you know some men are - the day before Christmas, he bought a new car.

He piled in the bags, and bundles of toys, his wife had helped make for the girls and the boys. He cranked up the car, and to his dear wife said goodbye. He was off through the ice and snow, and we all may be sure that he didn't go slow.

The icicles soon on his long whiskers froze, his cheeks were like cherries and red was his nose.

He punctured a tire on a sharp bit of ice. What happened then, of course, we all know, he landed head first in a deep drift of snow. He scrambled and sputtered and dug himself out. The car was a wreck and the toys were scattered about. He said to himself, "I've been such a dunce," and called his wife on the wireless at once. "Hurry down with the reindeer and sled. I've had a mishap," was all that he said.

With the clattering of hoofs and tinkling of bells, Mrs. Santa arrives and the story he tells.

As she helped him pick up the boys, she said, "Santa, I'm glad that the girls and the boys who watch and wait for your coming this year, will still find you driving those little reindeer, and as for the auto well bless your old heart, the day after Christmas we'll tear it apart!"

Direct Sales Boost Maryland, Delaware 1979 Farm Income

Maryland and Delaware

farmers sold $24 million worth of agricultural products directly to consumers in 1979, according to a survey conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The survey, handled by the Maryland-Delaware Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, found that livestock, dairy, poultry, and other miscellaneous products marketed directly were worth nearly $11 million. Floral and nursery products brought producers almost $6 million, fruit and nut sales totaled $4.4 million, and vegetables and melons totaled $2.7 million.

While the $24 million in total sales amounted to only two percent of Maryland and Delaware agricultural sales that year, the direct-to-consumers activity was an important income source to the participating farmers. Sales to the 4,700 operators making direct sales averaged $5,100. This type of marketing by 24 percent of the 19,200 Maryland and Delaware farms in 1979 included sales from roadside stands, pick-your-own operations, and farmers' markets in cities and towns.

The primary reasons producers gave for direct sales were increased incomes, ready access to consumers, enjoyed meeting people, and an efficient use of family labor or the lack of hired workers to harvest the crop.

The horned lark is said to be the world's most numerous song bird.

PET POINTERS

By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.
Manager of Veterinary Services
Norden Laboratories

Bladder disease is a serious and increasingly common ailment of the domestic cat. It ranges from a simple inflammation of the cat's bladder to a complete blockage of the urinary tract, so that urination is impossible.

Simple cases of bladder infections, known as cystitis, are usually caused by bacteria, and can be treated with antibiotics. This type of cystitis can affect male or female, whole or neutered animals.

Certain cats, especially neutered males, have the tendency to develop serious complications following a bladder infection. The problem begins when various factors, not all identified, cause minerals in the diet to form sand-like particles or stones in the cat's bladder. In males, these mineral deposits are often trapped at the urethra, the rather narrow bladder outlet. Sometimes enough particles will collect to completely block the urethra and stop the passage of urine. The problem isn't seen as often in female cats because they have a wider urethral passage.

Veterinary researchers believe that blockage of the urinary tract is caused by a combination of factors — initial bladder infections, a high ash diet, and an alkaline urine.

First, the high ash diet introduces high mineral levels into the pet's system. Then the cat's abnormally urine causes the dissolved minerals to form crystals in the bladder. And finally, the crystals add to the bladder irritation already begun by the bacteria, and close the urethra. The signs of bladder discomfort are fairly typical, and an alert owner should suspect the nature of the problem. At first, the cat will make frequent trips to the litter box or outside in response to bladder pressure. As the condition progresses, the cat will strain to urinate for several minutes at a time. Little or no urine will pass, and the cat will appear restless and may cry.

At this point, professional assistance is needed. Your veterinarian will anesthetize the cat, drain the bladder, and remove the obstruction.

As experienced cat owners will tell you, pets that have had one episode of urinary blockage are susceptible to others, so you will have to take steps to counteract the problem.

The cat should be encouraged to drink more water so that mineral are flushed from the bladder before stones form. If your cat refuses extra fluids, try adding 1/4 teaspoon of salt to its food each day. This should increase water intake noticeably.

You should also modify the pet's diet. Feed moist canned foods, and avoid those containing whole fish or ground bone. Once or twice a week, you might substitute raw meat for the regular canned food. The raw meat will help rise the urine's acid level; so will vitamin C supplements. If you wish to try the vitamin C, ask your veterinarian to determine the proper dosage for your cat's weight.

Occasionally, a cat's toilet habits contribute to its bladder problems. Some cats refuse to use a badly soiled litter box or prefer to relieve themselves outdoors. These pets will hold urine for long periods, and are more susceptible to bladder stones. If your cat is in this category, change the litter frequently, and be alert to the cat's desire to go outdoors.

Living with a cystitis-prone cat in your household will require careful attention to a few details. But with the help of your veterinarian, and a carefully monitored diet, your pet can avoid the pain and trauma of this major bladder disease.

Robin's Red Breast Came At Bethlehem

Animals and birds are the subject of many Christmas legends but one of the most interesting supposedly tells how the robin got his red breast.

According to the story, the fire in the stable on that first Christmas began to die, with only a few smoldering embers, while the family slept. A little bird swooped down and with his wings fanned the embers until they glowed. His breast reddened from the heat but he kept on until the coals burst into flames. Since that time the robin's breast has been red as a reminder of his devotion to the Holy Infant.

GRANTSVILLE

The Woodmen of the World Rangers and Rangerettes sponsored a Christmas program and party at the Goodwill Menonite Home on Saturday evening. Santa Claus, along with his helpers, presented a small gift to each of the patients there.

Mrs. Goldie Beachy, Mrs. Barbara Butler, and Leo Coddington recently visited the former's mother, Mrs. Nora Ellen Butler, at the Minerva Nursing Home, Minerva, Ohio. They all had dinner with Mrs. Lulu Livengood and son, Paul. Mrs. Butler's condition remains "fair".

Mr. and Mrs. George Bowser, of Bittinger, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younkin.

The Maple Grove Church of the Brethren is the recipient of a sound speaking system, which is being placed in the church by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hare, as a gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younkin visited their aunts and uncle, Mrs. Edna Brant and family at McHenry; and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Teets, near Rock Lodge, on Sunday.

Mrs. Olive Hetrick and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson visited Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hetrick at Meyersville. They all visited Park Hetrick at the Martinsburg, W. Va. Veterans' Center.

Board Resolves Bus Stop, Residency Policy Matters

The Garrett County Board of Education decided to combine three bus stops on Rt. 50 and to revise its residency policy for administrators and supervisors during the Thursday, December 11 meeting.

The Board had planned to combine the Rt. 50 bus stops earlier, but had reviewed the decision when one of the families affected had protested. The Board made its final decision after receiving advice from the State Highway Administration officials and from members of the Board who had inspected the site.

In response to a request by the Administrators and Supervisors Association to abolish the Board's residency policy, the Board directed Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county school superintendent, to make the policy more flexible. It determined the policy could allow an administrator or supervisor to live within a certain mile radius of the area in which he works.

Thefts, Vandalism Head Complaints

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department is investigating two thefts and a destruction of property which were reported last week.

Bull's Gas Station in Swanton was broken into December 9, when thieves forced their way through a panel wall. Taken from the establishment were numerous tools, gun shells, fishing boxes, a battery-operated lamp, 29 cartons of various brands of cigarettes, seven watches, two repair kits for lawn mowers, coins and food items.

The approximate loss value of the theft is $375.

In a separate case, Peter J. Nichols, Craneyville, reported that a hydraulic cylinder was taken from his farm sometime between November 30 and December 10. The farm machinery is valued at about $130.

Ronald Aronhalt, Rosedale, reported that someone slashed the front left tire of his vehicle while it was parked on Shady Dell Road. The incident occurred during the night of December 19. The loss value is estimated at $85.

Charges Filed In Tuesday Shooting;
Baltimore Policeman Wounded

BALTIMORE (UPI) — City police Tuesday formally charged a 29-year-old man with assault with intent to murder for allegedly shooting a police officer who was about to question a suspect in the robbery of a taxi cab driver.

Police said Durwood Hood, 35, an eight-year veteran, was shot and wounded Tuesday when he stopped a man suspected in a cab robbery that occurred minutes before. Hood was listed in satisfactory, but stable, condition at Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he was being treated for a bullet wound in the lower back.

The taxi driver, who told police he was robbed of his wallet, watch, ring and keys by a man with a pistol, had found another cab driver who alerted police. Hood found a man who resembled the suspect's description in East Baltimore and ordered him to stop when the suspect turned and fired three times, striking Hood once, police said.

Ebbie Sawyer, the man charged by police, was to face a preliminary hearing Tuesday before a district court commissioner.

Christmas Sales Down

Maryland Shoppers Spending Less

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Maryland consumers are buying fewer items this Christmas season and are being more selective in what they do buy, a Tuesday survey of retailers across the state showed.

"I would have to say it's been a disappointing Christmas," said Jeff Sherman, vice-president and store manager of the Bethesda branch of Bloomingdale's. "The excitement, the spirit of Christmas buying, just never seemed to come about."

Managers at four department stores reported Christmas sales volumes ranging anywhere from 7 percent behind to 16 percent ahead of last year, with some refusing to discuss sales.

Theodore T. Bierman, executive vice-president for Hutzler's, said December business should rise 5 percent over last year, adding sales were "very soft" at the end of November, the start of the buying season. Specialty shops sales personnel had varied reports on Christmas sales, ranging from a 19 percent increase at Phillip's Men's Wear's Easton store to a 7 percent drop at Jackson's Book Center in Annapolis.

"People just don't have as much money this year," said Vicki Metzger, manager of Jackson's. "People are buying fewer gifts, and they are buying less expensive gifts."

Several retailers said shoppers were only buying sale items, saying they needed to run more promotions this Christmas. They also said Christmas buying has picked up later this year than in years past.

"During the last week to 10 days, buying has been nearly as strong as last year," said Sherman. "But things didn't start out nearly as strong."

Said Bierman, "A lot of people are uncertain, and they've been putting it off and putting it off, and then saying:

Former CIA Agent
Arrested In Scheme
To Borrow Money

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A man who resigned from the Central Intelligence Agency eight years ago was arrested Tuesday and charged with impersonating a CIA agent in order to borrow money.

Wade Jolliss, 54, director of special services at the University of Maryland Hospital, was arrested by FBI agents at his home in Arnold in Anne Arundel County. He was named by a federal grand jury in a six-count indictment charging him with impersonation and mail fraud.

Jolliss, who worked for the CIA for several years before resigning in 1972, was accused of telling people he was a CIA official in order to borrow $48,000.

The indictment said Jolliss told people the money was to be used for CIA operations, recruiting and hiring.

Officials at University Hospital said Jolliss was in charge of campus security and parking.

TOY AND CLOTHING COLLECTION — The Broad Ford Title I Parent Advisory Council has been busy with special projects for the Christmas season, which includes collecting clothing, toys, candy, etc., to make a special Christmas for some of the children from the school. Parents, faculty, cafeteria members, special friends, the Broad Ford Brownie Troop 5523, with leaders Linda Stemple, Eva Clary, and Cathy Savage, and Cub Scout Pack 70, Den 3, with leaders Marion Brewton and Linda Hauser, participated in the project. After The Fall

Mandel Reflects On Prison, Life

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Former Gov. Marvin Mandel, now serving a prison term for political racketeering, says he is lonely and baffled but not bitter.

In an interview published Tuesday, Mandel said he cannot figure out why he still is in prison at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., while others convicted in 1977 of mail fraud and bribery. Mandel was accused of accepting money and gifts in return for influencing legislation favorably to a race track his codefendants secretly owned.

A long legal battle ended last spring when the Supreme Court refused to review the convictions.

"I don't think bitter is the right word for me to use now. Actually, I'm baffled," said Mandel, whose final request for parole was denied about two weeks ago.

"My main question is why am I being treated any differently than others who were involved in similar circumstances and who were not required to serve their whole sentences?" he asked in the interview in the Baltimore Evening Sun.

"The only thing I ever was charged with was not informing the public that some men I knew owned a race track."

Mandel and five others were convicted in 1977 of mail fraud and bribery. Mandel was accused of accepting money and gifts in return for influencing legislation favorably to a race track his codefendants secretly owned.

A long legal battle ended last spring when the Supreme Court refused to review the convictions.

Mandel works in the laundry at the Eglin prison, which is a minimum security facility. But he said his life there is not as easy as some have portrayed.

"Look, anyone who has the idea that this is a country club is badly mistaken — it's a prison. The fact that there are no bars makes it much harder on me because the only thing keeping me here is myself," Mandel said.

CHRISTIAN CANDLE

The Christian candle, symbolic of Christ as "The Light of the World," originated from Roman and Hebrew customs. Tapers of tallow from animal fats later became candles made of beeswax.

Storm Closes Highways, Schools;
Two Die In Shore Accidents

By United Press International

Freezing rain across much of Maryland Tuesday surprised motorists and kept many schoolchildren at home. At least two people died in a weather-related accident, state police said.

Police closed portions of Interstates 95, 695 and 83 in the Baltimore area to allow crews to salt roads and clear accidents. Backups of several miles were reported as late as 10:30 a.m.

"Don't even try to go out on the beltway (695) — it's sheer ice," one Baltimore County roads official said after a six-car accident early in the day.

The freezing rain began falling about 2 a.m. when the temperature was about 26 degrees. The rain stopped by midmorning and afternoon temperatures in the 40s began melting the ice and made driving easier.

Two people died in a weather-related accident on the Eastern Shore. Police say a car traveling south on State Route 213 in Queen Anne's County four miles north of Centreville skidded into the northbound lane, where it was hit by a truck.

Larry Steward, 26, and Arnett Demby, 19, both of Chestertown, were pronounced dead at the scene.

Roads on the Eastern Shore and in southern and central Maryland were called hazardous. Western Maryland had no rain or snow, although the forecast called for freezing rain to begin later in the day.

Schools in many Maryland jurisdictions, most of which were due to close after today for Christmas vacation, were canceled, including Baltimore and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Cecil, Howard, Prince George's, Queen Anne's and St. Mary's counties.

Airline officials said the weather had no effect on flights at Baltimore-Washington International Airport. USAir said all its flights were operating on time.

The icy roads kept many offices and factories nearly empty. All federal, state and local government offices were open, but many employees were showing up late or not at all. Federal employees in the Baltimore area, other than those at the Social Security Administration headquarters, were advised to stay at home unless they could get to work within two hours of their starting time.

Maryland Plant Expert

Says Poinsettia Is Not Toxic

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — Poinsettias, the popular Christmas plant with the red petals, are not poisonous as has been reported in books on dangerous plants for years, a University of Maryland extension instructor said Tuesday.

Dr. Conrad B. Link, a floriculture specialist at the College Park campus since 1948, said stories that poinsettias are poisonous or otherwise dangerous to humans or animals have been circulated each year at Christmastime since 1919.

But he said the warnings are unsubstantiated by medical and scientific fact.

"The source of these accusations appears to be an unfounded story about the 2-year-old child of a U.S. Army officer in Hawaii whose death was attributed to eating a poinsettia leaf," said Link.

"As a result, the poinsettia was added to somebody's list of poisonous plants. And this list has been copied countless times by book and article writers without thoroughly checking its accuracy," he said.

Link said specific research on the toxicity of poinsettias was done a decade ago at Ohio State University by two entomologists, Robert P. Stone and W.J. Collins, who concluded the plants were safe.

"Their study showed that rats exhibited no ill-effects whatever, even when fed unusually high doses of various portions of poinsettia plants," he said.

White Christmas
Unlikely This Year

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — The troublesome sheet of ice that covered most of Maryland Tuesday morning may be the closest thing to a white Christmas most state residents are likely to see.

Joseph Moyer, climatologist at the University of Maryland's agronomy department, said it has been 10 years since all of Maryland was covered with snow on Christmas Day.

"The holiday snowfall of 10 years ago started on the afternoon of Christmas Day and continued into the following morning," he said. "Youngsters with new sleds found heavy snow depths on the afternoon of Dec. 26, in both Western Maryland and on the Lower Eastern Shore."

Moyer said as recently as two years ago it snowed on Christmas in Western Maryland's mountainous Garrett County.

But he said that based on a table of probabilities, the chances of another white Christmas throughout the state this year do not appear good.

Using records in the state climatology office for the 30-year period, 1941 to 1970, Moyer concluded the probability of snow on Christmas Day in:

- Baltimore was 23 percent, or two years out of every nine;
- Hagerstown was 40 percent, or two years in five;
- Oakland, in Garrett County, was 57 percent, or four years out of every seven;
- Salisbury, on the Lower Eastern Shore, 10 percent, or one year in 10;
- Frederick was 33 percent, or one year in three;
- Cambridge was 13 percent, or one year in eight.

"Snow for Christmas is more a dream than a reality most years in Maryland," he said. Records in the climatology office, which go back to the turn of the century, are used to help predict crop disease and insect outbreaks as well as harvest yields.

Metro Prices Rise;
Housing And Food
Lead Increases

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Consumer prices in the Baltimore area, pushed by higher housing and food costs, rose 1.3 percent the last two months, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics said Tuesday.

Prices in the metropolitan area have increased 13.7 percent since a year ago, figures released by the bureau's regional office in Philadelphia showed. Based on the 1967 base, the Consumer Price Index in Baltimore stands at 258.4, meaning that a bag of groceries that cost $10 in 1967 would cost $25.84 today.

Nationally, the cost of living increased 1 percent in November.

Alvin I. Margulis, the bureau's regional director, said housing costs were the main culprit in Baltimore during October and November, jumping 1.6 percent. The price of buying, financing and repairing houses all increased during the period.

Housing prices are 13.7 percent higher than a year ago, Margulis said. Surprisingly, realtors said there is strong demand for homes in the area, although prices and mortgage interest rate have increased steadily.

Food prices were up 1.4 percent, led by a 1.3 percent boost in the cost of bakery goods and 0.9 percent increases in vegetable, meat and poultry prices. Ham, bacon and chuck roast increased the most among meat and poultry, while sugar, prepared foods and snacks also were up.

It cost more to fly on commercial airlines, get a car loan and buy automobile insurance, leading to a 1.1 percent increase in transportation prices. New cars were cheaper as dealers tried to get rid of large inventories. Gasoline also was cheaper, although recent increases by major oil companies had not shown up at the pump.

Bomb Threat
Halts Flight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A telephoned bomb threat forced an Eastern Airlines jetliner carrying 293 passengers to break off a planned New York to Los Angeles flight and land early Tuesday at Dulles International Airport.

Airport manager Dexter Davis said the crew and passengers of Flight 225 were evacuated by emergency exit chutes after the plane landed shortly after midnight. Nine passengers were taken to three area hospitals and treated for minor injuries.

June Farrell, an Eastern spokeswoman, said the injuries included a sprained ankle, some bruises and "rope-burned" hands the passengers sustained while sliding down the emergency exit chutes.

David Hess, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman, said Virginia state police dogs trained to sniff out explosives were unable to turn up a bomb on board the Lockheed 101 aircraft.

Hess said a man with a foreign accent called United Airlines in New York Monday evening saying that a bomb would go off at midnight on the Eastern flight.

United called Eastern and the message was relayed to the pilot, who made an emergency landing at Dulles at 12:04 a.m. The passengers left about 11:00 a.m. Tuesday for Los Angeles on a replacement flight.

Evergreens Part Of Ancient Rituals

Evergreens were used in traditional ceremonies long before the birth of Christ. Egyptians, celebrating the winter solstice, shortest day of the year, brought green date palms into their homes as a symbol of "life triumphant over death."

The evergreen bough was used by the Romans in their observance of the feast of Saturn. The Druids believed that a sprig of evergreen in the house meant eternal life. Early Scandinavians paid homage to the fir tree and, for Norsemen, evergreens symbolized the revival of their sun god, Balder.

In The Mountain State

New Industry Looks At Fairmont

FAIRMONT, W.Va. (UPI) — Like a nervous young man courting his girlfriend at her parents' home, Salem Corp. apparently is putting its best foot forward in the city where it intends to locate a coke plant.

Salem, along with Penn Engineering, is developing a $125 million, 60-oven coke battery on the site of the old Sharon Steel coke plant.

But people here remember clearly the pollution sewed into the air and water for decades by the old coke plant until the State Air Pollution Control Commission finally shut it down.

People also are aware of how Round Bottom residents in neighboring Monongalia County resent the lack of cooperation and communication of another company - Alla-Ohio Coals Co. - which is planning a set of coke batteries there.

Wilputte Corp., a division of Salem, is designing both new plants.

In a telephone interview from Pittsburgh Tuesday, Salem Corp. President Howard Heard said his company wants to get off on the right foot. Salem has already held two public meetings and a third is scheduled for the latter part of January, tentatively the 29th.

"At that time what we want to do is update the town people and let them know what is going on," Heard said. "We want to keep them posted so they don't feel left out."

Another step Salem is willing to take is to bring some residents to an operating coke battery.

Heard said he and his firm are aware of the negative relationship that has developed between Alla-Ohio and the Round Bottom residents.

"Obviously, we're sorry about that, but that is their problem," Heard said. "We intend to get the community with us because we do believe that on balance it is a marvelous thing for the Fairmont community."

"Obviously, we learned from their mistakes. But I think our intent right from the start was to play it right out front with the Fairmont people."

Salem hasn't submitted applications for the necessary permits yet but is well into the designing stage. The APCC will hold a public hearing as part of the permitting procedure once it gets the data it needs.

Sharon Steel hasn't finalized its plan to dispose of the hazardous materials left from its operations on the site. Heard said responsibility for those wastes remains with Sharon Steel.

While Sharon Steel will have no part in operating the new plant, it will be the major consumer of the annual output of 550,000 tons of coke, Heard said.

Freighter Collision

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Coast Guard has charged the operator of a pleasure boat with causing a collision last April in which a 538-foot freighter cut the boat in two.

Theodore Grillo, 40, of Edgemere, is accused of improperly steering his 45-foot craft beneath the bow of the container ship Seatrain Bunkerhill and with failing to provide an adequate lookout while sailing the Chesapeake Bay.

Mike Waller, a Coast Guard spokesman, said recommendations have been made to "assess civil penalties" against Grillo and he could be fined $500 on each charge if found guilty.

Investigators said they found no evidence of misconduct or neglect of duty on the part of the freighters crew.

Grillo and his three passengers were not seriously injured and were picked up by the freighter.

Rabbit Fever Warning

TOWSON, Md. (UPI) — The Baltimore County Health Department is warning that severe illness, even death, can result from contact with freshly killed or frozen rabbits infected with tularemia, commonly known as rabbit fever.

Dr. Jack Grigor, a department spokesman, said Tuesday at least three cases have been confirmed this year. He said hunters should not handle sick or dead rabbits and should always wear rubber gloves when dressing rabbits killed in the field.

Tularemia bacteria survive as long as three years when frozen but thorough cooking will kill them, he said.

The disease's symptoms include fever, slowly healing wounds and swollen glands. Grigor warned that because symptoms are general and resemble a number of illnesses, it is important that hunters "at least acknowledge they have been exposed so the physician can zero in on it."

Antibiotics are effective in early stages but if the disease is not treated it can cause serious illness and even death.

Burglar Shot, Killed

TOWSON, Md. (UPI) — A burglar was shot and killed early Tuesday morning by a Loch Raven homeowner, Baltimore County police said.

Police spokesman Jay Miller said Grace Littleton was awakened by barking dogs and opened a porch door. The intruder, who police said was armed with a .38 calibre revolver, forced his way in and demanded money and valuables.

Mrs. Littleton's husband, Raymond, managed to conceal a .38 calibre automatic in his pocket while the couple collected valuables, police said.

The intruder forced the couple outside and told them to get in their pickup truck, police said. Littleton asked him to allow his wife to remain behind, but the burglar refused and forced the couple into the truck.

Police said Littleton fired at the man, who returned the fire, striking Mrs. Littleton in the stomach and her husband in the arm.

The burglar, who has not been identified, was pronounced dead on the scene. No charges are pending against Littleton, who was treated and released at St. Joseph's Hospital. A hospital spokeswoman declined to comment on Mrs. Littleton's condition.

Tax Resister Charged

WESTMINSTER, Md. (UPI) — A Westminster businessman who founded a tax-resisters' group has been indicted on charges of failing to pay federal income taxes for two years.

John Kotmair Jr. is the founder of the Committee of Correspondence, whose members claim collecting income taxes is unconstitutional.

Earlier this year, Kotmair lost a fight over his state taxes in Maryland Tax Court. The comptroller's office maintained Kotmair owed the state $872.39 in taxes for 1974 and 1975.

Monday's federal indictment contends Kotmair did not file returns for 1975 and 1976.

Record Year Predicted For Capital Investments In Maryland

In spite of a general slowdown in business activity across the nation, researchers at the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development predict that new and expanding firms committed a record-setting $1.2 billion in capital investments for Maryland in 1980. This would eclipse the record set in 1979 when 400 firms announced $1.12 billion in capital investment. In 1978, capital investment in Maryland amounted to $283 million.

DECD researchers estimate the new capital investment will create at least 15,000 jobs for Maryland in the three to seven years it will take to implement the planned expenditures.

The largest single portion of the total—$450 million—will be spent by General Motors when they modernize their Broening highway plant in Baltimore over the next two years. The Westinghouse Corporation has also announced a $100 million expansion of its facility at Baltimore-Washington International Airport.

These commitments by two of the world's largest manufacturers can accurately be interpreted as votes of confidence in Maryland's future, and as a signal to other businesses they are welcome in Maryland," DECD Secretary James O. Roberson stated.

In a 12-page report to national and regional newspapers last week, Roberson detailed other DECD efforts during the past year.

In addition to the direct economic activity, Roberson reported that DECD's Community Development Administration (CDA) raised over $194 million from bond sales in 1980 to provide affordable housing for low to moderate-income families. The CDA supported effort will add 3,348 new units to the state's housing stock.

Other economic development highlights included a pivotal year for the Maryland Industrial Development Financing Authority (MIDFA), which approved 55 loans for new and expanding industry totalling $67.2 million. In the past 24 months, MIDFA has approved more loans than in its previous 14 years combined.

Several pieces of pro-business legislation were passed by the 1980 General Assembly, including authorization for a $6 million bond sale for the newly-created Maryland Industrial and Commercial Redevelopment Fund (MICRF). MICRF will provide loans and grants to local jurisdictions to revitalize commercial and industrial

DECD's Division of Research issued a preliminary report on a proposal by the Environmental Protection Agency which would encourage industrial growth while preserving environmental safeguards. The proposal would allow industries to save, sell, or trade, their pollution "rights" are transferred there must be a reduction in the amount of pollution. If enacted into law, Maryland would be the first state in the nation to have this type of regulation.

DECD's effectiveness in marketing the state to businesses was enhanced with the release of the department's first-ever comprehensive marketing plan. The plan sets specific goals for economic development, emphasizing the attraction of high-technology firms to the state.

The department also made considerable gains in addressing other housing needs, including a unique program designed to assist first-time homebuyers. DECD financial and logistical assistance was not aimed solely at businessmen, manufacturers and homeowners, however, a variety of programs coordinated through the department's Division of Local and Regional Development (DLRD) helped enhance local government effectiveness and enrich Maryland historical and cultural environment, according to DECD.

Yes, We have a Christmas Angel living at our house. And most of the excitement of this joyous season revolves around her.

Of course, she is not an angel most of the time. She is a very special little girl—very special because we love her.

At church this Christmas she'll be one of the "angels" singing to the shepherds the joyous news of Jesus' birth.

We are glad the church has become an important part of her life. That's where she has learned that she is very special to God.

So are we all!

The joy of Christmas at our house... and in God's House... begins with the realization that Jesus was born because God so loved the world.

HOLIDAY FOOD SAFETY

The holiday season is the best time of year for enjoying family and friends, but it is also the worst time for getting sick. Some of the illness may occur because of food poisoning, so to help avoid it, here are some suggestions:

*Keep hot foods hot (above 140°F) and cold foods cold (below 40°F) until serving.

*Don't let anything containing meat, poultry or eggs sit on the buffet table for hours on end. Put out only what you think will be consumed in an hour or so and leave the rest refrigerated. Never let any of these foods stand at room temperature for more than two hours.

*If you like rare roast beef, cook it to an internal temperature of at least 145°F. Also, before serving the pan drippings, heat them to boiling. If gravy or drippings are kept for a second meal, boil them a few minutes before serving.

*Be careful with egg nog. Either keep it on ice, or make sure that only what will be consumed within two hours is left out at room temperature.

*In any food preparation, but especially with foods containing meat, poultry or eggs, keep your hands and utensils clean. Be sure to wash utensils well between uses, especially when you have used them with raw meat or poultry. Also, always keep counter surfaces clean.

*Thaw your holiday meat or poultry in the refrigerator, not at room temperature. Never stuff poultry far ahead of time or with warm stuffing. For the ultimate in safety, bake the stuffing separately from the bird. Stuffing and bird should be refrigerated separately after cooking.

FOOD NOTES

Quick breads are a real favorite around the holidays. Here is one I think you will enjoy trying:

HOLIDAY NUT BREAD

2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ cup chopped nuts
1½ cups mixed candied fruits
½ cup raisins
½ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
3 eggs
½ cup mashed banana
½ cup orange juice

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Stir in chopped nuts, candied fruit and raisins. Cream shortening. Add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Combine mashed banana and orange juice; add to creamed mixture alternately with flour mixture, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Turn into a waxed paper lined and greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F) 1 hour. Let bread partially cool in pan before turning out on cake rack, about 30 minutes. Yield: 1 loaf.

MYRRH LEGEND

According to an old legend, Adonis, a beautiful youth, originated from a myrrh tree. Myrra, daughter of Theias, King of Syria, deceived her father and was exiled to the deserts of Arabia, where the gods transformed her into a myrrh tree. After a time, legend says, the tree burst asunder and Adonis emerged.

"Expect A Miracle"

A word from Pastor Greg Grant:

"God loves you, and wants to help you! I believe that He wants to reach out to you right where you are. I believe that the miracle working power of God will be released to those in need in this service.

Here are a few testimonies of people just like you who have received their miracle."

WILLIAM FITZWATER, III

"I was involved in a motorcycle accident in Oakland that punctured my lung, broke my back and eleven ribs, tore my kidneys, bladder and liver loose from my body. I was taken to Morgantown without much hope of living until I got there. The Lord touched me and completely restored my broken body . . . the doctors were amazed when I was walking the halls three days later! My Lord is the Great Physician."

DONNA BITTINGER

"At age 19, I was stricken with arthritis. The doctors told me that the chances of my being totally immobile and in a wheelchair were very high. During the next five years, I underwent two hand operations, but the crippling was to the point of my not being able to flex my arms to comb my hair or bend to tie my shoes. In August, 1975, I came to know Jesus Christ as my personal Savior. Several months later, in a church service, I went forward for prayer expecting a miracle from God. I received my healing. Praise God—from that moment on, I was given a new hope for a happy normal life, serving Jesus!"

CHARLES WARNICK

"In 1949, I was diagnosed as having rheumatic fever and sent to Martinsburg VA hospital. There, two weeks after my admission, the doctors told my wife that I could not live. For the first time in my life, I started reading God's word and praying. The Lord miraculously healed me and even today I don't have a heart murmur. It is a shame that man has to come that close to death to find life, but all is possible through Christ!"

JEREMY FITZWATER

Jeremy was born on March 1, 1977, and when he was several days old, we discovered that he was born with a blockage between his bladder and kidneys. Even though he underwent eight operations in two years, the specialists told us that his bladder would never function normally. After special prayer at the church, Jeremy underwent a battery of tests and the doctors had to tell us that his recovery was due to a higher power! He is functioning as a normal three-year-old. Praise the Lord.

Last Statewide White Christmas Occurred In 1970

Snow for Christmas is more a dream than a reality most years in Maryland. But there have been some grand exceptions, according to records in the state climatology office at the University of Maryland.

Residents of mountainous Garrett County enjoyed a white Christmas only two years ago. However, the last white Christmas across the entire state occurred in 1970, reports W. Joseph Moyer, state climatologist and agronomy department faculty member at the College Park campus.

The holiday snowfall of 10 years ago started on the afternoon of Christmas Day and continued into the following morning, Moyer recalls. Youngsters with new sleds found heavy snow depths on the afternoon of December 26 in both western Maryland and on the lower Eastern Shore.

Moyer has compiled a table of probabilities for snow on Christmas Day at various locations around the state. He emphasizes that this is not a weather forecast, but merely an historical statement of the chances for one inch or more of snow. The table is based on records of the state climatology office for a 30-year period, covering 1941 through 1970. The following are his findings, including location and probability of snow.

Baltimore, 23%, or 2 years in 9; Oakland, 57%, or 4 years in 7; Frostburg, 43%, or 3 years in 7;

Cumberland, 36%, or 3 years in 8; Hagerstown, 40%, or 2 years in 5; Frederick, 33%, or 1 year in 3; Cambridge, 13%, or 1 year in 8; Salisbury, 10%, or 1 year in 10.

Records of the state climatology office go back to the turn of the century. They help to predict crop disease and insect outbreaks, as well as harvest yields, Moyer said. Long-term variations in crop research results often can be correlated closely with official weather history.

Administratively, the state climatology office at College Park is in the agronomy department of the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station. It maintains close ties with local offices of the National Weather Service, an agency of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in the U.S. Department of Commerce, Moyer concluded.

Income Tax Record Gathering Currently Advised

Taxpayers, especially those who itemize, should begin compiling receipts and other records to support claims on their Federal tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service advises. These records can be used to back up claims in case the return is examined and also assist taxpayers by reminding them of potentially overlooked deductions.

For easy reference, the records should be sorted into the categories which appear on Schedule A of Form 1040, the IRS says. When itemizing, taxpayers should bear in mind interest paid on loans and mortgages, as well as payments for medical insurance which are documented on various financial statements. These amounts are often deductible, and frequently overlooked. Medical expenses, union dues and charitable contributions are a few other commonly claimed deductions for which IRS examiners often request supporting evidence. Keeping cancelled checks, pay stubs, and bills can be helpful in supporting these claims. However, the IRS notes that taxpayers should not attach receipts or cancelled checks to their tax returns.

Oakland Police Report Rash Of Tire Slashings

The Oakland City Police Department has reported a rash of tire slashings throughout Oakland. Chief Hobart Shillingburg stated that his department is aware of at least 10 tires slashed during the past two weeks. He added, however, that no one has seen the culprits.

Anyone having any information regarding the tire slashings should contact the Oakland City Police.

Acres, Yield Notices To Be Sent To Farmers

Farm program participants in Maryland will receive notification of their 1981 program crop yields and acreages from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

"Notices of established yields and normal crop acreage will be mailed to farmers within the next few weeks," Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the ASCS Committee, said.

Farmers have 15 days from the date on the notice to appeal any entry shown on the notice.

Crowl said producers who want to establish proven yields for 1981 feed grains or wheat should assemble proof of production records for 1980 crops.

To request a proven yield for a particular crop, the farmer must collect data for all farms on which the crop was grown.

Farmers should contact the ASCS office for information concerning acceptable production evidence and the final date for reporting.

"Production evidence must be kept separate for each year and for each farm," Crowl said. Proven yield information may include crop production from one to three years.

Crowl also reminds producers to report any changes in their farm operations for the 1981 program year. To be eligible for program benefits, farm records must be up to date.

"Maryland farmers should contact our office if there has been a change in the amount of land they own or operate, if a farm has a new owner, or if a change is made in the operation of an existing unit," the ASCS official said.

He pointed out that requests for combining or dividing a farm should be made as soon as possible because of special processing and county committee approval.

Research Program Rules Proposed

Wheat producers, processors, end product manufacturers, and consumers have until January 19 to comment on rules to implement a national wheat and wheat foods research and nutrition education program.

Thomas H. Porter, an official of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Marketing Service, said the proposed rules were recommended by the newly formed Wheat Industry Council.

The council was established to coordinate the program and define the responsibilities of end-product manufacturers.

Porter said the program will be supported by assessments of end-product manufacturers. It will be administered by the Wheat Industry Council and monitored by AMS.

Under the proposed rules, during the first two years of the program, the Wheat Industry Council would collect assessments of up to one cent per hundredweight (45 kilograms) of processed wheat purchased. After that, the assessment rate could change.

Milk Production Up In November

The average daily milk production in Maryland rose to 33.7 pounds per cow in November, a half pound increase from the previous month and 1.2 pounds more than a year ago. According to the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service, milk production totaled 128 million pounds, two percent below last month, but five percent above a year ago. Milk produced per cow in November averaged 1,010 pounds, 35 pounds above a year ago. Maryland farms held 127,000 milk cows this month, unchanged from October, but 2,000 more than a year ago.

Maryland milk producers received $13.54 per hundredweight on a 3.50 percent butterfat basis, for milk delivered to plants during October. Actual deliveries during October averaged $14.00 per hundredweight, 50 cents above October 1979. The preliminary price for November averaged $14.20 per hundredweight at 3.84 percent butterfat.

Farmers in Maryland paid more for feed in October than during the previous month or last year. The largest percentage increase from a year ago was for soybean meal, up 30 percent. The percentage increase for other items ranged from 18-27 percent above a year earlier.

PBS series renovates a Victorian mansion

The Bigelow House was dying. Slowly. Dying of neglect and vandalism. Dying of its own uniqueness and size in a modern world of economical, space-saving sameness. Worst of all, its death was going unnoticed by nearly everyone. The year was 1975.

In its prime, the H.H. Richardson-designed house was a showplace, a wonderful rambling, shingle-covered, hilltop summer home for its owner, Dr. Henry Jacob Bigelow, and his family.

Time brought new families. Then the world began to change. Owners could no longer afford the luxury of such a marvelous time piece. In 1919 the house was purchased by the Peabody Home for Crippled Children. Fifty years passed. The Peabody Home closed. The City of Newton then leased the house and tried to keep it alive as a storied facility, then a nurses' residence. Finally, in 1973 it was all over. Dr. Bigelow's hilltop home was empty — boarded up, abandoned and slated for the wrecking ball.

Enter John Howard, chief scientist of the Air Force Geophysics Laboratory, and as it happened, owner of a Victorian shingle-style house that he had restored. Believing that one of H.H. Richardson's last works deserved better than salvage yards, Dr. Howard set out to save it.

First he paid a visit to the house. But he wasn't ready for the sight that greeted him. Vandals had broken every window in the house. Toilets had been ripped out. Fixtures stolen. Bannisters chainsawed. Beer cans and broken glass strewn everywhere.

Howard knew that if the house was to survive, he would have to act fast. A colleague began working to have the house accepted by the National Register of Historic Places, knowing that once it was accepted, the house could not be torn down by the city without public approval.

At the same time Dr. Howard was busy on two fronts. First he set up the Newton Historic Preservation Association to keep a protective eye on the house. Then he dug into the Herculean task of cleaning up the battered property.

Sweeping, shoveling the litter from the rooms, hauling garbage to the dump, mowing the lawn, clearing brush, repairing windows, and chasing off the nighttime visitors who had claimed the property as their lovers' lane.

"THIS OLD HOUSE" host Rob Vila uses a scale model to explain how he will tackle the renovation.

The house was safe. Useless, gutted, deteriorated — but safe. Still, the city of Newton was faced with the problem of what to do with it. Then Dr. Howard's newly formed Newton Historic Preservation Association offered to buy the house and restore it to usefulness.

A deal was struck. Howard and other members of the association made suggestions as to the best use of the house. But of all the proposals, the most appealing to the city and to the association was a plan to convert the house into five luxury condominiums. In this way everyone benefited. The Historic Preservation Association could renovate the landmark and preserve its architectural integrity while the city of Newton could return the property to its tax rolls. No one even considered the possibility of making the Bigelow House a television star.

Call it coincidence or fate, but while Dr. Howard and his friends were trying to find a useful role for their orphaned Victorian house, Russell Morash, producer of the WGBH home-renovation series, "This Old House," was looking for a house to star in the series' second season. When Morash saw the house, he knew he'd found his star. Nearly 100 years after its architectural birth, the Bigelow House was about to be born again.

The 27-week rescue effort on the house begins Thursday,

Jan. 1, on PBS. Viewers can follow along step by step through every aspect of the remodeling process, from plastering and painting to roofing, landscaping and tax assessment.

It's just got to make John Howard feel like smiling, knowing that this great forgotten house is about to be brought back to life, while millions of American viewers share in the process.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By VAL CAREW

A RELATIVE AND AN AGELESS QUESTION — Are Pat Crowley and Stefanie Powers sisters? How old is Barbara Eden and where was she born? — E. Whalen, Fallon, Nevada.

Stefanie and Pat are not related. Pat Crowley has a sister, Ann, who acted and sang, and has now retired. Barbara Eden was born in Tucson in 1934.

HISTORY SEARCH — To whom should I write to obtain information on a film produced and/or directed by D.W. Griffith? — Brenda Bouchard, Oakland, Mich.

If you can't find what you need to know in film reference books in your local library, write to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences Library, 9449 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, CA 90211. They have stacks of historic material and should be able to answer your questions.

THEME SONGS — Lots of TV series, present and past, have pretty theme music. Is there anywhere in the country where we can get records or tape recordings of these songs? — Dick R., Cedar Park, Texas.

Check your nearest large record store, since lots of TV theme music has been recorded. Henry Mancini made an album of TV hit themes several years ago, most of them written by him. You can also check libraries. Some of them have record collections. If your library has TV theme albums, you could borrow them and make cassette tapes. You can also tape themes from your television set. There is no legal problem so long as it's only for your own use and you make no profit from the tapes. Finally, if you want information about a show currently in production, write the music director of the show in care of the show and the network that carries it. Network addresses are ABC, 2040 Avenue of the Stars, Century City, CA 90067; CBS Television City, Los Angeles, CA 90036; and NBC, Burbank, CA 91505.

TO CON OR NOT TO CON — I have been having a heated argument with a friend about whether Marlon Brando or Red Buttons played the Okinawan con man in the movie "Teahouse of the August Moon." Please settle this for me. — H. Williams, Grand Rapids.

Marlon Brando played Sakini, the gentle con man. Glenn Ford was the American officer. When the show premiered on Broadway, David Wayne played Sakini, and John Forsythe was the officer.

LISA FROM THE PAST — I remember a "Hallmark Hall of Fame" production from several years back called "Lisa, Bright and Dark." Who were the three young women who played the leads? — Stephanie Valchar, Uncasville, Conn.

Kay Lenz, now married to David Cassidy, played Lisa. Her friends were Jamie Smith-Jackson and Debralee Scott.

CINDY SAYS

Dr. Brothers moves; Tiny Tim's new lady

By CINDY ADAMS

Joyce Brothers moved her psychology books, scrapbooks and doctor husband, Milton, to Fort Lee, N.J., from Manhattan's upper East Side. Reason? Who knows? Maybe to escape New York taxes. Tiny Tim has a new lady-friend. Her name is Laurie Levoy, and she's in his act. Chum Lamed Hampton, who's booked for gigs through 1985, is trying to shake free of a date in New Orleans so he can play the Presidential inaugural on Jan. 20.

Politics makes strange office furnishings. Senator Jacob Javits and Senator-elect Alphonse D'Amato, who were on opposing sides a few months ago, are now the nearest and dearest. Fact is, D'Amato's taking over Javits' office furniture. — Charlene Tilton of "Dallas" has an all-time idol. He's Elton John. — Dina Merrill gave Santa Claus a little nudie. She bought herself a skunk coat at a furrier's in Jersey. — Jack Klugman stopped smoking, began the Pritikin diet and dumped 25 pounds. — Andy Warhol: "I don't think Ronald Reagan has sex. I think anyone who works that hard just wants to get some sleep."

Mike Douglas: Beverly Hills pad is three stories high and measures 280 feet long. — Remember Don McNeill of daytime radio? He did "The Breakfast Club" for more than 35 years. What he loves in Winnetka, Ill., and has eight grandkids. — Doris Day, who could use the money and could use the activity, razzberry'd a pilot for a new TV series. Doesn't want the confinement of a steady show, she says. Also doesn't seem to want the $500,000 that goes with it. — Princess Caroline is knocking off a children's book alone and in longhand, yet. — Hey, kiddies, Christopher Reeves, who has dark brunette locks whilst winging through the air as "Superman," has light brownette hair in person.

From Bette Miller: "To me the best-dressed ladies are, in this order: Julia Child, Miss Piggy, Jay Heatherton and Amy Carter." — Prentice Hall just published Ruth Warlick's "The Confessions of Phoebe Tyler." It's as delightful as my friend Ruth is, so read it. — Octogenarian George Burns and sexagenarian Evelyn Keyes have discovered one another. George allows as how their idea of a hot night is to sit home and watch his foot fall asleep. — That hero of a TV cop, Hal Linden, loves to cook. His great passion is cooking up a fruited smoked pork butt. — Dick Clark may be buying the rights of the Miss Teen-age America pageant from Dr. Pepper, its present owner.

STARVIEW

Television rediscovers star chemistry

By RUTH THOMPSON

Because of a proliferation of college film clubs and movie houses specializing in revivals, a 19-year-old is apt to be as knowledgeable about the silent screen magic of Greta Garbo and John Gilbert or an obscure early talkie with Leslie Howard and Bette Davis, as is a senior citizen who caught them the first time around.

And except for a few cult or campy favorites (like "Casablanca") the same phrase recurs with solemnity: "Catch this for star chemistry."

It abounded in movies in the great days of the past. Is star-chemistry a thing of the past? The answer: It's less frequent nowadays. But it still happens, and this season and next television is where it's happening.

The newest Liberty Mutual special syndicated around the country the week of Jan. 3, "Mr. Griffin and Me," spins a slender story into a great vehicle for an hour's fun thanks to three virtuoso performers.

Gloria Grahame plays an ex-movie queen whose director-husband walked out on her 24 years ago. He's been hiding out in the rural South until a lecture booking lands her in a nearby city. Burgess Meredith portrays the director. His slyness, his singing (he and his son co-wrote the music), her shrewdness and their confrontations are something no acting student should miss. Also note veteran vaudevilian tap dancer, Honi Coles, making his "dramatic" debut as a would-be Mr. Fixit.

A few weeks back PBS presented "Big Blonde," which is not only critically on par with what the BBC has been able to do in England, but is also reminiscent of what Hollywood managed in its golden days.

There's more than a touch of irony here. This is one of three Dorothy Parker works adapted for television by Ellen Violette and it was long optioned by CBS. It lingered on the shelf because network programmers feared the theme lacked popular appeal. The show is about an over-the-hill model who turns to tears and booze because the men in her life want to keep her as a playgirl when she yearns to be a homemaker.

Gloria Grahame and Burgess Meredith

Eventually, Ms. Violette bought the rights back herself and then contacted WNBT-13 in New York. The result: great performances by Sally Kellerman, John Lithgow and Peg Murray.

Because of the good reception of "Big Blonde," the other Violette adaptations of Dorothy Parker stories may also be slotted into a future PBS season.

PBS will also be the outlet in the United States for the mini-series "Brideshead Revisited," being produced abroad by Granada Television (again, in association with WNBT-13). It was half finished when Britain's actors' strike brought it to a halt. But early reports of scenes done last year in Venice gave rays not just to Laurence Olivier, as expected, but to Anthony Andrews as Sebastian, whom the novelist Evelyn Waugh modeled on himself. Production has now been resumed.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

'DOOL' anniversary; casting shake-ups

By NANCY M. REICHERDT

HOLLYWOOD — The end of November marked "Days of Our Lives" 15th anniversary with NBC. It was interesting to note that the only remaining original cast members included: Mardonnald Carey and Frances Reid (Tom and Alice Horton) and John Clarke (Mickey Horton). Hopefully your favorites will be around to celebrate number 16, since new head writers Michele Potet-Lisanti and Gary Tomlin haven't yet made any drastic changes in the cast lineup.

Ray Liotta (Joey Perrini) returned to "Another World" after a month's vacation, sporting a full-grown beard. The young actor who traveled solo around the United States, is the favorite heartthrob of "AW's" young lady viewers.

Cast happenings on the various soaps included the addition of Tristan Rogers as Scorpino on "General Hospital," while Pamela Lewis joined the "Texas" cast as Shelby Leigh. Ken Mesker joined "One Life to Live" as Asa's nephew, Rafe Garretts. — Conard Fowkes made the decision to leave his role of Donald Hughes on "As the World Turns."

Excite from "Guiding Light" included: Maureen Garrett from the role of Holly Thrope and Cheryl Lynn Brown as Holly's daughter, Christina. An addition to "GL," however, was Harley Venton who signed on as lawyer, Derek Colby, who will be working with Mike Bauer and several other characters on the show.

Over the next couple of months soap viewers will be enjoying another look at the tropics as "Guiding Light" and "Search For Tomorrow" are both showing location footage shot in Jamaica. Lenore Kasdorf, Chris Bernau and Elvera Roussel (Rita Bauer, Alan and Hope Spaulding, respectively) were the lucky "GL" cast members, while Nicolette Goulet, Doug Stevenson and Marcia McCabe (Kathy Phillips, Lee Sontell and Sunny McClure) took to the tropics for "SFT." At this writing the role of Garth Taper on "SFT" hasn't been cast, but the new actor portraying Garth was on the trip. — Clint Ritchie (Clint Buchanan on "One Life to Live") recently realized one of his life-long dreams. The handsome actor purchased a small ranch in northern California where he's moved his five endurance racing horses. Clint, who has already won a belt buckle on a past Tevis Cup Endurance Ride, is all excited about getting his horses ready for the 1981 competition.

By Bob Bowie

Words in the list below appear across, up, down, backwards and diagonally in the diagram. Find each word and draw a circle around its letters, then cross the word off the list. Some circled letters appear in more than one word. The letters that form the answer will be left over. Unscramble and arrange them to create a word, or words, that will provide the answer.

Whatever happened to Mason Williams?

By MASON WILLIAMS
(In the late 1960s, writer-composer-musician Mason Williams emerged as an important figure in television and music circles. He was a prime inspiration to the "Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour," for which he was both writer and performer, and his "Classical Gas" was one of the most-played songs of the era. Then, suddenly, he was gone. Now, as head writer for NBC's "Saturday Night Live," Williams explains what he has been doing over the past decade.)

I left Hollywood at the height of my career, having almost quit writing entirely and mostly going to lunch with the stars. I was living in one of Howard Hughes's old houses, a rambling California ranch-style concrete block, sliding glass door-lover's secret hide-away sitting on top of the highest lot in Los Angeles at the back end of Bel Air. I had a big swimming pool, fruit trees, tons of oleander, avocado trees, olive trees. I even had a pomegranate tree.

I was above it all. I could see blue sky above me. In fact, the only problem I had with the smog was I couldn't see the sprawl of L.A. below it. Still, I wasn't having that much fun being rich and famous. I was raised on cheap thrills and how much beer can you drink?

One day I was driving down the Ventura Freeway going to a meeting and suddenly I decided, "What the heck?" So I turned right onto the San Diego Freeway and went back home to Oregon to go fishing. I never came back. I gave up my place in line in Hollywood.

I fished for six months and slept every night by the running waters. Then I moved to Santa Fe, where I played some new music with some new friends and, once in a while, some old music with some old friends. We formed a local band and played local bars, mostly in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas.

In 1974, I moved to Canada to write comedy in Edmonton, Alberta, but it was just too cold to be funny up there. So I came back to L.A. to write for my old buddies the Smothers Brothers' return to TV on NBC in 1975. It was too uptight to be funny there, except sometimes things would get kinda funny anyway.

During the Bicentennial I worked on writing my Bluegrass Symphony and played it several times with my musical friends. Didn't make a dime, didn't give a damn. I also wrote a pilot for Jim Stafford that Bert Sugarman produced. It never got on the air, because it never got off the ground.

In 1977, I did a Super Special for the CBC in Toronto. They were super. I wasn't. (I tried to tell them, but they wouldn't listen.) I put another band together that summer and we played Colorado bars and rode around in a 1947 Flexible-Flyer. I worked on Rolling Stone magazine's 10th anniversary special that fall, and I learned a lot about rock 'n' roll from those guys. For example, did you know that rock 'n' roll is kind of like "corny and horny," and that the whole idea of it probably came from kids driving their cars fast?

I didn't do much in 1978, but in the last couple of years things have gotten hot. I did a TV show in Halifax, wrote talk-show talk for Dinah Shore in Hollywood, played concerts with the Kansas City, Louisville, New Orleans and Little Rock Symphonies, did an Earth Day gig in Denver, a horse show in Eugene, Ore., a Bluegrass Festival in Kerrville, Texas, wrote a TV special for Steve Martin, two specials for the Smothers Brothers and now I'm live ... from New York ... it's Saturday Night!

Insurance Division Now Offering Toll-Free Number

The Maryland Insurance Division has recently installed a toll-free telephone number to better provide service to the citizens of Maryland.

Maryland citizens can dial 1-800-492-7521 anytime between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday and ask for the Insurance Division to satisfy any immediate problem or ask any question regarding insurance.

The Insurance Division consists of several sections and before calling, it is advised that the caller consider which section would be best able to answer the question or handle the problem.

The Complaint and Investigation section handles, for the most part, complaints against insurance companies whether the complaints involve claims, surcharges, cancellations or alleged violations of the insurance policy language.

The Life and Health section handles questions regarding the language or scope of life and health insurance policies including covering Health Maintenance Organizations.

The Property and Casualty section handles questions involving automobile, home and other personal property policies.

Each of these sections, and the other sections in the Division can be reached through the new toll-free telephone number, 1-800-492-7521.

IN MEMORIAM
In Loving Memory of my wife and mother, Anna Mae Hardisty, who passed away one year ago on December 25, 1979. Her life is a beautiful memory. For all her loving kindness she asked nothing in return. We live each day on memories, and secret tears still flow. Safe at home at last! Oh, say not she has died. Her soul has only crossed the swelling tide. And heaven's gates for her have opened wide. She is home at last! A true and valiant warrior of the faith. Proclaiming Christ even with her last breath, has laid her armor down. Call it not death. She is home at last! And though her going leaves a void within our lonely hour, we can rejoice with her. Her race is run. Heaven's glory she has seen. She is home at last. Like a sun for her has set, but oh, the glow that will linger over this world of woe. Because she lived and labored here below. She is home at last!
Sadly missed by her husband, children and grandchildren

Luncheon Held For Retiring Bank Employee

A luncheon to honor Lena L. Wolfe on her retirement from the First National Bank, Oakland, was held Wednesday, December 17 at the Skunkie Restaurant in Oakland. Mrs. Wolfe will retire December 31, 1980, after 18½ years with the bank.

In expressing the bank's appreciation for her tenure of faithful service, Courtney R. Tusing, Chairman of the Board and President, elaborated upon Mrs. Wolfe's career. He praised her for her sincerity and efficiency. He also spoke of the high esteem in which she is held by her customers and fellow employees.

A corsage of red carnations and a gift certificate were presented to Mrs. Wolfe by her co-workers. The bank also presented to her a gold watch and an engraved silver bowl, which read "Lena L. Wolfe, in recognition of your 18½ years of faithful service to The First National Bank of Oakland."

Mrs. Wolfe began her career at First National's Main office in June 1962 where she worked first as a bookkeeper and later as a teller. When the Mid-Towns Plaza branch east of Oakland was opened in 1978, she moved to that office to help establish a strong customer

Kitzmiller Seeks Block Grant Aid For Water Project

The town of Kitzmiller last week submitted a pre-application to Housing and Urban Development for a Block Grant to decrease the local cost of water line construction in the town. The pre-application submitted is in the amount of $244,000.

If approved, the funds will be used to alleviate the town's $270,000 burden for an estimated $1,042,974 water project, initiated in the 1960's. The project was initially considered for funding by Farmers Home Administration and the Appalachian Regional Commission. However, FmHA cannot presently approve the project because the local share is too great.

Wendell Kooton, Garrett County Municipal Coordinator, stated that the project plans are complete. Plans include the construction of a 140,000-gallon storage tank, water lines and more than 20 fire hydrants. Kooton said the town should hear from HUD sometime in late February or early March in regard to the pre-application.

The Kitzmiller Town Council is submitting the pre-application to the HUD.

Hotesses for the meeting were Joanne Hebele, Edith Brock, and Diane Thayer.

President Kathie Smith announced there would be no Board meeting in December. The next regular meeting will be held January 13 at St. Matthews Episcopal Church.

Alcohol, Tobacco Tax Revenues Noted

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported recently that alcohol and tobacco tax revenues for the month of November 1980 totaled $8,019,411, exceeding the net receipts collected during the same month of last year by $1,275,685. "This 18.9% increase is primarily attributable to the 30% cigarette tax increase enacted by the 1980 session of the General Assembly," Goldstein said. The per tax rate was raised from 18¢ to 23¢, July 1, 1980, and a sales tax exemption dropped. The $5,572,745 derived from tobacco taxes exceeded the November 1979 collection by 30.42%. November 1980 wine tax receipts of $274,215 reflected a gain slightly less than 2% above last November, while distilled spirits and beer taxes each declined by more than 1%, producing $1,421,013 and $734,561 respectively.

A comparison of receipts for the first five months of Fiscal Year 1981 with last year reflects an overall growth of 31.1%. All four tax sources demonstrate increases. Distilled spirits tax revenues increased by less than one-half of one percent, to $6,826,009. Wine tax receipts totaled $1,239,982, up 7.4% and beer tax revenue amount to $1,297,989 up 10.4%.

Tobacco tax revenue for the five month period totals $29,344,281, an increase of 42.1%. Total net collections from alcohol and tobacco tax sources for the first five months of Fiscal Year 1981 total $43,134,080, a growth of 31.1%, over the $32,895,315 collected for the same period of fiscal year 1980.

County Roads Designated As Link For Snowmobile Trail

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners last week designated portions of Otto Lane and West Shale Road, two county roads, for use by snowmobiles, to bypass private property and connect portions of a proposed expanded State Forest off-road vehicle trail.

The action was taken following a public hearing. Snowmobilers will be able to ride on approximately 200 feet of Otto Lane at Meadows Mountain, to its intersection with West Shale Road and approximately 100 feet of West Shale Road to pick up an additional portion of the trail. These designated roads can be used by snowmobilers from November 15 to April 1 of each year.

Lene Smith, president of the Deep Creek Lake Snowdrifters, Inc. and chairman of a recently appointed snowmobile task force, stated that the Snowdrifters club has discussed road travel in reference to State Forest trails, and the club is in favor of the roads designated. Smith added that the action is not connected with any recommendations by the task force, as that group has not yet issued an official report.

At last week's hearing, Commissioner H. Lester Hunter reported two concerns of Herb McCrabe, county road administrator. McCrabe questioned the county's liability in case of snowmobile accidents on county roads, and he pointed out the possible danger of increased coal truck traffic along the same roads as those designated for snowmobiles.

The commissioners directed

School Students Injured Sunday In Bus Accident

Snow and ice-covered highways contributed to the crash of a bus transporting 26 children from the Oakland area late Sunday night on U.S. Rt. 28 near Keyser, W. Va.

According to state police there, the school bus, driven by Michael Schrimshire, 32, Mt. Lake Park, associate pastor of the Mt. Lake Independent Baptist Church, was enroute to Winchester, Va., where the students were scheduled to meet another group of youngsters from that area before going on to the Tennessee Temple in Chattanooga, Tennessee. The group was traveling to a winter retreat in that city.

In an interview yesterday with The Republican, Mrs. John Schrimshire, wife of the church pastor and mother of the bus driver, spoke of the injuries and road conditions, as well as the loss of the bus, belonging to the Mt. Lake Park Independent Baptist Church.

According to Mrs. Schrimshire, six persons were treated initially at Potomac Valley Hospital, including her son Michael, 12, who suffered back injuries, and her daughter, her granddaughter, Cassandra, 12, who sustained a broken collar bone. Sandra Weeks, 20, who was treated for severe bruises; and Wendy Weeks, 12, Roger Bryant, 15, and Mike Codrington, 16, who were also treated for bruises. The remaining students were shaken up, but no one was seriously injured.

According to Mrs. Schrimshire, the church bus was estimated a total loss.

New Assessment Notices Mailed To One-Third Of Property Owners

Notices of Assessment for properties which have been reassessed this year have been mailed to and received by Maryland property owners, completing the second year of the three-year cycle of the state's triennial reassessment.

In Garrett County, as in all counties, one-third of the property owners received reassessment notices telling them their property had increased in value at about an 80 percent rate.

Their property would have increased at this rate regardless of the assessment system, because of rising inflation and market prices, notes Jerry Moyer of the State Tax Assessor's Office, but under the triennial system the increase will be stretched out over a three-year period, somewhat easing the effects of inflation on the property owner.

The triennial assessment is a complicated system, concedes Moyer, but it does benefit the property owner by showing him the full cash value of his property and by deflating the force of inflation upon property values.

Under the method, each county, including Baltimore City, has been divided into three roughly equal areas. The assessors review one area a year, so that at the end of a three-year cycle, all areas have been reviewed one time. Before the change, the properties would have been reassessed annually.

Property owners getting a reassessment notice this year have not gotten one since 1978. Property owners who received a notice last year will not get one until another property assessment would not be caught up in the effects of inflation," Moyer stated. The cap, he added, would insure that the "impact of a tremendous increase can be absorbed."

If inflation slows, the market stabilizes, the percentage would probably remain the same, Moyer pointed out. Although the triennial assessment has a built-in inflation factor, it is not an increased tax rate.

Project Basic Fully Implemented

The Garrett County Board of Education has implemented the Maryland competency-based instructional program in all county schools this year, announced Charles E. Thomas, Instructional Supervisor. Last year the program, called Project Basic, was tried at Broad Ford Elementary School.

The purpose of Project Basic, stated Mrs. Thomas, is to advance public education in Maryland by assuring that every public high school graduate possesses certain minimum skills in seven areas of human activity. Those areas are the basic skills of reading, writing, and mathematics, and the life skills of citizenship, survival, the world of work, and the arts/physical education.

By Resolution No. 1980-17, dated April 30, 1980, the State Board of Education included the objective Project Basic in a document called the Declared Competencies Index as part of the regular instructional program in the state of Maryland.

Full implementation of Project Basic means teaching all the competencies listed in the Declared Competencies Index as part of the regular instructional program in each school.

Thomas reported that each county public school has an implementation plan to provide for a smooth transition in

Mt. Lake Water Customers Sign Petition of Opposition

A group of approximately 120 Mt. Lake Park residents signed a petition which was submitted to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners last week, voicing their opposition to a $7.20 "ready-to-serve" charge and high rates reflected during the last water billing period. The petition states that there is opposition to the charge because water customers "have received no explanation" for the charge from the Sanitary District, and that customers should be informed of the board and the commissioners intend to issue an acknowledgment of the petition within a few days.

The petition was circulated and submitted by Mary Landon, Mt. Lake Park, who said she is "concerned about people on fixed incomes," and is wanting some questions answered. Ms. Landon stated that many of the elderly citizens of Mt. Lake Park are having difficulty paying their water bills this quarter, as they are so much higher than before.

She cited an instance where an elderly woman shut her water off because she could not afford it, and Ms. Landon said she carried 13 gallons of water to the woman's home. Ms. Landon stated that she is aware of many residents who feel they are being charged for more water than they are using, and that these residents are now reading their meters on a daily basis and keeping a record of water used by them.

When asked what results she expected from the commissioners, Ms. Landon stated that the group was primarily concerned with voicing their opinions, but that some action would be appreciated. One Mt. Lake Park resident stated that he was charged last billing period for using an average of 300 gallons per day, when he actually used only 100 gallons. The resident stated that he has had no adjustment made in his water bill, and he has not yet received a new meter.

A spokesman for the Sanitary District stated that, in

Commissioners Impose Freeze On County Hiring

At the direction of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, Paul Shockey, county personnel director, Tuesday sent out a memo notifying all county departments a freeze had been placed indefinitely on all hiring effective the first of 1981.

In addition, the commissioners cautioned all department directors to limit the use of overtime and compensatory time to emergency situations only.

Although the memo contained no explanation for the freeze, Commissioner Ernie Gregg stated the Board had taken the measure in an attempt to curtail county spending.

Gregg noted with escalating costs and recent increases in assessments, the commissioners "can't go back to the public with a higher tax rate than this past year. We can't continue to ask people for more money."

The commissioners expect to have the county's quarterly financial review in the next several weeks when they will have a better picture of the county's financial status. "We have been monitoring expenses very closely this year," said Gregg. "We do not intend for expenditures to get out of line." He added some departments have expended their overtime allowances and have strained their salary allocation.

The freeze is one of the measures the commissioners have considered taking to cut down on county expenditures. Gregg stated since there were items in the county budget which could not be controlled, such as soaring energy costs, the commissioners were trying to impose constraints in those areas they could control.

"We are looking at any way to control spending which won't affect services to the public," Gregg stated. The freeze will prevent creation of new jobs and hiring to fill vacancies.

WHICH WAY IS SOUTH? — Could gathering of the flocks be responsible for complaints of interference in reception being experienced recently by CB and Communications ham operators during the past several weeks? These feathered friends have met, possibly to discuss plans for their annual trip south, or just to review the past year. This flock gathering was captured by staff photographer Craig Phillips as the birds roosted on the Garrett Central Alarm tower in Oakland.

1980 Tax Packages
To Be Mailed
Within Two Weeks

Approximately 2.3 million Federal tax packages will be on their way to Maryland and District of Columbia taxpayers within the next two weeks, the Internal Revenue Service recently announced.

The IRS sends taxpayers either a 1040 or 1040A package, depending on the form they filed last year. Taxpayers who need to file a different form this year because of a change of tax status, can pick up the proper form and schedules from their local IRS office starting December 29, or from one of the many post offices which stock them. Extra forms are also available by using the order blank in the back of the tax package.

Whether taxpayers use the form the IRS send them, or order a different one, the IRS encourages use of both the peel-off name label and pre-addressed, coded, return envelope provided in the originally mailed tax package. If used, both the label and envelope speed up processing the return, lessen the chance of making mistakes, and produce a faster refund for the taxpayers.

The peel-off label, which should be placed at the top of the return, contains the name, address and Social Security number of the taxpayer and, like the return envelope, is specially-coded to speed up the sorting process.

If there is a mistake on the label, or if the envelope is marked with the incorrect form number, the IRS said the taxpayer should simply make necessary changes in ink.

The step-by-step and more spacious format of the tax forms, retained from last year, should make it possible for most taxpayers to complete their returns, with the aid of their instructions, according to the IRS. The instructions take the taxpayer through each step of return completion and are number-coded to correspond to the lines on the return.

Taxpayers who need additional information before deciding what credits, deductions, or deductions they should claim can order any of some 90 specialized IRS publications by using the same order blank used to order forms. The publications will also be available at most IRS offices, starting December 29.

Woman Set Free
On Charges Of Husband's Death

Beulah Jane Friend, Spring Gap, who was charged with murder in the November 21 shooting death of her husband, Elijah Junior Friend, was released from custody on Monday when no probable cause was found for holding her.

An investigation of the shooting incident revealed that the victim was administering a beating to his 18-year-old son and had threatened him with a 22-caliber bolt action rifle when Mrs. Friend reportedly retrieved a 22-caliber semi-automatic rifle from a bedroom. She returned to the scene of the altercation and allegedly shot her husband.

According to the Allegany county medical examiner, the bullet entered Friend's body above the left clavical, traveled through his throat, and lodged in his right arm. Friend's lungs apparently filled with blood from the wound, drowning him during the struggle with his wife for possession of the gun.

Friend was awaiting retrial in Allegany Circuit Court on a charge of second degree rape involving a woman from the Spring Gap area.

The jury was unable to reach a decision during the first trial in early September.

Griffith Reports
Plans For 1981
To County Board

Charlotte Griffith, county liaison for the International Year for Handicapped Persons, Tuesday reported on her progress in organizing activities for 1981 to the Garrett County Board of Commissioners.

She presented a calendar of activities with various themes for the months from March to November and goals to publicize existing services and to focus on new services for the handicapped.

The proposed themes for the months are: March — awareness; April — accessibility; May — transportation; June — recreation; August — life safety; September — education; and November — residential alternatives.

The Board authorized Ms. Griffith to explore the feasibility of the goals and themes after stating its belief that all were realistic.

In other business, Diana Wawzinski, county housing director, informed the Board she is instituting a housing advisory council composed of builders, bankers, realtors and others from the business community.

She listed several advantages to such a council, including encouragement of increased participation by local builders in federally funded construction projects. She stated she is presently seeking members for the council.

Tim Dugan, county planning director, notified the commissioners he had received a copy of the Town of Kitzmiller's 1981 Block Grant pre-application for funds for its water system. He was to review and comment on the preapplication.

The Board agreed to submit additional material in full support of the project.

Karen Richmond, HUD Block Grant administrator, presented three invoices for the commissioners to sign.

Two invoices for funds from the 1979 Block Grant involved $15,367 for the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department for purchase of fire equipment and $5,100 for Garrett County Memorial Hospital as reimbursement for the replacement of the ramp to the emergency room entrance.

The third invoice was for $3,173 from the 1980 Block Grant for salary and expense reimbursement to the planning office.

The commissioners signed all three invoices.

Toasting Is Traditional World-Wide

The New Year toast is traditional around the world and this year, as always, friends everywhere will raise their glasses to extend wishes for good health and abundant wealth.

Centuries ago, toasting was something of a ritual. The right to make a toast at a public gathering was considered a high honor, usually reserved for persons of high standing.

Also, in ancient times, a toast could have serious consequences. Poison was the quickest and most effective way to do away with an enemy and many a guest or visitor who thought he was being "toasted" was actually poisoned by secret concoction the host slipped into his cup.

The term "toast" goes back to Stuart's time in England. Chunks of bread were toasted over the fire, then dropped on tops of cups of wine or liquor. At first, the dripping piece was eaten, but then it became custom to "drink one's toast." Thus, the term "toast" came to mean raising one's cup in good faith and cheer. We no longer float toasted bread on drinks, but we still toast, mostly on New Year's Eve, but on any festive occasion.

Some toasts from around the world include: Germany - Prosit; Great Britain - Bottoms Up; Israel - L'Khaim; Italy - Salute; Japan - Bonzai; Spain - Saldos; Sweden - Skal; Russia - Na Zdorovje and the U.S. - Cheers!

Grain Production Up In Maryland

Maryland production of small grains in 1980 exceeded year earlier levels for wheat, oats, and rye, but decreased for barley, announced the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service.

Wheat production totaled 3.67 million bushels, 11 percent above 1979. The 97,000 acres harvested were 7,000 more than in 1979 and yielded an average of 38 bushels per acre.

Rye production of 216,000 bushels increased six percent, as 8,000 acres were harvested, compared with 7,000 in 1979, yielding 27 bushels per acre.

Oats showed the largest production increase of 20 percent as 19,000 acres averaging 50 bushels per acre produced 1.12 million bushels.

Barley showed the only decrease, as acreage harvested fell ten percent to 70,000 acres. The yield increased three bushels, however, to 32 bushels per acre for a total production of 3.64 million bushels, five percent below 1979.

Winter wheat seedlings in the fall of 1980 for harvest in 1981 increased 30 percent to 130,000 acres. Based on December 1, 1980 conditions production for 1981 is forecast at 4.42 million bushels, 20 percent above the 1980 crop.

Rye plantings for the 1981 crop are an estimated 66,000 acres, a ten percent increase.

Fewer Piggies Go To Market

Maryland farms on December 1, 1980, held 220,000 hogs, announced the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service, down six percent from last year. The total included 25,000 hogs for breeding compared with 43,000 on December 1, 1979 and 191,000 market hogs, one percent below the previous year.

The 1980 pig crop totaled 258,000, up seven percent from last year. About 48,000 sows farrowed during the year, producing an average of 7.5 pigs per litter.

Emergency Feed Applications Due By December 31

Farmers have until December 31, 1980 to file applications for losses on their 1980 crops under the Emergency Feed Program, according to Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASAC) Committee.

The Emergency Feed Program authorizes ASACs to reimburse livestock owners a portion of the cost of feed purchased when a natural disaster has reduced the amount of feed normally produced on the farm. "By sharing the cost of feed, we help prevent widespread selling or destroying of herds due to natural disasters," said Crowl.

Livestock producers who have suffered a 40 percent or more loss of normal feed production due to last summer's drought may be eligible for benefits under the program. The rate of reimbursement is 50 percent of the cost of eligible feed purchases, not to exceed three cents per pound of feed grain equivalent.

Crowl noted that livestock eligible under this program included beef and dairy cattle, horses, sheep, goats and swine. Benefits are available to any owner of livestock who has suffered a substantial loss of feed normally produced, on the conditions that the owner does not have sufficient feed for the livestock and that the owner is required to purchase a quantity of feed greater than normal.

Applications for assistance on 1980 losses must be filed by December 31, 1980 for consideration. "Producers unsure of eligibility should file their application by the deadline to be sure of coverage in case assistance is needed later," said Crowl.

Energy Tip: Check the edges of windows and doors for air leakage by slowly moving a strip of tissue paper around them on a windy day. If the strip of tissue moves, you have air leakage which should be caulked or weatherstripped for more energy efficiency.

Dress to Keep Warm: Cold weather has hit the mountain-top and thoughts of keeping warm have entered everyone's mind. To save energy and money, thermostats are being turned down and keeping warm indoors is becoming as important as keeping warm in the cold outdoors. Here are some suggestions to help you in dressing to keep warm this winter:

*Choose clothes that fit loosely and allow an insulating layer of air to be trapped between the body and the fabric. Avoid overly large garments that allow too much ventilation and avoid tight-fitting garments which eliminate insulating air.

*Choose clothes with closures at the neck and wrists to prevent warm air from escaping. Closures at the ankles and a fitted waist are also beneficial.

*Wear layered outfits to gain maximum insulation from air trapped between layers. Also, layering makes it possible to remove clothes to prevent overheating. Each layer should be light weight.

*Choose dark colored clothes that absorb the sun's rays and increase heat gain. Also, warm colors such as red, yellow, and orange add a psychological feeling of warmth.

*Wear socks and stockings for additional warmth. The thicker, more textured, and longer they are, the more warmth they provide. Avoid too many layers of socks to allow for circulation of the foot and for insulating air.

*Choose closed and heavy-weight shoes with thick soles. Linings also add warmth.

*Wear mittens instead of gloves where more room for trapped air around the fingers is available. Choose thick mittens or gloves which allow for adequate air space and good circulation.

*Always wear a hat because the head has no vaso-constriction mechanism and therefore a major percentage of the body's heat is lost when it is uncovered. A close fitting hood is also good because it protects the entire head and neck.

*Use scarves and belts to prevent heat loss. They can be removed if ventilation is needed.

Food Notes: Even though the price of ground beef is higher than it once was, it is still the cheapest form of beef that can be purchased. For that reason, many consumers include ground beef in the menus often. It can be prepared in a variety of recipes, here is one I think you will enjoy trying:

- SKILLET LOAF
- 1 apple
 - 1 egg
 - 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 - 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1 pound ground meat
 - 1/2 cup bread crumbs
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup chili sauce
 - 1/8 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/2 teaspoon horseradish
 - Dash tabasco sauce
- Beat egg until bubbly. Core apple and cut into slices. Mix brown sugar and dry mustard together. Mix together ground meat, bread crumbs, chili sauce, salt, pepper, horseradish, and tabasco sauce. Put meat mixture into medium skillet. Arrange apple slices over top of meat. Sprinkle brown sugar mixture over apples. Cover and cook over low heat for 1 hour. Makes 4 servings.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Basic Tailoring Classes Offered

A workshop on Basic Tailoring is being offered by the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service this winter.

The classes will start with an introductory lesson on Monday, January 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the Extension Office, Oakland. Classes devoted to work time will be on Monday evenings, February 2, 9, 16 and 23.

The classes are open to teens and adults. Participants should have a good knowledge and understanding of using a pattern and sewing machine. Class time will be devoted to actual sewing, and demonstrations. Sewing at home will be required.

There is no charge for the class, but participants must furnish their own supplies, and each participant will make an outfit of his or her choice.

The classes which will be taught by Sandi Dickinson and Alice Hevner, will include selection of pattern, fabrics and notions, basic construction, pressing and finishing techniques.

Persons may pre-register by calling the Extension Office at 334-2145.

First Message

In this modern era of satellite communications, it is difficult for us to recognize the importance of an event that took place on January 1, 1903. On that date, the cable ship "Silvertown" arrived in Honolulu after laying down 2,600 miles of cable from San Francisco. The first message cabled across the Pacific was sent on that day.

Management May Influence Coal Production

Better management may be the reason coal productivity is rising at a 10 percent annual rate this year according to an article in the December 15 issue of the Appalachian Reporter.

The article described recent performance studies of some coal companies which indicate there may be a link between productivity and certain managing characteristics and structural aspects of coal companies.

Some coal companies are able to produce twice as much per miner per shift than others, under generally similar circumstances, according to findings in a doctoral thesis by Stephen J. Holoviak, a WVU economics and industrial relations student. Wide variances in productivity occur among different companies working in the same coal seams, using basically the same equipment, and all employing unionized miners, according to Holoviak's thesis.

Working with Frederick A. Zeller, research professor with WVU's Research and Development division of the Extension Center, Holoviak studied three companies in northern West Virginia's steam coal fields and three companies in the state's southern, metallurgical coal fields.

Despite wide variances in productivity within the industry, the nation's total coal productivity is making a turnaround after showing a 32 percent decline in the last decade, according to an article in the November 17 edition of Business Week. The industry's former productivity levels had set a record for poor performance among major industries, said the magazine.

Preliminary Labor Department figures showed a 10.4 percent gain in the six months ending on June 30 to 14.9 tons per work day—a 17 percent increase at underground mines and a 5.3 percent gain at surface mines.

Although it noted other possible influences, the magazine cited improved labor relations and better management as key factors in the turnaround.

"Best In Area"

Rams Will Host Three Winning Teams In Tourney

The annual Snowball Classic Basketball Tournament, to be held this weekend at Southern High School, should be, according to Southern head coach Tom Bosley, "the best tournament in the area this season."

Southern will host three other teams, all with winning records, and play will get underway at 7 p.m. Friday. Meeting in that first game will be Bedford, of Bedford, Pa., and St. Maria Goretti, Hagerstown. Southern will face Charleston Catholic, Charleston, W.Va., in the nightcap, beginning at 8:45 p.m.

Southern is the returning championship team from last year's tournament after defeating Bedford in the finals. The loss was only one of two for Bedford, which went on to win the District 6 championship in Pennsylvania and finish with a 26-2 record for 1979-80.

The consolation game will be held on Saturday evening at 7 p.m., followed by the championship contest at 8:45.

Bosley stated the tourney should be the best in the area because "all four teams seem evenly matched." He said it will be a heavily scouted tournament by college coaches. Nearly 20 colleges scouted the event last year.

Because Charleston Catholic is located so far away, Bosley stated that he "knows little about them, except they are quick and run multiple defenses."

Charleston, which is 1-0 this season, is led by All-Stater strong forward Benny Hamrick, who averaged 21 points per game last year. He scored 22 points in the team's opener last week. Also adding to Charleston's strength is 6-5 center Steve Davis.

Bedford is 5-2 so far this season, with one loss coming in overtime and the other at the buzzer. Leading their scoring is 6-5 center Les Logsdon, who is currently averaging 24 points per game. Brian Gilmer, a 6-3 forward, and former 6-10 high jumper, is contributing 12 points per contest and leading the rebounding. Dick Mumma, Bedford's center last season, is currently the starting center for Penn State.

St. Maria Goretti, now 7-3, returns four starters from its 23-10 squad of last season. Senior forward Ray Deffenbaugh, 6-1, is leading the scoring for Goretti with 14 points per game. Forward Jerry Brode, 6-3, is providing 12 ppg and eight rebounds. The center is anchored by 6-6 senior Mike Muldowney. Goretti's three losses have occurred by a total of only four points.

The Rams, whose record is 5-1, are currently being led in scoring and rebounding by 6-4 senior Jeff Byscavage, who is averaging 22 points and 11 rebounds per contest. Senior guard Brian Seiders is hitting an average of 11 ppg, while junior forward Dave Harsh is providing eight points and eight rebounds per game.

Tickets for the tournament will be $3 for adults and $2 for students each evening. Season tickets are not applicable to this tournament.

Huskies Lose Tournament To Turkeyfoot, 74-70

The Northern High Huskies fell two buckets short in their bid to capture the championship trophy at the Confluence Christmas Tournament last evening as they fell to Turkeyfoot, 74-70. The Huskies earned a spot in the finals by defeating Rockwood Monday evening, 73-59.

In the opening contest, Northern placed five players in double figures to earn their fourth win against three losses on the season. Dick Bender tallied 18 points on six goals and a perfect six-for-six performance at the line, while Weldon Yoder contributed 15 points on three goals and nine of ten at the line. Brad Yoder and George Dailey each netted seven goals and 14 points, and Mike Robinson added ten points.

Northern held a two-point advantage at the end of the first period, 14-12, and expanded that lead to 36-28 at the half. Going into the final eight minutes, the Huskies led 52-40.

Pacing all scorers was Rockwood's Mark Haye, who collected 25 points, while teammate Dean Keefe provided 12 points.

The Huskies outshot Rockwood from the floor by a 29-27 margin and hit 15 of 20 free throws, compared to a five-for-15 effort by Rockwood.

Turkeyfoot, meanwhile, disposed of Hyndman in the other opening contest and brought a 9-2 record against the Huskies last night.

Northern stayed close in the first period, trailing 20-18 at the period's end. Turkeyfoot expanded that lead, however, and went out at intermission leading 41-32. The Huskies came roaring back in the third period to close the gap once again to 51-49 going into the final eight minutes. Turkeyfoot held on, however, and won the game from the floor, hitting a total of 30 goals compared to 28 for Northern. Both teams had identical records at the free throw strip, hitting 14 of 20 tosses.

Dick Bender led three Huskies in double figures, hitting 11 goals and two of three from the line for 24 points. Weldon Yoder scored 13 points and George Dailey added ten.

Turkeyfoot's Jeff Yutzy netted 28 markers on 12 goals and four of five free tosses, while teammate Mike Parnell, who was named the MVP of the tourney, netted 21 points.

Joining Parnell on the All-Tourney Team was Bender, of Northern, Dan Sellers, of Hyndman, Jeff Haye, of Rockwood, and Yutzy, also of Turkeyfoot.

Rockwood whipped Hyndman, 66-41, in the consolation game.

The Huskies will return to action on January 9 at Salisbury.

Americans spend about 35 percent of their total food dollars dining out.

Sheriff's Office Investigates Two Area Burglaries

Two area businesses were burglarized during the night of December 23, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Unknown persons forced their way through the rear of Hersman Welding and Machine Works, Mt. Lake Park, and made off with approximately $1,772 worth of tools. Taken were a three-quarter inch socket set in a metal box, two electric grinders, a Black and Decker drill, a combination torch, and a small gray tool box containing a variety of tools.

Prantz and Merle, Inc., Hutton, was also broken into that night, when thieves pried the lock from a door. Taken from the establishment were linens, ten dinner rings, cassette tapes, a radio and other items. The loss value is estimated at $230.

David McPhail, Swanton, reported a destruction of property to his 1974 Pinto station wagon, while it was parked on Old Wilson Road on December 19. McPhail abandoned the vehicle because of car trouble, police said.

When he returned the next day, McPhail found that someone had pushed the vehicle approximately 300 yards to nearby railroad tracks, where they knocked all of the windows out, chopped holes in the body of the vehicle, and damaged the motor.

The estimated loss value of the damage is about $1000.

Benjamin Shaffer, Deer Park, reported a theft from his 1980 Toyota, while it was parked near the railroad tracks at Loch Lynn during the night of December 23. He parked the vehicle there while he was working.

When Shaffer returned to the vehicle on the morning of December 24, he found that someone had removed two chrome outside mirrors, valued at $80.

In a separate case, Robert Custer, Deer Park, reported that he had picked up a hitchhiker on December 24, and left him alone in his vehicle while Custer went to work. The hitchhiker apparently requested to stay in the car until he warmed up. When Custer returned to the car, he found that a camera and shotgun shells were missing.

Deputies traced footprints to a residence near Deer Creek Lake and recovered the camera and shells. Arrested was Joseph B. Pyle, 40, who was charged with theft. Pyle was released December 26 on $150 bond, awaiting trial.

The Sheriff's office reported that there was a destruction of property to the hold cell of the Garrett County Jail. The incident occurred on the evening of December 24, when Michael L. Myers, 22, Aurora, W.Va., was arrested by the Oakland City Police, and placed in the holding cell. Myers was charged with driving while intoxicated, resisting arrest and destruction of property.

Police said Myers kicked the window of the cell and cracked the outer layer of laminated glass. No loss value was placed on the damage.

The department arrested five persons last week, in addition to Pyle.

James E. Crone, 26, Mt. Lake Park, was arrested December 24 on a bench warrant, and charged with writing a bad check. He was released the same day on his own recognition.

Stephen Tasker, 23, of West Virginia, was incarcerated December 26 on charges of malicious destruction of property and battery. He was released the same day on his own recognition.

Charles Thomas Baker, 38, Mt. Lake Park, was arrested December 27 on charges of non-support. He was released the same day when he posted $100 bond.

Denise Tasker, 22, Oakland, was arrested December 27 on charges of uttering, forgery and theft, and was released the same day on unsecured bond.

Kay Livengood, 26, Oakland, was incarcerated December 28 on charges of assault and battery. She was released the same day on her own recognition.

Jeanne Devine Resigns From Sanitary Board

Jeanne C. Devine, Oakland, will resign from the Garrett County Sanitary Commission January 1, 1981, after two years of serving on that board. Mrs. Devine was appointed to the position by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

Mrs. Devine stated that her reason for leaving the Sanitary Commission stems from time conflicts. "I would love to be able to continue this work, but at this time I cannot devote the time to it that I feel is needed," she said.

Her responsibilities on that board included assistance in Sanitary District financial matters, personnel and general books and records.

Mrs. Devine came to Garrett County from Pittsburgh, Pa. in 1974. She and her husband Albert are the owners of Oakland Oil Company, and Mrs. Devine also manages her own accounting practice. The couple and their six-year-old son reside at Country Club Acres.

The Garrett County Commissioners are expected to appoint a replacement for Mrs. Devine within the next few weeks.

Grantsville Police Chief Notes Crime Prevention Plan

Police Chief Frank Wilkins, Grantsville, recently announced a schedule of plans he has made for 1981 involving crime prevention for residents of that town.

According to Chief Wilkins, "The events of the past year have caused the department to assemble for the community a guide to be published which will, hopefully, help those citizens with the prevention of crime and drug abuse."

"Both of these subjects will be completed sometime in March. In addition, a program for youngsters will enable all young people to register bicycles and receive a reflective license plate after proper inspection. This should reduce and discourage theft. A small service charge will be applied to cover the cost of needed material," Wilkins continued.

Chief Wilkins also made mention of a "Community Watch" program which has been underway and found to be successful in other areas. "Hopefully, this program-caring about the neighborhood and the persons living in it—will be covered in great detail so our homes and shops will be more secure against crime in the near future."

Chief Wilkins stated, "Participation will be the key to fighting against crime in the community for 1981."

The Dairyman

Planning Your Feeding Program

Editor's Note: Believing that it might be beneficial to area farmers, the Garrett County Extension Office has requested The Republican to print the following article, taken from The Delmarva Farmer and written by Tony R. Rickard, University of Maryland Extension Dairyman. (Permission for the reprint was obtained from the author.)

In the spring a dairyman's fancy turns toward how many acres of corn silage will be planted and how many acres of hay will be available.

In this planning stage, hopefully, he has taken into account a possible increase in heifer crop or any anticipated purchases during the coming year. At this point, this part of your planning year is well behind you. All of your hay and silage is in storage and you need to start planning your feeding program for the upcoming year.

In planning your feeding program, you need to account for the supply of forages and grains you have on hand and compare this to the needs or requirements of the milking string and all replacement heifers. After completing this inventory you are ready to plan how you will feed during the coming year.

The primary objective is to develop a feeding program that will enhance the most efficient production of milk and the most efficient rate of gain for your replacements. In doing this, we must not only consider quantity but quality of feedstuffs. It would do little good to include in your inventory 100 tons of alfalfa hay that was moldy throughout. Dairy animals will not consume this type of material.

How much forage will milking animals consume? Breed-average-producing cows consume an average of about 3.0 percent of their body weight in dry matter per day for the year. It will be higher than this in early lactation and lower in late lactation and during the dry period. The dry matter intake from forage will vary from 50 to 70 of the total dry matter intake depending on the type of feeding program as well as the quality of forage. If one assumes an average of two-thirds of the total intake from forage and one-third from grain, then the dry matter intake from forage is about 2.0 percent of body weight or two pounds of hay equivalent per 100 pounds of body weight. This means one pound of hay or equivalent or three pounds of 33 percent dry matter corn silage supply essentially the same amount of hay equivalent. We can assume that two herd replacements will consume about the same as one milking age animal.

The next factor to consider is the length of time you will be feeding your forage. In addition, what are the proportions that will come from silage and that from hay? The following table shows the amount of hay needed per cow when fed at different levels of intake for varying days.

| Lbs. hay fed per cow per day | Amount (lbs.) needed per cow |
|------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 5 | 150 days |
| 10 | 75 days |
| 20 | 37.5 days |

Similarly, a table listing silage needs can be determined.

| Lbs. silage per cow per day | Amount (tons) needed per cow |
|-----------------------------|------------------------------|
| 30 | 150 days |
| 40 | 112.5 days |
| 50 | 90 days |
| 60 | 75 days |

The above table will determine how much silage is needed, but it tells you nothing about the silage itself. The capacity of a silo is dependent not only upon its diameter and height, but also upon the kind of forage that is put in, especially the moisture content. The weight per cubic foot will vary from 30 to 40 pounds for a horizontal silo and from 45 to 50 pounds for a tall upright silo. The factor to keep in mind in determining the needs when feeding 60 pounds of corn silage per cow per day is not just 60 pounds of silage, but the dry matter contained in this weight. For example, 60 pounds of 25 percent dry matter silage equals 15 pounds of dry matter, but silage containing 33 percent dry matter yields 19.8 pounds of dry matter. You could not expect your cows to produce equal amounts if you alternated feeding these two types of silage.

Since forages seldom contain sufficient nutrients to support anything but low production, additional nutrients will be required from the grain mixture. If corn silage is the main forage, a 20 to 22 percent crude protein grain should be fed. A 20 percent crude protein grain mixture is needed to supplement late cut grass hay or a mixed legume-grass combination and a 16 percent mixture will be needed with late maturing alfalfa or damaged hay. These are, of course, estimates for the grain mixture. To accurately determine the percent crude protein mixture needed a forage analysis will need to be performed on all the forages being fed.

Assuming you have sufficient forage to feed through the year you can accurately plan your

| Amount (lbs.) needed per cow | 150 days | 75 days | 37.5 days |
|------------------------------|----------|---------|-----------|
| 750 | 1500 | 2200 | 3650 |
| 1100 | 2200 | 3650 | 6000 |
| 1825 | 3650 | 6000 | 10000 | feeding program. However, suppose you determine a deficiency will exist in the supplies of one, two or all of your forages. What are a few of your alternatives?

1. Cull low producers - she eats about the same amount of forage as the high producer.
2. Buy hay - much easier to move than silage.
3. Corn stalks - heifers can make good use of these.
4. Beet pulp - provides fiber and energy.

according to the report. The investigation is continuing.

State Caters To Winter Sports

By Michael R. Gregory
Maryland Forest Service

December's unseasonably warm weather has, no doubt, diminished most people's interest in outdoor winter activities. Nonetheless, when snow does come the state forests and parks of Garrett County will be inundated with calls from outdoor enthusiasts asking where they can go cross-country skiing and snowmobiling. The state forests and parks have taken certain measures in 1980 to improve their facilities to accommodate cross-country skiers and snowmobilers alike.

Cross-country skiers can find plowed parking areas, a warming hut, and marked trails at both Herrington Manor and New Germany State Parks. These state parks will also hold their annual cross-country ski races on January 31 and February 14, 1981, respectively. Savage River and Potomac-Garrett State Forests also offer excellent opportunities to skiers with a sense of adventure and a willingness to investigate the numerous old logging roads and trails located within the forests. Skiers find these roads and trails a perfect way to escape from the crowd and experience the peace and solitude of the forest in winter.

Snowmobilers will presently find nine trails available for their use on the state forests in Garrett County. These trails, totaling approximately 33 miles in length, have been cleared, upgraded, and signed for snowmobile use. Plowed parking areas for snowmobilers will be maintained at New Germany, Deep Creek, and Herrington Manor State Parks. Access trails have been constructed leading from these parking areas to the state forest trails.

Snowmobilers should note that any snowmobile operated on state forest or park property must be registered with the Department of Natural Resources. Registration forms and tags are available from either the Regional Service Center in Cumberland or any state forest or park headquarters. Snowmobilers should also take the opportunity to familiarize themselves with the rules and regulations pertaining to snowmobile use on the

USDA Announces

Food Safety

Poster Contest

Elementary school students will take an active part in food safety education through a U.S. Department of Agriculture national poster contest, a USDA administrator said.

Donald L. Houston, administrator of USDA's Food Safety and Quality Service, said the contest is part of USDA's 75th anniversary celebration of the Federal Meat Inspection Act.

The contest began December 16 and closes March 15. One winner in each of two categories will receive a $100

U.S. Savings Bond and a trip to Washington, D.C., to attend an awards ceremony. Additional prizes will also be awarded, Houston said.

"The contest was designed to teach children how to prevent food poisoning," Houston said. "More than two million cases of food poisoning occur every year. Many of them result from poor food handling practices in the home and school."

"We hope the contest will teach children - and their parents - that it is up to them to learn how to recognize and eliminate conditions that can cause food poisoning," Houston said.

By mid-January, contest kits will be sent to every elementary school in the country, except where prohibited by law. They include activities that teach proper food handling practices. Students can use this information to create posters illustrating any facet of food safety.

"Many of the victims of food poisoning are children," Houston said. "If we can make them aware of the hazards, then they can learn to keep food safe to eat."

Visual Distress Signals For Boats Required By Law

Starting January 1, 1981, new federal regulations will require boats operating in Maryland waters to carry visual distress signals.

James B. Coulter, Secretary of Natural Resources, said the regulations were implemented under authority of the Federal Boating Safety Act. Here are the highlights:

On boats 16 feet or more in length or carrying six passengers or less, a proper number of approved visual distress signals must be carried for day and night use. Such boats operating at night need carry night signals only.

There are three exceptions:

1. Boats competing in an organized marine parade, regatta, race or similar event;
2. Manually propelled boats; and
3. Open sailboats under 26 feet without motors.

In the regulation, two definitions are important, according to Natural Resources police.

"Coastal Waters" are defined as the Great Lakes and territorial seas of the United States and bays and sounds which empty into these waters.

In Maryland, police point out, the Chesapeake Bay and Maryland's Atlantic waters are included. The high seas, of course, are included in the regulation.

With regard to rivers, the regulation reads:

"Rivers inside a line tangent to their headlands are not included unless the distance across the river is more than two miles."

"All portions of a river from the mouth to the point where the river first narrows to two miles are included."

Maryland Natural Resources Police, however, urge all boats operating in state waters to carry approved devices even though they may be technically exempt.

The second important definition in the regulation is "Visual Distress Signals". They are "devices approved by the Commandant" of the United States Coast Guard. There are many choices available to boat operators, ranging from flares to smoke signals. The range of choices is contained in the Coast Guard pamphlet: "Federal Requirements for Recreational Boats" (CG-200).

Other requirements are that the signals be readily accessible and in serviceable condition. "Serviceable" means that the devices not only must be in good physical condition, but also have an expiration date which has not been exceeded.

Finally, the regulation prohibits display of a signal on the waters except when there is immediate or potential danger to those on board.

Vessels carrying six or more passengers are covered under a different set of regulations.

The state with the fewest people is Wyoming with 406,000.

FIRST FOOT
The "first-foot" tradition came from England, where a glass of wine and slice of bun loaf rewarded visitors who arrived first at a home following the birth of a New Year. A "first-foot", also known as a lucky bird, brought with him traditional symbols of warmth and hospitality — coal, bread and ale. He was welcomed because he "let in" the New Year — but he also represented the old year — always leaving by the back door.

HE CAN WALK! — The three kings and Amahl's mother watch with joy and astonishment as once-crippled Amahl is suddenly and miraculously able to walk. Such was the climax of the opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors" which was presented last week by the Garrett Choral Society on the Southern Middle School stage. Pictured, left to right, are Roslyn France, who portrayed Amahl, Kaye Carlson, who portrayed Amahl's mother, Dick Morris, Dave Callis and Rich Seaks, who portrayed the three kings. Portraying Amahl's mother in the Monday night performance was Kathryn Sincell. Approximately 700 persons attended the performances.

THEY COULD HAVE DANCED ALL NIGHT — Shepherds Greg Carrico and Mary Ruth Sincell provide a dance for the three kings at Amahl's house while fellow shepherds look on with enthusiasm, another scene from "Amahl and the Night Visitors". Director for the opera and of the Garrett Choral Society is Nancy Learey. Also assisting in the direction of the opera was Rita

Shrout McNally, New York City. Providing the musical accompaniment for the production was Dave Sheets, piano, and Marge Clever and Cathy Reckner, flutes. Stage manager was Ben Sincell. Report Notes Rapid Changes Of Past Decade

The Congressional Joint Economic Committee's short volume on characteristics of people and policy, published in November, crams into 38 pages a wide array of facts and projects which the Committee believes will affect development in the 1980s, states an article in the December 15 issue of the Appalachian Reporter.

This fourth of ten volumes in the Committee's Special Study on Economic Change (formally entitled "Human Resources and Demographics: Characteristics of People and Policy") highlights some of the rapid changes of the past decade, noting among other facts that three out of every five people entering the U.S. workforce during the 1970s were women and that women got 1.4 million of the 2.1 million new jobs created in 1979.

The Committee notes that while collar jobs accounted for almost two-thirds of all employment growth in the 1970s, representing 51 percent of all jobs by 1980, up from 48 percent in 1970.

Blue collar jobs represented one-fifth of all new employment and dropped from 36 to 33 percent of total employment.

Service jobs, such as policemen and waiters, increased from 12 to 13 percent of the total while farm jobs dropped from four percent to three.

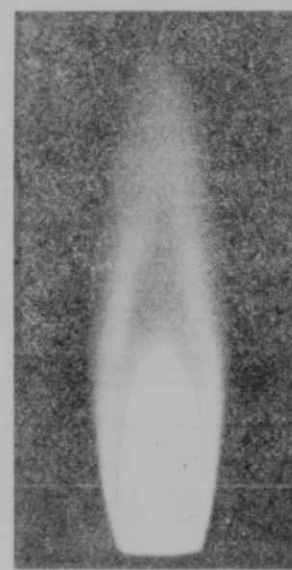

Orders for this Human Resources and Demographic Study may be placed by contacting: Special Study on Economic Change, Joint Economic Committee, Room 1537, Longworth House Office

The promise of natural gas:

It can brighten your outlook about tomorrow's energy.

Natural gas holds bright prospects for our energy needs, with growing availability now, and the promise of supplies for decades to come. And beyond.

Columbia's current supply picture is such that we have been able to start making new customer connections again. So more homeowners are enjoying the benefits of natural gas. We're able to draw on increasing reserves—helped by our customers' conservation efforts which have reduced residential usage by approximately 15% over the last decade.

At the same time, projects underway will continue to add to future supply capabilities. Included are new wells, pipelines and storage facilities; plus investment in development of new gas-producing technologies.

It's estimated that there's enough natural gas still underground to take us well into the next century. Then supplies from new sources will be ready to give our future generations the energy they need.

Today it can be said of natural gas that it is your best energy value. With the promise of the future—and with continued conservation by our customers—Columbia is taking the steps to make sure natural gas remains available. And remains the best energy value.

COLUMBIA GAS

Still your best energy value.
And we want to keep it that way.

Task Force Recommends Sweeping Changes To Combat Nurse Shortage

A Maryland Hospital Association task force appointed to study the nurse shortage in the state has issued a report calling for sweeping changes in the internal management of hospitals as it relates to nursing, a state government-funded scholarship program for prospective nurses, and expansion of university, community college and hospital-based nursing schools.

The recommendations are part of a package of 32 suggestions contained in a report titled: Nursing in Maryland Hospitals - In Critical Condition?, made public this week by the statewide association of community acute care and special hospitals. It urges a variety of actions by the Governor and various state agencies, educational institutions, hospitals and the hospital association itself to cope with what the task force estimates is a 14 percent shortage of nurses across the state and an annual turnover rate approaching 30 percent.

Association president Richard J. Davidson termed the report "far-reaching" and said copies are on the way to the Governor and his staff; key officials in the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, including Secretary Charles R. Buck, several members of the state legislature; the chief executive officers and board presidents of virtually every hospital in Maryland and many others.

Appointed a year ago by the Association's Executive Council, the panel was comprised of hospital administrators, nursing directors, nurses and nurse educators from across the state. Its chairman was Mrs. Virginia Layfield, a nurse and vice president for patient care management at Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury. Mrs. Layfield also has been appointed by Governor Harry Hughes to the state's Health Services Cost Review Commission.

"We took a look at every stage of the process that determines whether or not an individual enters or remains in the nursing profession," Mrs. Layfield said. "We know the present system isn't working because there just aren't enough nurses, but finding the specific causes and cures was much more complex."

What the task force found, she said, was the need for major changes at every level, from the factors and influences that persuade a person to become a nurse to the policies and programs in hospitals that often discourage nurses from continuing to practice in a hospital setting.

Among the recommendations directed to Governor Hughes is one urging the creation of state-financed nursing scholarships, linked to a commitment from the student to work for a specified time in a Maryland hospital. The panel likened the proposal to one employed by the state several years ago to alleviate a teacher shortage. Increased financial support for the state's Board of Examiners of Nurses is also called for by the group. In asking the Governor to seek the funding from the legislature, the task force noted that at present the Board is understaffed and unable to track the distribution and professional status of nurses who must seek relicensing every two years. A massive program to offer education and economic support to individuals who want to enter or reenter the job market as nurses also was suggested. The task force pointed out that federal funding for such an effort, particularly in light of the state's high unemployment rate, might be available.

Several recommendations in the report were directed at the yet-to-be appointed Maryland Commission on Nursing. The Commission was established last year by an act of the General Assembly but, so far, no appointments to the panel have been announced. "The Commission could be extremely valuable in setting state policies concerning nursing and serving as a catalyst to make some of the changes that are so very needed," Mrs. Layfield commented. "It is our hope that the Governor will act promptly to make the Commission a reality."

But half of all the recommendations in the report and some of the strongest were directed at the hospitals themselves. The task force found inconsistent policies across the state in the way hospitals orient new nurses to the hospital setting. That orientation, the panel said, was critical in determining whether or not the new nurse will be able to adapt to and cope with the pressures of working in the modern acute care hospital.

More innovation on the hospitals' part in salary and benefit programs and other techniques such as flexible working schedules, improved clinical education programs, prepaid refresher courses, and hospital-supported day care programs could "make it personally and professionally desirable for nurses to remain in as well as return to nursing."

"I know how you feel about house calls, Doctor...but after all, your wife is having a baby!"

Other recommendations center on hospitals' relations with the educational institutions that train nurses and hospitals' efforts at providing nurses with continuing education and salaries more commensurate with education, experience and responsibilities. The task force points out that in many hospitals the only upward path for a nurse is to enter management.

"Nurses who wish to focus their careers on and remain in a clinical setting should have as clear a course for upward mobility as nurses who choose management as their goal," the task force reported. They also said many hospitals move nurses into management roles without the proper background and training. "It is to these dual career ladders in nursing—management and clinical—that hospitals must respond if they are to give the nurse, whatever his or her ultimate future goals, a sense of potential within the institution."

Another key recommendation calls on hospitals to reform their internal structure to give nurse management a larger role in policymaking, including budget, planning and quality assurance.

The role of educational institutions in determining both the quantity and quality of nurses also is scored in the committee report. Closer and more formal links between the nursing schools and hospitals, and a new program in the secondary schools to encourage high school juniors and seniors to opt for a career in nursing also are proposed.

"Today students who want to pursue jobs in certain trades and in the business world can take special courses in high school and get credit for work ment the report's recommendations and monitor their success. Summer indicated that a second statewide survey would get under way after the first of the year to determine what changes may have occurred in the vacancy and turnover rates during the past 12 months.

College Students Recruited For Summer Work

The Maryland Department of Transportation will hire about 150 college students for summer jobs in highway maintenance, construction inspection, office work, and drafting in 1981.

To qualify, a student must be a Maryland resident who is returning to college in the fall. Also eligible are high school seniors who will be 18 years of age by June 10 and expect to be starting college, and graduate students who will be continuing their studies next fall.

Students may apply for the jobs between January 2 and January 30, 1981, at Maryland State Employment Service offices throughout the state and at the Baltimore Urban League office in the Mondawmin Mall in Baltimore.

They may apply for a job in their own county or in neighboring counties, but preference will be given to county resident for each county's jobs.

Applicant will be notified of their job status early in May, and interviewing for the various positions will begin as soon as possible thereafter.

Most of the job openings are in Baltimore, Baltimore County and Anne Arundel County, but there are some positions available in every county. Wages for most jobs will be $3.40 an hour, with some higher rates for engineering students and others in transportation specialties.

New Publication Seeks Answers —

Mid-Atlantic Region Looks For Identity

by ELAINE S. POVICH
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Snuggled between the mountains and the Chesapeake Bay, caught between "The North" and "The South," the Mid-Atlantic region struggles for an identity. Its cities are different, but the countryside provides a link.

The Mid-Atlantic is essential-

But it's difficult to foster regionalism in people who generally identify themselves as being from one state or another. Writer-editor Walter Nicklin, a native of Warrenton, Va., is trying.

"The Mid-Atlantic is not a readily identifiable region like the Northeast, because the place is so diverse," he said in

The magazine is not so much an environmental publication as it is an all-around magazine with conservation overtones.

"The problem with environmental magazines is that they only talk to each other," Nicklin said.

There are well-defined trends in population motion that show people migrating in recent years to either the inner city or to the country and away from the suburbs. Nicklin thinks that's because of a need to feel close to a community, whether that community is a small town or a city neighborhood.

"This trend of people moving to the country fits hand-in-hand, paradoxically, with moving to the inner city," he said. "I think the thing the suburb lacks is a sense of time or place."

Migrants from the city often find local people hostile, perhaps with good reason. Those "from away" may have more money, and be able to live better than the locals.

Some people try to have a foot in both the city and the country. Stories of Washington workers who commute hours daily from home to work are becoming more common. Advertisements are popping up in newspapers that promote country living "only a few minutes from major commuting routes." The definition of "few minutes" can range as high as sixty.

Nicklin says long distance commuters have the best of both worlds with a good job in the city and a good life in the country, but he wonders how the disappearance of cheap gasoline will affect those people.

The gas squeeze is another factor hurting the suburbs, Nicklin says. "A shopping mall wouldn't exist without cheap gasoline. And people are saying 'I've had enough of malls. I want to shop in a quaint shop in Fredericksburg.'"

But who can afford to leave the suburbs and the city for the country? Not just the rich, Nicklin says.

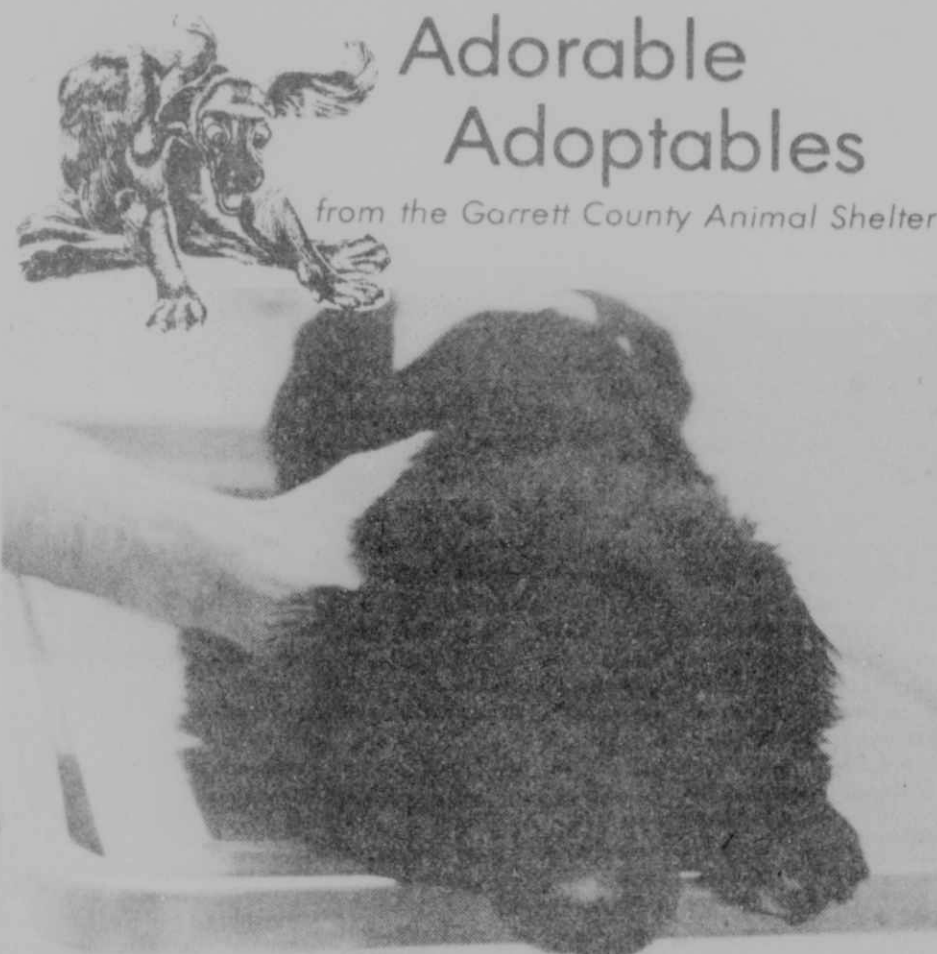

"We have people with money," he said, noting his magazine is full of ads for estates that sell in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. "But we also find people who say the money and the rat race are not worth it."

"What we hope to do is appeal to a cross-section — including people who only can afford fishing tackle and want to fish."

The 35-year-old Nicklin said he conceived his publication one day while driving from Warrenton to Washington in almost bumper-to-bumper traffic of city folk coming back from the country.

"It was a personal vision," he said. "Why not have a magazine for the people in the cars to read?"

It took three years to raise the $250,000 needed to start the publication, but Nicklin is counting on the resurgence of interest in the country to make a go of it.

Johns Hopkins Will Open New Emergency Unit

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A new emergency room, which will more than double existing space, will be dedicated at Johns Hopkins Hospital Jan. 6, a spokeswoman said Tuesday.

The emergency room, capable of managing 50 patients at one time, enables Hopkins to treat adult, pediatric and eye traumas, said Dr. Hubert Gurley, director of the department of emergency medicine.

Features of the new emergency room include a rooftop helipad, a special X-ray designed for patients who cannot be moved, computerized communications and a vacu-tube system to transport specimens to clinical labs, Gurley said.

The new emergency room also allows Hopkins to expand primary care clinic facilities and has an intermediate care area with 12 multi-purpose rooms, he said.

Pam Shriver Will Play In Colgate

Pro Tennis Meet

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Tennis player Pam Shriver said Tuesday that, if someone had told her a year ago that she would be competing against the world's seven top women tennis players in a $250,000 tournament, she would have been skeptical at best.

Shriver, 18 and a Timonium native, qualified for the eighth spot in the 1981 Colgate Series Championships at the Capital Center in Landover Jan. 7-12. She'll be facing some intense competition: Chris Evert Lloyd, Martina Navratilova, Tracy Austin, Wendy Turnbull, Andrea Jaeger, Virginia Ruzici and Hana Mandlikova, who qualified in first place in the Colgate series.

Troubled by an ailing shoulder, Shriver's ranking slid to 35th last year and her confidence also took a dive.

"If someone had told me a year ago I'd be playing in this championship, I'd have said 'No way.' I was ranked about 35th and my confidence was an inch high," she said.

Windy weather during this month's New South Wales Classic in Sydney, Australia triggered a reappearance of her shoulder complaint, Shriver said. But a few days rest and her arm was back to normal.

Her high-powered opponents won't intimidate her, she said. "When I first joined the tour, I was a little in awe of Martina and Chris. But I soon overcame that. If you're competitive, you think about winning."

When Shriver meets Evert in the first round Wednesday, Jan. 7, she won't worry about "how great she is. I'll be concentrating on how to beat her."

Shriver acknowledged base line players "with great ground strokes" present her biggest challenge but had a patient prescription on how to beat them: "I have to get physically stronger, make my serve better and play with consistency. It's a question of time."

She dismissed the hoopla that surrounded past matches against Austin which were characterized in the press as recurring frustrations for Shriver, who had difficulty defeating her younger opponent.

"I've played Tracy twice in the past three years, heck, two frustrations aren't that bad," she said.

One of two women in the Colgate Championship who will be playing both singles and doubles — the other is Wendy Turnbull, her doubles partner — Shriver said she enjoys doubles because they can save a match.

She lost to Turnbull in Australia but the pair went on to capture the doubles title, which she said made her feel better about the loss.

Since the Colgate tourney is practically in her back yard, Shriver is looking forward to the chance to play in front of her parents and friends.

The Colgate Championship could be a springboard to even greater heights for Shriver and her coach for nine years, Don Candy, predicts much success for his protégé.

"Pammy has the equipment and the know-how to be a great player, one of the best in the world," he said.

More logical boundaries would be the Delmarva Peninsula, Tidewater, Piedmont and The Mountains — country regions where interests and cares are the same.

Nicklin has started "Country" magazine with an eye to the commonality of the Mid-Atlantic region. The magazine features articles on rural land and property, wildlife, small towns and industries, and regional history.

It caters to the weekend hiker, the prospective landowner and the third-generation farmer alike.

"You can't stop the people from coming, so why not have a magazine for the people who are coming?" he said. "The trick is not to destroy what you are coming for."

Legislators Will Exchange Tours Of Districts

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Two Maryland legislators who represent drastically different constituencies said Tuesday they intend to exchange tours of each other's districts to try to better understand each other's problems.

The two are Delegate Robin Ficker, a white, Montgomery County Republican, and Delegate Frank Conaway, a black, Baltimore Democrat.

"We are trying our best to walk in each other's shoes to see the varied problems our constituents face," said Conaway.

The two plan to jointly tour Ficker's affluent suburban Washington district on Monday morning, Jan. 5, and then drive to West Baltimore for an afternoon tour of Conaway's poor, inner city district.

"The problems of Conaway's district are 40 percent unemployment among youths 17-25, absentee landlords, lack of adequate housing, closed businesses, a poorly functioning public defenders' office, child prostitution and arson," said a statement put out jointly by the two lawmakers.

Ficker said the problems of his district are "home assessment increases of more than 100 percent over three years, overwhelming tax burdens, car clogged roads, inadequate telephone service, proposed state cut-off of commuter trins, the never ending search for college tuition funds and government over-regulation."

Ficker, one of 15 Republicans in the House, represents District 15B, the Potomac-Gaithersburg area of Montgomery County. The district is 95 percent white; Potomac is possibly the wealthiest area in the state, with an average income of $40,000; and Gaithersburg is one of the fastest growing parts of the state, with a population that has tripled since 1970.

Conaway's District 40 is 90 percent black and 75 percent poor or low income.

Ficker intends on taking Conaway on a tour of a proposed sewage treatment plant site, of dangerous Falls Road, of the proposed route for the Rockville Freeway, and to a site of a future Metro stop.

In turn, Ficker will be taken to Baltimore's Provident Hospital, to Baltimore Community College, to shopping centers and to Pimlico Race Track, where Conaway has opposed Sunday racing.

Prince George's Firefighters Work To Repair Water Leak From Train

BELTSVILLE, Md. (UPI) — Prince George's County firefighters and railroad crews worked furiously to repair a freight train thought to be leaking toxic liquids early Tuesday only to discover the train was dripping water.

Authorities initially believed the dripping liquid was acrylonitrile, a flammable and toxic substance. But they learned after nearly eight hours that water with water vapor coming off the tanker gave the appearance of a toxic leak.

"The tanker was not leaking as was originally believed. When the train passed through Hyattsville it went through the rail line's mechanical detective system which checks for 'hot boxes' or joints that need lubricating or repair, and none were found," said a spokesman for the fire department.

The train was stopped in Beltsville to avoid blocking any railroad crossings, and while workers were looking for the trouble spots they found the supposed leak, he said. Goodwin would not say why it took nearly eight hours to determine the dripping liquid was only water.

A Maryland State Police spokeswoman said the train, number 88 bound for Philadelphia from Brunswick, Md., was "fixed and gone" by 5 a.m., freeing the rail line for at least two other freight trains that had been stuck behind the stopped train.

The offending car "went on its merry way" with the rest of the train, Chessie officials said.

Goodwin said the fire department prepared for just such an incident last June 25, when officials staged a five-car rail disaster about 14 miles down the line from the B&O train.

Goodwin said the department staged the disaster, including one car filled with flammable propane gas and another with toxic chlorine. "This incident supposedly included a container filled with a combination of the two dangerous chemical compounds, toxic and flammable."

State Officials Confirm New Flu

BALTIMORE (UPI) — State health department chemists said Tuesday they have confirmed the first case of "A-Bangkok" flu, a common virus that has already spread through Pennsylvania, Virginia and several other states.

Henry G. Nathan, a spokesman for the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, said chemists detected the flu Monday in a throat culture taken from a four-year-old Baltimore girl.

Nathan said he did not know how far the virus has spread. But officials at three city hospitals — Johns Hopkins, Mercy and the Greater Baltimore Medical Center — said more than 200 persons have been treated for flu symptoms during the past week.

"It started the Tuesday of Christmas week and peaked on Friday when 90 percent of the 140 people treated had the symptoms," said Mary Ellen DeLoache, a spokeswoman for Hopkins.

Symptoms include colds, coughs, fevers and nausea. A-Bangkok, and A-Bangkok-like flu were first detected in 1968 and are now the principal strains in this country. The strains are currently causing "a fair amount of illness," said John Paul, a spokesman for the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Other states reporting outbreaks of the flu this year are: Alaska, Arizona, California, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Texas and Wyoming. State health officials urged persons who have the flu to stay in bed, take aspirin, drink fluids and consult a physician if illness persists.

"I'd like to add that not everybody who is out in the community who is sick has the flu," Nathan said. "There is considerable illness in Maryland coming from lots of different illnesses."

Baltimore Gets $28 Million For Downtown Mall

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The city has been tentatively awarded a $1 million federal grant to plan a $28 million mall that officials hope will revitalize the downtown business district.

City officials said Monday they have received tentative approval from the Urban Mass Transit Administration for the $1 million grant and will receive the money when final application is made.

Six blocks in the heart of the Baltimore retail district would be closed to all traffic other than buses. The plan also calls for widening streets, adding benches, bus shelters and brick sidewalks.

The grant would finance the design stage of the project.

Trial Of Convicted Rapist, Murderer, Enters Penalty Phase

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Convicted murderer and rapist Elvis Horton was a troubled child and sometimes "stared and acted like he was worried," the man's father Tuesday told a jury which must decide if his son will be sentenced to death.

"He always had headaches, and sometimes you saw him staring and acting like he was worried," said Pettie Horton, a 58-year-old construction worker and former North Carolina sharecropper who is Horton's father.

"When he was about eight or nine, the school said he should go to a doctor," the elder Horton said. "But back then you didn't have the money to take him to a doctor."

An eight-woman, four-man jury Monday convicted Horton of raping and murdering 12-year-old Walisa Ferguson. The jury also convicted him of felony-murder, or in other words committing murder during another felony.

Testimony showed Horton raped and then bludgeoned Miss Ferguson to death after inviting her inside his home to receive payment for shoveling snow.

The jury is currently reconsidering earlier testimony, along with some new statements. The panel is deciding whether "mitigating circumstances," such as Horton's purported mental disorder, outweigh "aggravating circumstances," in this case rape.

Should they rule one way, Horton will be sentenced to life in prison. If they decide the other, he will be sent to die in the gas chamber.

"There is really only one issue, and that is whether or not Elvis Horton should be killed," Defense Lawyer David Eaton told jurors. "This is perhaps the only time when someone else's life is in the palm of your hands."

Horton stands to be the first city man sent to death row since 1978 revisions in the state death penalty law. Two other men in the state, Richard D. Tichnell and Timothy C. Poole, have already been convicted under the new law, and are still on death row.

Defense and prosecution testimony is to resume Friday morning and conclude later in the day, with the case then going to the jury.

Criminal Court Judge Peter D. Ward said he would sequester the jury through the weekend, if necessary, to reach a verdict.

Prison Overcrowding

Court Extends MCI Deadline

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A federal judge Tuesday extended the state's deadline for ending overcrowding at the Maryland Correctional Institute in Hagerstown from Thursday to April 15.

In his order, U.S. District Judge Norman Ramsey gave the state more time to end double-celling — the practice of placing two inmates in a cell designed for one — at the Hagerstown facility. MCI held 1,057 inmates Tuesday, 314 more than are permitted.

"We greet the opinion with mixed emotions," said Assistant Attorney General Stephen Caplis. "We're gratified he feel our request (for more time) is legitimate. But we don't know if we can comply with the April 15th deadline."

The state hopes to have two buildings housing 912 inmates completed by April or May. But Caplis said completion might not be the key.

"We expect to have one building completed April 1. But we have a problem with having 15 days to move 300 inmates from on institution to another."

Caplis said the state would need 30 to 60 days to get the new prisons operating fully.

The overcrowding at MCI was the result of a successful inmate suit that forced the state to end double-celling at the House of Correction in Jessup and the Maryland Penitentiary in Baltimore.

More than 100 prisoners from those two facilities were transferred to Hagerstown to end overcrowding.

An attorney for the inmates, Michael Pierson, had no immediate comment.

State corrections officials, who have been granted several deadline extensions in the last two years, said they are not "playing a shell game" by asking for extra time. They said the two new facilities — a 512-bed prison in Jessup and a 400-bed reception center in Baltimore — will allow them to end overcrowding.

Caplis also pointed to relaxed standards for Christmas commutations that Gov. Harry Hughes used last week to parole 250 inmates.

"At the beginning, when these cases were filed, the state had 1,100 double-celled. That's 2,200 inmates. We have cut that figure to 398 inmates. We think that's substantial progress," he said. "And that's with no new building completed. We are letting out as many as can and still be consistent with public safety."

In The Mountain State —

University To Help Lonely Students

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. — For the student living alone, life can be as bleak as that of the forgotten widow, tucked away in a cramped apartment in a big city, with only a social security check linking her to the busy world outside.

The feelings of isolation, and nowhere to turn, are common off and on campus, so West Virginia University has decided to help its lonely students.

"This past year — in late summer and the first part of the Academic year — we had a couple of suicides," Dr. George Taylor, vice president for student affairs at WVU, said Tuesday.

"In both cases, these students lived in private apartments or dormitories off-campus. As a result, we asked 'What can the university do to get the message out that people do care and that there is no need for people to feel they are alone?'"

That gave rise to the Student Neighbor Project, thought to be the first of its kind in America.

The project seeks to help the university's 5,000-plus single, non-freshmen undergraduates, 22 and younger, who aren't living with parents or organized groups such as fraternities.

In January, student volunteers will be assigned to contact them several times during the semester and talk about various services offered.

WVU hopes its force of 100 volunteers develops closer ties to help off-campus students with personal problems. Volunteers also will man a telephone line (293-5503) as another line of communication.

Although the loss of two students possibly brought the problem into focus, student neighbors isn't only for those on the brink of suicide, noted associate Dean of Students Betty Boyd.

"Students who do get up enough courage or initiative to come see us (about problems) indicate there are others," she said.

It remains to be seen if volunteers can coax students with problems to discuss them, noted Dean Boyd.

"JUST TELL HIM HIS PARTNER IS HERE."

18% More Blacks Attend WVU

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (UPI) — In one year, the black student population at West Virginia University has risen 18 percent.

A WVU official released figures Tuesday, showing that the school had a black enrollment of 376, compared with 319 in 1979.

"My understanding is that 18 to 20 percent is significant, compared to last year," said Dr. George Taylor, who took on the job of vice president for student affairs last July.

"It is the goal of the university to have the level comparable with that of the black population in the state. We aren't quite there yet but we continue to make strides."

A year or so ago, the university began an active campaign to recruit blacks. Blacks now represent about 1.8 percent of the school's total population of 21,220. Statewide, blacks make up 4 to 5 percent of the population.

Taylor said WVU has achieved notable progress without offering special incentive to attract blacks to Morgantown.

"Some universities offer special scholarships and some even have some special programs that may be necessary," he said.

"We continue to talk to prospective students about the advantages of West Virginia University. It's a great place to be and the message is being carried out to the state."

In the past, blacks preferred to attend universities that had a larger percentage of blacks on campus, Taylor noted.

"I think the university, again, is demonstrating leadership in that regard," said Taylor, a black. "A more pluralistic society is upon us and attitudes are changing."

Southern Middle Students

Explore Career Opportunities

A group of 12 community workers participated in Career Day at Southern Middle School during the month of December. This activity completed a unit in which 8th grade students discussed their interests and abilities and identified some job opportunities they might enjoy. The students then identified ways they could prepare for these jobs. The students invited workers from various careers to come to the school and share work experiences with them as preparation for those occupations.

Taking part in this year's experience were Sandy Bell, First National Bank; Rod Johnson, C&P Telephone Company; Brad Stewart, Stewart Funeral Home; Thomas Dubney, attorney at law; Sgt. Don Weeks, National Guard Armory; Don Bowman, Bowman's Equipment; Leroy Raines, Hair Shack; Lyn Quick, Pine View Veterinary; Burt Morris, WXIE Radio; Margie Oliverio, Spaulding Real Estate; Mike Winters, Sharps Motor Company; and Lori Lawson, Garrett County Board of Education, Office at Southern Middle School.

Wendell Roy Beitzel, Oakland, an official with the Garrett County Health Department, charged Ernest Ray Martin, 39, Oakland, with drilling a well without a permit and without a license.

Judge Jones Hears Variety Of Charges

A variety of charges were heard by Judge Lewis R. Jones, Garrett County District Court Judge, during the December 15 session.

Robert Richard Rhodes, Deer Park, was charged with assault and disorderly conduct by his mother, Julie Katherine Rhodes, also of Deer Park.

According to the complainant, Rhodes entered her premises and began acting in a disorderly and intoxicated manner.

Judge Jones sentenced the defendant to a six-month jail term (with 35 days credit time for awaiting trial) and fined him $10 on the second charge.

In a separate incident, Rhodes was again charged with drunken and disorderly conduct and trespassing by Katherine Wilt, Kitzmiller.

According to the complainant, Rhodes came to her house in an intoxicated condition, refusing to leave, and endangering the safety of Ms. Wilt. Rhodes was physically removed from the premises twice, but remained outside.

Judge Jones found him guilty on both charges and levied a 60-day jail term, to run concurrent with the above sentence, and a $50 fine.

Wendell Roy Beitzel, Oakland, an official with the Garrett County Health Department, charged Ernest Ray Martin, 39, Oakland, with drilling a well without a permit and without a license.

Martin pled guilty to the charge, and Judge Jones ordered one month's probation before judgment.

Richard Dale Ward, 29, Oakland, was charged with theft when he entered a room in the Maryland Motel, Table Rock, and stayed without notifying the management. He then left, failing to pay the room rent.

Ward was also charged with failure to appear for sentencing on charges of disorderly intoxication and disturbing the peace.

He is being held for sentencing and a new trial date has been set for January 26.

Lester Jacob Niner, 45, Mt. Lake Park, was charged with offering false emergency reports of illness and theft to Rescue Squad Personnel and the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Niner pled guilty and a presentence investigation has been ordered.

A Friendsville man, Odie Carl Friend, Sr., 47, was charged with the theft of a beef roast, valued at $6.77 from Browning's Inc.

According to the complainant, Friend left the store with the roast under his jacket. After several trips through the parking area, he threw the roast beneath a parked car.

Judge Jones found the defendant guilty as charged. He was sentenced to ten days in jail, which was suspended, placed on six months unsupervised probation, and fined $50 plus court costs. He was also ordered to repay Brownings the cost of the roast.

In a similar incident, an Oakland man, William Montell Friend, 72, was found guilty of theft charges placed against him by Brownings Inc.

According to the complainant, Friend removed a bottle of Tylenol, valued at 29 cents. When stopped in the store, he signed a voluntary statement admitting to the theft.

The defendant pled guilty in court, and Judge Jones levied a fine of $50.

Audrey Rowan Upole, Deer

Park, and Darlene DeWitt, Oakland, were both found not guilty of charges of battery filed by themselves against each other.

According to court records, a fist fight began in the Oak Grove Tavern between the two women on November 4.

Who say
"A Floor without a Rug is like a Kiss without a Hug."

BUYING A CARPET? DON'T BE FOOLED.

"Lowest prices in town."
"A whole room of carpeting at one low price."
"Save on our special factory shipment." You've heard all of these attractive sounding advertising claims before but let's look at them more closely.

A carpet outlet that offers you the lowest prices in town will probably carry the lowest quality carpet in town. In carpeting, low quality can spell disaster because your carpet will last only a short time, then you'll have to replace it. We always advise our customers—it costs the same to install a quality carpet as an inferior one.

Beware of ads offering a roomful of carpeting at one low advertised price. There are rarely two rooms of exactly the same dimensions. You may get into the store and discover that your room isn't the kind they had in mind... then the extra charges start adding up. Sometimes special factory shipments can save you money if your retailer has saved by buying in bulk. But be careful of buying inferior merchandise. Smoke damaged or poor quality carpeting is often purchased in this manner.

When buying carpeting, shop at a reputable carpet store. Don't waste your money on inferior merchandise that will end up costing you more money and lots of headaches. Come in today and see our large selection. Start planning your color ideas and we'll show you unique patterns in those colors. It's extremely important to us that you be pleased with your selection.

Each week we will tell you more about carpeting for your home. Watch for these columns.

THE "CORRECT" DISCIPLESHIP

January 4, 1981

Background Scripture: Matthew 5

Devotional Reading: Colossians 3:5-17

Before each one of these columns is written, I spend some time reading and reflecting upon the "Background Scripture" assigned by the Uniform Lesson Committee. Sometimes I have to wrestle with the passage for quite a while before I find the perspective from which I will reflect and write. Occasionally, however, my reaction to the prescribed scriptural passage is one of extreme discomfort.

What Christ Expects
That's the way it was this week with Matthew 5. The familiar words which I have read and heard so many times fell on me as an accusation. How many times I've walked through these passages with a fleeting appreciation of their beauty and depth. I've loved the analogies, "You are the salt of the earth" and "You are the light of the world" (Matt. 5:13, 14). But somehow this week the verses immediately following them leaped off the page at me.

...but if salt has lost its taste, how shall its saltiness be restored? It is no longer good for anything except to be thrown out and trodden under foot by men. (5:13b,c)

A city set on a hill cannot be hid. Nor do men light a lamp and put it under a bushel, but on a stand, and it gives light to all in the house. (5:14b,15)

As I read these verses it occurred to me: That's what you're supposed to be—but are you? Am I really "the salt of the earth"?

A GOOD FLOOR PLAN

When considering the purchase or construction of a new home, one of the major considerations should be a good floor plan. What do I mean by a good floor plan?

Most importantly, a sound floor plan is one where you can get to the separate areas of the house without going through another area (a mistake most often found in bedrooms). The different areas should be well separated. The kitchen should be easily accessible from the dining room and recreation area.

Proper placement of closets and stairs should add convenience. Bedroom closets are better placed on inside walls to function as a sound barrier between bedrooms. Improperly placed or oversized windows can make furniture arrangement impossible. Naturally, the size of the rooms will vary from house to house, but the living room should be large enough to contain at least one conversation group and allow room for movement and circulation. A good floor plan is only appreciated when you have suffered through a bad one.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices:

One Of 12 Workers Experience Job Related Injury, Illness

The results of the 1979 Annual Survey of Occupational Injuries and Illnesses in Maryland were announced last week by the State Commissioner of Labor and Industry, Harvey A. Epstein. Based on reports submitted by a sample of private employers, the results cover the eighth full year of required reporting.

On the average, one out of every twelve workers in the private sector experienced a job-related injury or illness during 1979. This average ranged from a low 2.6 in every 100 full-time employees in finance, insurance, and real estate to a high of 15.5 in construction.

In comparing 1979 and 1978 results, the number of lost workdays resulting from work-related injuries and illnesses increased from 618,000 in 1978 to 718,300 in 1979. This represents a loss equivalent to a full year's work for about 2,900 employees.

The occupational injuries and illnesses survey is a federal/state cooperative statistical program. The survey covers employers in the private industries who had at least one employee during 1979, with the exclusion of farms with less than 11 employees. Employees in state and local government units were not included. Reported occupational injury and illness data are based on the records that employers must compile and retain under the Maryland Occupational Safety and Health Act. Reports are processed by the Division of Labor and Industry in cooperation with the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor.

Commissioner Epstein indicated that additional information on recordable occupational injuries and illnesses will become available in an analytical report to be published in early 1981.

TV PEOPLE

Just a little nepotism for Heidi Hagman

Pretty, blonde Heidi Hagman is the actress-daughter of one superstar (Larry Hagman, the infamous J.R. of "Dallas") and granddaughter of another (Broadway musical great, Mary Martin). But she got her current job because of New York cab drivers, not family connections.

She has a recurring role as Linda, a waitress and sometime babysitter, on "Archie Bunker's Place" (which airs Sundays on CBS), whose star, Carroll O'Connor, is a long-time friend and Malibu neighbor.

Miss Hagman tells this story: "Carroll did give me a tip that they were going to cast the part of a tough-talking girl who delivered laundry to Archie's bar. He said, 'Hey, kid, brush up on your New York accent.' So I rode in cabs in New York and told the drivers I was auditioning for a part, and they'd turn off the meters and talk to me. I went to one reading with the show's producers, went back for a second audition, and they — not Carroll — hired me."

Miss Hagman is a native New Yorker, but when she was 5 the family moved to Los Angeles. She planned to be a physical therapist, but a summer working in a little theater changed her career plans. Her singing teacher recommended her for the role of Lisl in "Sound of Music," the first show she remembers her grandmother doing.

Since childhood, Miss Hagman had studied dancing and singing. After "Sound of Music" she spent two years with ACT in San Francisco and made her professional acting debut on "Dallas," in a small role she admits her dad helped her get.

Ironically, she auditioned for the role of Mary Martin's granddaughter in the television movie "Valentine," but the producer said she didn't look enough like her. She did get a small part in the picture, however.

Miss Hagman is close to both Miss Martin and her father. She took her grandmother to Frank Sinatra's concert at the Universal Amphitheater last summer and recently accompanied her father on a flight to London in the midst of all the "Who shot J.R.?" furor. She enjoyed sharing the spotlight with him, and "later got some attention and press interviews myself."

She is realistic about being a second-generation "Hollywood kid," noting "Everyone I went to school with was the child of someone in the business. We all know about the insecurities of an actor's life. I've learned to have other things to fall back on."

For example, she is a professional oil painter and will have her first major showing at a Palm Springs gallery this month. She also has been performing weekends at a community theater and is proud of her interior decorating skills.

"I'm also a very good cook," she says. "I can always earn a living as a caterer."

Rosalynn for senator? Koch writes memoirs

Rumor is our magnolia butterfly, first lady Rosalynn Carter, will run for senator. New York's terrific hizzoner, Mayor Edward Koch, is personally writing his autobiography weekend by weekend.

Earl Blackwell, the celebrity's celebrity, and co-hosts Joan Fontaine and Nedra Harrington Logan held a party for photographer George Hurrell with such guests as Clare Boothe Luce, Arlene Dahl, Maureen Stapleton, Sylvia Sidney, Maureen O'Sullivan, Teresa Wright, Gloria Vanderbilt, Nancy Walker and Lillian Gish, who told me that a black and white photo of her just sold for $1,200. The buyer, Gloria Vanderbilt, said she was going to have kids for a while. Children are a big responsibility, and I don't feel I'm prepared."

David Susskind's newly formed production company will make TV and feature flicks for MGM. He's contracted for six so far. Shareman Douglas gave a tea for plastic surgeon, Dr. Jane Hauser. I'm not sure I was flattered to be invited. I think she figured me as a prospect.

Baron Guy de Rothschild bought a 75-room chateau in the heart of Paris. Mon Dieu alone knows how many millions it cost. Charlton Heston dropped 12 pounds.

Larry Hagman, who is definitely not one to blow it, is stuffing it all in real estate and stocks. He admits he'll end up a very rich man. Anybody know George Burns copped the Film Advisory Board's Award of Excellence for his contributions? After the show Tiny Tim lumbered backstage to congratulate the cast of "Oh! Calcutta!" He shook hands with his left hand.

Bette Midler gives away every single stitch she wears onstage to charities. It's her good-luck thing.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By VAL CAREW

TRUE STORY — In the newspapers, after Steve McQueen's death, it was reported that he had starred in "Wanted, Dead or Alive" on television. Am I in error when I say it wasn't McQueen, but the late Nick Adams who starred in that series? — J. Olachua, Oxnard, Calif.

Yes, you are in error. McQueen played Josh Randall, a bounty hunter in "Wanted, Dead or Alive," and it was the series that first brought him major attention. The late Nick Adams starred in "The Rebel," in which he played Johnny Yuma. An interesting piece of trivia about McQueen's career is that he played the accused in the original "The Defenders," which was on "Studio One."

RESPONSIBILITY — There was a picture on TV called "The Deer Hunter." This picture has done its job. It killed a 13-year-old boy who watched it and tried the Russian roulette part. The picture should not have been on TV. — E. Kramer, Trenton, N.J.

My opinion is even stronger than yours. I don't think the picture should have been made. I say this without having seen it because I won't subject myself to all that violence, no matter how eloquent the final message may be or how brilliant the performances or photography. I was at the Academy Awards the year the film was nominated, and they showed a portion of the Russian roulette scene and it appalled me. According to reports from around the country, there have been many deaths apparently "inspired" by the picture. On one side of the coin is the opinion you and I have expressed. On the other, of course, is personal freedom and the fact that even balanced people can see someone play Russian roulette without being inspired to try it. Also, guns shouldn't be kept where 13-year-olds can get them. However, my wish is that when it comes to violence, gore and man's inhumanity to man, filmmakers would show some restraint. Thanks for expressing your opinion.

AL'S PAL — I recently saw Al Pacino on TV in "The Godfather," and now I know he is a great actor. Please tell me where I can write to him? — P.L. Labriola, Phoenix, Ariz.

Write him in care of his agent, William Morris, 1350 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019.

MEMORY — My father says that actor Cliff Robertson once had a TV series that had something to do with outer space. I say my dad is nice, but bananas. What do you say? — L.K. Glens Falls, N.Y.

I say your dad is nice and has a great memory. In April 1953, CBS had a series that lasted for a year called "Rod Brown of the Rocket Rangers." It took place in the 22nd century, and the Rocket Rangers' Rod Brown, played by Cliff Robertson, led the battle against interplanetary evil. How's that for being ahead of its time?

FYI — One of your readers asked about a rare recording by Conway Twitty called "Star Spangled Heaven." It really isn't rare; it was the B side of "Lonely Blue Boy" and not a hit, therefore stations didn't play it. "Lonely Blue Boy" hit the charts in January 1960. If a country-western station near her has an original copy and not a promo, they would probably play it for her. — Mr. R. Wagner, Oxnard, Calif.

Thanks for the information. I enjoyed your letter very much and so will the lady in Illinois, who was trying to find the recording.

IN FOCUS

Filmmakers don't flinch from harsh subjects

In the traditional wildlife film, viewers are spared explicit scenes of animals killing for food. That's not the case in the work of David and Carol Hughes, the husband-and-wife team who co-produced "Etosha: Place of Dry Water," season premiere of the 1981 National Geographic Specials on PBS. The result of their 21-month sojourn in Namibia's Etosha National Park in southwestern Africa is an unflinching picture of nature's stark life-and-death struggle to survive.

The Hugheses' cameras don't shy away from the hunt for food that sets the rhythm of life in Etosha. Lion and cheetah families are filmed stalking and killing their prey. A turtle dove is set upon by hungry turtles. And, in some of the most remarkable footage in any wildlife film, young bullfrogs devour one another to satisfy their voracious appetites.

Why such realism in a genre that has usually avoided it?

"We want to be totally true to what happens out there," David Hughes says. "Often wildlife films are made to suit the sensibilities of the average urban viewer. What I like to do is to create the experience of being in such places, as close to the animals' viewpoint as possible." Carol adds, "After all, most animals spend most of their time in the quest for food."

The Hugheses developed great sympathy for the Etosha predators whose hunt for food is most often frustrated. "The cats have a tremendous problem in eating," David says, "because so few chases are successful. The lions we filmed were successful probably only one time in six efforts."

Even less lucky were the swift cheetahs. When a mother cheetah injured her leg and was unable to hunt, her cubs, listless from hunger, became separated from her. At that point, the Hugheses intervened.

"We were in a national park where hunting is prohibited," recalls David. "But we were able to persuade park authorities to shoot a springbok for the cheetahs. The mother ate, then called for her young. They never came. She wandered through the bush, looking and calling for them. They all certainly died. It was pitiful."

The Hugheses spent nearly two years in the park filming wildlife. They devoted hours of close observation to achieve what they hope is, for the viewer, an uninterrupted experience of nature.

Both Carol and David Hughes are soft-spoken, patient and unflappable — qualities that served them well in their long stint in Etosha, where they contended with sometimes grueling circumstances. Etosha weather alternates between long months of unrelenting heat and short periods of unrelenting rains.

"There were big bullfrogs swimming through our tent during one rainy night," Carol says. "It was no big deal."

In their collaboration, the Hugheses have a fairly regular pattern of labor. The two join forces on multi-camera setups, particularly for action sequences and those that present unusual technical difficulties. Carol also concentrates on all the still picture coverage.

Back from Africa, their endurance met a test of a different sort in Los Angeles, where they spent three months at the National Geographic-WQED offices guiding their film through post-production. Hollywood's glitter and accelerated pace proved uncomfortable for a couple who yearn for enormous open spaces.

Now they're off again. For their next project, they will be filming wildlife in tropical rain forests. Whatever their subjects, their film will undoubtedly be a realistic depiction of wildlife. "I'm not really conscious of any educational mission," David Hughes says, "but it is nice to look forward to a day when people are less sentimental about what goes on in nature."

Actors recommend getting college degree

By RUTH THOMPSON

When asked whether actors should spout their views on politics and public affairs, Robert Walden gave as feisty an answer as would Joe Foss, the character he plays in CBS's "Lou Grant." He said he himself didn't feel inclined to discuss either at that moment, but he resented the put-down to actors in general.

Robert Walden

"Most of today's actors are college graduates and well-educated people with wide interests."

Walden graduated from the College of the City of New York before he started his professional training at The Actor's Studio with Lee Strasberg.

Certainly the case can also be made that there are many show-business successes who skipped college, got early starts at their careers and are also well-informed, intelligent citizens.

So Walden may or may not be on the mark when he says "most" actors went to college. But a quick canvass of the backgrounds of some actors highly visible on stage, in television or both proves that Walden is not alone in having made college a priority.

His "Lou Grant" cohort, Linda Kelsey, told us all her childhood dreams began coming true when she joined the Tyrone Guthrie Theater group, but that wasn't until she had pocketed her sheepskin from the University of Minnesota.

Blonde Susan Sullivan, who even in her soap-opera days described herself as "very ambitious, almost driven," said getting a degree "along with the best dramatic training available" had been her cornerstone. Her college was Hofstra. Credentials, she added, don't hurt, and early in her career she earned money teaching.

"I know my father was worried for a while, but I had to do it my way," Henry Winkler once solemnly recalled. His way was to go for a master's degree at Yale Drama School after graduating from Emerson College. He was in his mid-20s before the old "Mary Tyler Moore Show" proved him so versatile that he carried off three diverse roles in one season. What he did the next season with the Fonz role on "Happy Days" made him a star.

One of the most articulate advocates of higher education for actors is Robert Reed, whose "Brady Bunch" series is re-running around the country, who is co-starring with Michael Learned in the new "Nurse" series and who is currently starring on Broadway in "Death Trap."

He studied at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London and at Northwestern University in Chicago. Was one more valuable to him than the other?

"Northwestern. It was a full four-year college (versus two for RAD)," he says, "and it's in college that you really get your tools, studying the classics, Euripides." Two of his classmates are also currently on Broadway: Tony Roberts in "They're Playing Our Song" and Jerry Orbach in "42nd Street."

Also enjoying a Broadway success this season is Christopher Reeve, known as a "movie star" since "Superman." But before that he appeared in more than 40 plays. A graduate of Cornell University, he next studied at Julliard and still later enrolled for advance studies at Herbert Brehof's studio.

FRIDAY

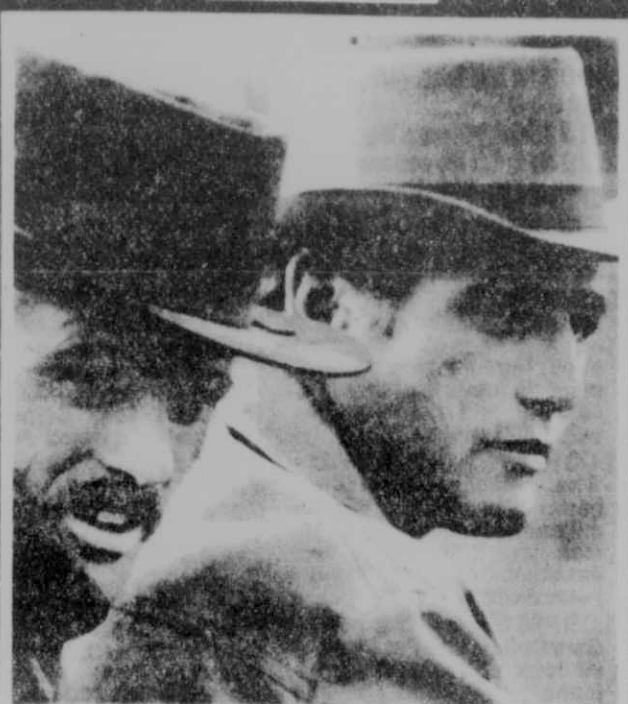

Marie Osmond (center) and guest star Sally Struthers play a pair of singers in an up-tempo 1940s-style band, led by a slick clarinetist (series regular Howard Itzkowitz), on "Marie," Friday, Jan. 2, on NBC.

(Readers reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

PROTECTED SOURCES — Oscar winner Karl Malden stars as a small-town investigative reporter who becomes embroiled in the issues of freedom of the press and First Amendment rights that make national headlines because he refuses to reveal a source, in "Word of Honor," to be presented on "The CBS Tuesday Night Movies" on Jan. 6. It also stars Rue McClanahan, Ron Silver and Largo Woodruff.

SUNDAY

Robert Redford (l) and Paul Newman may have brought in more box-office dollars than any other team in modern movie history; as "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" they take more dollars. The film airs Sunday, Jan. 4, on ABC.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Soapsters celebrate the holidays in style

By NANCY M. REICHARDT
 NEW YORK Several days before Christmas the cast and crew of "As the World Turns" and "Guiding Light" banded together at New York's posh restaurant, Tavern on the Green, to celebrate the yule season. The party was a smashing success with a large number of actors from both shows arriving to meet and greet the press as well as each other. Delicious food and free-flowing champagne helped the festivities along.

Another New York-based soap that gathered its crew and cast together to ring out the old and cheer in the new year was "The Doctors." Everyone gathered at The Sky Garden, on the St. Mortiz-on-the-Park, and a gay mood pervaded as the cake was cut, and again champagne passed around.

I'd like to make a correction from a previous announcement made in this column. John McCook (ex-Lance Prentiss on "The Young and the Restless") is doing a Broadway play in New York, but due to some misinformation, I had the wrong title to that play. John is appearing in the musical, "Perfectly Frank." Meanwhile, it looks as if "Y&R" has decided to wait and see if John will eventually return to the show.

before casting a new Lance. By now you "One Life to Live" fans know that Jane Badler has resumed her former role of Melinda Janssen. Also from "OLTL" comes word the rumors that Gerald Anthony would be leaving the role of Marco Dane are erroneous. Gerry has signed a new contract with "OLTL." Roberta Loughton (Casey Reed on "The Young and the Restless") is delighted that she's going to have featured role in the film, "Stripes." Roberta just returned from location shooting in Kentucky. This is the lady's first film role.

LIFE-AND-DEATH CYCLE — "Etoha: Place of Dry Water" is the first film in the 15th season of National Geographic Specials. There are no people in this film made by the husband-and-wife team of David and Carol Hughes. There is little narration or musical accompaniment. Instead, viewers hear the sounds of African plains animals and witness the drama that the Hugheses captured on film during nearly two years of daily observation with their cameras. It airs Wednesday, Jan. 7, on PBS.

Earth Perihelion
Tomorrow at 9:00 p. m., the Earth will be closer to the Sun than at any other time during 1981. This perihelion will occur 147,102,400 kilometers (91,405,000 miles) from the Sun. The northern hemisphere is coldest at this time because the north pole of the Earth's axis is tilted away from the Sun. This causes the Sun's rays of energy to strike the surface of the northern hemisphere at a low angle which dilutes the energy over a large area, reducing the heating effect.

Moon
The Moon will pass through its New Moon phase on Tuesday at 2:24 a. m. At this time the Sun, Moon, and Earth will be aligned. When the alignment is perfect—not this month, an eclipse will occur. Moonrise was at 2:07 this morning. On Tuesday, the Moon will rise at 7:44 a. m.

Quadrantid Meteors
About six times the average number of meteors, seven per hour, visible on an average night will be visible on Saturday morning, before sunrise. The maximum of this meteor shower will occur at 9:00 a. m. Meteors in the shower will collide with the Earth at a velocity of 41 kilometers per second (26 miles per second).

Visible Planets
Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn will be the easiest planets to observe without an optical aid. Venus will rise as the predawn twilight begins. It will be among the stars of Scorpius. On Monday, the Moon will pass close to this planet. Mars will remain low in the South West for a short time after sunset. The moon will be close to Mars next Wednesday. Jupiter and Saturn will be among the stars of Virgo, rising about midnight. They will be closer together tomorrow than they will be until 2020. This conjunction is the first of three to be observed of these planets this year.

Daylight Increases
Sunrise was at 7:38 this morning. Sunset will be at 5:03 this evening. By next Tuesday, there will be 6 minutes more daylight than today will have. Sunrise will be at 7:38 a. m., followed by sunset at 5:09 p. m., 9 hours 31 minutes later on Tuesday.
The Sun is higher above the horizon at noon each day. It will be the same altitude above

Employees May Have Option In Handling Poisonous Materials

Delegate Ray Beck, House Minority Leader, (Carroll-Fredrick County) recently declared he has pre-filed legislation for introduction in the 1981 General Assembly which prohibits state employees from being required to handle toxic waste and carcinogens, including asbestos against their will.

Beck said he was prompted to draft the bill as a result of the recent "deplorable incidents" at Springfield State Hospital where six veteran maintenance workers at the hospital were suspended without pay and charged with insubordination for refusing to make repairs which necessitated removing asbestos insulated pipe.

Beck pointed out that outside independent contractors, who specialize in handling asbestos, were called in to make repairs involving asbestos handling in the State Office Building. "Of course," said Beck, "I fully realize the cost involved in calling in experts everytime asbestos must be handled. Nor do I necessarily suggest that this be done. But the fact remains that asbestos is recognized by the OSHA as a leading cause of cancer among shipyard workers, pipefitters and insulators."

CRS Will Conduct Floricultural Survey

A survey of flower and foliage plant growers will be conducted in Maryland again this year by the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service. The survey will be conducted from early January through mid-February to provide information on major floricultural and bedding plants produced in 1979 and trends for the 1980 season.

Questionnaires will be mailed with telephone and personal interviews to follow if needed to assure a good response. Results of the survey will be published in early March.
